To Confer Degrees.

The local Masonic lodge will have a busy time of it next Monday. There are a number of candidates upon whom the Third degree will be conferred and it has been decided to begin the work about four o'clock in the afternoon. This will permit of this part of the program being cleared away by eight or nine o'clock, after which there will be a social session to which the Eastern Star members have been invited.

A Great Stock Sale.

On March 23 one of the most important stock sales of the present season will be held. Julius Nelson of Wyandotte township, will offer at public auction 55 head of grade Holsteins of exceptional quality. He secured this herd three years ago from one of the foremost breeders in Wisconsin and since that time has aimed at steady improvement by weeding out the poorer ones. This will be an exceptional opportunity for anyone desiring cattle of this kind to secure any number from one to a whole herd. Mr. Olson will also sell 10 head of horses at the same time.

A Wonderful Story.

No moving picture production ever turned out has created so much comment as has "Auction of Souls," in which Aurora Mardiganian, the beautiful Armenian, stars. People in the large cities have paid as high as $10 a seat to see this great portrayal. "Auction of Souls" is the most astounding story of race persecution ever told in the world's history. It shows the amazing experience of the lone surviver of half a million Armenian girls. The treatment accorded this young woman by her Turkish persecutor is such as will make the blood of American mothers and daughters boil with fury. Do not miss seeing this presentation, made more realistic by the fact that the star herself underwent the sufferings she portrays on the screen. In compliment to Mrs. L. M. Peck, who leaves shortly for Washington, Mrs. O. L. Cronstrom entertained at a series of parties on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, twenty ladies being present on each occasion. A sumptuous supper was served at six o'clock on both days.

Sleighride Party.

Two sleighloads of people from this city enjoyed a sleighride on Thursday evening going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Val Yager, east of here, giving them a complete surprise. Games were played and refreshments brought by the guests was served during the course of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Yager and family will leave in the near future for Spokane, Wash., where they expect to reside.

Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. Bjoland was honor guest at a surprise party given at the home of Mrs. M. M. Johnson on Main avenue north Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of the former. The afternoon was spent in a social manner and musical selections by Miss Mortenson and Mrs. Geo. Larson delighted the guests. Lunch was enjoyed at 5 o'clock. Before departing the honored guest was presented with a handsome gift.

Eastern Star Party.

The members of Winslow Chapter, Eastern Star, were hostesses at a dancing party for the members of the Masonic fraternity on Tuesday evening. The crowd was exactly the right size to make dancing enjoyable and this pastime provided the principal diversion until midnight. At that hour lunch was served, this having been brought by the Star members in baskets. It was one of the most pleasant parties of the winter and very much enjoyed.

Male Chorus Meets.

The Male Chorus of the Presbyterian church was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edberg on Wednesday evening. After a short rehearsal refreshments were served. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a parlor concert, including vocal solos, duets, etc., and instrumental numbers. The soloists were Carl Granning, Elra Porter, Harold Smithers, William Herrick, Mrs. Edberg and Blanche Johnson. A selection by the male chorus concluded a most enjoyable evening.

Delightful Social Function.

The Lady Maccabees banquet last Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall was a scene of a very pretty function. The Lady Maccabees gave a banquet and reception in honor of Mrs. I. G. Sands, who as retiring officer has served as commander of the lodge for several years. The hall was beautifully decorated with pink roses and the colors of the order. Covers were laid for fifty and a three-course dinner was served. Mrs. Sands received a very pretty token in honor of the love and esteem in which she is held by the members of the lodge.

Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson were pleasantly surprised by seventeen of their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Johnson, five miles west of the city on Saturday evening. Lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening. A handsome gift was presented by the guests to the young couple as a token of their esteem. The guests included Olaf and Henry Lappegaard, Ted and Ed. Myrom, Henry Erickson, Erick Soderberg, Melvin Peterson, Carl Johnson, Ray Busse, John Anderson, Smiley Brenne, Hilma Hoyum, Mable Hagen, Bertha Bugge, Thea Erickson, Josie Larson, Olga Johnson and Tillie Anderson.

Musical Section Program.

The following program will be given this evening by the musical section of the Woman's club and an admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to those who are not members:

Chorus: "To Tee O Country," (Eichberg), Accompanist, Miss Mortenson.

Vocal Solo: "A May Morning," (Denza), Miss Ella Evans.

The club extends a special invitation to everyone to attend this program.

Community Club Meeting.

The Girls' Community club met in the commercial club rooms on Monday evening. A delightful program had been arranged which consisted of vocal selections by Miss Dora Holmes which were very much enjoyed as were also the piano solos by Miss Blanche Johnson. Rev. J. B. Smith delivered an interesting talk to the girls which was followed by an old-fashioned spelling match, Miss Grace Wilson having the distinction of being the best speller. The decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day. A delicious lunch consisting of ice cream and wafers were served by the L's and M's.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held on Monday afternoon at the Commercial club rooms with an unusually large attendance. Elra Porter's vocal selections were especially interesting features of the afternoon's entertainment. This is Elra's first appearance in public and it is for this reason that his singing was looked forward to with a great deal of interest. The male chorus and choir of the Presbyterian church rendered selections which were very pleasing. Mrs. Edberg's work with the Presbyterian choir deserves favorable comment. Her enthusiasm and untiring efforts have made it an organization to me envied. Following the musical program E. M. Stanton delivered a very interesting and instructive address on the "History of the Political Parties of the United States." During the business session which preceded the program the club voted to give $50 to the Near East Relief. Announcement was also made of the return of Mr. Garnes, who in the early part of the season delighted the club with his humorous readings. A lunch concluded the afternoon.

Creamery Adds New Machine For Testing

PROVES THAT LARGE SUM IS WASTED YEARLY IN SKIM MILK

The loss to the farmers of Minnesota yearly through the imperfect skimming of milk aggregates thousands of dollars. In order that the dairyman may get some idea of just how severe this loss is Buttermaker L. Haselrud of the Thief River Cooperative Creamery association has inaugurated a free testing service which may be employed by any patron who suspects that his separator is not getting all the cream out of the milk.

Mr. Haselrud states that in one instance the skim milk test showed that there was just 1⅓ per cent of cream remaining in the milk sample submitted for testing. This is an unusual showing but in every case that has so far come to his notice the amount of cream remaining is larger than it should be. At an average butterfat test of 3.5 per cent and a yearly milk production of 4,000 pounds for one cow it will be seen that the loss is something enormous in the aggregate. This service will help many dairymen get on the track of butterfat leaks.

Big Returns on Tax Money Paid to State

COUNTY RECEIVES TOTAL OF $58,200 IN AID OF DIFFERENT KINDS.

While it may seem to some as if the state taxes are high, the money paid in for this purpose, at least by counties in Pennington's class, is certainly a very good investment. Last year the state received as taxes from the county a total of $18,521.25, or less than was received from the state for the road and bridge fund alone. The returns, according to the records of County Auditor T. P. Anderson, amounted to $58,200, of which $36,000 went to the schools.

According to a statement issued by State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, for the information of the county auditors and showing the amounts which the state treasury paid to each county during the calendar year, 1919, and the amounts the counties paid in to the state during the same period of time, 83 counties in the state paid $3,557,254.02, while the remaining three counties paid $2,690,701.37, making a total of $6,247,955.39.

Of the total of $8,816,434.54, which the state has paid to the counties, 83 counties received $7,508,817.73, while the other three counties received only $1,307,616.81, the three counties being Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis.

Prof. W. M. West is Nonparty Possibility

REPORT THAT U. OF M. HISTORY PROFESSOR HAS BEEN SELECTED

William W. West, a professor of history at the University of Minnesota and a well known radical in politics, is being considered as a possible candidate of the Nonpartisan league for governor, according to the Minneapolis Journal.

The league leaders are said to have turned Congressman F. F. Ellsworth down because he is not a farmer. Professor West spent several years farming near Grand Rapids, Minn., and still is interested in farming, so he is believed to fill the bill in that respect. He is one of the officers of the Saturday Lunch club and prominent in the Committee of Forty-eight movement, and recently presided at a meeting of the World War Veterans auxiliary in Minneapolis.

The convention call for the Working Peoples Nonpartisan Political league has been issued by Thomas Van Lear, secretary and treasurer of the organization. The convention is to meet March 24 at 10 a. m. at the Trades Union Hall, St. Paul, and each local union or brotherhood lodge is directed to send at least one delegate. The Nonpartisan league convention is to meet at the same time, and the two will confer in the selection of a state ticket, it is further announced.

To Discuss Babcock Law.

Five county commissioners and the county auditor of each of Minnesota's 86 counties are invited to St. Paul on March 23 and 24 for the purpose of hearing Amendment No. 1, or the Babcock law, discussed. The expenses of those making the trip are to be paid out of a fund of $12,000 provided for that purpose, a committee representing the St. Paul association and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association having raised the amount by independent subscription. The Pennington county commissioners have a meeting on the 17th at which time the proposition will undoubtedly be taken up. The visit will afford an excellent opportunity for learning the exact facts concerning this bill and it is not likely that the commissioners will miss the chance to post themselves on the subject that is at present of more importance than almost any other confronting the people.

Work in Summer; Study in Winter

When the "busy season" of business begins in fall, there is a big call in offices for trained help. This continues all winter. Thousands have "cashed in" on this knowledge by taking the spring course at Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., instead of idling through summer.

Recently the Standard Oil Co. employed four more D. B. C. graduates, L. Thompson, R. Payer, W. Husen and C. N. Lune, making over 70 engaged there.

Following Her Mother's Advice

WAS ALMOST A WRECK—HAD SUFFERED SINCE A CHILD. GAINS 12 POUNDS

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and feel ever so much better since taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Jas. J. Ganas, who resides at 897 Maple St., Milwaukee, Wis., recently. Continuing she said:

"Ever since I was a girl I have suffered more or less from nervousness and in later years I have been almost a complete nervous wreck. Any little noise out of the ordinary or worry would completely upset me. My hands would tremble so and I would become so weak I would have to lie down. I could not sleep well and would lie awake for hours at a time and lots of times I would become so restless I would just have to get up and walk the floor, as it was utterly impossible for me to stay in bed, and I felt so badly in the morning that it was with the greatest effort I could get up and dress the children and prepare breakfast. I had terrible headaches once or twice a week regularly that were so bad and caused my head to throb so it felt like I imagine it would if some one were hitting it with a hammer. I had a very poor appetite and would have to force down every mouthful I ate. I had lost weight until I was scarcely more than a frame, and was so weak my housework became a drudgery and I would have to sit down and rest every few minutes, and at the end of the day I would be completely tired out and exhausted.

"My mother was taking Tanlac with such good results that she advised me to try it. Well, I took her advice and Tanlac began to build my nerves up right away, and after taking four bottles of it I only occasionally felt the least signs of nervousness. I could do all my housework without getting tired out and could sleep fine and get up in the morning feeling greatly refreshed. I had a much better appetite and my headaches were less frequent and just about gone and I felt full of life and energy. This was about two months ago and I did what so many people often do, for as soon as I got to feeling so much better I stopped taking Tanlac, but I realize now that I quit too soon, for I am certain that if I had taken it for a while longer I would be in perfect condition now, and I am starting on it again and feel sure that a few more bottles will be all that I need to restore me to perfect health. I know what Tanlac did for me and I do not hesitate to recommend it to others."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's drug store, and in Oklee by John H. Gassman.—Adv.

How to Save Money on Your Long Distance Calls

This advertisement is intended to explain the different classes of long distance telephone service and how they may be used to the best advantage.

When you make a long distance call, if you are willing to talk to anyone at the telephone called, you will be using what is known as station-to-station service. This is considerably cheaper than other classes of service. Station-to-station rates are based on a charge of about 5 cents for each six miles up to 24 miles and 5 cents for each 8 miles beyond that distance, with a minimum charge of 10 cents.

HOW TO PLACE A STATION-TO-STATION CALL

When using station-to-station service you should give the long distance operator the name and address of the business or the individual with whose telephone you desire connection. In addition you should give the telephone number if you are sure it is correct. On this class of service the charge begins when the telephone called is answered.

The charge on a station-to-station call cannot be reversed; that is, it cannot be charged to the telephone called.

This is how you would place a call with the long distance operator on a station-to-station message: After giving your own telephone number and name, say, for example, "I want to talk to John Brown's residence at Blue Springs, Minnesota," or "I want to talk to George Anderson's store at Burchard, Minnesota." Care should be taken to make it clear to the long distance operator that you do not want to talk to a particular person or persons at the telephone called as in that case it would be a person-to-person call and you would be charged a higher rate.

By the very nature of your requirements for long distance telephoning, no doubt a great many of your business and social calls permit the use of station-to-station service. And in addition you can more often use this cheaper class of service if you make special arrangements with those with whom you desire to talk, either frequently or occasionally, to be ready for your call at a given time.

HOW TO MAKE A PERSON-TO-PERSON CALL

If you ask to talk to a particular person or persons over long distance, you will be using person-to-person service. The charge for this service is about one-fourth greater than for station-to-station service because the operators may have to spend considerably more time and hold the wires ready while they make an effort to locate the particular party. This class of service is not only more expensive but naturally slower than station-to-station service.

If you desire person-to-person service at a particular hour, and wish to make an appointment to talk at a given time, the appointment rate will apply.

If you wish to talk to a person who does not have a telephone and for whom a messenger must be sent, the messenger call rate will apply.

HOW THE RATES ARE APPLIED

The following is an example showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to sixty-four miles:

Miles.	Station-to-Station.	Person-to-Person.
0-12	$0.10	$0.15
12-18	.15	.20
18-24	.20	.25
24-32	.25	.30
32-40	.30	.40
40-48	.35	.45
48-56	.40	.50
56-64	.45	.55

While the messenger call rate and the appointment rate are not shown in the above table they are each about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate. The report charge, which also is not shown, is about one-fourth of the station-to-station rate.

THE REPORT CHARGE

When you place a call for a particular person and for any reason not within the telephone company's control the call is not contemplated, or if you make a call and are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within one hour, a report charge is made. This is to cover a part of the expense of the operator's time and the use of the wires while we are trying to find your party.

SPECIAL NIGHT RATES

The special evening rate between 8:30 p. m. and 12 o'clock midnight on station-to-station calls is about one-half the day rate and the night rate between midnight and 4:30 a. m. about one-fourth the day rate. The minimum evening or night charge is 25 cents, the day rate applying where the charge is less than that amount. The evening and night rates for person-to-person calls are the same as the day rates.

The rate for any class of service may be obtained by calling "Long Distance."

Further information in connection with our long distance service will be gladly furnished on request.

Popular Airs.

The chirp of the snow birds,
The song of the wren
The caw of the crow
The cackling of hen
The whistle of a canary
And when all of them sing
All at a time, they proclaim it is spring.
The song of a robin,
The squeak of a jay,
The meetings of blackbirds
Quite far away.
The tunes of them all
When heard everywhere,
Make up a melody
Of Popular Airs.

Declamatory Contest.

On Wednesday morning Luella Pederson and Roy Flattum, accompanied by Miss Evans, left for Moorhead where they took part in a declamatory contest. Miss Evans, who returned on Thursday, reported that both contestants did very well, Roy winning first place among the boys with Patrick Henry's famous "Call to Arms." He took part in another contest held at Red Lake Falls last Tuesday.

National Thrift Creed.

The Savings division of the United States Treasury department has issued a thrift creed. This creed was built on suggestions sent to Washington from all the twelve reserve districts.

Only the most determined efforts toward thrift, economy, saving and simple living, will bring down the high cost of living. The time for careless spending has passed. The high wages and high prices for all products brought on by the war can not last forever. Wages will probably not go back to the prewar basis. Prices of the necessities of life will become gradually lower and the demand for luxuries will decrease.

We are reminded of the little poem:

Little Thrift Stamps.

One little Thrift Stamp,
Stuck on with glue,
Felt very lonesome,
But soon there were two;
Two little Thrift Stamps
Were lonely no more,
For along came a couple
And then there were four;
Four little Thrift Stamps
Had not long to wait
'Till four more were added,
Then there were eight;
Eight little Thrift Stamps
Looked happier when
Two more enlisted,
For then there were ten;
Ten little Thrift Stamps
Didn't look so mean,
But looked a lot better
When they numbered sixteen;
Sixteen little Thrift Stamps,
Sure they're bound to thrive
Singing: "We'll be worth five dollars
In Nineteen Twenty-five.
—Ben McCutcheon.

Whom Are You Going to Vote For?

Now that election time is drawing near, people have to think who they want for the next president. Because women are allowed to vote, we want to see every woman turn out and show that they want to vote the same as men.

How do you know whom you want to vote for? The only way is to keep up with the times. Read the newspapers and magazines and get acquainted with the leading men of the day. Don't vote Republican or Democratic just because your father belonged to that party. Decide for yourself. Become interested in the things that are going on in the world and know whom you want for president and why you want that man.

Warren.

In these days of high civilization and culture we look back with horror on the days when ancient Rome delighted in the bloody combats of Coloseum. We wonder how the people could enjoy watching a helpless person being devoured by wild beasts. The animal instinct in the people craved bloody struggles. Their idea of a champion was one who could kill. We think of the contrast between now and then. Our idea of a champion is one who wins by skill and science combined.

Yet we find people among us who cherish the old idea of the Romans. When the Thief River high school team went to Warren last Saturday they received a reception which was more fitting for dogs. The Warren team planned to win by foul means. The spectators manhandled our players in the hope of winning a victory for Warren. Some who were under the influence of lemon extract and other wholesome drinks went so far as to beat one of our men until he was unconscious. When he was being carried off the floor some of the enthusiastic spectators kicked him thinking they were doing a great service to the Warren high school team.

We wish to thank Warren for the kind reception which we received and "good spirit" they showed toward us.

A Modern Smithy.

The village smithy sits,
And waits
For the strike of the Local blacksmith's

To be called off.

Music.

Someone has said that music is our fourth material want—first food, then clothes, then shelter, and then music. This statement may seem to be exaggerated because most of us look too often on music as "mere art." Whether we recognize our want for music or not, it is always present as there is that in everyone of us which calls for something which only music can supply.

So large a part of our life is spent in a rush and therefore our finer sensibilities become dull and we are blind to the better things of life. We owe it to ourselves to take time for those things that are uplifting and among them music ranks first. It is considered the purest of arts because it appeals to love for the beautiful. It isn't possible for us all to be musicians but we can learn much which will help us in the understanding and appreciation of music. A song gains much if a person knows by whom and under what circumstances it was written. An orchestra concert is much more interesting if the hearer knows something about each instrument.

Weber says: "Music is the true universal speech of mankind."

Oh, For an Inspiration!

"Oh, for an inspiration,"
The weary student sighed,
"My brain is muddled as can be,
My thoughts won't follow straight, you see,
Oh, what a lot they expect of me—
I can't think—tho I've tried.

"Oh, for an inspiration,
A poem, I think I'll write,
Miss Evans wants the notebooks due;
Miss Wilson says: 'You're nearly thru
With these books, and then I'll give to you
A quiz,'—and fail—I might.

"Oh, for an inspiration,
An essay will be best.
Shall I write on thrift and economy?
Or a theme on color and dress maybe,
Only a genius can write you see,
To try is no use for the rest.

"Oh, for an inspiration,
Anything under the sun;
Our team is out of school today,
Its always quiet when they're away.
There goes the bell—what shall I say?
My lesson is left undone."

They Say:

The guy who put the "war" in Warren knew what he was talking about.

John Melgaard is back at school again.

This is the right time of year to look back to the poem in the 1916 Annual entitled: "Muddy Ol' Thief River."

Now that the "flu" is over, the pupils of the high-school have taken advantage of the situation and have introduced the "Spring Fever." In this case, everyone is indisposed so none are excused from school.

The Freshmen girls won the basketball game which was played with the Eighth Grade last Thursday afternoon. Myrtle Senate led in making baskets.

The girls basketball team won the game at Minto with a score of 24 to 14.

It has been requested that someone make out a list of grammatical errors for David Evenson because he needs them for his English II work.

The full forty minutes of the Journalism class passed last Friday without Clarence being called to the telephone.

They say that Webster is an authority—look up the definition for Warren.

That "Wobbly" copped all honors at the Stephens' Baby show, when he was a youngster. I wonder what the judges would say if they saw him now? (A guess)—My, but hasn't he changed?

The basket ball boys were given a rousing send-off by the student body at the Great Northern depot last Wednesday afternoon when they left for Crookston.

The different teachers took charge of assembly while Miss Evans was at Moorhead with Luella Pederson and Roy Flattum, who were contestants in a declamatory contest.

In spite of the hard blows received from the Warren fellows the boys were all back to school Monday morning.

We are all looking forward to a well earned Easter vacation.

Helen Warner was in the assembly a whole period Thursday.

John Hendry recited in Ancient history this week.

Clarence Knudsen didn't talk in Caesar class Thursday.

Julia Longaas has just discovered that she is not as bright as she thot she was.

Thea Guttorud has been taught how to make things coincide in geometry but it is almost impossible to do it in sewing.

Mr. Tommeraason's geometry classes are enjoying a vacation for a couple of days because their instructor went with the basket ball team to Crookston.

Craig Halvorson and Lloyd Peterson went to Crookston to see the district championship game of basket ball pulled off.

Some one saw Amos Mostue with a girl the other day.

Funny things happen some times. It is reported that Bernard Bishop handed in an English paper one day last week.

Bernard Bischoff made a cute remark in English class last Wednesday.

William McGinnity surprised Miss Zeh by having his lesson prepared last Thursday.

Lee Ihle went to Warren with the boys and he is still telling about the "Rotten Deal," we received.

Roscoe Bakke left for Crookston on Wednesday to attend the basketball tournament.

Johanna Wedul returned to school last Monday after an absence of seven weeks.

Ruth Knutson keeps a good sized candy store in her desk.

Mr. Melby is noted for handing out bouquets. What kind, I wonder?

Green Freshman: "Where does this road go to?"

Intelligent Senior: "I don't know as it is going anywhere. If you are afraid of it running away I will stay here and take care of it until you come back."

Save Money on Meat By Using Cheap Cuts

HOUSEWIVES IN STATE WILL TRY OUT SCHEME BEGINNING APRIL 12

The department of justice has announced "Save Money on Meat" week for the different states, the period for Minnesota being scheduled to begin on April 12. The high cost of meats is laid largely to the demand on every hand for the choice cuts and the department intends to demonstrate that the less popular parts are fully as good and can be made up into dishes as nourishing and palatable. The greater demand for the cheaper cuts will have the effect of bringing down the price all along the line, it is hoped.

On each day of "Save Money on Meat" week some particular cut or cuts of the inexpensive variety will be featured and will be sold at a low price. Retailers who hitherto have not carried in stock some of the less costly cuts because their customers did not ask for them intend to lay in adequate quantities of such portions of meat. If the consumers will take advantage of the highly nutritious and palatable pieces of meat which are relatively inexpensive, the saving effected will be tremendous, and the slackened demand for the cuts now popular will result in lower prices thereon.

Under present conditions the price of the choicest cuts are in extreme instances fifty or sixty cents higher per pound than the price of other good, wholesome meat from the same animal.

W. C. T. U. MEETINGS.

Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson, president of the North Dakota Woman's Christian Temperance union, and recording secretary of the National W. C. T. U., will preside over the North Central Regional Conference, to be held at Indianapolis, February 25-26. Five of these conferences have been held under the auspices of the National W. C. T. U., and the last at Indianapolis is a group of states in which North Dakota and Minnesota are included. The program is an intensive one with speakers of national reputation on their special themes. Mrs. Mary Clark Barnes, New York City, head of the Americanization department of the National W. C. T. U., will speak on "Our Foreign-Born Neighbor" on Thursday afternoon and will have charge of the lessons in English that evening preceding an address on "World Prohibition" by Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, the "Georgia Cyclone" as she is so often called.

ROSEWOOD

Mrs. Andreas Opseth.

Mrs. Andreas Opseth died at 6 o'clock last Thursday evening following a stroke of apoplexy. Mrs. Opseth had been subject to this disease and last Friday evening suffered an attack which left her unconscious until death. Mrs. Opseth, whose maiden name was Hannah Nordhagen, was born in Tryssil, Norway, Dec. 11, 1841, and was at her death 79 years and three months old. In January, 1875, she was married to Andreas Opseth, who, with four children survives. The children are Olaf and Gust Opseth and Mrs. Benard Rahum, residing at this place, and Mrs. Roy Skinner of Minneapolis. Deceased emigrated to the United States 38 years ago, coming then to Fargo, where the family remained for three years before coming to Rosewood. Mrs. Opseth was a kind, loving Christian woman, whose chief aim in life was the welfare of her family. The funeral was held at the Rindal church Saturday afternoon, with Rev. George Larson of Thief River Falls officiating, and was attended by a large number of friends of the family.

Anderson-Bloom Nuptials.

Rev. Werner Drotts of Viking last Thursday afternoon solemnized the marriage of Mrs. Nina Anderson to Mr. Carl Bloom, both residents of this community. Axel and Anna Bloom acted as witnesses. The newlyweds will go to housekeeping on the groom's farm one mile west of this village. Mr. and Mrs. Bloom left the same evening to spend their honeymoon with a sister of the groom, Mrs. J. M. Phil, and family, at Duluth, and will also visit with relatives at Bemidji before returning.

A pleasant birthday-surprise party was tendered Mrs. Sivert Rafteseth Friday afternoon, in commemoration of her 63rd birthday. The party was arranged by Mrs. A. T. Thoreson and included only friends and neighbors. A dainty luncheon was brought by the ladies, and a beautiful leather covered rocker was presented to Mrs. Rafteseth in remembrance of the event.

Through an error in taking down the number of an automobile which last January ran down and severely injured a pedestrian in Minneapolis, Simon Gulseth was on Tuesday accused of the crime by police authorities of that city. It is not likely that Mr. Gulseth will have any trouble in establishing an alibi, and the incident is regarded very much in the light of a joke.

Mrs. E. Rux, accompanied by two sons and one daughter, left last Wednesday for Northwood, N. D., where they will engage in farming, having sold their farm south of Holt.

John Sorenson returned home last Wednesday from Kansas City, where he had been attending an automobile school.

Geo. Snyder and family arrived on Tuesday from Freeborn county and will make his future home on the old D. Hall farm, west of town, which he bought. Burt Bice arrived a week before with a carload of stock and machinery for Mr. Snyder.

Miss Olga Thoreson, who has been employed at Thief River Falls, arrived Wednesday for a brief visit with her parents.

Mrs. Henry Carlson and two children of Thief River Falls spent Wednesday with Mrs. Carlson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lappegaard.

Rev. A. Andreen of Crookston delivered a sermon at the Congregational church Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Skinner and baby arrived from Minneapolis to attend the funeral of Mrs. Skinner's mother on Saturday.

Emil Mellem, who has spent the winter in Missouri, arrived this week and will visit with his parents for a time and expects later to leave for North Dakota.

John Sorenson has been in town a few days this week to load and ship a carload of potatoes.

Peder Sagmoen left for Goodridge Saturday evening.

A bunch of local young folks were pleasantly entertained at a musical evening at the Steiner Johnson home last Thursday.

Miss Martha Rust of Halma is visiting this week with the Sam Hasby folks west of town.

Miss Lyda and Nettie Batten came from Thief River Falls last Saturday to visit with their father over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Mellem spent a few day's last week at Viking to visit with the S. S. Norgaard family.

Carl Bloom was at Warren between trains last Tuesday.

Miss Sena Johnson returned to her home west of Thief River Falls last Saturday following a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. S. Johnson, of this place.

Miss Nina Westby spent a few days the latter part of the week at Thief River Falls visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lappegaard and two children arrived here last Thursday to visit until Sunday at the O. Lappegaard home.

Henry Sagmoen was home from his high school work at Thief River Falls to spend Sunday with his parents.

Emil Anderson and Joel Shoberg were at Viking last Friday.

Erick Soderberg, Holmer Blom, Adolph and Matt Rafteseth were at Thief River Falls last Saturday.

M. B. Rafteseth left on Monday morning for Oslo to attend to business during the day.

Miss Minnie Sorenson left on Monday for Thompson, N. D., where she will be employed.

Miss Thersia Schenke returned on Monday from Thief River Falls, where she has been visiting for some time.

John Rafteseth was at Warren on Monday attending to business.

NEPTUNE.

John Mostrom is having good success with his saw mill this year. He has turned out between 20,000 and 25,000 feet of lumber so far, and has about 60,000 feet of lumber in logs.

William Baldwin purchased a new house this week. He moved it to the farm near John Mostrom where he intends to make his future home.

Alle Halvorson returned from Thief River Falls Saturday evening where he had been attending to business.

On Saturday, March 6th, Mr. and Mrs. John Mostrom gave a wedding party. There were between 90 and 100 people. Presents and gifts to the bride and groom were numerous. Gifts and presents amounted to somewhere around $600.00. The bride was Miss Myrtle Mostrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mostrom of Neptune, and the groom was William F. Baldwin of Morsyth, Mont.

Miss Mabel Arveson, who has been staying with her sister near Hazel, returned to her home here Saturday evening to attend the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin.

Alfred Mostrom seems to enjoy the shows pulled off by Mr. Baldwin with his brown mare, Flora. He has been planning on buying her but it seems as though Mr. Baldwin does not want to part with her.

Swan Arveson went to Thief River Falls last Thursday and intended to return in a couple of days, but so far we have not seen him.

Dated at Warren, Minnesota, March 2nd, 1920.

ANDREW GRINDELAND,
Judge of the District Court.

Petition For Consolidation.

State of Minnesota, County of Marshall. In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the Matter of the Consolidation of Judicial Ditches numbered 102 in Marshall and Beltrami Counties and 103 in Marshall County, and 30 in Marshall, Pennington and Beltrami Counties, all in the State of Minnesota.

To the Honorable Andrew Grindeland, One of the Judges of the District Court Aforesaid:

The County board of the county of Marshall, in the State of Minnesota, which said county is and will be affected by the consolidation and the construction of the drainage ditches hereinafter described, and the undersigned land owners whose property is affected by the overflow hereinafter described and whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for the expense of, the consolidation and construction of the drainage ditches hereinafter described, respectfully show to the court:

I

That there has been initiated and is now pending in the court above named a drainage proceeding known as Judicial Ditch No. 102 in Marshall and Beltrami Counties in said State by which a drainage ditch is proposed to be constructed to drain the lands in Townships 155, 156 and 157 north of Ranges 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41 and 42 west of the 5th Principal Meridian, situate in said Counties of Marshall and Beltrami, in a westerly direction into the Thief River, for a more particular description of which proceeding, the lands described therein, and the ditch and branches proposed to be constructed thereunder, reference is hereby made to the petition and files in said proceeding, the allegations of which said petition are hereby made a part of this petition.

II

That there has been initiated and is now pending in the court above named a drainage proceeding known as Judicial Ditch No. 103, in Marshall County in said State by which a drainage ditch is proposed to be constructed to drain the lands in townships 157 and 158 north of ranges 40 and 41 west of the 5th Principal Meridian, situate in said County of Marshall, into the Thief River, for a more particular description of which proceeding, the lands described therein, and the ditch and branches proposed to be constructed thereunder, reference is hereby made to the petition and files in said proceeding for the establishment of said Judicial Ditch No. 103, the allegations of which said petition are hereby made a part of this petition.

III

That there has been initiated and is now pending in the court above named a drainage proceeding known as Judicial Ditch No. 30, in Marshall, Pennington and Beltrami Counties in said State by which a drainage ditch is proposed to be constructed to drain and to amplify the present drainage of the lands in Townships 154 and 155 North of Ranges 39, 40, 41, 42 and 43 west of the 5th Principal Meridian and Township 156 North of Ranges 36, 37 and 38 west of the 5th Principal Meridian, situate in said Counties of Marshall, Pennington and Beltrami, said lands including the drainage basin of Judicial Ditches Nos. 12, 13, and 18 and County Ditch No. 20 of said Marshall County, in a westerly direction into the Thief River, for a more particular description of which proceeding, the lands described therein, and the ditch and branches proposed to be constructed thereunder, reference is hereby made to the petition and files in said proceeding and order of the court on preliminary hearing therein, the allegations of which said petition are hereby made a part of this petition.

IV

That the proceedings for the establishment of said Judicial Ditches numbered 102, 103 and 30 are for the establishment of open public ditches, and that the waters from said ditches will empty into a water course known as Thief River, and that the construction of said ditches is likely to cause, by reason of the waters added to said River, the overflow of the waters thereof and the inundation of great areas of adjoining land.

V

That said Thief River is a small, narrow, crooked and sluggish stream, incapable of properly draining its watershed or of furnishing an adequate outlet either for the waters which naturally flow into it or for the waters proposed to be added thereto by said ditches.

That said River needs and requires improvement and control for the purpose of furnishing an outlet for the waters proposed to be added thereto by said ditches and to prevent it from overflowing and inundating great areas of land adjoining its banks.

That the improvement and control of said stream as an outlet for said ditches and of the waters emptying into it therefrom will be a public benefit and utility, and will improve the public health, and protect the lands adjoining said stream from overflow and inundation, and furnish an adequate outlet for the waters from said proposed ditches.

Wherefore, your petitioners pray that the said proceedings for the establishment of said Judicial Ditches numbered 102, 103 and 30 be consolidated into one system and the extension of the same so as to furnish a proper outlet for all the waters of the basin and drainage area that naturally drain or are led by ditches into said Thief River, and that the cost of constructing said outlet be borne by all the lands to be benefitted thereby, and that in order to equitably apportion the cost of the construction of the said improvement and the extension of said outlet to all the lands to be benefited thereby it is necessary that said proceedings be merged and consolidated; and your petitioners further pray that the court make an order fixing a time and place for the hearing upon this petition and ordering all proceedings now pending in said Judicial Ditch proceedings numbered 102, 103 and 30 stayed until the hearing and determination thereof.

Dated February 18th, 1920.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Traveling from town to town, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while plying my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently, so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me; so I cannot praise it too highly."

It Cured Me

For the first time in many years the banks of the country are discounting Canadian coins. Last Friday the local banking houses notified all their patrons that hereafter a discount of 20 per cent would be charged on all such money coming in. There has been a similar discount on Canadian currency for some time.

THESE CTX BOTTOMS

on a Gang or Sulky give you two or three plows in one—for there is no need of buying a breaker or extra bottom for turning tame sod. The "CTX" will handle all kinds of soil under all conditions, and will do better work than the ordinary bottom.

That's why the Rock Island No. 8 "CTX" Gang is such a big seller in this community—farmers know from years of experience that the "CTX" bottom turns the furrow slice clear over, preventing those dangerous air spaces, saving crops from drought.

You'll find a "CTX" Gang on display now—come in and see it.

BOND ELECTION TO PROVIDE NEW SCHOOL TUESDAY

SOMETHING MUST AT ONCE BE DONE TO RELIEVE EAST SIDE

PUPILS' HEALTH AND GENERAL WELFARE DEMAND IMPROVED CONDITIONS

PEOPLE HAVE NEVER YET FAILED TO RESPOND TO DEMAND OF SCHOOLS

There is to be a special school election next Tuesday to vote $135,000 bonds for a new building for the East Side. The crowded condition prevailing in the Knox school makes it necessary that something be done.

There are at present six grades on the East Side. The second and fourth each have two teachers, leaving the first, third, fifth and sixth with but one. There are just as many children in the first, third, fifth and sixth grades as there are in the second and fourth.

The fewer pupils a teacher has the more individual attention can be given and the more thorough will be the education.

Poor Ventilating System.

Attention might be called to other conditions in the Knox school. The superintendent's office compiled accurate figures during the flu epidemic this winter. The strange fact was revealed that buildings which had the fan ventilation had the highest percentage of attendance and the buildings which had no fan ventilation had the lowest percentages of attendance. The Northrup, with its fan ventilation, had an attendance of 65.1% during the week of the flu epidemic and the Knox had an attendance of only 50.7%. This would seem to show that the fan ventilation had considerable to do with the health of the children. Ventilation in the present Knox building is the poorest in the city.

Improved Kindergarten.

Kindergartens are being established very rapidly all over the United States. This is coming to be recognized as one of the most important features of the whole school curriculum. The kindergarten in the Knox building has been shoved into odd corners and places, but the new building will provide ample room for it. There is also no povision made for the seventh and eighth grades on the East Side. If the building can be built large enough there will be room for the grades also in the Knox.

The people of the East Side have always been generous in voting school money. The last sum asked for was for the Northrup building and the East Side people voted heartily in favor of it. Now, as they need a new building themselves, Thief River Falls is not going to turn them down. The East Side needs a new building and everybody should vote in favor of giving them one.

Vote yes for the bonds next Tuesday.

Wholesale Quarters Secured For Bakery

M. L. SWANSON WILL SEPARATE THIS BRANCH FROM RETAIL DEPARTMENT

A lease covering a term of years was this week entered into between M. C. Burns, agent for the owners of the Meehan block, and M. L. Swanson of the City Bakery, whereby the latter will take over the quarters now occupied by the C. C. Swartz cigar factory and Laird's Specialty Shop and use them for the wholesale department of his business. A bake-oven, the foundation of which will extend to the basement floor, will be installed in the rear while the front section will be devoted to packing and shipping.

The space now used as a bakery plant in the rear of the retail store on LaBree avenue will be converted into a modern candy factory, containing all the latest machinery and equipment for turning out goods of the highest grade.

The business of the concern has grown to such proportions that larger quarters were necessary in order to properly care for it, the fame of "Mother's Bread," which is a product of the factory, extending all over this section of the state.

Laird's Specialty Shop will probably move into the quarters now occupied by the Salvation Army, in the same building, while Mr. Swartz has not yet decided upon a location.

Kick on Incinerator.

People residing in the neighborhood of the city incinerating plant have notified the council that the institution is a nuisance and that it should be moved to some other locality. The city dads can hardly see their way clear to comply with this unusual request but have given orders that nothing of an objectionable character shall be dumped on the ground near the plant and that all refuse must be disposed of by burning as soon as received. Persons who take it upon themselves to haul garbage and leave it where it may become a public nuisance will be dealt with as in the laws of the city provided.

Elect New Officers.

At a meeting of the directors of the Thief River Falls Merchant's association held this week the following were elected as officers for the ensuing year: Gynther Tessum, president; W. W. Prichard, Jr., second vice president; Carl Christofferson, treasurer; G. Howad Smith, secretary.

Securing Seed Grain.

W. B. Fuller of the Hanson & Barzen Milling company is in Canada this week for the purpose of buying seed wheat for the farmers of this neighborhood. Ever since it became known that the native stock was low in germination a special effort has been made to get a supply sufficient to meet the demand. Besides the Canadian grain a considerable quantity will be shipped in from southern Minnesota and South Dakota.

Paving Bids Called For; Opened May 4

COUNCIL HEARS ARGUMENTS AND DECIDES TO GO AHEAD WITH WORK

Bids for paving the streets and alleys in the business section of Thief River Falls will be opened by the city council on May 4. The Bradley Engineering Service, in charge of the work, will shortly publish the formal advertisement setting forth requirements.

The city council decided to go ahead and ask for bids after hearing the views of the property owners along the line of the proposed improvement last Thursday evening. The majority of those present were opposed to the city's engaging upon this enterprise during the coming summer, giving as their principal reason that the streets would not be in shape to have pavement laid for another year at least owing to the many excavations necessary in order to place the water and sewer connections in the proper condition. It was maintained by the objectors that the filling in the trenches will settle, leaving the pavement without a solid foundation to rest on.

Among the business men present who urged delay were M. V. Evenson, Julien Provencher, A. B. Remmem, Oluf Tessum, C. M. Evenson, Rasmus Oen, John Vorachek, T. L. Melgaard and M. C. Burns. A. S. Sapero and G. W. Connel, the latter representing the Winton-Nichols Lumber company, spoke in favor of going ahead with the work.

The council will make no definite decision in the matter until after the bids are received.

Will Call Reserves to Keep the Peace

EXPECT TROUBLE AT BASKETBALL GAME BETWEEN H. S. FACULTY AND TEAM

Extra precautions will be taken to keep down the death roll when the high school basketball team meets a quintet made up of faculty members at the auditorium this evening. The youngsters are determined to show their instructors that there is one field of endeavor in which they are absolutely the superiors and it is certain that their opponents will not meekly submit to any such exhibition.

The faculty team is made up of men who have at one time or another made their marks as basket shooters, and are fully convinced that they still understand enough about the game to show the youngsters where to head in. Supt. Ziegler is on the team, as is also Schold, Tripp, Melby, Pope and Tommeraasen. The latter has coached the high school bunch during the season and may be ruled out as knowing too much about their style of play. Only one extra man has been provided which goes to prove that most of the staff expects to stay through the entire game.

This contest is going to furnish lots of fun and will provide a fitting windup to a most successful season.

Assist in Making Budget Estimate

At a meeting of the commercial club held last evening for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed to find ways and means of financing the club, it was found that approximately $500 besides the usual membership dues, had been pledged. This was regarded as a very good start and there is now no question but that the $1,200 needed will be secured. A committee composed of E. O. Mogensen, F. J. Stebbins, C. S. Simonson, W. A. Hall, Gynther Tessum and A. S. Sapero was appointed to continue the work of solicitation.

Those who have to date signified their willingness to contribute toward making up the budget of the club together with the sums pledged by each, are as follows:

First National Bank	$150
The Prichard Co.	75
The Tessum Co.	75
Loken Brothers	50
A. M. Langseth	25
C. S. Simonson	25
E. O. Mogensen	25
John Bratrud	25
Hall Brothers	15
W. H. Frederick	15
F. J. Stebbins	15

Business Men Will Raise $2000 to Further Sugar Beet Experiments

Members of the Thief River Falls commercial club last evening pledged themselves to raise $2,000 for the purpose of carryin on experiments in the raising of sugar beets. It was decided to form a pool in which 40 men would each pledge $50 toward the cost of planting and caring for sugar beet plots within a radius of three miles of the city.

Laboratory tests having determined that beets of unusual saccharine content can be raised in this immediate neighborhood, interest in the culture of the vegetable has grown keen. The Minnesota Sugar company has undertaken to furnish seed and labor for a number of farmers who wish to make limited experiments, but the club members believe the matter of sufficient importance to warrant a more extensive investigation.

Those present at the meeting who went on record as willing to join the pool are as follows: John B. Connor, W. H. Frederick, C. L. Hansen, H. O. Loken, F. J. Stebbins, H. W. Protzeller, R. B. McWilliams, S. C. Coumbe, E. O. Mogensen, C. S. Simonson, John Bratrud and W. W. Prichard, Jr. Daniel Shaw offered to contribute $100 toward the success of the undertaking or give the free use of 10 acres of land. Oluf Tessum will put in five acres himself and furnish ten acres additional for free use. W. W. Prichard, Sr., and C. L. Hansen will each contribute five acres for free use and Math Barzen will plant six acres on his own hook.

J. B. Connor, W. H. Frederick and W. W. Prichard, Jr., were appointed a committee to run the number of contributors up to 40, each pledging $50, which will provide the required $2,000. It is figured that it will cost $40 to properly look after an acre of sugar beets while the net return is figured at $60 an acre.

DELEGATES PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE AT STATE MEET

PENNINGTON COUNTY GIVEN CREDIT FOR MRS. FOSSEEN'S NOMINATION

PLAN OF SLATE-MAKERS UPSET BY ACTION OF W. J. BROWN

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE SENDS LETTER EXPRESSING HER APPRECIATION

At the state convention at St. Paul held last week the Pennington county delegation started the movement that opened the way for the nomination of Mrs. Manley Fosseen of Minneapolis as delegate at large to the national convention at Chicago. A sufficient number of state delegates had apparently made a slate to elect certain men as delegates at large without any recognition of the Republican women of the State. Nominations were being made and it was proposed that each delegation present vote for four candidates. If this plan hal been followed out the slate prepared for the convention would have gone through without a break.

> LETTER OF APPRECIATION
>
> Mr. W. J. Brown, Thief River Falls, Minn. My dear Mr. Brown:—I certainly want to express to you my most sincere appreciation for the loyal support tendered me at the State Convention. Aside from the great personal feeling which I have, the things that loom up is the triumphal testimony of the faith of Minnesota men in the feminine electorate, and by your "action" you made it a historical event. It will always be a matter of pride to Minnesota that at its first joint convention, the women were given full recognition.
>
> I want you to express to your delegation my greatest appreciation of the personal recognition and support and also for the State organization of women which has placed them in politics, in full recognition of their privileges and responsibilities. I am Yours sincerely, Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen.

Brown Upsets Plan.

It was at this time that W. J. Brown of this city made the motion in the interests of Mrs. Fosseen. He moved that the convention proceed immediately to elect her as delegate-at-large by acclamation. He asked the delegates to support this motion, stating that it was time for the Republicans to make good on their promise to the women of the state. This put the convention in an uproar. The slatemakers saw their carefully prepared plan going to pieces. The chairman, Senator A. J. Rockne, put the motion and declared it lost, but the enthusiasm for Mrs. Fosseen would not down.

The Others Withdraw.

W. A. Nolan of Grand Meadow withdrew his candidate in favor of Mrs. Fosseen. Miss Rogers of St. Paul, who had been nominated, immediately withdrew. Senator George Sullivan of Stillwater, dropped out in favor of Mrs. Fosseen. Chairman of county delegations all over the house were fighting for an opportunity to climb onto the Fosseen band wagon. The motion was renewed and carried with a roar.

The action taken by Mr. Brown in the convention had the enthusiastic support of the entire Pennington county delegation.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Woman's club will be held at the commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon, April 5. There being five Mondays in March three weeks will elapse between meetings at this time instead of two as usual.

APPLICANTS FURNISHED WITH PROPER BLANKS THROUGH THE BANKS

SEED WILL BE SECURED FROM LOCAL ELEVATORS WHERE POSSIBLE

Seed grain applications made to the county agents of Pennington, Marshall and Roseau counties were distributed among the various bankers of these counties who were present Tuesday night at the special meeting called by Appraiser Scott Laird in the commercial club rooms in this city.

These applications, together with those of Beltrami and Koochiching counties, had been tabulated and it was found that considerably more than $100,000 had been asked in the way of the five seed grains comprising wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax. This means that the lists will have to be pruned considerably to keep within the appropriation of $100,000 made by the state board of relief last week. Especially is this true in view of the fact that applications for seed grain are still coming in, and it is believed that others may yet be heard from who may wish to secure their seed grain from this source.

Will Act as Agent.

The bankers were asked to take the blanks home, get in touch immediately with the applicants and ascertain just how much seed they would be willing to sign up for on a seed grain note. The bankers will then order from their local elevators the required amount and superintend the distribution thereof. The list of applicants will be thoroughly scrutinized and only such as are entitled to assistance under the state regulations will be permitted to secure the seed at the low rate of interest. Others will have to deal with the banks or with their neighbors.

It is hoped that on the receipt of the specially prepared seed grain notes next Monday a few deliveries of seed grain may be made and that each day thereafter will see quite a volume turned over to the farmers of this section.

50,000 Bushels Applied For.

Mr. Laird states that to date applications for the following amounts of grain of different varieties have been received at his office: Oats, 26,000 bushels; barley, 9,000; rye, 5,000; wheat, 5,000; flax, 4,000.

Local bankers are giving their every effort toward helping out those who will have difficulty in securing seed. The movement was started in this city and has received support from all nearby communities. The prices fixed by the state for seed are as follows: Wheat, $4.00; oats, $1.50; flax, $6.00; barley, $2.00; rye, $2.50.

School Board Raises Salaries of Teachers

INSTRUCTORS IN HIGH SCHOOL AND GRADES WILL RECEIVE INCREASE

The school board of District No. 18 has decided to increase the wages of all teachers now employed, thus conforming to the recommendations of the state educational authorities and acting in harmony with every other board in the state. Grade teachers will hereafter receive salaries ranging from $120 to $140 per month, depending upon length of service and nature of work. High school teachers will not be increased in any definite sum but the minimum has been placed at $140.

At a meeting of school officials to be held in St. Paul next week it will be proposed that these wages be made uniform throughout the state.

Bought For Himself.

In the account of the purchase of 1400 acres of land near Goodridge last week The Times stated that G. M. Wilson of Chicago secured the property for R. P. and Allan Turnbull of Missouri. This was not strictly correct. Mr. Wilson bought the property for himself and will be the sole owner, while the Turnbulls will act as his managers and be in charge of actual farm operations. Credit for making this deal should go principally to Andy Solberg of this city, acting with G. L. Peterson of Illinois. Mr. Solberg conducted the negotiations throughout and had the land on his list for some time previous to the closing of the deal. He states that he has others of almost as great importance pending and that a number of unusual transactions may be looked for in the same region before the summer is over.

Conservancy District Officers Are Selected

FIRST IMPORTANT HEARING WILL BE AT WARREN ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31

The organization meeting of the directors of the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy district was held in this city on Tuesday. All members were present, as follows: C. G. Selvig, Crookston; Andrew Johnson, Clearbrook; Ed Aubol, St. Hilaire; William Paskewitz, Grygla; Axel Nelson, Holt.

Mr. Selvig was elected president and Adolf Eklund, clerk of court of Pennington county, clerk. W. J. Brown of Thief River Falls was continued in the post of attorney, he having been identified closely with the movement since its inception. No selection for treasurer was made but the unanimous verdict of the board members favored Sam Hunt of Red Lake Falls, who will undoubtedly be accorded the post.

The board will have a hearing at Warren on March 31 at which time the petition of the people residing in the northeast portion of Marshall county will be be heard. They ask that the drainage undertaken in their district be with the view of converting the surplus waters to a point in Thief river where the stream crosses the Pennington-Marshall county line. The board has secured the services of State Engineer E. V. Willard for the purpose of taking the levels in this district and his findings will be presented at the Warren meeting.

Every action taken by the board at its first meeting was by unanimous vote.

Home Talent Plays Season's Best Game

LEGION BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS HIGH SCHOOL BY AN EYEBROW

For brilliant, snappy, consistent work no basketball game played in the city this season has been the equal of the contest between the teams of Elmer J. Eklund post and the local high school. The contest was staged at the auditorium on Tuesday evening and not until the referee had sounded the final whistle could anyone tell which would be the victor. The score stood 30 to 20 in favor of the soldiers at the windup.

The legionaries were the heavier team and played with speed and confidence throughout, but their fast, resourceful opponents kept them so busy that every basket made was earned. The crowd was in a high state of excitement all through the contest and gave vent to its feelings whenever an opportunity arose. It was a clean game and fought to a finish.

Thereon closes the season with a record for the legion of six games won out of 10 played. The high school has won nine and lost five with the decision in one still disputed. It has been a very successful season and the teams representing Thief River Falls have acquitted themselves with credit.

Storm Sewer Ordinance.

An ordinance providing for the establishment of storm sewer district No. 1 was given its first reading at the council meeting on Tuesday evening. The ordinance simply provides for the establishment of the district and in no manner provides for the construction of any sewer at the present time. This will have to be taken up as the necessity arises and in the same manner as is now employed in sewer matters generally.

American Legion Banquet.

There will be a banquet and entertainment program for the members of the American Legion held at the commercial club rooms on Saturday evening, March 27. The committee in charge is as follows: Oscar Smith, Walter Jonas, John Brumund, Earl McCord, Carl I. Hovik. No notices of this affair outside of those published will be sent out.

Fair Board to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Pennington County Agricultural association at the commercial club rooms on Saturday afternoon, March 27, for the purpose of passing on the proposed change in the premium list submitted by the department superintendents. The building program for the year will also be discussed.

WHEAT FAILURE FEARED UNLESS SEED IS TESTED

GRAVE DANGER OF ONLY ONE-THIRD CROP UNLESS CARE IS TAKEN

DISREGARDING WARNING MAY BRING ON DISASTROUS CONSEQUENCES

SAMPLES SENT TO UNIVERSITY IN ORDER TO VERIFY LOCAL FINDINGS

Even though the summer of 1920 turns out to be the best for the growing of wheat in the history of the Northwest, the crop may be doomed to failure unless a warning is sounded and care taken to avert disaster at once. This is the view of men in this neighborhood who have followed farming and grain handling for many years.

The 1919 wheat crop in this section was of decidedly poor quality as compared with those of average years. As a result it was realized that the seed saved would not be of the best in many respects, but it now develops that its germinating test is so far below what was expected that a crop may not be possible even under the most favorable growing conditions.

Less Than One-Third.

Thief River Falls wheat growers who have tested their seed find that even in the case of selected grain the germination is not over 30 per cent. If this is the case with selected samples it is certain that the general run will fall even below this figure. Should it be found that the tests are correct it will mean that more than two-thirds of the wheat saved for seed is of no value for this purpose and that planting it will practically insure there being a crop failure next fall.

Test Before Seeding.

The matter is of such seriousness that no man should plant wheat this spring without being certain that his seed will stand an average test for germination. Anyone can satisfy himself on this score with very little trouble and at practically no expense. There are several ways of testing, one of the best and easiest being carried out as follows: Take two pans—pie tins will do—line the bottom of one with moistened flannel, spread the seed over this and cover with another piece of flannel and pan in the same way. Place no water in the pan as one moistening of the flannel is sufficient. Germination will generally be indicated on the third day but is certain on the fourth unless the grain is sterile.

Should Take No Chances.

While the grain from which the disappointing samples were taken was grown in the neighborhood of Thief River Falls it is not likely that the situation is much different in any of the northwestern counties. Business men as well as farmers are interested in seeing that everything possible is done to avert the disaster that would follow the planting of seed of such low germination and should start campaigns of education with the object of impressing those who may not realize the full extent of the danger.

Commercial Value of Peat His Subject

PROF. CHRISTIANSON TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY ON THURSDAY NEXT.

Secretary G. Howard Smith of the commercial club yesterday received word from Prof. Peter Christianson of the University of Minnesota, announcing that he would be in Thief River Falls for the purpose of delivering an address on Thursday evening, April 1. The meeting will be held at the commercial club rooms at 8 o'clock.

Prof. Christianson's subject will be: "The Development of Peat as Fuel and For Commercial Purposes." He is perhaps the foremast authority on this subject in the United States and as the people of this section are vitally interested in the future of peat he should have a large audience.

Easter Dance by Post.

Elmer J. Eklund post will give a grand ball at the auditorium on Monday, April 5. This will be the big after-lent party in this city and the attendance should break all records. The best music has been obtained and all the arrangements are of the highest order. Eklund post has gained an enviable reputation as a giver of enjoyable dancing parties and this affair bids to outshine all previous efforts.

To Build Warehouses.

An ordinance given its first reading at the meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening will, in case it is passed, grant the Standard Oil company the privilege of erecting warehouses on the former site of the saw mill just south of Bridge street. The company has purchased a part of strip recently secured by the Soo railway from the Thief River Falls Lumber company and will begin the erection of buildings suitable to its purpose as soon as the necessary legal formalities are complied with.

To Manage Large Farm.

Paul Engelstad, one of the best known among the younger farmers of Pennington county will leave in a few days with his family for the purpose of taking charge of the Highcroft farm near Osakis as superintendent. Edwin Hanson, a brother-in-law of Mr. Engelstad, will manage the Rocksbury township property of the latter during his absence, it being no part of his intention to let go of his holdings here. Mr. Engelstad, who is a graduate of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, takes this teps because of the added exeprience it will afford him, the Highcroft farm being one of the largest and most thoroughly equipped and stocked in the state. He is decidedly a live wire, progressive and competent, and the farm bureau members particularly will regret to see him leave, at the same time approving his determination to improve his knowledge by every means at his command.

National Repair Week.

Government bureaus have requested the farmers of the country to observe as national repair week the six days following April 3. This is designated at the proper time for looking over all farm machinery and securing anything that may be needed in order to put things in ship-shape for the spring work. Costly delays are often the result of neglecting to take this precaution at the opening of the season and the wise farmer will see to it that no such thing occurs to force up the expense of doing business. Money will be saved if the worn, missing or broken part is ordered from the implement dealer at this time. He may be able to supply what is wanted at once, but in case he must send for it the earlier this is done the better.

Visited Crookston Elks.

A delegation from Thief River Falls lodge of Elks went to Crookston last Friday for the purpose of attending the initiation of a large class. Members of the order from all over this section were on hand, and all were made welcome. The work was put on in excellent shape and without loss of time. The banquet served in the lodge's dining hall was of a high order and all the appointments strictly in accordance with the best traditions of the organization. Those who attended from here were W. H. Frederick, C. S. Simonson, H. W. Protzeller, Dr. G. W. Booren, Dr. G. M. Milan, W. S. Sylvester, Stephen Yngve and T. J. Austad.

High School Progress

Honor Roll.

Last Wednesday morning at chapel period Miss Evans announced the Honor Roll Students for the year of 1920.

They are as follows: Henry Stengelsen, valedictorian; Mollie Hermanson, salutatorian; Vivian Gabrielson, salutatorian; Mable Shefland, Ida Sovde, James Helle, Alyce Berg, Hilda Hammarsten, Edna O'Brien, Esther Scovell.

We Are Governed.

The two civics classes of this semester are changed into the State Senate and the House of Representatives. A big campaign for governor was carried out on Wednesday. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was shown in the campaign and to crown the day, Miss Patrick was elected. The senate has been busy making and passing new bills for the betterment of Minnesota, and the house of representatives is very enthusiastically impeaching its officers and dismissing its undesirable members. Mr. Schuster has a very serious charge against him and will be tried in court. The main charge is that of trying to spoil Mr. Schold's campaign for governorship, by saying he was against "Woman Suffrage." Mr. Aakre is to be judge and Mr. McGinn prosecuting attorney. Very soon Minnesota will be free from political disturbances.

"They Say."

The Eighth grade basketball team played the girls first team last Tuesday night and before the game was half over Mr. Matt Barzen was put out of the game on personals, for holding.

Please put a snap-shot of yourself in the joke-box for the annual.

"Chuck" Warner won a hundred marbles Sunday.

The "Ernests" are repairing the "Ford" for the summer.

Most of the pupils on the honor roll were country students. Wonder why?

Roscoe Bakke, "Ta,Ta" made a big hit in geometry class Thursday, he had his lesson prepared.

Wanted—Everybody to understand that books which are not their own should be returned to their true owners.

Clarence Vevea and Joe Weirus left on Tuesday night for Carleton to see the big basketball tournament.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

GROWING SUGAR BEETS SURE TO BE PROFITABLE

START BEING MADE THIS YEAR MAY MEAN STEADILY INCREASING BUSINESS

EXPERIMENTS HAVE PROVEN SOIL HERE PECULIARLY ADAPTED TO BEET

MINNESOTA SUGAR CO. FURNISHING SEED AND LABOR FOR BEGINNERS

While the sugar beet acreage in Pennington county will not this year be very large, a good start will be made and if the results are as satisfactory as now seem certain this crop may within a very short time become one of the most important raised here. Our soil and climatic conditions are peculiarly adapted to the production of the very finest kind of sugar beets and many believe that when a start is once made the industry will assume vast proportions.

The Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska, has this year interested itself in getting the farmers of a number of northern counties to try the beet on small plots, furnishing the seed and contract to buy the crop at $10 per ton. Besides this the company agrees to send experienced labor here to care for and harvest the beets in case it is found impossible to secure the help at home.

Has Vast Possibilities.

Sugar beet growing at this time holds forth more promise of profit for the farmer than almost anything else he can engage in. It is pointed out that in 1915 the United States sent abroad a total of $166,000,000 for the purchase of foreign sugar. This might have been supplied at home from 1,780,000 acres of land and have provided as much money for the growers as the farmers received for all the wheat on 10,779,000 acres of land.

But One Item of Gain.

The annual distribution of $166,000,000 to American farmers and laborers is not the only, nor is it the principal, gain which would come to the American people through producing their entire supply at home. Each of the 1,320 European and 75 American factories is an agricultural experiment station which teaches the farmers better methods of agriculture, not only in the culture of sugar beets, but in all crops.

The cultivation of sugar beets not only provides the farmer with one of his most profitable money crops, but it so prepares and enriches his land that for a series of years it produces greatly increased yields of all other crops which follow. Although the natural soil and climatic conditions of Europe are greatly inferior to those of the United States, through the introduction of sugar beet culture their wornout soils have been rejuvenated so that they now produce a much greater tonnage of all crops.

The Effect on Wheat.

In 1909, Germany, the largest sugar producing country in the world, produced 30.5 bushels of wheat to the acre to our 15.8 bushels; 59 bushels of oats to our 30.3 bushels; 39.5 bushels of barley to our 24.3 bushels; 28.8 bushels of rye to our 16.1 bushels, and 208.9 bushels of potatoes to our 106.8 bushels. From 42,000,000 acres devoted to these five crops in 1909, German farmers harvested 3,000,000,000, while from 92,000,000 acres American farmers harvested but 2,300,000,000 bushels.

Is Never Abandoned.

Wherever sugar beets have been grown in the United States the yields of other crops grown in rotation have increased more rapidly than they increased in Germany and oftentimes have far exceeded the German yields. If, through the general introduction of sugar beet culture our soils were made equal to the German acreage yields, based on the United States farm value in 1909, without extending their acreage, but solely through the value of excess yield, our farmers would be richer by $1,340,000,000 a year.

Elks Plan Big Time For Tomorrow Night

FORTY LITTLE FELLOWS WILL BE GATHERED IN WITH MUCH POMP

Secretary E. F. Dolan of Thief River Falls Lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., has notified the members of a big event that is to take place on Friday evening of this week. Forty little Elklets are to undergo a transformation which will convert them into big ones and a clever and enthusiastic committee has so arranged things that there is no danger that the occasion will ever be forgotten by them.

Something entirely new in the way of entertainment is to be tried out. Just what this will be no one knows except the members in charge of its selection. There is not a question, however, but that it will be most impressive.

This is the last initiation at which the present officers will preside. Before another batch of fawns is taken into the fold G. Howard Smith will have succeeded L. R. Johnston as exalted ruler and the other officers will have moved forward a peg. The function will close the most successful year in the history of Thief River Falls Elkdom, an increase in membership of about 200 having been recorded for the period.

It is particularly desired that the Elks residing outside the city be present at this initiation and assurances have been received to the effect that they will come in large numbers.

Two Graduates From N. W. Aggie Today

GOODRIDGE HAS ONLY REPRESENTATIVES RECEIVING DIPLOMAS

The following from Pennington county are graduates of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston who will receive diplomas today: Einar Aakre and Ruby Knudson, both of Goodridge.

The total number of graduates this year is twenty-eight. The junior class numbers eighty-six which insures a senior class next year which will be the largest in the history of the school. The enrollment during the present school year was 301. The largest previous enrollment was 208.

The fall term of the school opens October 7. During the summer most of the students will carry on farming work. All are enrolled in special projects on the home farms, thereby putting into practice the lessons learned at the school. Indications point to a record breaking attendance during next year. Accommodations at the school, however, are limited to 250 and it is thought unwise to enroll a larger number on account of the lack of dormitory facilities.

When school opens next fall the new dining hall building will be completed and ready for occupancy. In addition a concrete road from Crookston will be built. The alumni and former students are also subscribing funds for a soldiers' and sailors' memorial which it is expected will be completed before school opens.

St. Hilaire Planning New Creamery Plant

CAPITAL INCREASED TO $30,000 AND AMOUNT RAPIDLY TAKEN UP

(St. Hilaire Spectator.)

Stockholders and patrons of the local creamery met at the village hall here last Friday afternoon to discuss ways and means of raising money for the purpose of erecting a new creamery building either this fall or next spring. The association has already bought a down-town site and it has been their plan to build soon, but the present form of incorporation did not permit, owing to the capitalization being only $5,000.00. After discussing various means, it was decided to leave the present incorporation as it was, but to increase the capital from five to thirty thousand. Additional shares of the same par value as the old, will be issued for the additional capitalization, and an active canvass is now under way to determine how many of these shares can be readily sold. Nearly a hundred shares were subscribed for in the hall and on the street after the meeting. While it is not expected that all shares will be sold immediately, they will be taken up before long. As soon as enough are sold to insure success of the project, it is hoped the building committee will have their plans for a new building ready.

The St. Hilaire creamery is one of the most solidly entrenched corporations of its kind in this part of the state, and its present plan to provide up-to-date quarters and equipment is most commendable, and should be heartily supported by everyone interested in this part of the county and its welfare.

Miss Halvorson in Recital.

Miss Doris M. Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Halvorson, 515 LaBree avenue north, who is studying in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, played on last Wednesday evening at the regular students' recital. Miss Halvorson's numbers were Prelude for left hand and Etude in D flat by Scriabine, and both were rendered in a thoroughly musicianly manner. Miss Halvorson is studying violin in addition to her major study of piano, harmony, ear training and voice. She graduated from Lincoln high school in 1917, receiving sufficient credit to enable her to enter the conservatory of music, which requires the same entrance demand as the college of arts and sciences.

Commissioners' Meeting.

The board of county commissioners held a meeting last Thursday, matters of routine being about the only things considered. Another meeting will be held on April 2, at which time it is expected a number of road contracts will be let.

Junior Short Course Week at Crookston

BIG EVENT FOR BOYS AND GIRLS BEGINS MONDAY, MARCH 29.

The Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston will hold its Eighth Annual Junior Short course the week beginning March 29. Boys and girls of 12 to 18 years of age may come. The young people stay at the school under the supervision of the faculty. They are met at the train and are well cared for during the week.

The course will consist of stock judging, potato work, courses in grain, poultry, pigs, and gardening, besides canning, cooking, and sewing. Boys and girls planning to do club work the coming year will receive special attention during the week. National and state club leaders will be present to help make the week profitable for those who attend.

Part of each day will be spent in games, field meets, excursions, and entertainment. The total expense at the school will be only $3.00, which includes board and room for the week. Each student should bring necessary bed clothes. All other equipment is furnished.

There are a large number of young folks in this vicinity who are planning to attend. Parents should make this trip possible for their children, and give them the advantages that the opportunities of such a week will afford. It will increase the interest of the young people in the work on the farm and help make them see the many advantages there are in a rural community.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Knutson and family, who have resided near Goodridge for the past few months, left on Saturday afternoon for Northwood, N. D., where the former will have the management of a farm in that vicinity.

Mrs. H. R. Conner and son, William, left on Saturday evening for Minneapolis, where they will visit for an indefinite period at the home of the former's parents. Mr. Conner will remain here for a while yet making preparations for their removal to the above mentioned place.

Save Expensive Delays and Transportation Charges by Placing Repair Orders Early

In the interest of BETTER REPAIR SECVICE the Implement Dealers and Manufacturers of the U. S. inaugurated National Repair Week two years ago. At that time it was a war measure. It worked well for farmers, dealers and manufacturers and for that reason it has been deemed advisable to continue it. Farmers who did not inspect their implements and order repairs early suffered great inconvenience and heavy loss for it was impossible to supply the demand for repairs in midst of busy season. Conditions promise to be no better this year and we urge the farmers to—

Look Over Machinery Now

And place orders early for such parts as are sure to be needed.

We are anxious to give good repair service but to give 100 per cent service must have farmers' co-operation.

The movement has the approval of the U. S. Agricultural Department, all State Agricultural Departments, Agricultural Colleges and Farm Bureaus.

BABCOCK PLAN FOR IMPROVING ROADS OF STATE

PROVIDES FOR APPROXIMATELY 700 MILES OF HARD SURFACE PIKE

COST WOULD BE ABOUT $18 PER YEAR FOR EACH AUTOMOBILE

WILL RELEASE COUNTY ROAD AND BRIDGE MONEY FOR WORK ON LATERALS.

The following article has been gotten out by the Minnesota Highway Improvement association, and it contains some facts and figures that should be read by every one interested in the progress of the county and state, and that means everybody. Read and study it:

The adoption of the pending consitutional amendment No. 1, known as the "Babcock plan," establishes in Minnesota a state trunk highway system of approximately 7,000 miles of main or arterial roads, which reaches into every section of the state, the highways to be "located, constructed, reconstructed, improved and forever maintained as public highways by the state of Minnesota."

The construction and maintenance of the roads in this system is to be done by the state of Minnesota and is to be financed by a bond issue which is to be retired by the proceeds from an increased license fee on motor vehicles. The amendment limits the issue of bonds in any calendar year to $10,000,000 par value and provides that there shall never be more than $75,000,000 in bonds outstanding. No bonds are issued by the amendment, but it simply authorizes the legislature to issue and sell the bonds of the state within the limits just stated.

Raised by License Fees.

In order to finance the trunk highway system it will be necessary to levy a license fee on automobiles which will average about $18 per car. If such a license fee is fixed by the legislature, bonds may be issued to the full limit of the constitutional amendment and retired by the proceeds from motor vehicle license fees. If a lower rate than $18 a car is fixed, then the legislature can limit the bonds to be issued to less than $10,000,000, or in other words to the amount which can be financed by such a license fee as is fixed. In no case is it expected that bonds will be issued in such amounts as cannot be retired by motor vehicle license fees.

By the establishment of the trunk highway system all of the local funds—the state aid, county and township levies—are left intact to be used by local authorities in building the local or feeder roads. These funds, based on the two years' average amount to the gigantic total of $10,925,000 a year. This would mean that in ten years from 1921 to 1930, both inclusive, the counties and townships of the state would have a local road building fund of $109,250,000, or enough money to build 21,850 miles of graveled road at an average cost of $5,000 a mile. This ten year period is cited because Commissioner Babcock and his engineers estimate it will take ten years to complete the trunk highway system.

A Ten Year Program.

From the foregoing it can be seen that the Babcock plan, instead of being a scheme to build a 7,000-mile trunk line system, is, in reality a plan to build a highway system of 28,850 miles of well improved roads in the next ten years. Of this system, 7,000 miles will be trunk roads, built and maintained by the state, which serve through traffic and connect all the important towns and cities with each other and which will form the main line of Minnesota's highway transportation system.

Then there will be more than 21,850 miles of lateral, or feeder roads, which reach from the trunk lines into the rural communities and give the farmers an outlet to market their produce. The roads in this secondary system are to be built by local expense and, as is proper because of the local importance, under local jurisdiction. These secondary roads are the ones which Mr. Babcock wishes to take care of and it was the crying need for their improvement that resulted in the pending constitutional amendment. So long as the expensive main lines were left as a burden on the shoulders of the counties and townships, there was no hope of ever being able to find money for the building of these secondary roads.

Helps the Counties.

Mr. Babcock clearly saw that once the burden of these expensive roads was taken over by the state, the counties and townships would be able to use all their money in the building of secondary roads and thus carry the benefits of good roads to the most isolated communities. It is interesting to note that fully 80 per cent of the road building funds in the state is spent upon the identical roads embraced in the trunk highway system. By taking over these roads, the secondary highways will have $10 for improvement where they now have only $2.

The beautiful part of this entire plan is that the state can obtain this magnificent highway system without increasing its highway taxation by a single dollar. The secondary system will be financed by the same levies—state, county and township—as are now being made. The trunk highway system will be financed, as already stated, by an increased license fee on motor vehicles.

But what about the motor vehicle owner? Will he be penalized for owning a car? Far from it. For every dollar he pays in increased license fees, he will receive three dollars in benefits. Let us see how this works out in actual operations.

Experts tell us that it costs to operate the average car over unpaved roads approximately 10 cents a mile for gasoline, lubrication, tires and depreciation. It can be demonstrated that it will cost 20 per cent less to operate a car over a paved road than over an unpaved highway. This would mean a saving of 2 cents a mile in costs of operating on the paved road. But you say all the roads will not be paved. Agreed. Let us say you will drive half of the time over paved roads and half over unpaved. This means your saving will be one cent a mile on your season's mileage.

Now let us see what is the net cost to you in your license fees. The average assessed valuation of all cars listed for taxation on May 1, 1918, according to the records of the Minnesota tax commission was $140 a car. The average tax levy is approximately 40 mills (38.22 mills to be exact). This means the average taxes paid on motor cars in the state is $5.60. Your license fee now is $1.66, or a total for taxes and license of $7.25. Under the Babcock plan you are to pay $18, which will include your personal property tax. This is a net increase of $10.74.

Now, remembering your saving of 1 cent a mile as shown before, if you drive your car 1,074 miles a year, you will break even; if you drive 5,000 miles a year, you will get back, in saving on the cost of operating your car, $50 for the $10.74 which the plan has cost.

Can you find any objections to such a plan? Just think of it! Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and fifty miles of secondary roads to be built from existing funds and without increasing taxation one dollar! In addition to this, 7,000 miles of the most important and most expensive highways in the state to be built by the state of Minnesota with a fund which is entirely additional to any funds now being raised but which, in reality, brings a great benefit to the motor vehicle owners who pay it.

Ten Good Reasons.

1. Because it will give Minnesota a 7,000-mile trunk highway system to care for inter-county and state-wide traffic.
2. Because it will remove from the counties and townships the burden of building and maintaining these expensive highways.
3. Because it will release enough local funds to enable the counties and townships to build 21,850 miles of graveled roads at $5,000 a mile in ten years, if these funds are concentrated on this work.
4. Because this magnificent highway system of 28,850 miles of improved roads will be constructed without increasing general taxes in Minnesota a single penny.
5. Because the motor vehicle owners who pay increased fees will get their money back three-fold through a saving in the cost of operating the cars.
6. Because it will be the first time that Minnesota will be given an opportunity to treat its road building problems in a businesslike way.
7. Because it will make accessible to tourists the beauty spots of the state, turning idle capital into active investments, and thus bring millions of dollars into the state.
8. Because it will add hundreds of millions of dollars to the wealth of the state by reducing marketing costs and developing the agricultural resources of the state.
9. Because it will carry the benefits of good roads to all parts of the state simultaneously without waiting for the slow and wearisome process of road building. State maintenance begins at once.
10. Because it will give Minnesota the most wonderful road system, possessed by any state in the Union without increasing general taxes a single penny.

Be sure to vote "yes" on amendment No. 1 November 2.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT PROMISES TO RECOMMEND ITS PASSAGE TO CONGRESS

A favorable report by the subdrainage committee of the lower house of congress which should result in the passage of the Steenerson flood control bill, is expected by C. G. Selvig of Crookston, who has just returned from a conference at Washington on this subject. Mr. Selvig appeared before the committee on behalf of the Red Lake river drainage project and was accompanied by a state commission, with O. C. Neuman of Wheaton, as chairman, which represented the Minnesota river drainage project. Both factions co-operated in placing their pleas both before the house committee and the department of interior.

Will Report Favorably.

According to Mr. Selvig the interior department announced it would make a favorable report to the house drainage committee and the committee appeared to favor the Minnesota drainage projects.

The Steenerson bill provides for an assessment, not to exceed $2.50 an acre against Indian reservation lands for deepening and widening the Red Lake river. If adopted it will provide for the draining of the entire Red Lake basin and will mean a big benefit, particularly to thousands of acres in Pennington, Beltrami and Marshall counties.

Mr. Selvig recently said he urged that the Clearwater basin be handled in the same manner and added that it was possible his suggestion would be considered favorably. He also declared that Mr. Steenerson was working hard for the enactment of his bill and that if it was put through it would mean the culmination of ten years of work by valley men in their effort to have the Red Lake river widened and deepened to prevent floods.

May Wind Up Affairs of Red Lake Indians

REPORT IS THAT TRIBE WILL BE PUT ON OWN RESPONSIBILITY

Legislation designed to wind up the tribal affairs of the Chippewa Indians on the Red Lake reservation in Minnesota, placing them on their own responsibility, was recently before the Indian committee of the lower house of Congress, according to advices from Washington.

According to the report, Webster Ballanger, counsel for the General Council of the Chippewa Indians, placed charges with the committee to the effect that the Indian Bureau got congress in 1916 to create a national forest reserve in the Red Lake Reservation in Minnesota so that the land could not be divided among the Indians, and that agents of the bureau "who wanted to hold their jobs" had created factions among the Chippewa tribe.

Mr. Ballanger held that the General Council of the Chippewas represented most of the Indians, but Edgar B. Merritt, assistant commissioner of the Indian Bureau told the committee that the Red Lake band of Chippewas "refused to have anything to do with the election of the council."

WARNS NATION OF RED PERIL

U. S. Department of Justice Urges Americans to Guard Against Bolshevism Menace.

CALLS RED PLANS CRIMINAL

Press, Church, Schools, Labor Unions and Civic Bodies Called Upon to Teach True Purpose of Bolshevist Propaganda.

Washington.—Calling for the patriotic support of all true Americans in its fight to protect their homes, religion and property from the spreading menace of Bolshevism, the United States Department of Justice has issued a warning against the insidious propaganda of the "Reds" during the new year. It reads:

"It would be extremely helpful to the cause of good government, the maintenance of law and order and the preservation of peace and happiness in our country if the people on this New Year's day would resolve to study, understand and appreciate the so-called 'Red' movement. They can counteract it most effectively by teaching its purpose through the press, the church, the schools, patriotic organizations and labor unions, all of which are within the range of its insidious attacks.

"Red" Theories Criminal.

"The 'Red' movement does not mean an attitude of protest against alleged defects in our present political and economic organization of society. It does not represent the radicalism of progress. It represents a specific doctrine—namely, the introduction of dictatorships the world over by force and violence. It is not a movement of liberty-loving persons, but a distinctly criminal and dishonest movement. Lenine himself made the statement at the Third Soviet Conference, 'Among one hundred so-called Bolshevists there is one real Bolshevik, thirty-nine criminals and sixty fools.' It advocates the destruction of all ownership in property, the destruction of all religion and belief in God. It is a movement organized against Democracy and in favor of the power of the few built by force. Bolshevism, syndicalism, the Soviet Government, sabotage, etc., are only names for old theories of violence and criminality.

Russian Labor Crushed.

"Though their adherents in this country are advocating and fomenting strikes, Lenine and Trotzky forbid strikes, and trade unions are being broken up and completely subordinated to the will of the few demagogues in control in Russia. This Bolshevist experiment on the living body of the Russian people has not proven in any sense of the word an experiment in Democracy. The Bolshevist leaders frankly repudiate democratic principles as we understand them. It has been a gamble which meant for Russia, and, indeed, for the whole of humanity, enormous losses in lives as well as in material resources. The Bolshevists have run up a colossal bill which the Russian workmen and peasants will have to pay.

"Reds" Menace America.

"Having lived at the expense of the Russian people for two years, these speculators in human lives and other people's earnings are trying to move to new fields to the east and to the west, hoping to take advantage of the economic distress and confusion of mind in which humanity finds itself after the terrific strain of five years of war.

"Its sympathizers in this country are composed chiefly of criminals, mistaken idealists, social bigots and many unfortunate men and women suffering with varying forms of hyperesthesia. They are enemies of the government, of the church and of the home and advocate principles which mean the abolition of all three of these safeguards of civilization.

Would Rob Everybody.

"Twenty million people in this country own Liberty Bonds. These the 'Reds' propose to take away; 9,830,000 people in the United States own farms and 3,838,000 more own homes, which they would forfeit; 11,000,000 odd people have savings accounts in savings banks and 18,000,000 people have deposits in our national banks, at which they aim. There are hundreds of thousands of churches and religious institutions, all of which they would abolish. In other words, 110,000,000 hard-working and saving people who own property, love liberty and worship God are asked to abandon all the ideals of religion, liberty and government, which are the outcome of the struggles of their fathers and their own development, and to place themselves, their homes, their family and their religious faith in the keeping and their property under the domination of a small group of Lenines and Trotzkys.

Protection Promised.

"This department, as far as existing laws allow, intends during the forthcoming year to keep up an unflinching, persistent, aggressive warfare against any movement, no matter how cloaked or dissembled, having for its purpose either the promulgation of these ideas or the excitation of sympathy for those who spread them. The movement will not be permitted to go far enough in this country to disturb our peace and well-being or create any widespread distrust of the people's government. It will fall away before the light of popular knowledge and appreciation of its aims and purposes."

Shortening Trunk Highways.
(Minneapolis Journal.)

In laying out trunk highways, preparatory to building paved roadbeds, the tendency is to connect the larger centers of population by the shortest, most direct routes, even tho it involves entirely new construction.

The shortening of a thoroughfare by even so little as a mile, is a measure of importance, particularly if the road is to carry a large volume of traffic. Estimating ten cents a mile per vehicle as the cost of travel, and supposing such a highway to be traveled by five hundred vehicles a day, the saving by the shortening of one mile would amount in a year to $18,250, or the interest at five per cent on $365,000.

Permanent roads once down, are not easily torn up and changed. Neither should they be thoughtlessly laid down. Much that is done in concrete this year will be sound and serviceable a century hence. The saving of a mile a day amounts to an enormous amount in a century.

A few thousand dollars, therefore, spent at the start for expert engineering, may save the State millions in a few years' travel.

Great Farming Year Says Grain Official

NORTHWEST MUST RAISE ANOTHER BIG CROP; WINTER WHEAT POOR

An unprecedented era of prosperity for the northwest, with high prices for wheat, is forecast by C. C. Chambers, president of the Consumers' Grain company, who has just returned to St. Paul after an extensive trip through the south and in the winter wheat sections of the country.

He passed through the winter wheat territory by two different routes on his way to Florida, where he spent a short vacation.

All of the winter wheat section has been subject to alternate thaws and freezes, which have greatly deteriorated the seed, and he predicts that the crop in that section will be very short. There was little snow south of Illinois, and with the cold weather the seed wheat was frozen, he reports, while there is little moisture in the ground.

Mr. Chambers' findings are borne out in the estimates of the government regarding the winter wheat states. In contrast, the Northwest has had an abundance of snow this winter and the soil should be in excellent condition. With favorable weather, the northwest is assured of a big crop and with the winter wheat states producing less than usual, there should be big prices as well as large yields.

Mr. Chambers reports that the garden and fruit products of the South have been greatly damaged by recent frosts.

Life Sentence For Bank Robber Keyes

JUDGE GRINDELAND IMPOSES EXTREME PENALTY—FIRST TIME IN STATE

Forty minutes after the jury had gone out in the Farmers' State Bank of Lengby robbery case late Friday evening, Dan Keyes was declared guilty of the crime. At 7:30 o'clock Judge A. Grindeland sentenced the man to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. This is the first life sentence in the state for a man holding up a bank.

The trial of Dan Keyes was opened before the Polk county district court Monday morning. A jury was selected and at 3 o'clock that afternoon the state opened its case. Friday forenoon the defendant took the stand and denied guilt. He claimed that the five thousand dollars he had in his possession when arrested had been left him several years ago by a sister who died at the age of 17 years; that he was not in Lengby at the time of the robbery and that the state witnesses told falsehoods when they identified him as the robber.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

AMENDMENT NO. 1 EXPLAINED

In another column of The Times today will be found an article by the State Highway commission explaining the purposes of Amendment No. 1, known as the Babcock Good Roads Amendment. This proposition will come before the voters at the general election next fall and should be understood thoroughly by all our people.

That there will be no objection to this proposed law on the part of residents along its course, goes without saying. Those located some distance from it, however, may consider it none of their particular business and on this account fail to register their votes for it. Such neglect on their part will count the same as if they had voted "no."

As is explained in the commission's article, a feature of the bill not generally taken into consideration is the effect the passage of this amendment will have on the lateral or feeder roads. These are now often neglected by reason of the fact that the main lines take all the money available in many of the counties for highway work during the year. The highways connecting cities are always in need of repair and the less important ones get what is left after the matter has been attended to. This is often very little and the result is that the man who resides any distance from the main traveled line is left to wallow through the best he can.

The relative position of the main lines and the laterals will remain about the same as at present if the Babcock amendment is passed, with this difference: The side lines will be at least as good as the main roads are now while the latter will be much better. Any farmer ought to be able to realize how this will affect him.

In case the amendment is adopted it means a program of road building covering about ten years. By that time Minnesota will have a system of highways second to none in the United States although there will be others as well off, a number of states having already passed laws similar to that now proposed here. In every instance the plan is the same—a tax on automobiles covering the cost.

The article referred to explains just what this cost will be. It shows how the automobile owner will be the gainer in the end and how the farmer will be a greater gainer from the outset. Any person interested in seeing Minnesota lifted out of the mud should read it carefully. It effectually does away with all objections advanced against the amendment.

POTATO ORGANIZATIONS

The farmers of Polk county have organized a potato growers' association, every section being represented in the membership. The plan is to keep steadily working toward a better grade, uniform in variety and free from disease. A more important step has never been taken by the farmers of a neighboring county.

No section of the United States can produce more or better potatoes than northwestern Minnesota. Growers who have intelligently followed the business have found it most profitable and dependable. The trouble is that the policy employed has been haphazard and without definite purpose. Had the same attention been paid to the improvement of potatoes as has been the case with livestock the results would have been similar and it might even be a question as to which was the most profitable.

Potato associations not only result in greatly increased yields being obtained, but invariably insure higher prices for their members. Seed of uniform kind and quality is secured for an entire neighborhood and the result is that when harvest comes there is a large supply to be secured within a small area. Marketing is a part of the association's business and buyers are readily found who are willing to pay top prices because of their ability to deal quickly for the entire crop. Being in a position to hold its wares the association, need not sell in small dabs to the first comer and can command consideration where an individual would only be laughed at.

An organization of this kind is needed in Pennington county and in every other county in the district. These might in turn join one central sales association covering the entire valley and owning warehouses at the most convenient points. This would provide for the handling of the crop through one sales department for the entire section, lowering the handling cost and insuring the best price.

Certified seed, uniform grades and economical handling would make this the greatest potato district in the country.

TRYING OUT SUGAR BEETS

Many farmers in Northwestern Minnesota will this year try their luck with a new crop. The world's demand for sugar has become so insistent that the growing of the beet from which the staple is extracted is receiving a great deal of attention throughout all the northern states. It has been demonstrated that sugar beets of the finest quality can be produced in this section and there is a campaign on foot to have farmers interest themselves more generally in the industry.

Sugar beets have been grown at a profit when commanding a price of five dollars per ton. The Pennington county farmers who have contracted with the Minnesota Sugar company to grow small plots during the coming summer are guaranteed a price of ten dollars per ton. The seed will be furnished and need not be paid for until the crop is harvested. In addition to this the company agrees to superintend the cultivation and harvesting.

The arrangement opens a great possibility. The crop itself is bringing a price that makes it profitable, but this is perhaps the least of the advantages claimed for it. The beet is a soil builder of the highest order and will reclaim land of poor quality faster than anything that can be put into it. The roots extend to a great depth, opening the soil and tapping reservoirs of fertility that could be reached by nothing else except alfalfa. It has been demonstrated that where sugar beets have been grown the subsequent yields of other crops have been increased as high as twenty per cent. The sugar beet requires intensive cultivation and is for this reason the best land cleaner that can be employed. The money received for the crop itself is therefore but a small part of its actual value.

Many people are of the opinion that the United States produces more sugar than it consumes, but such is far from being the case. The total consumption during the calendar year of 1915, for instance, was 4,257,713 tons of which only 1,130,555 tons were produced in this country. The idea is also general that the cane-growing states supply a large share of what is consumed, but this again is an error. Out of the total consumed less than six per cent is obtained from this source. The likelihood of this being greatly increased is very remote and the beet will have to supply the deficiency unless we are to continue making vast purchases abroad.

During the year above quoted, which is the last for which statistics are at hand, there were 84 beet sugar factories in the United States, only one of which is in Minnesota. The total amount of beets purchased was 6,511,274 tons produced on 611,301 acres of land, an average of about ten and one-half tons. At the 1920 contract price this would represent a gross return of $105 per acre. Compare this with the income fom an acre of wheat.

During the same period these factories employed between 30,000 and 40,000 men, distributed $75,000,000 to farmers, supply houses, railroads and wage earners, the 65,000 farmers who supplies beets coming in for $73,000,000 of the total. The sugar produced amounted to 874,220 tons of a total value of $85,000,000. The beet sugar output in 1916-17 was approximately one million tons.

Northwestern farmers will do well to give this subject more careful consideration. No region that has gone in for sugar beet raising has ever abandoned it, proving conclusively that the returns must be satisfactory. The beet-growing sections are the most prosperous in the country, not alone because of the profit in the crop itself, but for the more important reason that it conserves and enriches the soil, insuring larger yields of subsequent crops.

THE RENTER'S AWAKENING

The very best thing that could possibly happen to the man renting a farm in southern Minnesota or northern Iowa would be that the land on which he is trying to make a living should go up in price to $1,000 per acre. It has reached about half that now in some cases and many have already been emancipated. Incidentally any such advance in land prices down there would be the best thing that could happen to northern Minnesota.

No renter can make more than a bare living on land costing more than $150 per acre, let alone four times that much. Some are sticking it out against their better judgment, but thousands have taken the trouble to look around, with the result that they have seen the folly of devoting their time and energy to making another man's investment pay a profit and will hereafter see if they cannot do something for themselves.

Iowa and southern Minnesota farm owners no longer care anything about the man who rents on shares. They want cash. We are informed by recent arrivals here that this sometimes runs as high as $35 per acre, and that it is being paid. Even with the prices of farm produce at their present level no man can stand this and the exodus of renters is such as to cause grave concern among landlords. Even among farmers themselves—those who are still tilling their own holdings—large numbers are found anxious to let go and seek locations where conditions are more nearly normal.

Many of these homeseekers are coming to Pennington county. One such said the other day that the movement away from the high-price regions has only started and that the coming summer and fall would see the greatest influx of experienced farmers to this section ever recorded. They find that they can almost become owners of farms in this neighborhood for the amount necessary to cover a year's rent where they come from. As soon as they get over the notion that this is a cut-over district and that winter is the only season to be depended on with any degree of certainty, they become enthusiastic over the prospects held out and generally make arrangements for permanent settlement at once.

They are most welcome. Generally they have some means with which to make a start and always they have better sense than to believe that they will grow rich in a year or two but are determined to work sensibly and energetically toward independence and a competence. For such there will be no disappointments. They have cast their lot in the best and most promising region of low-priced lands now remaining on the American continent and future years will demonstrate the wisdom of their course.

A NEW IDEA IN THRIFT.

THRIFT means comfort; contentment.

That is something we all want and it is something we all strive for, provided it doesn't involve too much immediate inconvenience. We are willing to practice thrift when it can be done without too much self sacrifice because we know that he is spending less than we earn we are approaching the pleasant pasture of independence and where no terrors wait in the shadows of life's sunset.

But procrastination is the thief of time and time is money and all too many of us are prone to raise our voices—soprano, tenor and bass—in the popular melody, "I just can't save money." Still way down in our hearts we have a feeling that, under certain circumstances, we really can save and that we don't is due more to the fact that we lack a desirable method of procedure rather than the necessary funds.

Realizing this to be true and viewing with apprehension the present day tendency toward wholesale extravagance, many of the banks of the Ninth Federal Reserve district are opening up a new avenue for savings—the partial payment plan for the purchase of United States Treasury Savings Certificates, the $100 maturity value certificates being obtainable for as low as $2 a week.

A MAXWELL
reveals the Wisdom of Light Weight

A MAXWELL car carrier the same average passenger weight over the same roads and at the same speed as other cars, regardless of their weight and price. To do this task at extremely low cost is the particular mission of the Maxwell.

Therefore it was necessary to eliminate every pound of superfluous weight, for each added pound to carry around meant added expense.

How to reduce the weight without reducing the strength thus became the vital engineering problem in this car.

To maintain the required strength without increasing weight necessitated the use of the best materials. The great science of metallurgy supplies the answer. Such metals are obviously the quality metals; and a Maxwell car contains them throughout.

An analysis will show that pound for pound the metals that go into a Maxwell car are comparable with the metals in the highest priced cars in the world.

That is the underlying reason why Maxwell cars have given such rare account of themselves in every latitude and clime and have responded so well to every task to which they have been committed.

They hold the greatest efficiency-economy record a car has ever made—22,020 miles at an average speed of 25 miles an hour, with an average of 22 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

And during this test the engine never once stopped, day or night. It was continuous, low-cost, highly reliable mileage.

Such steels, such certainty of performance, such saving, have won many friends for Maxwell.

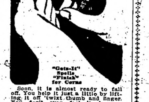
Sure Death to Corns

"Gets-It" Makes 'Em Lose Their Grip and Lift Off Painlessly.

The first thing "Gets-It" does when it lands on a corn or callus is to snuff out the pain. Then it shrivels the corn or callus and loosens it.



"Gets-It" Spells "Finish" for Corns

Soon, it is almost ready to fall off. You help it just a little by lifting it off 'twixt thumb and finger. You don't even feel it, because there is no hurt left in it. Millions have proved it the cleanest, surest, safest and most pleasant method. "Gets-It," the never failing, guaranteed money-back corn remover costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mf'd by E. GIVE INSIGHT TO CHARACTER

Shape of Eyebrows Reveal Vigor, Insincerity, Lack of Vitality, and Many Other Things.

It is now conceded that the Greek eyebrow is quite in accord with the conception of mere physical beauty in women. Like the rosebud mouth, it does not indicate the highest order of intelligence and the arch is expressive always of greater sensibility and greater sense of character, says London Tit-Bits.

Scant growth of the eyebrows invariably denotes lack of vitality; on the contrary, heavy, thick eyebrows indicate a strong constitution and great physical endurance. They are not beautiful on a woman's face, however much they may signify either mental or bodily vigor, and when they are not only heavy, but droop and meet at the nose, they are disagreeable and are said to accompany an insincere and prying nature.

Romantic women usually have a very well-defined arch in the center of the eyebrow, while a sense of humor is indicated in the arch nearer the nose. Long, drooping eyebrows, lying wide apart, indicate an amiable disposition. Where the eyebrows are lighter in color than the hair, the indications are lack of vitality and great sensitiveness. Faintly defined eyebrows placed high above the nose are signs of indolence and weakness.

Very black eyebrows give the face an intense and searching expression; when natural, they accompany a passionate temperament. Very light eyebrows rarely are seen on strongly intellectual faces, although the color of the eyebrows is not accepted simply as denoting lack of intelligence; the form gives the key to the faculties and their direction. Red eyebrows denote great fervor and ambition; brown, a medium between red and black.

EDUCATION AND THE PUMPKIN

Eastern Writer Points Out Wherein the Two Have Some Strong Points of Similarity.

At one of our city vegetable marts one day a farmer displayed with commendable pride a huge pumpkin of alluring aspect, with the statement that it grew "full twenty feet from the stalk," remarks Rochester Post-Express. This habit of wandering in tortuous uselessness to a long distance from the source of production before the fruit of the vine is produced is long known of the pumpkin.

It would not be amiss for our educators to consider the pumpkin vine; unquestionably some of them have in earlier days, but whether with a view to its close analogy to educational processes is uncertain. Perhaps it is too much to say that the best fruit of the educational vine is produced from its original source; that what comes of schooling is something quite different from the apparent result at the source; that the best things a man or woman does are very different from the particular, or nonparticularized thing, he or she is directly taught to do. We are turning to the business of making our schools show quick fruitage of working ability.

But it is at least a fair hazard to opine that the pupils who become "some pumpkins" will often as not be products known a long way from the special process of education that extreme vocationalists advise.

COLOGNE'S UPS AND DOWNS

Important German City of the Present Has Had Its Periods of Dire Adversity.

During the Middle Ages Cologne was a place of great trade; the weavers, the goldsmiths, and the armorers of the city were famous the world over; while its merchants had houses in London, and the city itself was accorded a chief place in the Hanseatic league. Decay set in with the dawn of the Reformation, and the place owed its downfall to its intolerance. Thus, its university, which in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries had a great reputation, began at once to decline. This policy dealt severe blows at the prosperity of the town, and when, in 1794, Cologne was occupied by the French, it was a poor and decayed city of some 40,000 inhabitants, of which only 6,000 possessed civil rights. Since 1815, however, when it was finally assigned to Prussia, Cologne has continued to prosper, until today it is one of the most important cities of Germany, with a population of nearly half a million.

MRS. EVA CARLSON Owner

W. J. LaBREE, Auctioneer. A. S. HOLM, Clerk.

The grains of seed wheat, besides being all of one variety, should also be heavy, plump and spherical and free from dirt, weed seeds, or injured, sick or immature kernels.

The seed promotes stooling and the production of spring plants and benefits yield and quality of grain as well as making a stiffer straw. In a small or shriveled seed there is insufficient food supply or an imperfectly developed grain, so the plants from such seed usually have not the power to live although the seed may sprout quite successfully.

Therefore the wise farmer will see that his seed is recleaned thoroughly. One of the most profitable things to do is run the seed through a fanning mill a second time so that the kernels will all be the same size, which will enable them to get an even start and mature at the same time.

SPRING WHEAT

The acreage of spring wheat in 1919 was much greater and up to June we had the promise of the very best crop on record, yet the weather conditions in many localities were such that in Minnesota, North and South Dakota only about 114,000,000 bushels were harvested, much of it being very chaffy, scabby and smutty and unfit for seed.

More than 80,000,000 bushels have already been marketed and our seed requirements for the three states are about 15,000,000 bushels.

As every grain man knows, the wheat now being shipped is badly mixed, full of trash and light in weight, making much of it unfit for seed.

So it therefore becomes imperative that all of those interested in the prosperity of the Northwest should unite for action, make a local survey of seed conditions and where there is a surplus of good seed, make it known, and where there is a shortage, immediately locate proper seed and make some arrangement for financing it and distributing it to the farmers. If there is any 1918 wheat at your station of good quality, you should see that it is held for seeding? Don't mix it in with the new wheat to make grades. You might possibly save a fraction of a cent, but you will sacrifice many bushels in the next crop.

The farmer must first become prosperous before any one can prosper.

PROSPERITY

In a good wheat year every one is prosperous. The farmer must be prosperous before anyone else may prosper. We must have bread and the world is willing to pay the farmer a liberal price for his wheat.

CLEAN SEED

Hitch Your Grader to Your Gas Engine and Fan and Fan—Do a Good Job; Money In It.

Seed wheat is so bad this year that it will be necessary to do some very radical cleaning with the fanning mill. All of the shriveled and diseased kernels should be fanned out. Probably enough seed may be had on almost any farm if the fanning and grading is done severely enough. It has been claimed by many farmers that all seeds, large and small, will grow equally well, but this is not so. A plump seed carries its own food until such time as the shoots and rootlets may be sprouted sufficiently to take nourishment from soil and air. The seed must carry enough plant food so that it will produce a strong plant.

The fanning mill should operate both by screen agitation and wind blast. Some farmers do not use the fanning mill, because it is the only machine on the farm that they cannot ride, but it is a very simple matter to hitch up the hind leg of your Ford and run the fanning mill with a belt. You probably have a gasoline engine for other work. Hitch it to your fanning mill and do a good job.

You cannot take too much care in preparing your seed for this year. Seed is scarce and high. You are guilty of criminal negligence, if you omit to do so. Now is the time for every man to give patriotic service and reconstruction must begin with food and food is based on wheat.

CLEAN SEED WHEAT

The grains of seed wheat besides being all of one variety, should also be heavy, plump and spherical and free from dirt, weed seeds or injured, sick or immature kernels. Heavy seed promotes stooling and the production of spring plants and benefits yield and quality of grain as well as making a stiffer straw. In a small or shriveled seed there is insufficient food supply or an imperfectly developed germ, so the plants from such seed usually have not the power to live, although the seed may sprout quite successfully. Therefore the wise farmer will see that his seed is recleaned thoroughly. One of the most profitable things to do is to run the seed through a fanning mill a second time so that the kernels will all be the same size which will enable them to get an even start and mature at the same time.

FROZEN SEED

Wheat which has been stored in the bin so it has been subject to moisture, freezing and thawing, after sifting snow and driving rains, will be sure to have a large percentage of the grains entirely dead and many others so weak that it will be impossible for them to send up plants sufficiently strong to be of much crop value.

Test your seed in blotter. It should grow 95 per cent strong.

WHAT SHALL WE DO FOR SPRING WHEAT?

The Five Fundamentals Which Will Insure a Good Crop.

1. Choose the Best Variety. Marquis is the best, then Fife, then Bluestem. Velvet Chaff is weak in bread gluten. Durum has a limited market. Red Durum has no market at all. Don't sow it under any circumstances.

2. Clean Seed in Fanning Mill. To remove weed seeds, shriveled kernels and trash.

3. Treat for Smut and Scab. Use one pound full-strength formaldehyde in 40 gallons of water. Full directions at any drug store.

4. Be Sure the Seed Will Grow. Fold 100 kernels into a piece of wet blotting paper. Keep damp for six days. Ninety-five kernels should grow strong.

5. The Seed Bed. Soil loose and fine on top, packed solid beneath. Sow with drill as early as possible.

THE BEST WHEAT

Contrary to the common opinion, seed wheat does not "run out." It is true that its quality will deteriorate and the yield become smaller if left to its enemies which are inherent in the wheat.

It is therefore important that concerted action should be taken to establish more profitable farming methods.

It is wise to establish the variety best adapted to soil and climate. In almost every county Marquis wheat should be urged. There is nothing the matter with Fife and Blue Stem except that they have not been kept pure and the record will show that they do not yield so well and are not so safe, but taking everything into consideration, Marquis is the most desirable wheat. Velvet Chaff lacks bread gluten and is too soft. Durum is a fine wheat for certain purposes, but has a limited market, there being a demand for not more than 10 per cent of the total spring wheat crop. The price of Durum is often 20 to 80 cents per bushel below the price of No. 1 Northern, which in itself is argument enough. This applies to the macaroni durums which should not be confused in any way with the so-called Red Durum, "Rust Proof" or Durum Fife wheat which has been making so much trouble and for which there is practically no market, and should not be seeded under any circumstances.

PREPARING THE SEED BED

Spring wheat should be sown as soon in the spring as the seed bed can be properly prepared. Germination takes place in the ground when the temperature is about 42 to 50 degrees.

Generally the quantity of seed per acre varies six to eight pecks. Your own experience will tell you how much. Drilling is better than broadcasting. The seed bed should be loose on top and the root bed firm underneath. The use of the corrugated roller is recommended.

Marquis is an early variety ripening from 98 to 135 days after sowing, the average being about 115 days. This makes it three or four days earlier than most of the other Fife varieties, but it should be put into the ground just as soon as the seed bed may be prepared.

The seed usually should be sown about two to three inches deep. The important thing is to get it into soil sufficiently moist to insure germination. In heavy wet soil one to two inches will be deep enough.

Old or stubble land should be plowed in the fall or as early as possible in the spring. Sandy soils with a tendency to drift, should be plowed under in the spring. When land is fall-plowed it should be left rough to catch and hold the snow and to prevent soil blowing. Plow six to eight inches deep, covering all weeds and trash.

Spring plowing may be slightly shallower than fall plowing and should be worked down immediately. The surface mulch should not be too fine and powdery in districts where blowing is common, besides the rain may puddle it and not penetrate so readily. An excellent seed bed can be made in the spring on fall plowing or on spring plowing followed immediately with disks and corrugated rollers.

BREAD VS. BACON

An unskilled laborer at the minimum wage of $4 per day has to work more than three weeks to pay for his year's supply of bacon, if he can afford to buy it. In a single day he can make enough money to buy one-third of a barrel of flour and with three days' work can buy his entire year's supply.

Eat bread. There is nothing so cheap and nutritious no matter what the price of flour.

KILL THE BARBERRY BUSH

Wheat rust is hard to fight. There is no treatment of the seed which is any good. The rust spores winter on the barberry bush. Every boy and girl ought to know the barberry bush and report every one left growing. There is no other treatment for rust except to sow an early variety as early as possible.

"JUST ASK ME," SAYS F. C. DUTZE

EMPLOYEE OF PACKING CO. HAS BEEN GREATLY AIDED BY TANLAC

"When I started taking Tanlac I was in a pretty bad fix, but it wasn't long until this medicine straightened me out and I am in as good shape as I ever was," said Fred C. Lutze, an employee of The Plankinton Packing Co., and who resides at 995 Buffman St., Milwaukee, Wis., recently. Continuing, he said:

"My stomach was giving me a great deal of trouble for years. Anything I ate would just seem to form in a hard lump and cause me intense misery. I would have cramping pains in my stomach after each meal that were so bad they would nearly draw me double, and while I would bloat terribly I never could get any relief by belching. I always had a dull pain in my right side, and at times it would become very acute, and when it did it would seem just like some one was sticking a knife in my side. I suffered a lot from constipation and had to always be taking some sort of laxative. I felt tired and wornout all the time, and it was only with the greatest effort I could work a whole day, as I was suffering every minute with some sort of pain.

"One day I read a statement in a newspaper that sounded so true I was convinced that Tanlac was a great medicine and concluded I would try it, and I am more than glad I did, for the way the very first bottle helped me was truly remarkable. I kept on taking it and today I can truthfully say I am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my whole life. My stomach trouble has gone completely and I never have a pain of any kind. I feel so strong and am enjoying such good health in every way that my work is actually a pleasure to me. If anybody wants to know what I think of Tanlac as a medicine all they have to do is ask me, as I am always glad to recommend it."

contains a larger percentage of malt sugar than any other food. This malt sugar not only gives it a wonderful flavor, but it also gives it a higher percentage of energy production than any other food. Add to this the fact that it is the easiest to digest of any article of food and you'll know why it is so popular when presented in this delicious form as "Cream of Barley."

Potato Growers Attention!

We would like to talk over the Seed Potato situation with all farmers interested in putting in potatoes this spring.

Come in and we will try and help you arrange to get GOOD PURE SEED for this year's planting, as we are trying hard to get the quality of potatoes grown around Thief River Falls up to the standard demanded by the seed buyers in the South, who will buy nothing but the best at the high prices prevailing today.

We again urge more farmers to put in a few acres this spring, not a great big acreage that you cannot properly take care of, but 10 to 15 acres of pure Early Ohios will make you some money.

SHRINE COMING TO AMERICA

Probability That Brahman Temple May Find a Home in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

An entire stone Brahman temple, which served as a place of worship in India for hundreds of years, will be installed in the massive rotunda of Memorial hall, Fairmount park, Philadelphia, provided the director of the museum can assemble the 100 tons of stone that go to make the shrine. The Hindoo house of worship was purchased by Mrs. Adeline Pepper Gibson, a Philadelphia woman who died in war service, and every stone in the structure was boxed and shipped in a sailing vessel, which made the trip around Cape Horn. The shrine is the gift of Mrs. Gibson's relatives, who wish it to be a memorial to the work of the dead woman. It is the first time that such a huge piece of sculpture was ever brought to America, and even Europe cannot boast of such an accomplishment. The nearest to it are the Elgin friezes in London, the tomb of Pernab, brought from Egypt to the Metropolitan museum, and the frescoed Asian walls seen in Berlin. While some say the temple is of Dravidian architecture, which would mean that it was built prior to the tenth century, the stone is in such fine condition that it looks less than 300 years old. The fine air of southern India may have preserved it, some say. Nothing of its origin is known.

HOLDS MYSTERY AND HORROR

Land of Tibet Awaits the Illumination Which Can Only Come From Civilization's Light.

Tibet, the mysterious land to the north of India, has got no wheeled vehicles, and the grand lama is carried in a sedan chair. Punishments are cruel. Men are cut to pieces slowly. Women suspected of adultery have their noses and lips slit and then are whipped to death.

Newborn babies are plastered over with butter and then laid in the sun naked. Ears are pierced and heavy rings inserted which often tear out the lobe of the ear.

The limbs and trunks of the dead are hacked apart and left on stones for the dogs, pigs and vultures to devour. The pigs are in turn a table delicacy with the Tibetans.

The "breakers of the dead" are also the scavengers of the country. They live in filthy huts four feet high, built of human bones and the horns of cattle.

Yet the Potata, the seat of the Tibetan ruler, is a magnificent white granite building, larger than any in Europe. It is crowned with huge domes glistening with gold. It is the home of 10,000 monks, as well as the grand lama and his household. The building is 970 feet long, 12 stories high.

Welcome to the Wattle.

Australia's national flower, the golden wattle, has played its part in the welcome to Australian soldiers, and the motorcars which run from the transports to the discharging depot are filled with blossom as well as with khaki. Equally happy is the custom in some cities of utilizing Wattle day as an occasion for a special appeal on behalf of children's charities. It is worth noting that a correspondent in the Sydney Morning Herald declares that the word "wattle" comes from the "wattle-and-daub" huts made by the early pioneers by the aid of the twigs and branches of a strange tree laden with beautiful yellow, ball-shaped flowers. "They began the weaving—the wattling—of such a fabric as the world has never before seen, the warp and woof of a fabric which was in after years to stretch across the globe with never a breaking strand—the fabric of an empire."

Spruce Tree 573 Years Old.

In making a survey of the spruce forests, where the airplane cutting was carried on during the war in the Grays Harbor spruce district, a tree 573 years old was found, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The tree was felled in clearing to make the military camps safe after a limb had fallen and menaced the roof of the officers' quarters. The tree is close to the Olympic highway, 11 miles north of Humptulips. The stump was 11.6 feet from the ground level. The tree was two inches in diameter when Columbus discovered America.

Creative Genius.

Shakespeare used the skeletons of former life that had drifted down to him upon the stream of time and were cast at his feet a heap of mere dead matter. But he clothed them with flesh and blood and breathed into their nostrils; and they lived and moved with a life that was individual and self-existent after he had once thrown it off from his own exuberant intellectual vitality. His teeming brain bred lowlier beggars and kinglier kings than all Europe could have furnished as subjects for his portraiture.—Richard Grant White.

Cannot Praise this Remedy too Highly

THE WAY ONE LADY FEELS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

Judging from her letter, the misery and wretchedness endured by Mrs. Charlie Taylor, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 144, Dillon, S. C., must have been terrible. No one, after reading her letter, can continue to doubt the great healing power of PE-RU-NA for troubles due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions in any part of the body. Her letter is an inspiration to every sick and suffering man or woman anywhere. Here it is: "I suffered two years with catarrh of the head, stomach and bowels. Tried two of the best doctors, who gave me up. I then took PE-RU-NA and can truthfully say I am well. When I began to use PE-RU-NA, I weighed one hundred pounds. My weight now is one hundred and fifty. I cannot praise PE-RU-NA too highly, for it was a Godsend to me. I got relief from the first half bottle and twelve bottles cured me. I advise all sufferers to take PE-RU-NA."

As an emergency remedy in the home, there is nothing quite the equal of this reliable, time-tried medicine, PE-RU-NA. Thousands place their sole dependence on it for coughs, colds, stomach and bowel trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins and to prevent the grip and Spanish Flu. To keep the blood pure and maintain bodily strength and robustness, take PE-RU-NA.

You can buy PE-RU-NA anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

AFTER FIVE YEARS

Thief River Falls Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Thief River Falls story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

E. T. Emerson, retired farmer, 417 La Bree Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I was greatly annoyed with a lame, aching back and pains across my loins kept me in misery. My kidneys were weak and didn't act as they should. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Curtis' Drug Store and two boxes gave me splendid relief. I recommend this fine remedy highly."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mr Emerson added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me some years ago is permanent. I am glad to again recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Emerson had. Foster-Milburn Co. Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WOOD FAILS TO RECEIVE O. K. OF G. O. P. OF STATE

DELEGATES AT LARGE GO TO CONVENTION AT CHICAGO WITHOUT INSTRUCTIONS

TEN OF THE 24 PLEDGED TO HIM WITH TWO CONTESTS PENDING

DANIEL SHAW OF THIS CITY CHOSEN AS ALTERNATE TO BIG MEETING

Minnesota republicans in convention on Saturday refused by a vote of 498 to 595 to instruct their four delegates at large for General Leonard Wood.

While a hard fight had been expected over instructions, the Wood men had been confident of winning. Otherwise they never would have allowed the question to come to a vote, for after a week of apparent success for the Wood forces in Minnesota conventions, the final state convention roll call came as a bad anticlimax.

Ten Delegates Instructed.

While the 24 delegates from Minnesota may vote solidly for Wood on the first ballot at Chicago in June, the Wood forces have only 10 of the 24 tied up by positive instructions. Two more who were instructed for Wood in the tenth district have a contest on for their seats.

The other eight district delegates and the four delegates at large go without instructions. Nearly all of them are claimed as pledged to Wood for the first ballot, but if Wood should not have a commanding lead on the first vote, he will have hard work holding several of the Minnesotans.

Following are the delegates-at-large selected:

Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen, Minneapolis; alternate, Miss Julia Rogers, St. Paul.

Alvah Eastman, St. Cloud; alternate, Frank E. Reed, Minneapolis.

R. H. Bach, Owatonna; alternate, George W. Frankberg, Fergus Falls.

Milie Bunnell, Duluth; alternate, J. E. Haycraft, Fairmont.

P. J. Lundeen of Stephen was named as candidate for presidential elector from the Ninth district.

Pennington county's seven delegates went to Wood, although under no special instructions from the voters. Red Lake county also cast its six votes for the general while Marshall county went on record against him. Clearwater county was not represented. Mahnomen, Kittson, Beltrami voted against instructions for Wood while the Roseau delegation was divided, two for and five against.

The District Convention.

The Ninth district convention at Fergus Falls on Friday failed to instruct for any presidential candidate. Charles Loring of Crookston, and R. B. Rathbun of Detroit, were elected delegates to the national convention at Chicago, with Daniel Shaw of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Wesley Jenkins of Ada, as alternates.

The resolutions adopted at the state convention endorsed the administration of Gov. Burnquist, declared in favor of a return to party conventions, approved the stand on the league of nations taken by the United States senators from the state, urged full women's suffrage, opposed any change in the prohibition laws and endorsed the Babcock good roads amendment.

Overland 4 Sets a Great Endurance Mark

Stock Car, Running 24 Hours a Day For Seven Days, Establishes Record at Indianapolis.

IT TRAVELS 5452 MILES

This is Said to Equal a Year's Wear and Tear by the Average Motor Car Owner.

FURIOUS AND FAST

Triplex Springs Protect Car From Road Vibration of Driving at 32½ Mile-an-hour Speed.

Driven continuously for seven days and seven nights, over ordinary suburban roadways, an Overland 4 stock car has established at Indianapolis, Ind., a new unofficial world's mileage record for a light car under 168 hours of incessant driving.

The Overland 4 in the seven days and nights of this remarkable endurance run piled up record of 5,452.15 miles. The car finished the grind on the same Fisk tires with which it started. To make this new record, the drivers of Overland 4 maintained an average speed of 32½ miles an hour, 24 hours a day. Gasoline mileage was 20.24 miles a gallon.—Adv.

Campaign for Fund to Aid German Children

MILLIONS OF YOUNGSTERS IN CENTRAL EUROPE IN DANGER OF STARVING

Twenty-five hundred dollars has been contributed through the Minnesota Committee for the Relief of German children, to aid the American Friends Service committee in its task of feeding the starving children of Central European countries. It is estimated that in Germany alone there are 10,000,000 boys and girls who go to bed at night hungry.

Dr. Maria L. Sanford, of the State University, in accepting the honorary vice-chairmanship of the Minnesota Committee, said:

"We none of us can regard a hungry, helpless child as an enemy."

Governor J. A. A. Burnquist is honorary chairman of the state committee which has its offices with the American Red Cross at 423 South Fifth street, Minneapolis.

The American Friends Service Committee has raised $2,000,000 for the work among German children. An American Quaker in each district of Germany sees to it that supplies reach the babies and young children. All expenses are privately met and every dollar buys a dollar's worth of food.

OUR POSITION EXPLAINED

The Times today is not the newspaper our readers have a right to expect, nor is it the kind of newspaper the publishers wish to turn out. In fact we are apologizing for the dearth of news in its columns. The situation is such, however, that the indulgence of reader and advertiser must be asked for a short time longer. We are in hopes of again printing the paper in our own plant before long when the former standard will be established and maintained. It is next to impossible to print a larger paper than that now issued under existing circumstances and we can only promise that the condition will exist no longer than is absolutely necessary.

Thanking all concerned for the consideration thus far shown we ask that it may be extended for a short time longer.

Rev. Kvale on League Ticket For Congress?

REPORT THAT PASTOR WILL OPPOSE VOLSTEAD IN SEVENTH DISTRICT

A great deal of surprise was caused in this city last Saturday when the Associated Press dispatches in the daily newspapers announced that Rev. O. J. Kvale, who has been serving as pastor of the Lutheran church in this city for some months past, had been endorsed by the Nonpartisan convention in St. Paul as a candidate for congress in the Seventh district. Rev. Kvale had tentatively accepted a call issue by the congregation in this city but reconsidered when his former parishioners at Benson claimed to have a prior claim upon his services. It is understood that he has finally decided to return there and will preach his last sermon in this city in a short time. Rev. Kvale is not at present in the city and no one here has been found authorized to speak for him on this matter.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson of the Ninth district, will also have a league opponent, A. E. Bowen of Detroit, having been endorsed for the place. It has for some time been rumored that it was Mr. Bowen's intention to go into the primaries against the present congressman from this district and the announcement has occasioned no surprise.

The Associated Press report of the convention's action is as follows:

"Three Nonpartisan League and labor candidates for congress to run in the republican state primaries were announced Friday at the league state convention's final session. The candidates approved in district conferences are: Mayor Little, Brainerd, Minn., sixth district; Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, in the seventh district and A. E. Bowen, of Detroit, in the ninth district. The latter will run against Halvor Steenerson of Crookston who is an avowed republican candidate.

"A candidate in the fourth district comprising Ramsey county will be endorsed at a labor conference to be held at a date not yet fixed and a candidate in the second district will be named at the labor-farmer congress to be held in St. James April 8.

"The farmer convention endorsed George Siegel of St. Paul for the supreme court. He was approved later in the labor conference, filling out the state ticket except for a candidate for state treasurer who will be selected later by the executive committee of the farmer and labor sections.

Mrs. Fred Hodgson, Fergus Falls, Ottertail county.

Mrs. L. C. Weeks, Detroit, Becker county.

Address Women On European Conditions

NOTED SPETAKER WILL BE HEARD AT CLUB MEETING MONDAY

Miss Dorothy Loyhed of the university of Minnesota, will deliver an address at the meeting of the Woman's club next Monday afternoon, her subject being "The Present Situation in Europe." Miss Loyhed has given this matter much study and her conclusions should prove of decided interest. The public generally is invited to hear this address.

Attorney Gay Halvorson of this city will explain the election laws of the United States, particularly as these apply to women voters in this and other states.

There will be a musical program at which the club federation song, "Minnesota Mine," will be given in this city for the first time.

Protested Consolidation.

At a hearing held yesterday at Warren it was proposed to consolidate ditches Nos. 102 and 103 in Marshall and Beltrami counties with ditch No. 30 in Pennington county.

A preliminary meeting was held at Goodridge last Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of entering a protest against the consolidation, so far as this affects ditch No. 30. The people in the eastern end of Pennington county feel that the proper course for this ditch to take is westward emptying into the Thief river. Besides it is felt that the farmers in the Goodridge neighborhood should not be drawn into a big system whereby they would have to stand a considerable share of the cost.

Judge Grindeland took the matter under advisement. County Commissioner A. W. Hanson, Christ Urdahl, Jerry Race and M. G. Thoreson were present at the hearing to present the objections of the people of Goodridge.

Appointed to Post at National Capital

NORMAN PETERSON, EX-SOLDIER, SECURES BERTH WITH POSTOFFICE COMMITTEE

Norman Peterson, formerly employed as stenographer at the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson, but who has been residing at the home of his parents in Badger since leaving the army, was this week appointed assistant clerk to the committee of postoffices and postroads in Washington, of which Congressman Halvor Steenerson is chairman. The young man left Tuesday evening to take up his new duties. The salary is $2,000 per year.

Mr. Peterson enlisted about June 1st, 1917, and served until the close of the war. He entered the army as a private and came out as sergeant major, the highest post below that of commissioned officer.

The position was offered to G. W. Werstlein, now connected with the Times Printing & Manufacturing company, but his local interests are such that he could not accept.

First Short Course Proves Very Popular

PEOPLE OF GOODRIDGE NEIGHBORHOOD TAKE GREAT INTEREST IN MEETINGS

The university extension short course held in Goodridge on Thursday, Friday and Saturday was a marked success in attendance and the interest shown in the various topics discussed on the program.

The use of phosphate on peat and mineral soils was thoroughly discussed by George H. Nesom, of the soils division. Figures and photographs were displayed showing the increased yield on treated plots as compared with the untreated.

F. C. Clapp handled the dairy feeding part of the program so well that all who attended resolved to supply a balanced ration for their dairy cows, even if it be necessary to purchase all the grain used.

H. J. Hughes of the state department of agriculture, explained the benefits of a local potato association to co-operate with the state association, which was organized in Little Falls last year.

Leonard Houske, representing the State Dairy and Food department, gave a very interesting talk on dairy cattle and feeding for best results.

On Saturday the school house was filled to capacity to hear Prof. A. J. McGuire, of the dairy division of the extension department of the university. Prof. McGuire talked for three hours on "Production and Marketing" and brought up important points seldom thought of by the average farmer. All expressed the wish that the speaker might be able to again appear in Goodridge at some future time.

The people of Goodridge and vicinity are to be greatly complimented for their co-operative spirit in making the short course a success. The ladies on the reception committee also deserve much commendation for their work in serving refreshments and lunches to the large crowd in attendance.

Homes Bring Good Price.

Louis Kruse last week sold three buildings at auction, each bringing a very satisfactory price. The barn located at 214 Eleventh street was bought by A. Wilke for $165. John Efteland purchased the house on the same lot for $625. Edward L. Ellefson paid $1250 for the property at 1023 Horace avenue north. W. J. LaBree officiated as auctioneer and C. W. Vorachek of the Citizens State bank as clerk.

$1,600 is Raised For Experiment in Beets

NEARBY FARMERS HAVE OFFERED 53 ACRES FOR USE OF POOL

Sixteen hundred dollars was pledged within a short time after the committee in charge of the sugar beet pool had started making the rounds this week. More will be coming in and it is certain that the $2,000 originally placed as the goal will be reached. The committee, which is composed of J. B. Conner, W. H. Frederick and W. W. Prichard, Jr., found no difficulty in interesting those interviewed in the matter and are of the opinion that had the subject been brought up a little earlier in the season there would have been no trouble in raising $5,000 in case such sum were needed.

The farmers in the vicinity of Thief River Falls have taken a deep interest in this subject and many have offered to devote a part of their acreage to the raising of the beets. A total of 53 acres have been pledged, exclusive of the plots offered by those who will donate the use of land outright. These are Daniel Shaw, who offers the free use of ten acres or a contribution of $100; Oluf Tessum, who expects to put in five acres himself and gives free the use of 10 acres more; W. W. Prichard, Sr., and C. L. Hansen each offers five acres, and R. McGinn a donation of $50 and a five-acre plot. Math Barzen will put in six acres on his own hook.

G. S. Streeter of the Peoples Auto company, has offered the free use of a double row cultivator for one day or as much longer as may be necessary.

The campaign undertaken by the commercial club is not in any manner connected with that of the Farm bureau, but will be supplemental thereto. The bureau has signed up for about 100 acres in addition to the amount mentioned above.

Masonic Meetings.

The third degree was conferred at a special meeting of Northern lodge No. 236, A. F. & A. M., on Monday evening and there are a number of candidates in waiting for the second degree, which will be conferred next Monday. The lodge has considerable work of importance on hand at the present time and it is earnestly desired that all members who can possibly do so will turn out.

Talk on Peat Tonight at Commercial Club

PROF. CHRISTIANSON WILL TELL OF COMMERCIAL VALUE OF PRODUCT

A meeting of more than ordinary importance is to be held at the commercial club rooms this evening. Prof. Peter Christianson of the University of Minnesota will speak on the commercial value of peat and as this is a subject in which there is great interest in this section just at this time he should be greeted by a large audience.

It is claimed that the prairie peat of northwestern Minnesota contains matter of great chemical value and that a high grade of coke can be manufactured from it at a very low cost. According to government chemists the by-products will more than pay for all the work connected with serve of the people represents what is known as new business almost entirely, the deposits of other banks having increased in almost equal ratio during the time that the Farmers and Merchants has been open for business. This indicates a greater degree of prosperity among our people.

The officers have every reason for feeling satisfied with the reception their venture has received. They are Robert McGinn, president; Herbert Fuller, vice president; L. A. Lamport, cashier; Miss Effie Hamry, assistant cashier; Theodore McGinn, teller.

City Records Passed Upon By Examiner

J. O. CEDARBERG COMPLIMENTS OFFICIALS ON EXCELLENT CONDITION

The books of the city of Thief River Falls are being kept in a highly satisfactory manner, according to J. O. Cedarberg, deputy state examiner, who recently went over the records at the request of the city council. In his report Mr. Cedarberg compliments those in charge, at the same time making certain recommendations which the council and other officials will doubtless find it convenient to adopt.

That part of the suggestions dealing with the permanent improvement fund and the inauguration of a more satisfactory system for checking up profit or loss in the sale department of the water and light division have already received some attention at the hands of the council and are changes now under consideration. Mr. Cedarberg's recommendation with regard to the auditorium fund has also been discussed and does not come as a surprise.

The report is made a part of the annual financial statement to be given out to the taxpayers through The Times in a week or so. The recommendations referred to are of special interest and are as follows:

"The records and accounts are all very well kept and the files were found in good order.

"The city finances and affairs in general have been conducted on a conservative basis. All bills and claims against the city are passed on by resolution. In general contracts have been let to the lowest bidder after advertising for bids.

"It is demonstrated by the combined trial balance that several funds are overdrawn. In regard to this overdraft it is suggested that the cemetery commission should take care of the overdraft in the city's cemetery fund.

"The permanent improvement fund is not properly handled. All warrants paid for such permanent improvements are assessable against private property and should be charged to a separate fund called permanent improvement revolving fund and this fund should be financed by issuing certificates of indebtedness payable out of assessments receivable. Separate general ledger accounts should be kept for the assessments in such way as to enable the council to ascertain at any time the amount outstanding on special assessment, either certified to the county auditor for collection or deferred. When it is ascertained how much of the overdraft in the permanent improvement fund is chargeable to the revolving fund the balance should be covered by a tax levy. The overdraft in the interest fund should be covered by a warrant from the current fund.

"The overdraft in the auditorium fund ought to be wiped out by an additional bond issue and the tax levy for the sinking fund should be sufficient to accumulate the money needed to retire all city bonds when due. The sinking fund should be invested in interest-bearing bonds or certificates. As the overdraft in the water works fund is caused by improvements it should be covered by an additional bond issue, which should be sold to the electric light fund.

"A store record should be kept for the water and light supplies in such way as to make it possible for the city council to ascertain at any time how much stock and merchandise should be on hand.

"The city clerk as recorder of the water and light department has on hand $355.75 deposited by electric light customers. This money should be deposited with the city treasurer and accounted for in a separate fund."

Issues Statement On Second Anniversary

Showing deposits of $312,000 at the close of its second year of business, the officers of the Farmers and Merchants State bank may be pardoned for taking pride in the record made. It is the youngest bank in the city and has been very successful from the outset. Particular stress has been laid upon the fact that it is a strictly home institution, backed entirely by home capital. Its business policy has been such as to enlist confidence and it is already considered among the strong, progressive banks of the section.

This addition to the banking re- the production of coke, leaving the highly valuable distillates as clear profit. Prof. Christianson is one of the foremost authorities on the subject of peat in the United States and comes here at the invitation of the club. The particula derivatives for which this waste product forms the basis is just now in great demand and the development of the beds in this section holds forth promise of large profits for those who have the means and foresight to take advantage of the situation.

Every business man in the city should make it a point to be at the meeting this evening.

O'Neill to Washington.

D. P. O'Neill of St. Paul, member of the state grain appeals board, is in Washington this week for the purpose of appearing at a hearing of the bureau of markets. This hearing has been called for the purpose of discussing changes in the federal heat grades. Minnesota and Dakota officials find fault with the grades now applied to hard red spring and Durum wheats. It is expected that the hearing will be postponed at this time, to be continued later at some point in the Northwest.

Postponed Ditch Hearing.

A hearing of those interested in the proposed construction of Judicial Ditch No. 44 was had before Judge Grindeland in this city on Tuesday. Considerable opposition to the project was found among the farmers of Rocksbury township and Judge Grindeland adjourned the hearing to April 21. The engineers found that a route different from that originally planned would provide a greater fall toward the river and recommended that this be followed. This would bring a number of Rocksbury farmers within the territory affected and these objected.

School Bonds Carry By Large Majority

TOTAL OF 174 VOTES CAST OF WHICH 137 WERE FOR BONDING

That the school situation in Thief River Falls is fully realized by the people was demonstrated on Tuesday evening when the proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $135,000 was put to a vote. There were 174 votes cast, which is a large turnout for an election of this kind, it being generally taken for granted that the bonds will carry in any event and that voting is a waste of time. The vote in favor of bonding was 137, an even 100 more than were cast in opposition.

Just what action the board will now take depends upon the cost of the needed improvements. While everyone is of one mind as to the necessity for more school room, yet due consideration will be given to the subject of cost. Should this prove prohibitive the matter will be postponed and some other arrangement made. Application will be made to the state for the money, however, as it may be impossible to secure this at some later date. No loss will be involved in this transaction as the interest receipts will fully cover the interest charge.

Increase For Next Year.

When the school board of district No. 18 announced that salaries of teachers would be raised the understanding was that the increase would take effect at the opening of the school year in the fall. But a short time now remains of the present term and as contracts have all been entered into and the levy made on the basis of salaries now paid it was thought best to allow things to remain as they are until the end of the year.

Crookston Station Helps Supply Seed

The Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston is distributing grain to seed co-operators in the Northwest. In order to get the seed distributed equally throughout the county the maximum amount sold to any one farmer will be enough to plant five acres. They have the following varieties this year at the prices per bushel quoted below, which are very reasonable for seed of that kind:

Mindum 470 durum wheat, $2.75; Minn. 281 oats, $1.15; Minn. 295 oats, $1.15; English Newmarket oats, $1.15; Oderbrucker barley (6 row), $1.75; Ped. Manchuria barley, (6 row) $1.75; Princess barley, (2 row), $1.75; Svanhals barley, (2 row), $1.75; White seet clover (sarified), lb. 30c; Bemis sacks extra at cost or not more than 70c.

The durum wheat averaged 21 bushels last year over the valley, as compared with 10 bushels for Marquis in adjacent fields. This wheat is rust-resistant and yields better than any other on the station every year. The oats are medium early and have done very well so far. The Manchuria, though not as good looking seed as Oderbrucker, is a heavier yielder. Both the two-row barleys are good. The sweet clover contains a slight percentage of small twigs, but no weed seeds, and twigs do not affect the weight.

Anyone desiring to have this seed should notify the farm bureau office as soon as possible in order to make certain of receiving the seed before it is all sold out. Checks may be sent in to the local farm bureau or direct to Crookston to insure prompt delivery.

Special Masonic Meetings.

Northern Lodge A. F. & A. M., is finding it necessary to hold special meetings in order to keep up with the work at the present time. Work in the second degree will be exemplified next Monday evening and indications are that it will be necessary to hold meetings every week until the summer vacation. All lodge members are asked to be present Monday night.

Mrs. Pearson Released.

Mrs. Arthur Pearson, who with her husband was indicted by the Polk county grand jury charged with having caused the death of her infant child, was last week released from custody upon the furnishing of a $20,000 bail bond. It is stated that a number of Thief River Falls business men went on the bond of Mrs. Pearson.

The husband was released some time ago on bonds furnished by Clearwater county friends.

Says 1919 Wheat Is Suitable For Seed

TIMES READER PROVES TO OWN SATISFACTION THAT THIS IS THE CASE

The Times is in receipt of a communication from John Longren wherein that gentleman expresses a different opinion from those who claim that the 1919 wheat crop is unfit for seed. The letter follows:

"Thief River Falls, Minn., March 29, 1920. Editor Times:—On the front page of your last week's issue I read an article regarding the germinating qualities of the 1919 wheat crop and the possible danger of crop failure from its use as seed. I do not know whose wheat around Thief River Falls had been tested to arrive at these results but I seriously question if the statement is borne out by facts. To me it reads more like a seed house advertisement than a statement of facts, honestly arrived at, and I suggest that farmers find out for themselves.

"In order to satisfy myself of the germinating qualities of the 1919 wheat I took 105 kernels and placed same in an improvised germinator and in less than 48 hours 104 of them showed sprouts and the 105th seemed about to. Surely this is better than 30 per cent as stated in your article. I have been in the wheat raising business for more than tirty years in the Red River valley and can say we have planted seed in former years that was inferior to the 1919 crop. It is my opinion that the average wheat of 1919 is safe to plant if the spring season is not too severe."

Mr. Longren has done exactly as The Times recommended—tested his seed. That was all the article in question suggested. There is not the slightest doubt but much of the grain grown last year will turn out all right, but the risk of planting it without testing is too great. There have been instances where the germination test developed less than 30 per cent of fertile kernels and grain of this class should not be planted. Where the test shows the seed to be all right there is certainly no objection to be interposed to its being used. The wise farmer will do exactly as Mr. Longren, however,—test his seed.

Democrats to Hold County Convention

A mass convention of Pennington county democrats will be held on Saturday, April 3, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the democratic state convention to be held in Minneapolis on Tuesday, April 6, which convention will elect delegates to the national democratic convention to be held at San Francisco on June 28. The county convention will be held at the court house room in Thief River Falls and will be called to order at 2 p. m.

Under the call issued by the Democratic State Central committee both the delegates at large and the district delegates will be selected at the state convention, thus making unnecessary the holding of district conventions. Four delegates at large and two delegates for each congressional district, and an equal number of alternates will be elected.

The vote for President Wilson in 1916 is the basis of representation in the election of delegates to the state convention, each county to elect one delegate for each two hundred or major fraction of votes cast for Wilson, and in addition, two delegates at large. On this basis Pennington county democrats will elect seven delegates to the state convention.

All women, as well as men, who believe in the principles of the democratic party, are invited to attend the county convention.

Brilliant Windup of Basket Ball Season

FACULTY PUTS UP GOOD GAME BUT STUDENTS WIN OUT

It was perhaps the most wonderful basketball game ever played in Thief River Falls. The faculty members of the Thief River Falls high school had challanged the senior class team of that institution to prove that they were entitled to be considered among the top-notchers and the challenge was accepted. The game came off on Friday night and resulted in a score of something like 72 to 19 in favor of the students.

To begin with a number of troublesome rules were abrogated. It was found that the pedagogues could perform much better when unhampered by restrictions and they proceeded to make baskets in any manner they saw fit. Supt. W. A. Ziegler was the chief pirate, ably assisted by Tripp, Schmitt and Schold. Tommeraasen had been playing all season so his work was not so spectacular.

Ziegler and Tripp were great in team work. The agricultural teacher climbed on top of a step ladder and the superintendent would bring him the ball which would then be gently dropped through the basket. This worked well, particularly when the other members of the factulty team would manage to engage their opponents in an argument in the center of the floor. The number of baskets thus made was finally estimated and deducted from the total, but not before Ziegler and Tripp had entered most emphatic protests. It is not likely the matter will be taken before the governing board of the conference, however.

THE RIGHT START.

Should either of the major enterprises upon which the commercial club is now engaged be successful the organization will more than have warranted all the outlay for which it has been responsible since its formation. The objects sought have assumed concrete form and there is every reason for expecting that some benefit of a tangible nature will result to the community.

The club went into the sugar beet proposition a little late in the season for the best results, but no time is being lost in making up for this oversight. Never has a program been taken hold of with such enthusiasm nor has one ever promised so much in the way of success. Merchants, bankers, farmers and citizens generally have gotten behind this movement to prove that sugar beets can be successfully raised in Pennington county and that the farmers are willing to go into the business just as soon as this fact is established. A great many things depend on the success of this experiment and it will be watched with more interest than has been accorded a new venture for some time.

The other proposition has to do with the utilization of peat for commercial purposes. For years the state has been carrying on experiments with a view to reclaiming these vast stretches as agricultural lands, the generally accepted view being that the peat itself was of no value. Recent investigations have demonstrated that the matter contains elements of the highest industrial value and that the particular kind of peat found in certain sections of northwestern Minnesota contains these elements in greater degree than any other in the country. Coke is one of the products that may be secured from peat while the distilates resulting in the manufacture of this fuel are even more valuable than the coke itself.

The club can devote its energies to no more important matter than the discovery of just what can be done with this waste product. The supply is inexhaustible and is easily secured. The possibilities held forth through its utilization are mpossible of computation.

This evening Prof. Peter Christianson of the university of Minnesota will address the citizens of the neighborhood on this subject of peat. He is one of the foremost authorities in the country on its commercial possibilities and what he has to say should prove of great interest to all our people.

TESTS ALL SEED GRAIN.

No business man would be so foolish as to engage upon an enterprise under circumstances that would doom it to failure from the start. He would take every precaution to make certain that there was at least a fair probability of success before investing his money and time.

The farmer who this year plants grain without first ascertaining its germinating qualities is making just such a mistake as would a business man entering a field with no possibility of success. The chances are against his securing a crop, no matter how favorable the season. The seed he puts into the ground must contain the germs of reproduction or neither sunshine nor rain will suffice to make it bring forth.

Last year's crop, particularly the wheat, was of poor quality. This fact alone should condemn it for seed but when to this general disqualification is added the fact that a large part of it has proven sterile the possibility of its unsatisfactory reproduction becomes a certainty. Nothing the farmer can do to the soil and nothing that nature can furnish in the way of weather will in any manner affect the result. Failure is inevitable.

Seed testing is the only certain way out of the difficulty. No grain should be put into the ground that has not been tested to ascertain its germinating qualities. To do otherwise is simply to invite disaster. It has been found that not more than about 30 per cent of the wheat grown in this section last year is fit for seed. In case this is so used it will mean less than a one-third crop. Such an outcome would be a greater disaster to the farmers than all the floods, droughts and hail storms they have ever experienced rolled together. It would mean bankruptcy for many.

Whatever he does, the farmer should satisfy himself that his grain is in such shape that it will sprout. He takes chances enough under any circumstances and should not start out with the certainty of failure.

How a Man Can Dress Better —And At a Lower Cost

The Way To Wear Good Clothes At An Outlay You Can Afford

YES, the dollar has shrunk and clothes cost more than in the old days. That, we must frankly face.

No use trying to evade it by paying a lower price than good clothes can be sold for. The last thing in the world most of us can afford is a "run-down-at-the-heel" appearance.

BUY good clothes and nothing else. Good clothes honestly made of all-wool fabrics. Then get out of them all the service that the maker has built into them.

Don't wear the same suit day after day. Have several suits and change them frequently.

All of them will wear much longer. See that your clothes are properly put away on hangers—even over night. Have them brushed often and pressed regularly.

IT IS amazing how Kirschbaum Clothes respond to such care. The all-wool fabrics keep their freshness and full color. The shape stays because it is put into the garment stitch by stitch. The smart, well-groomed lines are there right up to the very last.

Wear Kirschbaum Clothes. Give them the care their good quality deserves. It means money in your pocket; better-looking clothes on your back!

Finds Conditions In England Rather Bad

T. H. AND W. J. SMITH ARE GLAD TO GET BACK TO MINNESOTA

While the people of the United States doubtless have a serious kick coming on the high cost of living their condition is much better than that of their English cousins in this respect, according to T. H. Smith of Mavie, who, in company with his brother, W. J., returned last week from a four-months' visit to the old country.

"Everything over there is higher in prices," said Mr. Smith, "with the exception of clothing, while wages are only about one-half of those paid in this country. The low rate at which the English pound sterling is now quoted is making it extremely difficult for a heavily importing nation to keep things going to the satisfaction of the workingman. The normal rate of exchange is about 1.06 while at the present time it is hovering around 75.

"Eggs are selling for 10 cents apiece while hay would be bringing $72 a ton at the present rate of exchange. Bread is cheaper there than here, a four-pound loaf costing 24 cents. Fish is also reasonable. Meats are still distributed on the rationing plan and no one has enough. The situation is such as to breed discontent and there is much socialistic and bolshevistic talk among the working classes."

Both men say they are glad to get back to this county. "I considered myself a pretty good American when I left," says T. H., "but I came back decidedly a better one. So will any other man who has an opportunity to study the difference in conditions prevailing there and here."

Elks Meeting Postponed.

Tomorrow is Good Friday and the observances customary on that anniversary will be observed throughout the city. There will be no meeting of the Elks lodge in the evening and it is understood that all other gatherings of a similar nature have been postponed.

Miss Cary Here.

Miss Miriam Cary president of the Minnesota Library association, made an official visit in this city the forepart of the week. During the war Miss Cary was supervisor of all camp libraries in the southern states and since the cessation of the war is continuing her work by distributing books to disabled soldiers. While here she made a visit to the local sanatorium and was a guest of Mrs. Gaston Ward.

Judge Holm a Candidate.

Judge Mike Holm of Roseau, one of the best-known of the northern Minnesota pioneers and a Republican of lifelong standing, has announced himself as a candidate for the office of secretary of state and will enter the elimination contest which takes place during the first week in May. Judge Holm will receive a strong endorsement from the counties in which he is known as it is recognized that he would make an ideal candidate if nominated and a most competent and obliging official if elected. He has many friends in Pennington county who will help his candidacy all they can.

New Legion Proposal.

Representatives of the American Legion have reached the decision to present before the house ways and means committee a new plan embracing land settlement, home building, and for vocational training and payment of adjusted compensations. The proposal is a substitute explained to the committee by Commander Franklin D'Olier and Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the executive committee, recently. The four fold plan carrying new rates was approved at a meeting of the executive committee.

A. M. Sheldon, president of the First and Peoples State bank, was in the city on business this week.

Also, it is a health food par excellence, for in a dish of this highly concentrated food you get more nutrition than could be obtained from three or four times as much meat, eggs or potatoes. The Elks' Initiation.

This is the last big meeting at which the present officers will preside, their successors taking their positions in the near future. It has been the most successful year in the history of the organization, the membership having been quadruppled. Thief River Falls lodge is now the largest in this section of the state and perhaps the largest in the country for a city of this size. It is steadily growing and the officers are planning for another banner year.

Without the patented extension rims of the Samson Truck, jobs in the field could not be done quickly, as the ordinary tires would mire down.

SAMSON
3-4 TON TRUCK

The value of a farm truck lies in its ability for continuous service, in its economy and its adaptability for farm loads and conditions.

You would think that if all these conditions were known someone could build a truck that would just fit them.

Well, someone has—a truck that fits every farm condition—and we have the truck.

The Samson Truck will go thru mud, snow, deep sand, plowed ground, soft stubble, pastures and slews. Nothing prevents its getting direct to where it is going on schedule time. The extension bases that automatically clear the ground on a hard surface take care of that.

That is what makes Samson Trucks so practical. They are mechanically dependable and they will go anywhere any time. They are just as useful in the fields as on the highway—every day in the year. You can depend on the Samson for uninterrupted service.

THE production of crude oil is, in itself, a highly specialized business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recognizes this fact and leaves to others the drilling of wells, the operation of pipe lines, and the other activities incident to the production, storage, and transportation of petroleum.

It buys its requirements of crude oil on the open market and pays the market price.

The business which engages the attention of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the manufacture, distribution, and sale of the products of petroleum.

The Company goes into the oil fields and buys the Crude it wants from whoever has it for sale. In this way the Company is able to select with care the raw material it uses, and is not hampered in its endeavor to render greater service by being tempted to use crude which is not exactly suited to its needs.

By devoting all of its time to the business of refining and marketing, the Company is able to fulfill its obligation to the public by supplying petroleum products of the highest known standards—to maintain at all times a uniformity of quality—and to manufacture in such volume and in such variety of forms—as to enable it to sell these products at a low price.

FLOOD CONTROL ORGANIZATION IS READY FOR WORK

W. J. BROWN RESIGNS AS ATTORNEY AND CHARLES BOUGHTON APPOINTED

GEORGE WALKER OF THIS CITY NAMED AS ONE OF THE ENGINEERS

DEFINITE DRAINAGE PROGRAM RESULT OF YEARS OF AGITATION

At a meeting held at Warren last week for the purpose of hearing the arguments for and against the consolidation of judicial ditch projects No. 80, 102 and 103, Judge Grindeland took the matter under advisement.

The members of the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy district were present at the hearing and held a meeting at which the organization was completed. W. J. Brown of Thief River Falls, who has acted as attorney in all the proceedings thus far, resigned and Charles Boughton of Red Lake Falls was appointed in his place. The commission also named S. E. Hunt of Red Lake Falls treasurer. A secretary was tentatively agreed upon but the selection was not officially made.

Walker is Engineer.

George W. Walker, former city engineer of Thief River Falls, was appointed as engineer in charge of the Red Lake and Clearwater river projects. Joseph Baugh, also formerly a resident of the city but now living at Warren, is the engineer on the Thief river project. The consulting engineer is Adolph F. Meyer of St. Paul. The first work undertaken will be that having to do with the drainage basin immediately about the Red Lake river.

Steenerson on the Job.

A communication has been received by the commission from Representative Halvor Steenerson advising that the Secretary of the Interior had advised of his endorsement of Congressman Steenerson's bill making provision for work on the Clearwater and Red Lake projects through the Indian reservation. Congressman Steenerson had taken an active part in furthering these projects where the federal departments were concerned.

Representatives of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association as well as representatives of the states of North and South Dakota were materially aided by Mr. Steenerson while on a visit to Washington in the interest of drainage enterprises in this state and attribute much of the splendid progress they believe was made to the co-operation accorded them by the Ninth district congressman.

Finally Under Way.

The personnel of the Red Lake river district commission is an assurance in itself that the best interests of the residents of the territory involved will at all times be paramount in the consideration and activities of the commission, and much in the way of relief from the re-occurance from floods may be looked for within a reasonable period of time, says the Crookston Times. Accomplishment is not, of course, going to be a matter of but a few months, but that continual progress will be made is confidently to be expected.

That something definite in the way of flood control and water conservation in the Red River valley is finally under way after innumerable years of conference after conference credit is due in no small measure to the unremitting work of the officers and directors of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, the formation of the commission now actively engaged on the Red Lake river basin work being a direct outcome of that organization activities following the floods in the northern portion of the valley last year. That the work of the association will be continued until all portions of the valley are similarly organized under control commmissions is to be hoped.

Many Prove Interest in Peat Discussion

PROF. CHRISTENSEN SHOWS HOW PRODUCT MAY BECOME GREAT ASSET

A fair-sized audience turned out last Thursday night to hear Prof. Christensen of the state university speak on the subject of peat development at the commercial club rooms. In the audience were quite a number of farmers from the eastern section of Pennington and Marshall counties to whom the discussion was of particular interest.

Minnesota possesses fabulous riches in its soil, mines and timber, said Prof. Christensen, and he believes that peat will prove another source of wealth when the value of the strange product is more fully understood. Peat is vegetable matter that has been reserved from entire disintegration by being covered with water, said the professor, and in this respect its origin is similar to that of coal. In fact peat is coal in the process of formation. He told of how for ages the substance has been employed as fuel by people in European countries and of the means employed there in preparing it for burning. The only reason more attention has not been paid to it in this country is that there has until now been an abundance of coal and wood. As the supply of these necessities dwindle the people will turn to peat and utilize it as is done in Europe.

Prof. Christensen had a number of samples of peat fuel with him, showing how different results are obtained by different methods of treatment. Among these were clods of air dried peat and several samples of the machine pressed article. He compared the fuel value with that of other materials employed and showed that it averaged very high.

Stereopticon views of plants where peat was being prepared were shown and proved very interesting. There were also a number of scenes from foreign countries showing the methods of reclamation employed there.

Local Concern Aims at Trade Expansion

THIEF RIVER MUSIC COMPANY ADDS NEW PARTNER AND INCORPORATES

Articles of incorporation of the Thief River Music company are printed in this issue of The Times, announcing that a corporation has been formed with a capital of $30,000 for the purpose of conducting a business for the sale of musical goods in Thief River Falls. The old firm was composed of F. S. Ebert and Theo. J. Hagen and they have added Roy Halseth to the list of owners. There are no other stockholders.

The move was made to permit of expansion. It is the intention to continue the business as at present but to add an up-to-date mail order department through which the entire district can be supplied with anything in the line of instruments, music, phonographs and such other goods as are usually found in an establishment of this kind.

The Thief River Music company is one of the foremost concerns in the business in this section of the state and enjoys an enviable reputation. The store destroyed by fire last winter was a model of its kind and it is the intention of the owners to improve even on this as soon as suitable quarters can be arranged for. The partners are business men of the highest order and the new arrangement will enable them to enlarge their sphere of activity so as to cover a much larger territory than has heretofore been possible.

Democratic Women Chairmen Appointed

MRS. E. M. STANTON NAMES WORKERS IN ALL PARTS OF DISTRICT

Any person who thinks that the women are going to allow the coming election to pass without making their presence felt has another guess coming. From every section of the country comes the announcement that the newly enfranchised voters are going to take an active part in the proceedings and in many districts their votes may easily turn the scales.

The Republican woman's organization in the Ninth district some time ago announced the appointment of county chairmen and now Mrs. E. M. Stanton, district chairman for the democrats, has named her co-workers. They are as follows:

Becker county, Mrs. Charles MacGregor, Detroit; Clay, Mrs. C. J. Thysell, Hawley; Clearwater county, Mrs. John Hickey, Bagley; Kittson county, Mrs. Otto Thorson, St. Vincent; Mahnomen county, Mrs. H. P. Phillips, Mahnomen; Marshall county, Mrs. R. D. V. Carr, Middle River; Ottertail county, Mrs. C. W. Lotterer, Perham; Polk county, Mrs. W. H. Miller, Crookston; Roseau county, Mrs. Anna C. Olsen, Roseau; Red Lake county, Mrs. Ida Hall, Red Lake Falls; Wilkin county, Mrs. P. Darmody, Breckenridge.

Burns Corner Sold.

T. K. Rynestad of Silverton township this week purchased from M. C. Burns the property at the corner of Atlantic avenue and Third street opposite the offices of the Thief River Grocery company. Included in the deal is the brick building occupied by Zeh & Curran, grocers, and three residences. The consideration is understood to have been $12,000. Mr. Rynestad acquired the property as an investment and does not, so far as known, contemplate any extensive improvements at this time. Mr. Burns will continue to occupy one of the houses until Sept. 1, but has made no announcement as to his course after that time.

Loving Cup Awarded County in Seal Sale

In another column will be found a report of the Christmas Seal Sales program in the northern counties by which it will be seen that Pennington county is well toward the top. A later report from state headquarters announces that Thief River Falls stands at the head among cities of from 4,000 to 10,000. The per capita was eight seals and the total realized $400.97. The loving cup awarded the city gaining this distinction has been sent to the farm bureau office, County Agent J. J. McCann having been chairman of the seal committee.

DEM DELEGATION GOES TO FRISCO MINUS ORDERS

INDIVIDUALS ALSO AT LIBERTY TO ACT AS THEY SEE FIT

FRED LYNCH IS ONE OF BIG FOUR DESPITE STRONG OPPOSITION

TWO WOMEN ON PENNINGTON COUNTY DELEGATION TO STATE MEETING

The Minnesota delegation to the national convention at San Francisco will not only go uninstructed as a whole but each individual member will be permitted to use his or her own judgment in the voting. This was decided at the state convention held at Minneapolis on Tuesday. A fight developed when the name of Fred B. Lynch, present national committee man was presented, but he was named as one of the four delegates at large in spite of the opposition. The others are: Anton C. Weiss, Duluth; D. D. Daly, state chairman, Minneapolis; Mrs. Peter Oleson, Cloquet.

By its platform, the convention endorsed the Wilson administration, declared the republican leaders in the United States senate had "maimed" the treaty of Versailles and went on record as endorsing national prohibition. The resolution also declared that the democratic party was entitled to the credit of enfranchising the women of the United States. Nearly 200 of the 1,072 delegates to the convention were women and they hailed this section of the platform joyously.

The delegates to the national convention from the Ninth district are Dr. J. W. Scheolin, Hallock, and Mrs. M. C. McGregor, Detroit, with C. W. Conger, McIntosh, and Mrs. Anna E. Oleson, Roseau, alternates.

The County Convention.

The Pennington county Democratic convention on Saturday was not particularly well attended nor was the gathering particularly enthusiastic. Mrs. Andrew Craik was chosen chairman and H. O. Chommie secretary. E. M. Stanton, A. S. Sapero and John Bundy were appointed as a nominating committee to name candidates to attend the state convention and reported the following as their choice, the action being ratified by those present: Stephen Singer, Joseph Johnson, W. B. Fuller, T. McCormick, James Cosgrove, Mrs. J. Q. Cronkhite, Mrs. L. K. Ecke. Mr. Fuller and Mr. McCormick later asked to be excused and E. M. Stanton and John Morgan were appointed in their places. The alternates named were: Dr. G. A. Penney, Mrs. H. A. Pratt, John Bundy, H. O. Chommie, S. C. Hunt, Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mrs. J. O. Yotter. The delegation went to Minneapolis uninstructed.

In the Lodges.

The work of the second degree was exemplified last Monday evening at a special meeting of Northern Lodge No. 236 A. F. & A. M. First degree work will be taken up next Monday at the regular convocation and the third degree given to a considerable class later in the month. The Masons have a great deal of work to do before the summer recess begins in June and will hold meetings every Monday evening until further notice.

The initiatory degree was conferred on a large class by Lone Pine Odd Fellows lodge on Tuesday evening. Next Tuesday evening the first degree will be conferred, the Odd Fellows having accepted a regular order in the working of degrees. The first Tuesday in the month will be given over to the initiatory, the second to the first degree, the third Tuesday to the second degree and the fourth to the third degree.

The next regular meeting of Thief River Falls Lodge, B. P. O. E., will be held on the evening of Friday, April 16, at which time the newly elected officers will be installed. Those who will assume charge of the organization in this city at that time are: G. Howard Smith, exalted ruler; H. W. Protzeller, esteemed leading knight; J. W. Hendry, esteemed loyal knight; W. W. Prichard, Jr., esteemed lecturing knight; Edward F. Dolan, secretary; Joseph Elsenpeter, treasurer; Math Barzen, trustee; G. W. Connell, esquire; L. D. McAdams, inner guard; E. M. Bennes, chaplain; R. M. Sheldon, organist.

Basket Social.

A basket social will be held at the Willowdale school house, a mile and a half south of Rosewood, on Friday evening, April 9. Besides the basket auction there will be an entertainment program of particular interest. A general invitation to the public is extended.

Winner at Crookston.

Melvin Engelstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Engelstad of Rocksbury township, was first prize winner in the corn judging contest held at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, during the short course last week. The contestants were taken on a visit to points of interest about the city and were shown a good time generally.

BOND COMPANIES TO TEST LEGALITY OF PAVING LAW

QUESTION OF INTEREST TO THIEF RIVER BROUGHT UP IN LUVERNE

TEST CASE TO BE TAKEN BEFORE SUPREME COURT FOR DECISION

RUMOR OF INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS HERE NOT GENERALLY CREDITED

There is possibility of a hitch in the paving proceedings in a number of Minnesota cities. The law by which the councils are enabled to undertake work of this kind without the people having a vote on whether or not bonds shall be issued for the purpose has been questioned and a test case instituted at Luverne. In that city the paving will be hung up until a decision is reached at the request of the bond-holding companies, and it may be that all communities in which contracts are about to be entered upon will hold back until the matter is finally settled.

Want to be Sure.

It is a well-known fact that the concerns that have taken over the bonds of many Minnesota municipalities would like to be released from their agreements. Interest rates have gone up considerably since many of these contracts were entered into and while it is not charged that any of the bond buyers are attempting to evade their obligations, yet it is certain that they would not feel seriously put out if some flaw were to be found in the law whereby they would be released.

Thief River Falls, for instance, has contracted to borrow some $300,000 at five and a quarter per cent interest. This was a very low rate at the time it was agreed to and conditions have shaped themselves as to make the money worth a considerably higher figure at this time. It is thought that the action of the concerns contracting for the Luverne issue has something to do with this fact.

Will Probably Go Ahead.

The delay, if one should prove unavoidable, will likely have no effect on the city council of Thief River Falls going ahead with its program up to the opening of the bids. Should the situation at that time be such as to make a postponment advisable it will without doubt be given the proper attention.

Rumor Not Credited.

It has persistently been rumored about the city that in case bids for paving were accepted on May 4 when opened by the council, injunction proceedings will be brought to prevent the work from being undertaken. No one has been found willing to assume the responsibility for having made such statement and it is not generally credited. Objection to entering into a contract at this time may be voiced at the meeting but in case the council deems it advisable to go ahead it is not thought likely that the courts will be called upon to prevent it.

TOTAL COLLECTED IN DRIVE IS $330, WHICH EXCEEDS QUOTA ASSIGNED

The 1920 campaign of the Y. W. C. A. is just closing. Reports from many of the counties of the 7th district are already in. Pennington county has the distinction of being the first to go over the top, although there are others that will more than raise their quota. Souvenirs For Boys.

Saturday is boys' day at the store of Albert S. Lieberman. He has decided that the youngsters shall have an opportunity to look over the stock on wares of particular interest to them the same as grown folks. The store will be turned over to their inspection all day and appropriate souvenirs will be given out from 10 o'clock until 12. Mr. Lieberman has put in a particularly fine line of boys' goods this spring and he is anxious to show it. Parents are invited to come with the boys.

Will Handle the Maxwell.

W. W. Prichard, Jr., has taken the local agency for the Maxwell automobile. There has been no representative for this car located in Thief River Falls for some years—in fact since the factory output was curtailed by reason of the plant being turned over to war work—and many will welcome the news that the machine is again to be had here. The 1920 model is a be[illegible] and differs in many respects from the earlier cars. The lines are stylish and graceful while the power plant is said to be one of the best placed in medium priced cars. The show room is in the Prichard building on Horace avenue.

Merchants Generally Meet Union Demands

AGREE TO CLOSE STORES AT SIX O'CLOCK DURING WORK DAYS

The clerks of Thief River Falls to the number of 46, which includes practically all engaged in retail lines, have affiliated themselves with the Retail Clerks' Internatinal Protective association and will hereafter operate under the provisions of a charter issued by that organization. Ole Granum is president and C. E. Dybvik secretary of local union No. 513, which is the official designation of the Thief River Falls branch.

Every merchant in the city, with but two or three exceptions, have signed the articles of agreement, as will be seen by the advertisement of the union in another column. Those who are holding off have not refused to meet the demands but ask that a little more time be granted for consideration. Many are already displaying the union label in their windows and the clerks feel assured that it will be but a short time until every business place in the city falls in line.

Treatment for Smut on Grain Advised

FARM BUREAU ALSO URGES GUARDING AGAINST POTATO DISEASES

Smut destroyed more than $8,000,000 worth of Minnesota grains in 1918. This loss can be prevented by smut treatment with formaldehyde. There are four methods which may be used in applying this treatment. Explanation may be received at the farm bureau office or if necessary a demonstration will be given in your neighborhood on how to treat by the wet or dry method.

When treated by the wet method the seed should be sprinkled thoroughly until moist with one pint of formaldehyde to forty gallons of water. Shovel repeatedly to distribute the moisture evenly. Forty gallons of this solution will treat sixty bushels of grain.

In the dry method mix one pint of formaldehyde with one pint of water and use in a small hand sprayer. Spray this solution on the grain and shovel at the same time, holding the sprayer close to the seed, taking care that the mist is well distributed. One stroke of the sprayer gives enough mist for a shovelfull of grain. One quart of this solution will treat fifty bushel.

Cards with written directions printed thereon will be sent upon request.

Potatoes should be treated with corrosive sublimate, which is more effective than formaldehyde for all tuber diseases.

A Great Picture Play.

Manager John Brumund has secured one of the greatest pictures of the season for the Lyceum on Sunday and Monday. It is "The Woman Gives," with Norma Talmadge in the leading role. This play was written by Owen Johnson and is said to have more thoroughly satisfied the theater-going public in the large cities than anything that has been presented for a long time. It is a First National attraction and Miss Talmadge is supported by a cast of surpassing excellence.

Besides this great feature the comedy attraction for these two nights is in itself enough to fill the house. Fatty Arbuckle appears in "Back Stage," the funniest thing he has ever done.

The program for the remainder of the week at the local play-houses is one of exceptional merit and Mr. Brumund is to be commended for his efforts in securing the best there is for his patrons.

Business Visitors Here.

E. S. Sanford and O. T. Rishoff of the Lonson Coin Box company, St. Paul, were in the city the first of the week for the purpose of conferring with officers of the Times Printing and Manufacturing company, makers of the Lonson box. These gentlemen, who have charge of the selling end of the utility, are anxious that the factory get under way again, the producing end having been closed down since the plant was destroyed by fire last January. After noting the progress made toward getting started they were satisfied that orders will begin being filled before long. They returned to St. Paul Wednesday.

FINE QUARTERS FOR THE TIMES SOON COMPLETE

WILL BE BEST EQUIPPED PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT IN THIS SECTION

FIVE THOUSAND FEET OF FLOOR SPACE DEVOTED TO THE BUSINESS

MACHINERY NOW BEING INSTALLED AND WORK RUSHED TO COMPLETION

It will be about three months from the time fire destroyed the plant of the Thief River Falls Times that the paper is again issued from the publishers' own plant. The fire occurred on Jan. 25 and getting the paper out since that time has been something of a struggle. The end of this period is now in sight, much to the relief of everyone in any way connected with the organization.

In the new location in the Mechan-Connelly block, more than 5,000 feet of floor space will be devoted to printing and publishing and the manufacture of the Lonson coin box. The main floor will be 40x60 feet in size and here will be located the business and editorial offices, the composing room and the job presses. The rotary newspaper press and the pony cylinder will be placed in the basement, as will also the box machinery.

Completely Remodeled.

The Times has taken a long lease on the premises and these have been remodeled to meet the requirements most admirably. Everything has been placed and arranged with a view to saving time and labor, items that enter most heavily into the cost of producing printing these days. Wide staircases connect the two floors and a freight elevator will be installed for the handling of paper rolls, box stock and other heavy items. An ample outside entrance to the basement has been provided in the east wall and the entire establishment so arranged that work can be handled with convenience and dispatch.

The New Machinery.

A new Intertype of latest model has been installed with full equipment. This is the very latest in typesetting machines and is in itself almost a complete plant so far as the type item goes.

It was discovered that a new rotary newspaper press of the kind wanted could not be had from the manufacturers inside of two years, but that repairs and parts for the one that went through the fire were carried in stock. Experts were set at work in an attempt to salvage the machine and succeeded so well that it will be practically as good as new when again in running order. Much new machinery was required for the job department and box factory, and this has been secured only after long delay.

An Ideal Plant.

It has been the aim to procure everything needful for a first-class plant, capable of turning out the best work and doing it quickly. The equipment is compact, cabinets and other furniture being almost wholly of steel construction. This is the best obtainable for printing offices, saving room and lessening the danger of fire.

The entire Times force will rejoice when things are again running properly and the city will have an establishment of which all the people may well be proud.

G. O. P. Elimination Convention May 8th

CAUCUSES TO BE HELD ON MAY 1, COUNTY CONVENTIONS MAY 8.

The republican state central committee, meeting at St. Paul on Monday, issued a call for an "elimination" convention to be held May 8 at the large field of prospective candidates.

It was decided to hold precinct caucuses in republican ranks over the entire state on May 1. At these caucuses delegates will be elected to the county conventions to be held in the 86 counties on May 5. County gatherings will choose delegates to the state convention.

Apportionment of delegates will be the same as in the presidential primary conventions held last month.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held in the commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon. A new song, "Minnesota Mine," which is winning particular favor, was introduced to the club, led by Mrs. G. Halvorson and seemed to meet with instant approval. This was followed by a short business session when important measures were discussed by the various sections of the club. Miss Dorothy Loyhed of the English department of the University of Minnesota, spoke very interestingly on "Our Coming Sanity Towards Russia." During the hours Miss Zella Zeh offered two vocal selections: "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Annie Laurie" in her usual pleasing manner and were highly enjoyed by everyone present. G. Halvorson was the local speaker for this meeting and gave a very interesting talk on "Our Election Laws."

ANNUAL REPORT OF SANATORIUM FOR 3 COUNTIES

TWENTY-THREE PATIENTS DISCHARGED OUT OF 38 ADMITTED DURING YEAR

AVERAGE DAILY COST FOR EACH PATIENT WAS $2.37, COUNTIES PAYING $1.66

PHYSICIAN IN CHARGE NOW DEVOTES ENTIRE TIME TO OAKLAND PARK

Dr. O. F. Mellby, chairman of the board of the Oakland Park Tri-County sanatorium for consumptives at Thief River Falls, has submitted to The Times the advance report of the work done at the institution. According to the records of Miss Karen M. Knutson, superintendent, it is seen that the total cost of maintenance for the year was $19,111.29, and the daily average cost for each patient was $2.37. The cost to the counties for free patients, that is, patients without means who must be cared for in the sanatorium at public expense, was $1.66, the state contributing $5 per capita per week toward their support. Pay patients are charged $7 per week for their care, the counties paying the balance of the cost, namely, $1.37 each per day.

The expenses of the sanatorium commission for the year total only $101.54, the members serving without pay and getting their reward in the satisfaction that comes from doing good.

Big Percentage Helped.

From the time of opening the sanatorium to Jan. 1, 1920, there have been 93 patients admitted. Of these 38 patients were admitted during the past year and 23 discharged. Patients who leave the institution are such as have improved by their stay there and can care for themselves by following the instructions as to proper living taught them at the sanatorium.

Filled to Capacity.

Of the 38 patients treated last year 17 were from Marshall county, 8 from Roseau county, 11 from Pennington county and 1 from Kittson county; 22 were free patients, 15 pay patients and one a part-pay patient. The average daily number of patients cared for is 22. The capacity of the sanatorium is 25 patients, hence it has been filled most of the time up to its capacity and most of the time has a waiting list.

Has Full-Time Doctor.

So important has the work at Oakland Park become that the board of directors deemed it wise to secure the services of a doctor who would devote his entire time to the institution. The plan of having the medical director divide his time between Oakland Park and the Polk county hospital at Crookston was tried, but the demands of both institutions became so great that a doctor was found necessary for each. Dr. G. M. Milan is now in charge at the Tri-County hospital and his work is meeting with most gratifying success. Previous to his coming to Minnesota, Dr. Milan was engaged in tuberculosis work in the East and has devoted a large share of his time since leaving college to this particular branch of practice. Miss Karen Knutson is the superintendent and her long experience and interest in the fight being everywhere waged on the white plague pecularily fits her for the position.

The sanatorium has proven its value in the number of persons it has already helped towards regaining their health and its usefulness will be more generally appreciated as time goes on. It is fully realized that the hospital must before long be enlarged, there being at all times a number of patients waiting for admission. The matter has received much study on the part of the board and some plan for increasing the capacity may be forthcoming within a short time.

Crookston Favors Concrete.

Sixth street in Crookston, from Broadway to University avenue, will be paved with concrete. This decision was reached at a meeting of the city council last week. Bids for asphalt were rejected and concrete was approved, the city engineer being instructed to submit plans and specifications for the proposed work at the adjourned meeting called for April 1.

A petition signed by 23 freeholders of Sixth street asked that concrete be laid on the street. At the same time a petition from property owners on Broadway, from Third to Fourth street, asked that this block be paved with concrete. Report of the cost of the paving will be submitted at the adjourned session in April.

Tuition is free to those who will pledge themselves to teach for two years in Minnesota, others paying $5 for the term. All students will be required to pay a term fee of $1 to help defray incidental expenses.

The Bemidji school was opened last year and the first term was well attended and very successful. The institution is most conveniently located for the students from this section of the state who wish to take advantage of a normal course.

Fifty Million Women May Vote Next Fall

THIRTY STATES HAVE ALREADY EXTENDED SUFFRAGE WITH MORE COMING IN

With the women of 30 states already qualified to vote for the next president, the Minnesota League of Women Voters points out the redundancy in the circumstances that necessitate a campaign to complete the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment.

Kentucky's senate by a vote of 30 to 3 voted presidential suffrage to Kentucky women on March 16. That settled the matter for Kentucky. The House passed the measure the week before and the governor's signature is assured.

Quite irrespective of the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment, there are 17,500,000 women over voting age who live in states that have already qualified women to vote in the presidential elections in November. Ratification will extend the privilege to about 9,500,000 more.

The states where women will vote for the next president include the 15 full suffrage states: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Montana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Wyoming—the 13 presidential, or presidential plus municipal—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Ohio, Kentucky and the two primary suffrage states, Arkansas and Texas.

The total number of electoral votes in the choosing of which women will have a voice is 339, counting in Kentucky's 13. This is nearly two-thirds of the total.

And all this whether retification of the federal suffrage amendment is completed or not.

Buys Typesetting Machine.

Publisher O. Gunstad of the St. Hilaire Spectator, announces that there will be a new typesetting machine installed in the office in a short time. He finds the old system of hand composition too slow for present-day requirements, taking up too much of the time that might with better profit be devated to other lines of work.

WHY THIEF RIVER FALLS; ALSO SOME AMBITIONS OF THE CITY

Citizens Are Not Concerned About the Past and Hope to Make Their City the Transfer Point for a Great Playground on the Largest Fresh Water Lake.

(From The Modern Highway For March.)

Names are peculiar. They have many peculiarities. One charateristic is that the mention of a name causes a picture to form in the individual imagination. Jones, Smith, Wilson, Clemenceau, Trotsky—all suggest different persons, different types, distinct pesonalities.

Often, however, names betray their owners. One of these instances is to be found on the Jefferson Highway, and the city is Thief River Falls. Really, no band of outlaws holds possession, exacting tribute from every "dude" who drops off the train or drives past in a car. The river does not slip up on you while you sleep and carry you off, either. So far as civilized man can remember it has never been other than a hustling northern Minnesota community.

The adjective slipped into the last sentence very naturally. Thief River as it is commonly termed by common consent, is no mean city. The Soo line made it a division point. It is a favorite night control for tourists to and from Winnipeg on the Jefferson Highway.

Although it is today known for its commercial advantages, progressive citizens, headed by Daniel Shaw, Scott Laird and others who have made themselves known to Jefferson Highway Neighbors by reason of their enthusiasm for the "Pine to Palm," expect that if plans do not miscarry Thief River will one of these days awaken to bask in the knowledge that it is a great transfer point for pleasure seekers. A great stretch of country to the east and north is almost entirely in its virgin state. There are many things that will appeal to the vacationist longing to escape the modern buzz of metropolitan affairs.

To the east is Red Lake Agency, the reservation of Chippewa Indians. About fifty miles straight east of Thief River lies Red Lake, surrounded by the reservation. It is the largest body of fresh water with the exception of the Great Lakes, in the United States. A shore line of 150 miles is said to offer the finest bathing beach in the world. And why mention fishing? The only trouble is that it is fifty miles away from civilization and there are only twenty-five miles of the 365-day road in that direction.

One of these days the conferences with the Indian Bureau at Washington will result in an order to build the remaining twenty-five miles of road. Then look out for the records of all other vacation centers. There is big game to be found north of Red Lake during the open season. That is just one of the dreams of the Pennington county people, to make it famous all over the world.

In passing it is well to remember that Pennington holds claim to being the "baby" county on the "Pine to Palm." It was taken from Red Lake county only nine years ago. Inaccessibility by rail, which a few years ago was the biggest handicap to a community, was the reason for an agreement whereby Pennington was formed, and Thief River Falls was made the county seat. Another interesting feature about the life and growth of the county is the fact that Jesse LaBree, sheriff of Pennington, is the son of old John LaBree, who was the original homesteader on the site where the city now stands.

Though they may differ in most respects the Red Man and the White Man usually agreed upon the same spots for their habitation. Either the Indian chose well, or the pale-face jealousy wanted that which the other had. Legends differ, but at any rate the old Indian camp became an outpost of settlement, and today we find a modern community called Thief River Falls. Even the origin of the name Thief River is clouded in mystery. Pioneers fastened the "handle" onto the stream. Whether they found a band of outlaw Indians who had been exiled from their tribe, whether an Indian band robbed the explorers, or whether a thieving tribe that preyed upon other bands was found along the shore is not definitely known. All seem to be possible stories. All are more or less credited, and the tenderfoot may choose. Of course the river falls near the townsite, and these falls make power to carry on the whirl of the twentieth century living.

However, Pennington County's claim to special notice is not at all on the historical. As a community for the production of foodstuffs it is in its infancy. Yet between $1,000 and $1,500 daily goes into the hands of dairymen from the creamery at Thief River. A reputation as a tame grass county stands unchallenged from the outside. The growth of sweet clover is phenomenal. Corn, wheat, flax, rye and potatoes are all staple crops. There are some potatoes on display, one of which would be a sufficient supply for the ordinary meal of the average city family. Land is still within reach of the ordinary pocketbook and has been moving fast the past year.

"More land sold to the outsider, independent of agents, last year than ever did before in the history of this section," said Shaw, who is in a position to know. "Men drove up here in their cars, saw the land they liked and bought it, unaccompanied by any agents. Most of them, by the way, came over the Jefferson Highway."

Thief River Falls is preparing for bigger business this year. A contract has been let to build sewers and make necessary water connections before next summer, when twenty-five blocks of pavement will be laid. It will then be a wonderful adventure toward the north for the Jefferson traveler.

He will leave the modern paved streets of this city to journey about four miles west, climbing gradually up over black soil. Gravel has been used to keep the road passable in wet weather, and it would be slick gumbo and the going treacherous but for this 365-day road. On reaching the top of the ridge, where a turn to the north is made, one finds himself on the famous old Pembina Trail.

Geological research has disclosed the fact that in pre-historic times this country was all covered by an immense lake, the "drippings," as it were, of the old glaciers as they gradually disappeared. As the lake receded shore lines were thrown up. The ridge upon which the old Pembina, now the Jefferson, runs north, is a sand shore line, and is a natural road. It marks the line of timber country and the prairie. To the right stretches a vast acreage that was all forest. To the left sweeps the prairie, which old settlers tell us runs on and on into the foothills of the Rockies.

Up this trail, once traversed by two-wheeled ox-carts, as they made their regular trips between St. Paul and Pembina, the modern motor car travels in the well-worn ruts that form a natural road unsurpassed. Until it proves to be impractical for some reason, now unforseen, this stretch will probably be maintained in its unique and original form. The trip through and over all the other sections of the Jefferson would be worth any sacrifice just to get the view, the inspiration and the joy of the drive over this piece of natural scenic highway.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave. Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Schuster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Boost For Jensen.

(Clearbrook Correspondence To Bemidji Pioneer.)

The move to induce L. Jensen of Clearbrook, one of the foremost dairymen and boosters in our community and county to announce himself a candidate for the legislature from this district, is beginning to gain free ground and the pressure is becoming stronger and more urgent, but our good neighbor to the north seems to hear not nor heed the call, up to the present. In place of even offering it a smile he goes about his duties on his fine farm just north of town, milking cows and doing other necessary labor to produce cream and butter, along with other work on the place. The progressive element in our district has been looking forward a long time for a man possessing special qualifications with executive abilities, and whose heart and soul are with the farmers in their labors to produce better laws and conditions under which to carry on their work successfully. He is today one of the main and leading figures for better measures to safeguard the dairy industry in Minnesota, the Great Northwest and the United States. This is one reason and is strong enough in itself to warrant the people in this district to send him to the legislature for their own benefit, as well as the dairy industry of the state at large.—Bemidji Pioneer.

What is Real Land Selling Service?

It's not just selling and collecting the commission, any more than farming is planting crops and sitting still to watch them grow. Walker-Gesell Selling Service benefits the whole country and includes:

FIRST: Advertising the country as a whole and its possibilities in a way to attract outsiders as well as to hold home people who may be contemplating moving away,—thereby creating demand and stabilizing values. This puts extra profits in everyone's pocket.

SECOND: Advertising the farms listed with us, in newspapers, by circulars, photographs and in many other ways, thus creating a demand by outside as well as local people for the farms listed with us. The owners of the farms profit first from this publicity.

THIRD: Showing the country to landseekers who are not now in the market and are just "lookers." This is good publicity for the region as a whole, although expensive for us. However, the Walker-Gesell Selling Service show such people every courtesy and have extra cars to take care of them. You profit as much as we.

FOURTH: Showing our farms,—which is done free of charge and a large number of cars are necessary to take care of these landseekers. Those who list with us at fair prices are the ones to profit.

Write, phone or see us, or one of our representatives.

The Walker-Gesell Land Co.
Licensed Realtors
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
We specialize in exclusive listings.

P. S. FIFTH: After the sale, instead of dropping the deal like a hot potato when we have collected the commission, we draw all papers free of charge, help get everything in correct shape and assist with closing in every way—then we go still farther and help the purchaser get settled, get stock and succeed, if necessary. It is worth your while co-operating.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Tells of Convention.

Editor, The Times:—Permit me to say a few words in regard to the convention just held in St. Paul on the 24th and 25th of March. As a delegate to this convention we wish to state the fact that the candidates nominated and endorsed are the choice of the entire delegation present in both the Farmer and Labor conventions held jointly and are not the hand-picked choice of Townley or any other group or faction, as it has been reported by certain twin city dailies—and others.

The convention, from start to finish, was absolutely in the hands and control of the delegates present, and no attempt was made by Mr. Townley or any one else present outside of the delegates to dictate, in any way, and no candidate endorsed was nominated without the most careful consideration on the part of the delegation from the two conventions working hand in hand jointly. Every candidate on the ticket named has the full endorsement of the two conventions jointly, held for this one purpose.

In regard to the congressional candidate for the 9th district must state the fact that 9 out of the 12 counties in the district besides the Labor delegates present were one and all for Mr. Bowen to a man. Consequently Mr. Bowen got the entire endorsement of all the counties with the exception of Red Lake county. Being the unqualified choice of the district as a candidate for congress in the 9th district, Mr. Bowen was not a candidate at any time for this position, but has simply been drafted for the purpose and has under the circumstances accepted the call as such.

Among other things discussed at the convention was the much talked of Babcock road plan. This proposition was very much discussed from all angles by men that were fully qualified to speak upon the subject, but from all that was said it all went to show that the Babcock system of road building or rather the cement road so prepared has been a failure wherever it has been given a tryout test, both in this country, and the soldiers also report the same from what they saw and experienced in other countries, as well during the time of war, without taking into consideration the prohibitive cost of construction of such road which from available facts and records shows to be more than double the estimated cost of the Babcock plan.

The rural population is not demanding any such roads nor do they want to load down their counties with a needless burden upon the strength of getting aid from a federal appropriation that was made some time back for such purpose, but which expires within the next two years as a matter of fact.

What the farmers want is a system of good graded roads and for this they are going on record.

The Babcock road plan needs to be analyzed and it is time that the people of the state get the right understanding of this system of road building, but in order to get at it, it is necessary to go outside of the Highway Road commission to get it. The subject no doubt will be fully discussed from the two sides within the next few months.

The Farmer Labor ticket prepared and endorsed at the two conventions held jointly, speaks for itself, and no doubt will meet with the full approval of the citizens of the state as a whole.

W. A. SWANSON,
Pennington County Delegate,
Rhoda, March 28, 1920.

Opposes Babcock Amendment.

Editor, The Times:—Knowing your *fairness in giving space for discus*sion of all topics of public interest, I shall venture to give, through your paper, my opinion of the much boosted Amendment No. 1, or what is sometimes known as the Babcock Road Law.

In nearly every paper we chance to read, we see some or other article putting forth the advantages held out to the farmers by the establishing of the trunk line highway system. Now whether I am too thick-skulled to see a good thing when it is offered or whether it really lacks merits, remains to be seen, but I feel free in saying that there has so far never been advanced one single argument in its favor that will hold water.

In the March 26th issue of The Times appeared an article, gotten out by the Highway commission that on its face looks very glimmering; but all is not gold that glitters. After applying a little common sense the gloss will disappear. They seem to try to picture our state as some superman who will give us anything if we only will say yes. The state has no more nor any less than its taxpayers pay into its coffers so that anything that is paid out must first be paid in.

The article states that "by the establishing of the trunk highway system all of the local funds, the state, county and township levies are left intact to be used by local authorities in building the feeding roads." This by their figures amounts to the gigantic sum of $10,925,000 a year. Now I challenge any man to show me how they will release an amount anywhere near that sum. They will release only that part of it which would be applied on the particular road that the trunk line takes over, which will be a very small percentage of the total, and that would have to be paid for because if the auto is exempted from personal property taxes the remaining personal property must be taxed higher in order to get sufficient funds to run the government machinery.

The great saving on gasoline and wear and tear on the motor vehicle is another unfounded argument. The man with an automobile will run his car over the road that takes him to where his business calls him whether it happens to be over this cement floor or not. That being the case, the saving will be small, except for the tourist and he can afford to pay for his gas. And what's more it was never intended that we should get anything of it until the others had their's, and then it would be far from what the newspapers tell us.

According to information gained from a reliable source, it is intended to build 3,000 mil— of 18 ft., and 2,500 miles of 9 ft. hard surface roads and then 1,500 of dirt roads. Lines number 1, 2, 3, etc., would of course be considered main lines, to be 18 ft., then the balance of 9 ft.; then we would come in for our share of steak on the 1,500 miles of dirt or graded roads. Our road is number 32.

Summed up in a few words, it's the rankest piece of legislation ever attempted to foist upon the taxpayers of Minnesota.

Be sure to rub the Burnquist wool out of your eyes and vote "No" on Amendment No. 1 Nov. 2nd.

T. H. BJERKE.

A Gentle Roast

Whether or not it is a sign that spring is here or merely that railroaders, like Silas Wegg, occasionally "drift into poetry," The Times is not prepared to say, but more railroad "poems" have reached the office during the past month than in a similar period in the history of the paper. The following lines have been submitted by one who evidently believes there is room for improvement in the service through Dakota.

There's a railroad that runs through Dakota
From Fordville to a city called Drake,
Whose watchword is safet— and court'sy
And which claims you make no mistake
When your ticket reads over the Soo line—
Where the service is always the best.
And you glide o'er the rails and sweep thru the vales
Like an Eagle bound home to its nest.

In the summer the service is splendid,
For once during each sunny day
An old scrap-heap of an engine
Goes puffing along on its way
With a string of creaking old box cars
And a coach at the rear of the freight,
That for service and passenger traffic
Has years ago gone out of date.

If a man full of hope for the future,
Vowing that he would gain wealth and fame,
Should purchase a ticket some morning,
And step briskly onto this train—
Before reaching the end of his journey
His head would be white as the snow
And his form would be bent with old age and grief,
For those he had left long ago.

But the service in summer is splendid
Compared with what happens each year,
When the wind and the snow of the winter
Howls over the prairies so drear,
For enginemen, conductor and brakemen
When they leave home to take out their train,
Bid their families and friends a loving goodbye,
For they never may see them again.

Now, poor devils who come to this country
To make homes 'long the line of the Soo,
They are not asking this railroad
To do more than others can do.
But few miles to the south the Great Northern
Is putting its trains thru each day,
And it seems dev'lish queer if the people out here
Have to wait for a train till next day.

In 2000 Counties This Month

The Forces of the Church of Christ Will Gather To Face the Facts

IN 2000 counties in the United States the pastors and laymen of 30 great denominations will meet in conference this month.

It is the kind of conference that generals hold before a critical engagement; that business men hold before entering a new market. A conference of judgment, not emotion; a clear-eyed facing of the facts.

A Survey that Business Men Must Admire

For more than a year hundreds of workers have been quietly engaged in making a scientific survey of the mission fields, and of America county by county.

The facts developed are startling. No such picture of America's religious situation has ever before been drawn.

On the basis of these surveys thirty Protestant denominations are uniting in a Nation Wide Cooperative Campaign

Each of the thirty denominations has its own "Forward Movement" organized and officered. The Interchurch World Movement is the clearing house for all of these.

It is the agency which the churches have created to avoid duplication, to foster cooperation and make sure that every man and dollar render the utmost service possible.

The month of April will be devoted to making the facts of the survey known to America; in the week of April 25th-May 2nd, will come a united simultaneous financial campaign.

Whether You Are Inside the Church or Out

To every man and every woman who loves his country, these 2000 county conferences are vitally important.

For the facts developed by this great survey show vividly what forces are at work in America—and what kind of a country this country is to be.

See that the pastor of your church appoints delegates. Any pastor can tell you the conference place and date. Or write direct to the

It Does the Work, Geo. Olinger Says

ST. PAUL MAN DECLARES TANLAC HELPED HIM LIKE OTHERS SAID IT HELPED THEM

"I don't know what it is, but there's something about this medicine that certainly does the work," said George Olinger, as he purchased a bottle of Tanlac at the St. Paul drug store in St. Paul, Minn., recently. Mr. Olinger has lived in St. Paul for many years. He is employed by a leading wholesale hardware concern and his address is 433 West 7th street.

"It beats anything I have ever run across," he continued. "Why, I have already gained nine pounds and am just buying my third bottle. For more than a year now, that is until I began taking Tanlac, I have been taking treatment for my kidneys and stomach but just kept getting worse. My kidneys disturbed me so often at night and my back ached so bad that I couldn't sleep. I got in such a bad fix that it was all I could do to stick to my work. My back hurt me so when I stooped over to pick up anything I could hardly keep from crying out. My stomach would bloat up with sour gas and I had attacks of indigestion that kept me feeling miserable for hours. My tongue was thickly coated and I always got up in the morning with a sickening taste in my mouth.

"But since I began taking Tanlac my troubles have disappeared and I am now building up rapidly in weight and strength. I can now lift a hundred pounds easier than I could ten before and never feel a pain in my back any more. My kidneys are in fine shape, and I have such a big appetite that I can hardly get enough *to eat and I never feel a sign of in*digestion now no matter what I eat. Tanlac has helped me just like the people whose statements I read in the papers said it helped them. I am certainly glad I decided to try my luck with it, for I believe it has kept me from having to lay off and lose time from my work. I honestly believe it's the best medicine ever sold in a drug store."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—Adv.

Mrs. Jos. Salley made a brief visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Holzknecht last week, returning to her home in Red Lake Falls Thursday afternoon.

ARE YOU STILL HESITATING?

THE COUNTRY IS FULL OF MEN WHO NOW REALIZE THEIR MISTAKE IN NOT BUILDING LAST YEAR. THEY WERE WARNED THAT PRICES WOULD NOT GO DOWN FOR SOME TIME TO COME, IF AT ALL, BUT FIGURED THAT THEY WOULD BE AHEAD BY WAITING. IT IS NOW REALIZED THAT THIS WAS A MISTAKE.

Again We Say---Build Now

Every day you get along without necessary buildings costs real money. If you reside on a farm a slight loss in the condition of stock or the deterioration of products will more than offset the cost of providing the proper buildings. If you are a city dweller you must have noticed the tendency towards higher rents.

Material For Your Spring Work

In the spring there is always more or less building work to be attended to. The living house needs remodeling or refitting, barns must be repaired, outhouses generally gone over, granaries built, fences fixed, and many other things. Remember we are in a position to furnish at once anything needed for this work.

Ask the Help of Our Service Department

We have plans for every kind of building on file at our office and these are at the service of our customers. They have been specially selected to meet conditions in this section. Our quarter of a century of experience in this neighborhood enables us to judge pretty accurately what is needed.

(a) Normal kernel of wheat.
(b) Cross section of normal kernel.
(c) Smutted kernel or smut ball.
(d) Cross section of smutted kernel.
(e) Head of wheat infected with scab.

There are three serious diseases: Smut, scab and rust. Rust cannot be prevented by seed treatment. The other two can. Damage from rust can be partially avoided by selecting a good quality of Marquis seed and by early seeding in order to get an early maturity.

Blow out with a fanning mill as many of the smut balls as possible or remove them from the grain by other means. There are a number of ways of treating the seed with formaldehyde. Perhaps the simplest and most successful method is to mix one pound of common commercial formaldehyde in forty gallons of water. Provide two tubs or half barrels; raise one of them on a box higher than the other, which may be on the ground. Fill the top tub about half full of the solution, then pour the wheat in loose. Stir it around until it is all thoroughly wet and the smut balls, trash, shriveled kernels and many weed seeds will float. Skim off the floating stuff and destroy it by grinding it and feeding it to chickens after it is dry. Don't feed it whole because many weed seeds, being indigestible, will find their way back to the fields.

After skimming take a short piece of hose, fill it in the top tub and quickly throw one end of it over into the other tub. This will act as a siphon and draw off the solution. When drained dump the moist seed from the upper tub onto a clean canvas or platform. Reverse the position of the tubs and proceed as before. Cover the treated seed with sacks or blankets or another canvas which have also been treated in the solution. Leave covered for several hours or over night. Don't let the seed freeze while damp.

Another very successful method is to put the wheat in a tight wagon box, drive along after the seeder in the field, sprinkle and shovel over the seed, then shovel the wet seed into the seeder box and sow it wet. Be careful that you don't clog your seeding spouts.

The formaldehyde treatment of the seed frequently increases the yield more than would be naturally expected from simply replacing the smutted heads with sound ones. A substantial gain is made from the use of formaldehyde. Increases of over four bushels per acre have been found in spring wheat in which only a little over one and one-half bushels were actually destroyed by smut. This is probably due to the fact that the grain is affected by other seed-borne parasites than smut and scab and which are as effectually checked by the treatment.

EARLY SOWING

Spring wheat should be sown in the spring as soon as the seed bed can be properly prepared. Germination takes place in the ground when the temperature is about 42 to 50 degrees. The acreage quantity of seed per acre sown is about 1½ bushels. Sometimes a little less and sometimes a little more will be better. Your own experience will tell you how much. Drilling is better than broadcasting. The use of the corrugated roller is recommended. The seed usually should be sown about two to three inches deep. The important thing is to get it into the soil sufficiently moist to insure germination. In heavy wet soil one or two inches will be deep enough.

CASH FOR WHEAT
The Price of Wheat

The farmer must first become prosperous before anyone else can prosper.

Money to Be Made This Year—Winter Wheat Disappointing—Opportunity for a Big Yield of Spring Wheat.

While there is no government guaranty for the 1920 crop, yet the world shortage will insure a good price. One of the best authorities says that the world's import requirement is 760,000,000 bushels and that the world is confronted with a shortage more acute than of any recent year.

In the reconstruction period following the Civil war, the highest price of wheat was in 1867, two years after the close of the war, so it is reasonable to suppose that wheat will continue to sell at high prices.

The winter wheat crop now in the ground is disappointing. Last year the acreage was about 50,000,000, this year it is only about 39,000,000 and the condition was much higher all through the winter season than it is this year, probably from 10 to 15 per cent.

The normal crop for spring wheat is 350,000,000 bushels on an acreage of 22,000,000. Every acre should count because it will be up to the Northwest to furnish the discrepancy of wheat.

There is good money in wheat properly raised. Of course the weather has much to do with it, but wheat is the standard of value in all the Northwest. Without wheat we should go bankrupt.

Many farmers think that they will not sow wheat, but what can they sow which will do any better? In some places they can put in corn and there is much talk of live stock, but owing to the scarcity of labor and the comparative ease with which wheat is handled and harvested, there is nothing more profitable as a usual thing than to grow wheat but grow it properly and profitably.

It is folly to argue that by reducing the wheat crop we can make more money. What would it profit any man if he had little or no wheat to sell at a high price? He would have to buy back his bread and flour from a few farmers who perhaps would make a little money.

Testing Seed Wheat for Germination Strong
Weak

Every school in the Northwest has been asked to help in the spring wheat campaign by testing seed wheat in blotting papers for each farmer in each school district. Good seed wheat should germinate ninety-five per cent. If it tests weak fan it again and again.

If wheat has become heated or moldy in storage or from any other reasons, it may not grow at all or else have only a low percentage of germination. It is advisable therefore to make a few germination tests from different parts of your seed wheat. This may be done by taking an ordinary blotting paper, folded like a book. Wet it, open flat, count 100 kernels just as they come, place them on one-half of the blotting paper so that they do not touch; tear a strip of cloth about two inches wide and ten inches long, put it in the fold of the blotter, fold as before. Pile up your tests, wrap a cloth or piece of waxed paper around the tests, leaving the ends open, letting the cloth strip hang down like the wick in a lamp, in a glass of water. This will keep the blotting paper always wet. Don't let the test freeze or dry out. Always keep water in the glass. Read the test after seven days, separate into three lots: Strong, those growing an inch or more; weak, those just starting with short stems; dead, those which have not germinated at all.

This test can also be made in a wet cloth or blotting paper in a plate. The tumbler method is better because there is no danger of it drying out.

Will Not be One Day Without PE-RU-NA

This Lady TELLS Her FRIENDS

Mrs. Mary Fricke, 507 Bornman St., Belleville, Ill., is just one of the many thousands of ladies throughout the country who, after an agony of years, have at last found health, strength and vigor in PE-RU-NA.

Her own words tell of her suffering and recovery better than we can do it: "I suffered with my stomach, had awful cramps and headaches so I often could not lay on a pillow. Saw your book, tried PE-RU-NA and got good results from the first bottle. To be sure of a cure I took twelve bottles. I have recommended PE-RU-NA to my friends and all are well pleased with results. I will not be one day without PE-RU-NA. Have not had a doctor since I started with PE-RU-NA, which was about fifteen years ago. I am now sixty-three years old, hale, hearty and well. Can do as much work as my daughters. I feel strong and healthy and weigh near two hundred pounds. Before, I weighed as little as one hundred. I hope lots of people use PE-RU-NA and get the results I did." An experience like that of Mrs. Fricke is an inspiration to every sick and suffering woman.

If you have catarrh, whether it be of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, or other organs, PE-RU-NA is the remedy. It is not new; it is not an experiment. PE-RU-NA has been tried. PE-RU-NA has been used by thousands who once were sick and are now well. To prevent coughs, colds, grip and influenza and to hasten recovery there is nothing better.

Rescuing the Waste

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders a vital service by giving multiplications of value to that portion of the crude oil left, after gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils have been extracted, through the production of innumerable by-products, each supplying a definite need.

Thus have been developed products such as Parowax, which serve such useful purposes as a protective coating for cheese, meats, and sausages; for match ends; for water-proofing milk bottle caps, ice cream pails, and paper drinking cups; and for sealing preserved vegetables, fruits and jellies against bacteria, ferments and mold.

These are but a few of the uses of one of the more than 2000 products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), covering needful commodities from asphalt to candles.

So vast a program could not be carried out except by a highly specialized organization, developed to maintain numerous contacts with the world of production on one hand, and with the consuming public on the other.

It was the need for such a specialized organization which led to the great development of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). No single function of this great organization has come into being without a definite call to service.

Today the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big only because the need of its service is great; because the ways in which it is able to serve are continually multiplying as the complexities of modern industrial life increase.

Says Wheat is O. K.

Editor Times: In regard to your publication of a week ago concerning the germination of wheat raised in this territory, will say that I took 54 kernels from a bin, uncleaned wheat, and placed them between two wet flannel cloths and in two days 53 kernels were sprouting. That shows that wheat raised here is O. K. for seed.

The City Churches

Beautiful Easter Service.

The musical program at the Presbyterian church on Easter Sunday has been the subject of much praise on the part of the large audiences attending both the morning and evening service. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Edberg, sang a number of selections appropriate to the occasion in a manner that would have been a credit to any church choir in the state. The duet by Mrs. Holmberg, violin, and Wilbur Roth, cello, was particularly good.

In the evening the choir presented an Easter cantata, adding to the reputation gained at the morning service. The choir selections on this occasion were also of an exceptionally high order.

The Presbyterian choir, since Mrs. Edberg assumed direction, has taken the leadership among musical organizations in this section of the state. Its work is such as to call forth compliments from all sides.

THE USE OF PEAT FOR FUEL PURPOSES

(By H. W. Protzeller.)

Within the past few years a marked depletion of the visible supplies of coal and oil fuels, the approaching exhaustion of the supply of wood available for fuel purposes and a constantly growing demand for fuel for industrial and domestic uses have led to a constantly increasing price for these important commodities. It has been conservatively estimated by the best authorities that at the present increasing rate of consumption the fuel oil supply of the United States will be exhausted in less than forty years, the anthracite coal supply in sixty years and the bituminous coal supply in less than two hundred years. This condition has caused economic geologists and those vitally interested in the fuel supplies of the country to seek out and appraise new sources of fuel and to contrive means of more perfectly utilizing the present supplies.

The two foundations upon which is reared the entire economic structure of our industrial progress are land and fuel. The land supplies the raw material and the fuel the means of manufacturing them into finished products and transporting them to the consumer. Any disturbance in the price of fuel, caused by supply and demand or any other cause, is immediately reflected in every field of activity. Hence the importance of being absolutely sure many years in advance of a reliable source of fuel supply.

There is absolutely no shadow of doubt but that the immense deposits of peat scattered throughout the United States must eventually supply a large portion of the insatiable demand for fuel, and with this end in view the time has now arrived when we must begin to avail ourselves of the enormous resources of our peat bogs.

What Peat Is.

Peat is partly decomposed and disintegrated vegetable matter that has accumulated in places where the ordinary decay has been arrested or retarded by means of water preservation. It may consist of various forms of plant life, from the common grasses to the largest trees. In northwestern Minnesota the main forms of peat are of vegetable grass origin, which produces a more or less fibrous peat. Peat is really incipient coal, or coal in the process of formation. Should the water, which has retarded the decay, be drained off and the peat beds covered in some manner with thick, heavy layers of earth stratum, producing a high pressure, it would very soon turn to a hard, dense mass—lignite. If the pressure is great enough and of long duration coal of bitumionous or possibly anthracite structure would be formed. From this it is plain that peat is the lowest form of coal, and just as surely as we are now using far inferior coals for fuel purposes than was thrown on the dumps as waste a few decades ago and paying high prices for it, so surely will we be using its youngest relative extensively in the next few decades.

According to its origin and the conditions under which it accumulated, peat may vary in color from brown to black, and in texture from a light spongy matter that is porous, coarse and fibrous, or even woody, and easily falls to pieces when dry, to forms that are nearly devoid of structure and when wet are as plastic as clay and when dry form dense, hard masses resembling lignite. In all cases peat in the bed is nearly saturated with water, containing usually from 80 to 95 per cent by weight. When peat is dug from the bog and allowed to dry it becomes very much darker in color. Raw or untreated peat is easily crumbled when dry and makes a bulky and unsubstantial fuel that does not bear transportation.

History of the Use of Peat For Fuel.

The earliest use of peat was for fuel and dates back to the dawn of civilization. In the time of the conquest of northern Europe by the Romans they found that the inhabitants were using peat to heat and cook with. Especially is this true of Ireland. In Holland, Denmark, Germany and Russia peat has been used for hundreds of years, especially by the poorer classes. This peat was simply dug up from the bog and dried in the shape that it came out, usually a large square lump. When burned it produced a smoky flame and not a great deal of heat. In later years a great deal of attention has been given to the proper preparation of this peat fuel in order to make it more suitable for transportation and storage. At the present time practically every country in Europe that possesses peat deposits is preparing it for both domestic and commercial uses. It is conservatively estimated that at the present time at least 30,000,000 tons of peat are produced and consumed annually in Europe.

In Canada, because of climatic conditions and the scarcity of coal deposits, the peat fuel industry has been exploited for a considerable time and a great deal of experimental work has been done. Peat beds are being successfully worked in several places. In the United States, because of the abundance of coal and other fuel, the peat fuel industry has not been given the attention it deserves. Still, in the New England States cut peat has been used in a small way for many years. In the last few years this important industry has received considerable more attention due to the high price of other fuel. There is no doubt that in the near future enormous strides will be made.

The Peat Deposits of the United States.

In the United States there are 139,855 square miles of swamp lands and it is estimated that this area contains at least 30,000 square miles of workable peat beds, of an average depth of more than six feet. Countless tests have proven that a minimum of 200 tons of marketable fuel can be obtained from each acre per foot of depth. This means that there are available in the United States more than 20,000,000,000 tons of peat fuel.

Minnesota is pro-eminently the great peat state, there being not only more peat than in any other state, but also a greater need for it. According to Professor Soper, a peat expert who has closely examined Minnesota for peat, there are in this state alone over 7,000,000,000 tons of usable peat fuel. Of this quantity, a considerable proportion lies in the northern part of the state. The most conservative estimate will place at least 2,000,000,000 tons of peat within 100 miles of Thief River Falls. As this peat, when properly prepared, has a heating value of one and a third tons of peat to one ton of good anthracite coal, which would make it worth at least $6.00 per ton in this part of the country, it is very readily seen that lying at our very doors is a resource worth ten or twelve billions of dollars. Some day this enormous resource will be developed and when that day comes the country contigous to Thief River Falls will make the richest oil countries look like a ten cent piece of Canadian money.

Absolutely nothing has been done with this peat in our section for fuel purposes and practically nothing throughout the rest of the United States. The time has now arrived when we should avail ourselves of this opportunity. Start a peat plant somewhere in our neighborhood and in a few years it will attract many others. The extraordinary cheap power that is thus made available will attract countless manufacturing industries that are ever on the lookout for such an opportunity.

Value of Peat for Fuel Purposes.

Freshly dug peat from an undrained bog contains about 90 percent of water, 8 to 13 percent of carbonaceous material and a widely varying proportion of ash. When the ash content is more than 18 percent it is not a good fuel. The peat in our bogs contains about 10 to 12 percent of ash on the average, and some even lower. Fresh peat must be dried of some of the water before it will burn. When dried to about 25 percent of water peat burns under suitable conditions with a very hot flame, almost 4,000 degrees F., with a red, somewhat smoky flame. Compared with coal the value of air-dried cut peat is about one-half. Machine peat properly prepared is far superior to cut peat and approaches coal in value, one and a third tons of prepared peat being equal to one ton of good anthracite coal. The following table shows the value of peat compared with other fuels:

Kind of Fuel	Calorific Value Per Pound in B. T. U.
Good hardwood	5,760
Air-dried cut peat	6,840
Bituminous coal	11,000
Peat coke	12,676
Aid-dried machine peat	10,000
Anthracite coal	14,000

Methods of Handling and Preparing Peat For Fuel.

As stated before, the different countries of Europe have developed the peat industry to big proportions commercially. The great amount of experimental work and the number of failures in this country where attempts have been made to use peat in a small way as a substitute for coal have served to prove what can be done and have also shown what mistakes to avoid. Various methods have been suggested and tried out for utilizing peat and many machines have been invented and built, a great number of them failures. Most of these failures have been due to ignorance of the properties of peat. Peat is a very deceptive article in many respects. When you examine it in the bog, knowing that it will burn when dry, all that seems necessary is to take this wet peat and press or roll the water out of it, leaving the balance in the form of briquets ready for use. This has proven the downfall of many enterprises because you can no more press the water out of peat than you can press it out of jelly. Countless experiments have proven that the only successful way to prepare it is to dig it out of the bog, grind it up or macerate it so as to tear all of the fibers apart and break up the plant cells and then let it dry in the air, where it undergoes a chemical change. As the natural peat contains from 80 to 95 percent of water, air drying is the only successful method, otherwise it would take more heat than the peat itself contains to drive out the moisture.

The methods of utilizing peat that have been proven possible are classed under five heads as follows:

1. Cut peat for direct firing, in which the peat is cut out of the bog, usually by hand, allowed to dry and then burned in the ordinary stove.
2. Machine peat, where the peat is dug by machinery, macerated and then allowed to dry in the form of bricks or briquets. To be used either in this form or pulverized.
3. Machine peat for gas producer fuel without by-product recovery.
4. Machine peat in by-product recovery producers.
5. Machine peat in standard by-product ovens used for coking.

Each one of these methods will be explained in detail in another article.

Plans Outlined For Boy and Girl Clubs

YOUNGSTERS WILL COMPETE IN RAISING CALVES, POULTRY SHEEP, POTATOES

A meeting of county club leaders was held at the school of agriculture in Crookston last Thursday to outline plans for boys' and girls' club work in the Northwest this coming season.

Pennington county will have four clubs enrolled in the state contest this year namely, dairy calf, poultry, potato and sheep.

All boys and girls between the ages of 10 to 18 years, inclusive, may enroll in any of these clubs.

The requirements for each club is explained in the following paragraphs:

Each member must own one grade or purebred heifer of one of the dairy breeds and feed and care for it during the period of the contest.

Each member must keep a complete record of all operations involved in feeding, care and management of the calf on forms that will be provided for each member.

Each member must show his calf, heifer or cow at the club show that will be held at the close of each year's project.

Each member must agree to study the instructions sent him from the state university agricultural extension division and to send the completed reports to the local leader at the close of the contest.

A more extended outline of the year's work will be given at a later date. Any further information may be obtained from County Agent J. J. McCann and any boy or girl who wishes to enroll in any of these clubs should send in their names immediately so that the list can be sent down to the state department.

YOUR ATTITUDE APPRECIATED

Unless there is a slip in the program somewhere The Times expects to issue from its own printing house within two weeks. Since the destruction of the plant by fire on January 25 the paper has been printed under difficulties that none but a newspaper man understands. The copy has been prepared in Thief River Falls as usual while the crew performed the mechanical work at the plant of the Gazette at Red Lake Falls. The towns are twenty miles apart and close co-operation has been impossible, although both departments have tried by every means in their power to keep the paper somewhere near its former standard.

The publishers realize fully that the service has not been what the patrons have a right to expect, but our position has been understood and everyone has made due allowances. The news columns have fallen below par, advertisements have been cut in size and sometimes left out entirely. Country correspondence has been shamefully neglected. Through it all, however, subscribers and business men have stood by the paper. For this we can at the present time only express our thanks. It proves that all realize the handicap under which we have tried to conduct the business and that they have been willing to overlook many things for which there would under ordinary circumstances be no excuse.

Messrs. Christie & Cutten, publishers of the Gazette at Red Lake Falls, have at all times displayed a true brotherly spirit. Saddling a paper the size of The Times onto their plant has put them to a great deal of inconvience but they have shared annoyances with us and put themselves out in many ways in order that our service might not entirely be demoralized. They are fine neighbors and live up to the best traditions of the craft.

When The Times is again in its own home it will have the finest printing plant in this section—even better than the one destroyed, which is saying a good deal. The very latest in the way of type and machinery has been secured and we will be in better position than ever before to meet the steadily growing requirements of the section.

It has been a season of disappointments and annoyances, but it is happily nearing an end.

THE INTERCHURCH MOVEMENT

In 2000 counties in the United States the pastors and laymen of 30 great church denominations will meet in conference this month. The occasion will be one of the most important in which the church in America has ever engaged. According to the announcement in another column of The Times today, "It is the kind of conference that generals hold before a critical engagement; that business men hold before entering a new market. A conference of judgment, not emotion; a clear-eyed facing of the facts."

The plan includes the grouping of all missionary, educational and philanthropic organizations within the several communities or denominations and of allied interdenominational agencies.

Among thinking men of the deepest religious convictions there has long been a feeling that much of the effort expended by the churches has been misdirected. Denominations differing but slightly in outward formalities and not at all in essential principles have entered the same field of action with the result that the expenses have been doubled and confusion planted where there should have been singleness of purpose and economy in administration.

The World Movement aims to do away with all this. In simple terms the Movement provides opportunities for its co-operating constituents to conduct their informational and financial propaganda annually at the same time, while the work generally has the following purpose and scope:

"To present a unified program of Christian service and to unite the evangelical churches of North America in the performance of their common task, thus making available the values of spiritual power which comes from unity and co-ordinated Christian effort in meeting the unique opportunities of the new era."

WEALTH IN PEAT LANDS

What has always been regarded as an annoying and valueless nuisance by the people of northern Minnesota may yet turn out to be one of their main sources of wealth. Should the experiments now being carried on with a view to discovering a practical means of converting peat into fuel meet with success—and there is every indication that such will be the result—the one drawback to our rapid advancement industrially will have been removed.

Peat is one of nature's wonder products. Its possibilities are as great as those of coal. In fact the product is composed of almost exactly the same elements as coal but lacks the age of the latter and has not been subjected to as great a pressure. That it contains substances of great commercial value has long been known, but outside of a few experiments conducted under government supervision no efforts have been made to convert it into a merchantable article. Such attempts will now be made, states and private concerns having awakened to the importance of the matter.

In another column of this issue of The Times will be found an article on this subject by H. W. Prozeller of this city, general manager of the Minnesota Northwestern railway. Mr. Protzeller has given much study to peat development and has arrived at the same conclusion as all others who have taken the trouble to look into the matter. While he realizes that the fuel feature of peat is perhaps the most important to the country in a general way, he finds that the byproducts and derivatives furnish a much more interesting field for study and experiment. As a result of his own investigations and a careful perusal of the government's reports he is of the opinion that these byproducts would more than pay the entire cost of mining and preparing peat for fuel, leaving the latter item as clear profit.

H. W. Richardson of Duluth, is another Minnesota man who has devoted much time to the study of this subject. His conclusions are substantially the same as those of Mr. Protzeller, although he stresses particularly the fuel feature. Mr. Richardson's investigations have been confined almost entirely to the pitch or timber peat found in the northeastern portion of the state, while Mr. Protzeller has studied the prairie or bog peat. The substance in both instances is the same, any deviation in composition being due to differences in the length of time the matter has been submerged. The Times will publish an article by Mr. Richardson in an early issue.

The people of the Northwest, and particularly the business men, cannot devote their attention to a more important subject or one that promises greater returns. The possibilities held out for the solving of the fuel problem is in itself sufficiently attractive to call forth the best efforts of chemists and investigators as well as insure the most liberal support in a financial way from state and nation.

FOR A SENSIBLE PROGRAM

The Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy commission has made a good beginning. It is only a short time since the personnel of the board was announced but meetings have already been held with a view to getting the work started without delay. The board is composed of capable and progressive men who will devote their best efforts toward the solving of the most important question now confronting northern Minnesota.

Much drainage work has already been done in this section and the results have undoubtedly warranted the expense. There is no getting away from the fact, however, that a more comprehensive program at the outset would have saved a great deal of money and time. It is now the intention to go at the problem right and from the only direction in which it can be approached with any hope of its ever being satisfactorily solved.

The one point around which the success of any drainage problem hinges is the outlet. It makes no difference how many ditches are dug nor how well these are constructed if no proper provision is made for getting rid of the water finally. To dain one man's farm or a township of land only to run the surplus water onto another farm or township is not going to improve matters to any great extent. That this has been done cannot be denied and the reason has been that the ditch outlet has not been properly taken into consideration.

The natural drainage artery for this section of the state is the Red Lake river. Eventually the discharge from all ditches will have to find its way to that stream. This is the first thing to bear in mind, and the commission has started out with that idea fully realized. For this reason the success of the entire undertaking is dependent upon the improvement of the Red Lake river. The stream must be deepened and straightened before it can be expected to take care of all the water that will be converted towards it—in fact this is the first essential consideration connected with the whole proceeding. There is every hope that this work will be speedily entered upon. The survey has been made and the cost apportioned. The distribution is deemed equitable and no serious objection is anticipated from any of the interests affected.

It has taken years of patient toil to arrive at this point. Now every interest in any way involved seems willing and anxious that the work shall proceed. Congressman Steenerson holds out the hope that congress will act favorably on a bill introduced by him and covering the entire project, including control works at the head of the stream. The reclaiming and conserving of a vast section of the finest agricultural land in the United States is nearer realization now than at any time during the twenty years that the necessity for it has been agitated.

Saturday Is Boys' Day at This Store

OUTFITTING the boy is a serious problem with most families these days. Like everything else, the things the lad and boy most need have gone up in price and great care must be exercised in making purchases if one is to get value received.

Realizing these things we have taken special pains in making selections for the spring and summer. These selections will be placed on display for the boys' special benefit on Saturday, April 10

THE new arrivals in Suits, Overcoats, Shoes, Socks, Underwear, Blouses, Shirts and everything a boy needs, will be shown, the boys themselves being particularly invited to be present. Parents will be made welcome also.

A Free Souvenir

OLD AND NEW BATTLE NAMES

Hard to Bestow Appropriate Appellations Upon Conflicts Having Wide Fronts.

There seems to have been little trouble in the past in naming battles, although even Waterloo is called Quatre Bras by the French. But on the whole a name seems to have attached itself to a battle quite naturally, like Blenheim, Talavera, Jena, Leipzig, the Nile and Trafalgar.

But in the great war, where a battle extended over weeks of time over a forty-mile front, including many villages, and sometimes several objectives in the shape of big towns, the difficulty of naming a battle with a name that is universally recognized is extreme.

The names which have actually settled down completely and taken their places in history are the battle of the Marne, the two battles of Ypres, the battle of Verdun, the battle of the Bight, the battle of Jutland, the battle of the Somme, and that seems almost all.

The battles of the later phases of the war have hardly settled down to a name yet. Probably the battle in which the Vimy ridge was stormed will be known as Arras; but the battle of Messines will probably be a sticker, just as the Chemin des Dames will live in French annals for all times.

Perhaps the great battle which at the time seemed disastrous to British arms, commencing on March 21, 1918, will go down to history as the battle of Amiens, while the battle of Cambrai may stand for all that heroic recovery which brought the British to their final victory.

NAME GUNS BETSY AND ELSIE

Yankee Artillery at the Front Follow Gallant Custom of French Cannoneers.

Following a gallant custom of the French artillery, the boys of Battery B in one of our own F. A. regiments, decided to name their guns after those whom they considered the outstanding figures among the patriotic women of American history.

Many were named but two were chosen. The first, according to Stars and Stripes, France, was Betsy Ross, who, in her little house in Philadelphia, made for General Washington the first American flag. The second was Elsie Janis, who, in the little huts of France, made the first hit of the A. E. F.

"These guns are of the railway artillery," the captain says, "and among the most powerful in France, and the names selected are now painted on the carriages, where they will be constant inspiration in the future, and, we hope, a credit to their namesakes."

One of these two namesakes, who probably never thought of herself as a figure in American history at all, is just back from a tour of the front where she had a good many thrills, including the thrill of finding her name in divisional general orders.

There she delighted one of the bands by turning drum major throughout a long march, cheered up some young German prisoners by talking to them in their own tongue, and came away much pleased by the news that Elsie Janis II had just raised merry h— with a German machine gun emplacement.

WEARIED OF CONSTANT BRAY

Spaniards Make Offer to Exchange Mules for Something That Has More Musical Sound.

A little while ago it was reputed that the army mule in France, invaluable for transport, was making himself obnoxious by his propensity to bray when in close proximity to the enemy. And now, according to advices received by the National Piano Manufacturers' association, the Spaniards are anxious to dispose of their mules to us and to obtain in return pianos and other musical instruments.

Evidently what Wordsworth calls "the hard, dry see-saw of his horrible bray" is no better relished by the esthetic consciousness of the Iberians than by the valorous gentlemen of France. It is doubtful whether even an implacable futurist in music like Leo Ornstein or Arnold Schoenberg derives genuine satisfaction from the student cantatas and blatant oratorios of the mule. Some cynics have detected a resemblance between the voice of the bagpipe and the mule's spontaneous lyricism, but this is a libel.

With patience one can detect a definite melody in the Scotch pibrochs and strathspeys, whereas mule music like the world in the making, is without form and void. As long as Spain is not at war she can afford to dance the fandango and play the mandolin. When by the logic of events she is swept out of her neutrality into belligerency and has to haul cannon and wagons, she will wish she had the mule.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mascagni and the War.

Pietro Mascagni, the celebrated composer, once told how the opening chorus of "Cavaleria" was composed on the night of February 3, 1880, when his first child was born. That son, Mimi, is now, or was recently, driving a motor-truck for the Italian army; and a second boy, Dino, became a private in the engineer corps, blowing up Austrian barbed-wire barricades. On a visit to the young soldiers Mascagni saw his first battle.

"This is indeed music," he wrote. "It seems as if all the big drums in my orchestra had been multiplied by a million and suddenly gone mad."

The composer gave open-air concerts in the trenches, on one occasion attended by the king of Italy, and he set himself at work on a great patriotic symphony, designed to be a musical apotheosis of Italy's "war of redemption."

Mine Wrecks Garden.

While sitting on the back porch of her home, Mrs. William Dolmetsch of the 700 block, on North Bromley avenue, Scranton, Pa., saw the rear portion of the yard sink into a mine working, exposing numerous mine props, while a short distance away a similar settling exposed men at work in the mines. In each case the gardens have dropped about 15 feet. The home of Matthew Scott has escaped damage, but the earth on all sides has sunk, making the residence appear as though on an island.

Few streets in the city are suffering worse damage from mine caves than Bromley avenue. Gardens, posts, trees and sidewalks have fallen in.

She Knew Him Best.

It was an after-supper party on the porch.

For days on just such occasions, Oldman Cabon had been making sour remarks regarding the money the administration is spending to remain sane and conduct a war at the same time. Sometimes Oldman C. brought out a little hammer and rapped on the porch swing.

"I wish I wuz in Washington where I could take a rap attum," he said, "I'd show them some things."

"You," piped his wife. "Oh, yes, you, who cannot even make our poodle dog behave."

OVERLOOKED!

I have sold some of my houses, but my best bargains have been overlooked.

If you want something for investment, look up what I have to offer in flats and duplexes. I can show you something worth while to investigate if you want good returns on your money. I also have a few houses left at a bargain. Rents have gone up but they will still go higher, so will the prices on houses.

The man who has not provided himself with a home is losing money every day. Investigate.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health,—Granny Chamberlain

Pays Nearly $3,000 Gross Earnings Tax

MINNESOTA NORTHWESTERN HELPS SWELL CITY AND TOWNSHIP RECEIPTS

Pennington is one of three counties in the state receiving anything in the way of direct taxes from the railroads. The Minnesota Northwestern is all within the borders of the county and the gross earnings tax is for this reason distributed among the townships through which it runs and in the municipalities where terminals are located.

The total tax is $2,966.95, distributed as follows: City of Thief River Falls, $761.17; Silverton township, $109.55; North, $63.74; Goodridge, $28.10; Cloverleaf, $71.26. The school districts are also gainers in the following sums: No. 8, $105.32; No. 18, $1147.96; No. 28, $29.58; No. 44, $43.98; No. 53, $51.90; No. 66, $20.24.

The share of the tax paid to the county of Pennington is $544.15.

YOU NEED THIS FAMOUS CTX GANG

With its strong one-piece frame, ideal foot lift, high wheels, self-adjusting parallel rod, adjustable hitch, short bails and hangers, etc., you have a plow, in the Rock Island No. 8 Gang, that, for strength, ease of operation and light draft cannot be surpassed.

The frame of the No. 8 is the stoutest ever put on a plow—a heavy one-piece frame, opening at the right hand corner of the front, where the least strain is. The two ends are bolted together—the strongest construction possible.

HIGH WHEELS—LONG WHEEL BASE

You will notice all of the wheels are higher, the big land wheel being 36 inches, and the front and rear furrow wheels, 24 inches.

The No. 8 Gang is very light of draft, for it has a long wheel base, yet a short hitch. The long wheel base steadies the plow and holds it to its work, and at the same time makes it possible to seat the driver well back over the rear wheel. Seated in this position, he can see the work being done while the ground is being turned over.

"CTX" BOTTOMS

Add to these features the famous "CTX" Bottom and you have the best plowing outfit on the market. "CTX" Bottoms go into any soil and turn the furrow slice clear over, saving the moisture for the hot, dry days—which means saving your crops from drought.

MANY TO BEGIN SPRING SEEDING FIRST OF WEEK

GROUND DRYING FAST IN NEARLY ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTY

ABSENCE OF FROST WILL HELP IN MAKING UP FOR LOST TIME

SECTION BUT LITTLE BEHIND REST OF STATE WITH SPRING WORK

While farmers in this neighborhood generally speak with their fingers crossed, they are of the opinion that seeding can be commenced next Monday. This makes them just about a week later than they would prefer to be, but the delay is not serious enough to cause much concern. April 10 is regarded as the latest date on which seeding should be begun in Pennington county in order to get the best results, but a few days one way or the other has never been known to make much difference. The outcome all depends on what kind of weather is in store during the remainder of the growing season.

With but few exceptions seeding operations in all sections of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana will be started by Monday, unless weather conditions make it impossible. Minnesota soil, with the large amount of moisture, this year, is in excellent condition to receive the seed and, according to officials of the State Agricultural department, the decrease in acreage due to a scarcity of labor and poor quality of seed, will be negligible.

Breakup Was Easy.

While a large amount of snow fell during the past winter the breakup has been so gradual that no serious flooding has been reported. Some of the ditches in the eastern section of Pennington and Marshall counties have not yet gotten rid of their winter burden, but the Red Lake river ice is going out at a rapid rate and it will be but a short time before the ditches are cleaned.

Unlike other years seeding in the northern and central sections of Minnesota will start as early as in the southern districts, where the work was retarted by late storms and cold weather. The soil in the central sections is practically free of excessive moisture and frost.

Hay and Potatoes.

Considerable acreage will be sown to clover, alfalfa and timothy, despite the high price of this seed, by farmers in the north central section of the state, according to J. H. Hay of the Minnesota department of agriculture. The farmers, he said, can handle this crop with a minimum amount of labor, and the returns are large. Sugar beets also will be a factor this year in Minnesota, especially in Pennington and Polk counties where farmers are making arrangements to plant a large acreage.

City Asked to Have Incinerator Removed

COUNCIL DOES NOT FEEL JUSTIFIED IN COMPLYING AT THIS TIME

Smoke from the stack of the city incinerator is annoying a lot of citizens, according to a complaint submitted to the council on Tuesday evening. The complainants asked that the plant be removed to some other point, they evidently did not care where, as no suggestion on the subject was made.

The petition was not only signed by people residing near the incinerator, but a number who reside in the business district of the city and far away from any chance of annoyance by the fumes evidently figured on helping the matter along and attached their signatures. Some reside in the north part, others are far removed in a westerly direction and one or two are residents of Kratka township. The petition was rather formidable until it was noted that sometimes six or seven members of the same family had attached their names.

The council considered the matter seriously, realizing that under certain conditions the smoke might be annoying to the people of the neighborhood. A new brick smokestack about twice the height of the present one was suggested but the idea was dropped because of the cost. Alderman Brandon finally moved that the matter be laid on the table, Councilman Ihle seconded the motion and it was unanimously carried.

"The Miracle Man," Lyceum Next Week

The greatest moving picture success ever filmed is coming to the Lyceum theatre next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. It is George Loan Tucker's "Miracle Man," a picture that has received the attention of both press and pulpit wherever it has been shown. It is a production of such stupendous magnitude that all others seem to sink into insignificance, by comparison. The story is different, the acting exceptional and the setting superb. Never in the history of the photoplay industry has a production been hailed with such universal acclaim. No matter how many other pictures you miss see this one. You may never have another opportunity.

"The Miracle Man" was booked for Thief River Falls last winter but the flu came along and closed the theatres for a time and the date had to be cancelled. Manager John Brumund has been on the trail of the film ever since and has only now been able to find these three dates open.

Let Paving Contract.

The board of commissioners of Polk county last week let the contract for paving the highway from Sixth street and University avenue in the city to the Northwest school of agriculture. The paving will be of concrete and was let to M. R. Hussey of Crookston at $3.60 per sq. yd., and 50 cents per lineal foot for six inch drain tile. The contract total is $58,697.60. The work is to be started by May 15 and completed by Nov. 15.

Mrs. Stanton is Dem Choice For Elector

WOMEN SECURE SEVEN PLACES ON BALLOT TO ONLY FIVE FOR MEN

Thief River Falls will have a candidate on the national ballot this fall in spite of the fact that it looked as if only pre-election honors would come this way. Mrs. E. M. Stanton of this city was last week selected as the Ninth district candidate for presidential elector at the state convention in Minneapolis, although the fact was not discovered until after the meeting had adjourned. Mrs. Stanton was properly nominated and elected but an error in the report stated that it was Mr. E. M. Stanton to whom the honor had fallen. The nominee is chairman of the women's Democratic organization in the Ninth district and active in the interests of the party.

Seven of the twelve candidates on the ticket are women and only five men. The number was originally six and six, but S. D. Weeks of St. Paul withdrew, his name in favor of Mrs. Albert R. Hall of the same city.

Brotherhood Chiefs Denounce Strikers

AIM IS TO DISRUPT RAILROAD ORGANIZATIONS, THEIR CLAIM

A signed statement was issued at Cleveland on Monday by the chiefs of the four big transportation brotherhoods saying:

"The present strike of men engaged in switching service was originated in Chicago by a new organization that has for its purpose the destruction of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Switchmen's union and its inception had nothing to do with the wage question, but was a demand for the reinstatement of the leader of this opposition organization.

"After this strike was instituted for this purpose the leaders of the new organization then injected the wage question for the sole purpose of deceiving the yardmen throughout the United States and to promote the 'one big union' idea. There can be no settlement of pending wage questions, while this illegal action continues. We insist that every member of these brotherhoods do everything within their power to preserve their existing contracts, which, if abrogated, may take years to rebuild. The laws of all of these organizations provide penalties for members engaged in illegal strikes, and those will be inforced.

(Signed)

"L. E. Sheppard, president Order Railroad Conductors.

"W. G. Lee, president Order Railway Trainmen.

"W. S. Stone, grand chief engineer, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"W. H. Carter, president Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen."

O'Neill Visits City.

D. P. O'Neill, former state senator and now a member of the state board of grain appeals, was in the city the first of the week. He spoke at the meeting on Monday evening at which Mrs. M. L. Fosseen, chairman of the Women's Republican state organization, appeared and delivered himself of some regular old-fashioned G. O. P. doctrine in his usual happy vein. Mr. O'Neill recently returned from Washington where he appeared before a congressional committee at a hearing on grain grades. His position is an important one and he likes the work very much. The present home of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill is in Minneapolis.

Basket Social and Dance.

There will be a basket social and dance given in the school house of District No. 4, on Saturday evening, April 24. A general invitation has been extended to the public to come and have a good time.

Stag Party.

The first of a series of parties given by L. R. Johnston at his home, 524 LaBree avenue north, was held last Friday evening when eighteen of his friends were entertained at cards. A very fine supper was served at midnight.

CONFIDENCE MAN IS ARRESTED BY LOCAL OFFICIALS

G. W. BAKER, WANTED BY SEVERAL STATES, PICKED UP BY AUTHORITIES

ALLEGED THAT LIFE INSURANCE FRAUDS ARE HIS PARTICULAR LINE.

TRACED FROM MINNEAPOLIS, THROUGH BEMIDJI AND TO THIS CITY

A man whose right name is said to be G. W. Baker but who has operated under numerous alliases, was arrested last Wednesday night by Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Chief of Police E. O. Erickson. Word was received from Bemidji to be on the lookout for this party as he was wanted particularly by the authorities at Elkhart, Ind., on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the fraudulent selling of life insurance. The description accompanying the request was such as to leave the officials in no doubt and the man was arrested as he stepped off the train.

The following day E. W. Fritz, representing the chief of police of Elkhart, arrived from Bemidji, to which city he had followed his quarry from Minneapolis, and took charge of the prisoner. The latter decided to waive extradition and went with the officer without trouble.

Is Active Customer.

Concerning the activities of Baker the Bemidji Pioneer has the following account:

"This man, under the name of Baker, visited Bemidji about two months ago and was here again the latter part of March. While in the city he called on W. L. Brooks, cashier at the Northern National bank, and endeavored to interest him in the insurance line and get his assistance in writing life insurance. Although Baker was very persistent in his efforts to interest him, Mr. Brooks refused absolutely to be interested in any way. Through a physical description of the man furnished by Cashier Brooks, Sheriff Johnson was enabled to wire the chief of police at Thief River Falls last night and the arrest was then made.

"Not through any confidence work in this city was any charge made against this man, but his actions here led to his arrest. On February 25 he worked his game at Lowell, Ind.; on February 28 at Hammond, Ind., and on March 1 he was operating in Minneapolis. After comparing the description of the man, sent out by the superintendent of police at Elkhart, Ind., with the man seen here several times, he was traced to Thief River Falls last night, as a result of a conversation Baker held with another man at a local hotel a short time ago."

Mrs. Fosseen's Talk Well Received Here

STATE CHAIRMAN ADDRESSES GOOD SIZED CROWD ON MONDAY EVENING

What may be regarded as the first political meeting of the year took place on Monday evening, when Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen of Minneapolis, state chairman of the Republican women's organization, delivered an address on the principles of the Republican party. There was a good sized audience present, the ladies of the city and vicinity turning out in numbers that goes to prove their interest in affairs political.

Mrs. Fosseen reviewed the history of the Republican party from the time of its organization to the present day, claiming that it had always been the progressive and forward-looking division of American politics. The party's history with regard to the questions of particular interest to women was dwelt upon at some length, the speaker showing where the Republicans had at all times been leaders in every movement for the moral and intellectual uplift of the people, child labor laws, temperance legislation and reform measures generally being credited to the statesmen of the party.

The speaker said she felt particularly friendly toward the people of Pennington county, it having been largely through the efforts of one of the Thief River Falls delegates to the state convention, W. J. Brown, that she was chosen as a delegate to the Chicago meeting. She is a charming speaker and her discourse greatly pleased the audience.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, district chairman of the women's organization, spoke of the interest that is being taken by the women of the Ninth district in all matters pertaining to politics and considered this one of the best auguries for the future. Former Senator D. P. O'Neill, who was here on a visit from Minneapolis, delivered one of his characteristic talks, mixing logic with laughter in just the right proportions.

Miss Effie Hamry, county chairman, presided, performing the duties of the office like a veteran at the business.

W.W.V. MEETING TO BE HELD HERE NEXT SATURDAY

WORLD WAR VETERANS EXPECT TO ORGANIZE BRANCH AT THAT TIME

STATE CHAIRMAN C. O. PARSONS AND L. E. MARTIN SCHEDULED TO SPEAK

INVITATIONS TO ATTEND ISSUED TO ALL RETURNED SERVICE MEN

Notices of a meeting to be held at the auditorium in this city next Saturday have been sent to all returned service men in the county by a committee interested in the formation of a branch of the World War Veterans association. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock and is open to the public. In fact outsiders are particularly asked to be present, it being the intention to explain the aims and purposes of the organization for the benefit of all and not only the ex-soldiers.

The main address of the evening will be delivered by C. O. Parsons of Minneapolis, state chairman of the veterans. He will explain the reasons for the entrance of the organization into the ranks of the men and show what it is hoped to accomplish thru the formation of the branch. Mr. Parsons is said to be a pleasing and convincing speaker.

"Aims and Obligations of World's War Veterans" will be the subject of a talk by L. E. Martin, another man high in the councils of the body in the state.

All who are in any way interested in the formation of a branch of the organization in this county are requested to be present and matters of the greatest importance will be laid before them.

Granted Reduced Rate.

Representatives of the Northern Woodwork company have applied for a reduced rate on the amount of electric current used in their new factory. Because of the varying loads during the different seasons it was maintained that it would be impractical to apply the principle of a minimum charge plus, and a flat rate was asked for. An agreement whereby they are to pay $53 per month for the current used by their 50 horsepower motor has been agreed upon until Jan. 1, 1921. By that time the requirements of the factory and the cost of supplying the power will have been established.

Bring the Budget Sheets.

The Woman's club asks the members to bring in all budget sheet allotments at the meeting on Monday, April 19. The committee on thrift is very desirous of having these reports at this time.

Would Improve River For Entire Distance

ATTORNEY CHARLES BOUGHTON SAYS PROJECT WILL BE GREATLY EXTENDED

In an interview appearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette today, Charles Boughton of that city, recently appointed attorney for the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy district, tells of a contemplated extension of the project so as to have it cover the entire length of the river from the Red Lakes to its outlet into the Red River of the North at Grand Forks. Mr. Boughton's interview is as follows:

"Instead of the original plan of deepening and straightening the river for a distance of 45 miles from the outlet of Red Lake, petitions have been prepared asking that the entire length of the Red Lake river be improved. This action will give the drainage board control over the powed dams at Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and Crookston and will make possible the effective control of the river.

"It is planned to deepen the outlet at Red Lake between 3 and 4 feet thus affording an enormous reservoir comprising 441 square miles in area and between three and four feet in depth. In flood seasons the gates can be closed and the water stored to be let out gradually during the dry season.

"A bill authorizing the deepening and straightening of Red Lake river has been passed by the national house of representatives and awaits action by the senate, where its changes are considered favorable since the war department has given the project its full approval.

"The bill permits work upon the river including that part passing thru the Red Lake Indian reservation, and provides that the Indian lands shall be taxed for about one-third of the cost. The government pays a portion and the power companies are assessed as are the cities which are using the Red Lake river for their water supply. The government estimate of the cost of the project is $779,000.

"I am preparing a petition at the request of the drainage board providing for the improving the Clearwater river by deepening and straightening so as to give control of the waters. These drainage projects will be of immense benefit to the people in this section of the state."

Died in Montana.

P. Stenhjem, who with his family formerly resided about five miles east of Thief River Falls, died at his home in Montana on March 22, following an operation for tumor. The Stenhjems left Pennington county about three years ago. This is the second death in the family inside of five months, the daughter, Julia, having died last December at the age of 16.

Sam Iverson Files.

And still they come. Samuel G. Iverson, former state auditor and candidate for governor in the primaries in 1914 and 1916, has again announced his entrance into the ring. He declares himself in favor of a presidential primary and for improving the primary law but not for a return to the convention system.

Request White Way Extended on LaBree

WILL BE GRANTED ON SAME TERMS AS PREVIOUS INSTALLATIONS

Business men in the block between Third and Fourth streets on LaBree avenue have petitioned the city for an extension of the white way along that stretch. The improvement would be most welcome to all the people of the city and would help out the appearance of that particular district a great deal.

The petition will be granted providing the petitioners are willing to make the same arrangement as other property owners along whose holdings the white way has been installed. This is to pay personally for the lamp posts while the city stands the remainder of the cost. This has been the plan followed in every instance where these lights have heretofore been placed and it eases the burden on the city without bearing too heavily on the property owners.

Supt. Legvold of the water and light department has been instructed to make an estimate of the costs to each party to the agreement and to present these to the petitioners for their approval.

Grant Legion Use of Auditorium Building

NOMINAL FIGURE PLACED AS RENTAL TO COVER ACTUAL LABOR COST

The members of Elmer J. Eklund Post, American Legion, will be permitted to use the city auditorium for any purpose they may see fit on ten different occasions during the year 1920. The legion will reimburse the city for the actual outlay in money on any evening that the hall may be used by them, such outlay being placed at $12.25 by the council. This will generally cover the light bill and pay for the removal and replacing of the seats, cleaning up, etc.

It is the intention of the legion to go rather extensively into entertaining in the future. There is no intention of doing this for personal gain but simply in order that there may be something in the shape of a treasury balance accumulated. Dances, theatricals, minstrel shows and other entertainments will be put on at different times to which the public will be asked to come.

Many cities have taken steps to provide the ex-service men with suitable quarters for holding entertainments of this kind and something along the same line may at a future date be undertaken here. For the present, however, the boys are well satisfied to secure the auditorium on such favorable terms.

U. C. T. Has Initiation.

The meeting of the U. C. T. on Saturday evening was well attended. Three candidates were initiated which was followed by an excellent lunch. A basket social will be held at the Masonic hall on next Saturday evening. Informal dancing will be in order. Because of the rapid increase in membership of the local U. C. T. lodge all future meetings and parties will be held in the Masonic hall.

Railway Mail Clerks.

There will be an examination of applicants for the position of railway mail clerks held at the postoffice in Thief River Falls on May 15. This position pays a salary of $1300 per year to begin with. Application blanks may be had by applying to T. S. Brokke, secretary civil service commission, at the postoffice.

Permit to Move Building.

J. J. Aga has purchased the old Grand theatre building near the corner of First street and LaBree avenue from H. N. Hager and is preparing to move to alongside of his machine shop and West Second street. Permission for the removal was granted by the council on Tuesday evening.

Bond is Approved.

The city council at its meeting on Tuesday evening approved the bond of Henry Froseth as auditorium manager. The sureties are Carl Christofferson and P. W. Roark.

COUNTY'S VOTE IS DIVIDED ON ROAD QUESTION

TWO REPRESENTATIVES FAVOR BABCOCK PLAN AND TWO ARE FOR GRAVEL

SENTIMENT AT ST. PAUL MEETING OVERWHELMINGLY FAVORS PAVING

GRAVEL MAY BE CHOSEN TO BEGIN WITH IN CERTAIN INSTANCES

Pennington county sent four representatives to the good roads meeting held at St. Paul last week—Commissioners Oscar J. Peterson, Robert McGinn and Gust Naplin, and County Auditor T. P. Anderson. John Gullingsrud, county treasurer, also made the trip in order to see what was going on.

Every county was represented, 495 out of a total of 516 commissioners and auditors in the state being present. It was the most representative gathering of its kind ever held in this section of the country and according to those who were there the enthusiasm for better roads could not have been more pronounced.

Delegates Split Their Votes.

Pennington county's representatives were not of one mind as to the best methods of securing the desired results, although there was no difference of opinion as to the desirability of better highways. Commissioner Peterson on the last day of the session introduced a resolution authorizing graveled in place of hard surfaced roads. According to the St. Paul Ditpatch the resolution was drawn by Senator Iver Lee of Glenwood, offered by Mr. Peterson and seconded by Mr. Naplin. It was defeated by an overwhelming majority, receiving only about 15 votes. This is regarded as remarkable and is taken by many to indicate that there is no attempt on the part of the Nonpartisan League to defeat the Babcock amendment, many of those present being affiliated with that organization.

May Use Some Gravel.

There is a probability of a considerable amount of gravel being used at that. The meeting seemed to regard with much favor a proposition to hard surface only the stretches subjected to very heavy traffic at first, employing gravel where travel is lighter. When it comes time to pave these latter pieces the surface can be scraped to one side and a fine, solid bed be thus formed for the permanent dressing. In this manner a much greater mileage will be covered within a short time and the state still be fairly well provided with satisfactory highways. Paving was, however, regarded as the ultimate solution for the road troubles of Minnesota and any other plan adopted would only be regarded as a temporary measure.

No Bonds Needed.

Speakers pointed out that it would not be necessary to issue bonds to meet the cost of the highway improvement. There are at the present time 284,000 automobiles in the state and this number is expected to reach 300,000 by January 1, at which time the Babcock law will go into effect if approved by the people in November. At an average yearly license fee of $18 per car this will provide $5,400,000 to begin with. Besides this there will be $2,840,000 in federal aid available.

Many Farmers Present.

The farming districts of the state were particularly well represented, fully 75 per cent of those present hailing from the country. The purpose of the amendment was explained by C. A. Babcock, state highway engineer, J. H. Mellen and Senator P. H. McGarry. The highway commissioners of Illinois and Indiana were also present and spoke of the great work that is being done in their commonwealths toward securing just such roads as were endorsed by the county officials.

The principal speaker against the amendment was Senator Lee.

Woman's Club Offers Exceptional Program

LECTURE RECITAL NEXT MONDAY BY DR. JAMES DAVIES OF MINNEAPOLIS

A feature of unusual interest will be offered the public at the meeting of the Woman's club next Monday. Dr. James Davies, musical critic of the Minneapolis Tribune and one of the foremost authorities on things musical in the West, will give a lecture-recital on "Folk Songs." Dr. Davies has been in a position to give the subject much study and his discourse is said to be both entertaining and instructive.

Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher will sing a group of selections chosen with a view to carrying out the general folk song idea of this meeting.

It is also the date for the election of delegates to the district meeting of Women's clubs to be held at Warren on May 5 and 6.

THE NORTHWEST'S CANDIDATE

Northwestern Minnesota has one candidate for a place on the Republican state ticket this year who should receive the support of every man and woman in the district. Mike Holm of Roseau, has announced himself for secretary of state and to judge from the favor with which his candidacy has been received in all sections of the state he is going to prove a most formidable contender at the elimination contest on the 8th of May.

Judge Holm has for years been a member of the state fair board and as such has come in contact with a large number of people from every section of the state. His unfailing courtesy and constant desire to be of help and assistance, to those with whom his official duties have brought him in contact has made him popular everywhere. So far as ability goes he is the peer of any man mentioned for the place and he would be a credit to any administration with which he might become associated.

A REMARKABLE SHOWING

Although Pennington is one of the smallest of Minnesota's 86 counties, it stands in sixty-second place in the number of farms within its borders, according to the annual report of The Farmer, an agricultural paper published at St. Paul, which has just completed a valuable compilation of the agricultural status of every county in the state.

According to this report the county has a total of 1244 farms of all sizes, more than half this number, or 665, being between 100 and 174 acres in extent. There are 112 farms with an acreage greater than the latter figure and below 259 acres, while 27 are more than 500 acres in extent.

A more extended review of this report in another part of this issue gives some very interesting figures. It shows that the value of all field crops in the county, including grains, was $2,197,615 for the year 1919. This is a better showing than was made by Aitkin, Beltrami, Carlton, Cass, Clearwater, Cook, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Itasca, Kanabec, Koochiching, Mahnomen, Mille Lacs, Pine, Ramsey, Red Lake, Roseau and St. Louis. All the counties in the above list, with the exception of Red Lake and Ramsey, are larger than Pennington and many of them located in much older communities, viewed from a standpoint of settlement and farm development.

While the report is highly satisfactory from every viewpoint, the section dealing with the dairy product output will perhaps prove of greatest interest. This shows that the herdsmen of Pennington county were last year paid a total of $328,196,02 for their butterfat. This is the best showing made by any county north of a line drawn clear across the state at the southern boundary of Clay and Becker counties, with the one exception of Polk. This latter county has about twice the dairy receipts of Pennington with about four times its territory.

The report is one of the most interesting and valuable ever gotten out by a Minnesota publication and reflects much credit upon the enterprise of the publishers of The Farmer.

TEST IT FOR LUCK.

The Times has received a number of communications lately from farmers who claim that an article appearing in the paper a short time ago was misleading. It stated that last year's wheat crop in this section was of poor quality when compared with those of most previous years and that in a number of instances the germinating qualities of the grain had been found far below standard. The farmers referred to say they have tested their grain and found it all right.

That's fine and we are mighty glad to hear it. In fact we hope that we were misinformed entirely and that every farmer in northwestern Minnesota will proceed to prove that we were wrong by testing his wheat before planting it. And the more completely wrong we are shown to have been the more satisfied we shall be.

If the article referred to has the effect of making every farmer in the section test his wheat it will prove to be one of the most valuable "pieces" ever printed in this or any other newspaper in this region. It will mean that not a bushel of grain will be sown that has not been tested for its germination and the result will be the largest and most satisfactory crop in the history of the Northwest—all other things being even. It will have caused the farmer to take the only measure for the protection of his crop that is open to him.

While we are on this subject of seed testing it might not be amiss to put in a word concerning potatoes. Not a spud should be planted that has not been treated against infection. The cost of doing this is as nothing compared with the benefits. A tight barrel, fifty gallons of water and a little formaldehyde may make a difference of hundreds of dollars in the price received for the crop. Any man who will plant potatoes without taking this precaution deserves to have his crop ruined.

All this is well known, of course, but this is a good time of year to remind folks of it just the same.

IT MIGHT HELP.

The government seems to be up a stump when it comes to discovering some way to relieve the print paper situation. It is realized that unless relief of some kind is afforded at an early date a large number of publications will have to go out of business. It is no longer a question of price, everyone having seemingly resigned themselves to paying four times as much for paper as before the war without in the least understanding the reason for being compelled to do so. The trouble is to get the material at all.

While looking around for ways of helping the situation the governmental departments might hit upon some plan of saving paper in their own business. Every newspaper office in the country, large and small, every day receives enough propaganda matter to fill their publications in case they were foolish enough to use it. Not once in a moon of blue Sundays is there by any chance an idea mixed up in the general run of trash that would interest the general public, yet these publicity seekers and space grafters send it along as if it were of the highest importance.

And our government is one of the worst offenders. Nearly every department seems to have a large crew on its staff whose duty it is to see that the mails are overburdened and a lot of white paper wasted in telling the public of the wonderful work that is being done along some line or other. The fact that not one-tenth of one per cent of this stuff ever sees the light of day in no way discourages its continuance. It keeps coming day after day and finds its way to the wastebasket, much of it without having the covering torn off.

The thing is a nuisance and a waste of good material. Thousands of tons of paper would be saved every year if the government would stop the practice. It could undoubtedly be done and it certainly should be.

With the campaign coming on the waste will be greater than ever and the newspaper publishers will have to stand further increases because of the shortage.

Pennington county is faring pretty well in the distribution of purely honorary positions this year. The chairmen of the women's organizations of both the Republican and Democratic parties are residents of Thief River Falls; one of our citizens is an alternate delegate to the Republican convention at Chicago, and last week another was selected as the Ninth district's presidential elector on the Democratic ticket. We have no candidates for office but are right there when it comes to securing plums that permit the recipients to spend their own money and a lot of time attending conventions and things.

A Good Wheat Crop Needed.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

War time experience testifies that the food yield of the United States may be increased by a campaign of education. There can be no question that the need for a large food crop this season is as great as though actual war existed. Do the best we can; America cannot this year glut the world's food market.

Particularly does this seem to be true of wheat. The indications are that the world's wheat supply is now about two hundred million bushels less than a year ago; that the winter wheat area is about twelve million acres less; that the visible supply of wheat in the country s about sxty-five million bushels less; and that the indications in Kansas are for a sixty-five to seventy-five per cent wheat crop this season.

Our total crop of last year was three hundred and fifty million bushels. Such a crop can hardly be looked for this year; but if so large a crop were harvested, the hungry world would probably take it all and more. The power to grow wheat on the wheat lands of Europe has been enormously reduced, and will recover but slowly.

On our Northwest lands, where spring wheat can be profitably grown in a reasonable rotation of crops, it would seem that this year as much wheat as can be well planted and harvested should be raised. The greatest hindrance to food production is the lack of competent labor at reasonable wages; but in the cost of no other staple food is there so small a percentage of labor as in wheat.

The same rule of industrial economics that makes the laborer prosperous in proportion to his output, applies to the farmer. No farmer gets rich off his idle acres; though there have been years and localities when overproduction has impoverished him. But this year and this country will not see such a time and locality.

Planting the right varieties of wheat, and good, clean, fertile seed in well prepared soil, is a policy that should be widely advocated and conscientiously practiced.

St. Olaf Choir Gains Fame While on Tour

FAMOUS MINNESOTA ORGANIZATION RECEIVES PRAISE FROM CHICAGO CRITICS

St. Olaf college choir last week started on a concert tour of the large Eastern cities and the reception with which these singers have been met must be very gratifying to the large number of persons in Thief River Falls who are themselves graduates of the institution or who have relatives there at present. The following comment on the work of the choir by W. L. Hubbard of the Chicago Tribune, is in line with that appearing in all the papers of that city on the morning after the concert. It shows that the young men and women from the Minnesota college are presenting something in the way of choral music that is new to the easterners. The Tribune's comment follows:

"The concert in Orchestra hall last night by the St. Olaf Lutheran choir attracted a large audience and proved an entertainment of exceptional musical worth and beauty.

"The choir which numbers some fifty-two men and women under the leadership of M. Melius Christiansen comes from St. Olaf's college in Northfield, Minn., and a tour which is to include the principal cities of the east was commenced with this concert. If the singing offered throughout the tour be of such quality as was that last night, the reputations of both choir and its leader will hold high place in the choral world by time the homecoming is accomplished.

"The choir sings exceptionally. The voices are beautiful in their freedom of emission, their roundness and their purity, and all seem to posses a suggestion of freshness and out-doorsness that involuntarily creates visions of wide plains, big forests and clear air.

"The voices are the singing voices of the Scandinavian with the tang and freshness that so often distinguish such. And these voices are admirably trained. They are true as a bell and they respond with the same certainty, exactness and clarity. The tone is capable of finest graduations ranging from ringing forte to an exquisitely soft piano, and the soft tone is ever just as pure, just as true as is the loud. The voices blend perfectly thus making the tonal mass invariably a delight.

"Musically and interpretatively, too, the choir stands on high level The diction is such that every word is clearly and easily intelligible, and in the handling of either massed harmonies or in the weaving of polyphonic lines the singers do exceptional work.

"The program was purely sacred in musical matter, but it nevertheless interested and held the hearers because of the rare manner in which every number was sung."

A Roast Bear Dinner.

E. O. Mogensen, W. H. Akre and H. W. Protzeller were hosts at a bear dinner party given at the home of the first-named gentleman last Wednesday evening. The dinner was served at 7:30 and was a delightful affair. The bear was only the main item of a most elaborate and appetizing menu which was not unusual in composition, but of the kind to appeal with particular favor to a bunch of menfolks. After the meal whist tables were arranged for those who wished to pass the time pursuing that diversion while others just visited and discussed the flavor of bear. The occasion was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The Public Forum

Put Streets in Shape First.

Editor Times: In your paper of April 8, I find an article in which the following paragraph appears:

"It has persistently been rumored about the city that in case bids for paving were accepted on May 4 when opened by the council, injunction proceedings will be brought to prevent the work from being undertaken. No one has been found willing to assume the responsibility for having made such statement and it is not generally credited. Objection to entering into a contract at this time may be voiced at the meeting but in case the council deems it advisable to go ahead it is not thought likely that the courts will be called upon to prevent it."

I wish to go on record as stating that if the city council should decide to go ahead with paving this season on our streets before these are put in proper shape—that is, by backfilling all the trenches that have been dug and that will be dug for sewer and water connections—and this work done strictly in accordance with the specifications in the contract between the city and the contractor before paving, I for one shall apply for an injunction until such time as the requirements are complied with.

And I will further state that if the city council decides not to pave this season I shall demand that all this preliminary work of back filling of trenches, etc, as mentioned above, be strictly complied with according to the specifications in the contract, and if this is not complied with I shall also ask for an order restraining the city from paying any money on such contract until the conditions are complied with.

Now do not try to construe this as an indication on my part that I am opposed to paving, because such is not the case. I am heartily in favor of the work, but I want to see our streets put in shape first. My motto has always been "a Bigger and Better Thief River Falls," but we want to build on a solid foundation.

I also wish to call attention to the following opinion of the attorney general:

"Cities and villages in Minnesota must build and pay for their own streets and roads and may not be reimbursed from the trunk highway fund to be created in case of adoption of the proposed Babcock trunk highway law, under a ruling issued by Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton. The opinion, written by C. Louis Weeks, assistant attorney general, holds that the proposed amendment provides for reimbursement of counties only."

Also note the following clipping from the Minneapolis Journal of April 9, with reference to paving:

"Restriction of bitulithic paving to residence districts will be recommended to the city council at its next meeting by the committee on municipal research of the Civic and Commerce association, David P. Jones, chairman, announced today.

"If the council thinks creosote blocks are too expensive," said Mr. Jones, "we urge that care be used in placing the bitulithic paving. It should be only in residence districts where travel is continuous and light.

"Bitulithic paving under heavy loads tends to break and fill with deep holes. We believe its use in the downtown districts to be uneconomical."

"BORROW A PAPER, DO NOT BUY ONE"

This is what the print paper shortage has brought about: The Chicago Tribune, one of the largest newspapers in the world, printed in large type on its front page last Sunday: "Please do not buy a Chicago Tribune. Borrow One." For a hundred years it has been assumed by newspaper men that the pinacle of meanness has been reached by the man who borrows his neighbor's paper instead of subscribing for one of his own, but times have changed. Now every expedient must be resorted to in order to make the paper supply go around and it must be said to their credit that many of the big dailies are doing their utmost to help save the lives of their smaller neighbors.

Mills are turning down orders for news print stock even when offered 12 and 13 cents a pound for it. In 1914 The Times was buying this same stock for $2.40 per hundred pounds on a yearly contract and teh large papers were playing as low as $1.80 per hundred.

Proposed Drainage Plan.

Dear Editor:—I am submitting a drainage plan for western Beltrami, eastern Marshall and northeastern Pennington counties. I think this would be a possible way to drain this district with as little expense to the people living in the district as possible.

The first thought the writer has in mind is the dredging of Red Lake river, dredging the river gradually ten feet deep commencing at Highlanding and east to the lake. By doing this I think it is possible to lower the lake a number of feet so the lake would take the water in this territory in place of flooding the country. Of course, it may be some danger of flooding the river, but if this is the case, I should think it possible to put in locks at the source of the river so as to lower or raise the lake as it seems necessary. I think that if we had these locks at the source of the river so when we had a flood we could close them and let the lake fill to its capacity and then open the locks and let the water out gradually, and not all at once.

The cost of dredging the river and putting in these locks should be taken up by the government, and not assessed to the land owners adjoining the river or lake, because it is a benefit to the country in general.

When this work is finished the first need of this district is one big ditch from Highlanding and running due north to the northern part of Marshall county. And another ditch about half way between Red lake and Highlanding and due north to the divide or about ten miles north of upper Red Lake.

The cast of constructing these ditches should be taken up by the state, and not by honest settlers living upon this land. By this I mean it should not cost the people living in this district any more than the ones living in the southern part of the state.

There may be some ridges to cross with these ditches. These ridges could either be cut or tunneled so as to get the water through. The land in this district should not be assessed any more than any other land in the state. Because the people coming to live on these land will be doing all that can be expected of them when they improve the lands without being burdened with ditch taxes. You must give them a chance or they will never be able to stay.

If this work could possibly be done as I have thought of it, it would be a benefit to the country as a whole. In place of people leaving their land or farms, they would stay and help to improve the country.

Trusting that you will have a space for this plan in your paper, I am

Yours respectfully,
C. A. SWANSON.

Opposes Babcock Plan.

Editor Times:—I noticed in my last week's writeup that somehow the word "graded" roads had been inserted instead of "graveled" roads, in describing the road proposition that we stated the farmers were going on record for, instead of the Babcock plan. The farmers are all in favor of a good graveled road system and no other, as that is the only road that will give a general service to all concerned at a reasonable cost.

If the people of Minnesota see fit to expend the amount of money for good roads that is suggested in the Babcock plan they can get five times as many miles of graveled roads for the same money taking Babcock's own figures for it as they can of cemented roads. Now, which of the two road plans will come nearest to give the greatest number the best service? The Babcock system is a 10-year plan of road building, but the bonds are to bear interest from the start and will no doubt run fifteen or twenty years or more. This amounts to a nice little sum of interest every year that we have no returns for. Why not plan so that we can pay as we go?

A meeting has recently been held by the Highway commission, Babcock and others together with certain county officials throughout the state for the purpose of boosting the Babcock plan, and get things started, or in other words, putting on the steam rollers. It appears that a law was passed at the last legislature giving the county commissioners of any county the authority to bond their county without the vote or consent of the taxpayers to the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars, (for no other purpose but putting the skids under the Babcock system, or some such proposition), with the understanding that by doing so the commissioners could avail themselves of a federal appropriation to take care of the bonds with and thus get started road building while the state got time to amend the present automobile license system so that an $18 license fee or road tax rather can be tied on the tail end of a "Tin Lizzie" which in turn is to make up the Babcock road fund.

It seems that a few of the counties have already fallen for this plan and swallowed hook, bait and all and have made use of this law contrary to the wishes of the taxpayers, and to make a long story short, that in order to make the rest of the counties fall in line it is necessary to put on the steam rollers now so that things can be lined up in such a shape that the voters will this fall simply have to vote "yes" on Amendment No. 1.

The object is to simply force the Babcock road plan onto the people and make them swallow it. That is no doubt the reason why this authority was placed in the hands of the commissioners so that they could accomplish in this way what they possibly could not hope to accomplish by the vote and consent of the voters.

It is without doubt one of the rankest pieces of legislation ever conceived or hatched in the minds of a political ring.

A Plain Statement of My Position

The president of the clerk's union and another member of the organization called at my store with regard to the contemplated closing of all business places at certain hours. I suggested that a meeting of the merchants and clerks be called for the purpose of arranging the matter to everyone's satisfaction. No such meeting has been called.

Since a report is current to the effect that I have refused to sign the agreement and declined subscribing to all the demands of the recently formed union, and as such report has been assiduously circulated with the evident intention of injuring my business, I ask leave to set forth the following facts:

1. The clerks asked me to sign a contract pledging myself to observe certain rules with regard to the conduct of my store, pay certain sums as wages and close the place at certain hours in the evening.

2. It has been presented to me in more ways than one that unless I complied with these requests a general boycott would be declared against the store and my business thereby be made to suffer.

As regards the request made in paragraph 1 above I will state that never in my life have I been opposed to the organization of workingmen and women, the clerks being no exception to this rule. I also recognize the fact they have a right to say as to the number of hours they shall be required to work, the amount of pay they shall receive and the conditions under which they are compelled to labor.

BUT WHAT I DO NOT ADMIT IS THAT THESE SALESPEOPLE HAVE THE RIGHT TO TELL ME THAT I CANNOT OPEN MY OWN STORE AT ANY HOUR I SEE FIT AND KEEP IT OPEN AS LONG AS TO ME SEEMS NECESSARY.

This I would be prevented from doing by the terms of the agreement submitted by the clerks and I cannot see my way clear to conform to their dictates, so far as this particular item is concerned.

Thief River Falls is a railroad and farming town. Trains arrive in the evening after the closing hour set by the clerks' union and leave again before the stores are open. For this reason anywhere from 100 to 300 persons would daily be deprived of any opportunity to trade in the city. How are we going to build up Thief River Falls as a trading center if we are not permitted to serve those who come here for the purpose of trading? This business is of such nature that unless it is taken care of when offered it goes to some other point, being largely transient.

With summer coming on and farm work getting into its full swing, how are the men on the farms going to be served for the things they may need in a hurry? They can only come to town in the evening unless willing to lose valuable time. Are we to refuse to serve these people and thereby compel them to do their trading in some other town?

Suppose that the railroad brotherhoods or any other class of workers engaged in occupations requiring a service extending over a period longer than eight or nine hours were to attempt to dictate not only the length of time they were to work—which is their right—but also to say which particular hours out of the 24 they were willing to work. What would become of the service? The situation is the same so far as I am concerned. I WILL PAY THE UNION SCALE, OBSERVE THE UNION HOLIDAYS, WORK MY CLERKS ONLY THE REQUIRED NUMBER OF HOURS—but I consider it unfair for any man or organization to say that I have not the right to serve customers who may come to my place of business outside of such hours. Closing on Sundays is already provided for by state law.

This is not the first time that this store has been singled out for attack. A short time ago a story was started to the effect that myself and another merchant in the city had attempted to have all free passes for the men working on the Soo revoked in order that it might not be so convenient for them to leave the city. The accusation was too ridiculous to merit consideration and is only mentioned here to show that the clerks' demands are not alone what is causing the trouble.

Certain of the signers of the agreement with the clerks stand to lose nothing by their action. The women's wear stores have always closed at six o'clock in the evening, as have also certain of the grocery and shoe stores. The owners of these are naturally indifferent as to the outcome of this movement on the part of the clerks. With the clothiers it is different. Compliance would mean a large loss.

I am not asking clerks to put in any more hours for me than others are working. If, however, I deem it necessary in order to properly serve the public to keep my store open in the evening I believe that all fair minded persons will accord me that right. Clerks would receive the same number of hours away from duty or would be paid overtime if compelled to stay beyond this period. I ask nothing except what is fair for myself and aim to treat all those in any manner connected with me in the same way.

My clerks have always had the privilege of regulating their own working hours. Any of those who may have been required to work in the evening has always been instructed to come as late as necessary the next morning in order that he might secure the proper amount of time for rest and recreation. Furthermore they have always been permitted to leave the store to attend to their own affairs at any time during the day and I have never docked a man working for me for time lost for any reason. Furthermore, my men are willing and anxious to secure a certain amount of overtime pay, but are prevented from doing so under the rules of this agreement.

Railroad men, farmers and our people generally are fair-minded. They do not ask a man to cripple his business in order to meet some requirement, particularly when it makes no difference whether or not it is complied with, so far as union principles or requirements are concerned.

It is to be presumed that the merchants who have signed this agreement can see their way clear to live up to its every specification. Such would have been my intention could I have seen my way clear to sign it. As I cannot for the reasons above stated do so, I maintain that my stand is the more straightforward and reasonable.

Hoping that the public will give the above their open-minded consideration and believing that I am absolutely right in the stand I have taken, I am

Liver Trouble

The function of the liver is double. It helps digest food in the intestines and helps to eliminate the waste.

Those in whom the liver is inactive, have dull headaches, indigestion, nausea, and are generally listless and prone to inactivity. The complexion is muddy and the eyes dull.

Where the liver is getting its normal supply of nerve vigor there is no lack of liver health. There is only one place where this nerve supply can be pinched or shut off and that is at the point between joints of the backbone where the spinal nerve branches to the liver. There is only one way to remove this pressure, which is the cause of liver dis-ease, and that is by chiropractic spinal adjustments from a skilled chiropractor.

"I had liver trouble for 15 years, headaches, dizziness, nausea, rheumatism and palpitation of the heart went with it. Also my kidneys were bad. I was much above normal weight. Held out of doors, a sea of tents on the high school campus. Two Big Days! Second only to the Pennington county fair in size, snap and real American pep. The campus: Electric-lighted, dotted with shows and concessions, and crowded with good times. The tents: Spacious electric-lighted, and clean. The most elaborate carnival ever planned by a high school. Staged at a tremendous expense to provide joy and amusement for a record-breaking crowd. Too big a function for any one to miss. Two days! Remember the date! Shows will open for business at 7:30 on the evening of Thursday, April 22nd—and they remain open until early in the morning on Saturday, April 24th.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

One of the great events of the season, the Junior-Senior banquet has come and gone. As a sample of the annual festival it fully equalled, if not surpassed, any of its precedents in size and magnificence, and the guests are unanimous in their expressions of admiration for the whole affair and their gratitude for the enjoyable time.

The thrifty Juniors had spared neither time nor labor in preparing for the event as was evidenced by the change that had taken place in Lincoln high school. A complete evolution had been brought about. The commercial rooms on the main floor had been transformed into a double reception room, and may have rivaled the Parisian salons in luxurious splendor. It was, however, in the main banquet hall, also gymnasium, where Junior decorative genuis was displayed to its fullest. Instead of the bare plastered walls the banqueters found themselves inclosed by masses of streamers of alternating colors giving a pillared effect. For a ceiling streamers extended from the walls and terminated in a circular canopy in the center underneath which a fountain bubbled. The stage, now a secluded arbor, was occupied by the orchestra.

About two hundred guests, including members of the faculty, members of the board of education, Juniors and Seniors were grouped around fifty small tables. A four-course dinner was served by efficient waiters. The following program was rendered:

Welcome..........Clayton Steenerson
Response..........Herman Aakre
Vocal Solo..........Miss Evans
"In the Harbor"....Dr. O. F. Melby
"Sailing"..........Miss Evans
Piano Solo..........Miss Poppitz
"Rocks and Reefs"....W. A. Ziegler
"Anchored"..........Miss Zeh
"Home Again"..........Miss Wilson

After the banquet the obstructing furniture was removed and they who had feasted destined themselves to enjoying the various forms of frolic and entertainments usually indulged in. At 12 o'clock the party broke up and the merry makers departed.

THEY SAY!

Just mention "railroading" to Fred Will and then be prepared to listen for awhile.

The Sophomore boys had a live class meeting Thursday evening.

No one saw "Wobbly" as he jumped over the shrubbery on the campus. It's a good thing, too.

Miss Zeh was unable to conduct her classes on Monday because she was ill.

The Sophomore class will have a party on Saturday, April 17, at the high school. The girls' and boys' basket ball first teams are the honorary guests. A good time and good lunch is looked for and we are sure that no one will be disappointed.

Have you signed up for the "Prowler?" You will always regret it if you do not get one of the 1920 Prowlers.

Everyone was ready to work after a week of vacation for Easter.

Watch for the Senior class play, "A Strenuous Life," to be given at the auditorium April 30. All Star Cast.

Alpha Bishop is taking charge of the library and likes her new position.

The following alumnae have visited in school the last week: Evelyn Tessum, Coleman Linde, Alf Krohn, Bertha Olsen, Marie Causin and Selma Maland.

General Science classes have been rather proud these days; they have been allowed to do laboratory work.

Miss Holmes has resigned her position as music instructor in the schools.

Lyall Coyle celebrated his Easter vacation by letting his horses run away so he could chase after them for excitement.

Whenever a teacher wants to find out if Joe Weirus is absent, all she has to do is to go down into the hall and see if his dog is there. If the dog is in the building, so is Joe.

There are about forty more days of school. Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling!

Mr. Holmgren: "The people sent Christmas presents to the soldiers."

Mr. Schold to Gorden L. on entering physics class late: "You are one minute late, Gordon."

Gordon: "You don't have to keep track of such a short time do you?"

Mr. Schold: "Anything more than ten seconds."

Gordon: "Ah, make it two minutes then."

Why are so many of the Freshmen wearing green? Because spring is here.

Miss Zeh retports that her typewriter students are advancing very rapidly in spite of the many "crippled" machines.

Ask Alice Bredesen how to prove propositions in geometry.

Why are so many students losing books and rubbers?

EFFICIENCY

What is efficiency? The dictionary gives a definition of the word as, having the power to produce the results intended or capability of producing the result intended. Do you think you have succeeded when you have become efficient? A certain man, who is said to be the highest-salaried man in the world, when asked how he had succeeded, made this answer: "I haven't succeeded. No real man ever succeeds. There is always a larger goal ahead." To succeed you must be efficient.

How can you become efficient? The first step is to want something—so want it that the whole world can't stop you. Be determined to do, to the finish, what you have decided to do. To become rich you must be efficient. Efficiency is the difference between wealth and poverty. The number of efficient people decides the number and size of the many slum districts in our large cities.

It has been said that only efficiency conquers fate. Every man's life is a battle between fate and efficiency. All of a man's forces are lined up on one side or the other. Have you gathered your forces under efficiency's banner? Or are you undecided? Are you leaving your life to fate? Fate may fail you, efficiency never fails. Which side are you on? Are you going to become another John D. Rockerfeller or another inhabitant of the slums in one of our large cities?

A. J. Lawrence arrived Monday evening from Minneapolis where he attended to matters of business. He will remain here a few days when he will return to the above mentioned place.

OVERLOOKED!

I have sold some of my houses, but my best bargains have been overlooked.

If you want something for investment, look up what I have to offer in flats and duplexes. I can show you something worth while to investigate if you want good returns on your money. I also have a few houses left at a bargain. Rents have gone up but they will still go higher, so will the prices on houses.

The man who has not provided himself with a home is losing money every day. Investigate.

Junior-Senior Banquet.

A transformation of the undecorated walls of the high school gymnasium into a veritable garden was the clever accomplishment of the Juniors in their banquet to the Seniors on Saturday evening. The walls and ceiling were concealed by a solid network of yellow and green crepe paper which colors accentuated the spirit of spring. In the center of the room was arranged a unique fountain surrounded by ferns. Directly above suspended from the paper dome hung a beautifully shaded light.

Sweet strains of music furnished by Wilbur Roth and Mrs. Holmberg, with Miss Jessie Barnett, accompanist, floated over the gay party as they dined. The orchestra was seated in a cleverly arranged arbor on the stage.

This was the beautiful setting for the two hundred guests who sat at small tables, fifty in number. Twenty-five girls dressed in middy costumes served under the supervision of the Misses Grace Wilson and Meta Kiland.

The decorative scheme of the menu cards and baskets containing mints was carried out in yellow and green. The guests were seated at the tables from eight until ten. The banquet was served in five courses with Julian Provencher of the Evelyn hotel as caterer. The menu follows:

Mint Cocktails
Roast Pork Mashed Potatoes
Pickles
Parker House Rolls
Perfection Salad Cheese Sticks
Pastachio Ice Cream

The Uses of Peat for Fuel Purposes

(By H. W. Protzeller.)

In the countries of Europe where peat is extensively used, namely Ireland, England, Denmark, Germany and Russia, the simplest and most ancient method of preparation is still most commonly used. This is mainly due to the fact that hand labor is cheaper in these countries than in the United States; also the peat beds or deposits are small and quite widely scattered, there being very few farms of any size that do not contain at least a small amount of peat. In most parts of these countries practically the only fuel used by the peasants is peat that has been prepared by themselves. They go to the peat bogs and dig up and dry their winter supply of fuel in much the same manner as the American farmer formerly went to the forests and cut his supply of wood.

The preparation of cut peat is so simple and the equipment for making it so inexpensive that the owners of peat bogs can readily make enough for their own domestic consumption. However it is a question whether this cut peat will ever come into any general use in the United States outside of the communities directly contiguous to the peat bogs.

One Advantage Here.

In Northwestern Minnesota practically all of the peat bogs are already thoroughly drained so that the most expensive part of the work of preparing cut peat has been accomplished. Also the peat is usually in better condition to be worked and handled on account of this drainage. The next step is to strip off the top sod and lay it to one side, leaving the lower surface as nearly smooth as possible to form a drying ground for the cut peat.

The tool used for making cut peat is called a slane, which is a narrow steel spade with a sharp cutting edge. It is ten to twelve inches long and six inches wide. It has a sharp steel lug welded on one side of the point of the blade and at right angles thereto. The digger forces this slane into the peat, cutting a brick of the peat the size of the slane and about four inches thick. He then raises it up and passes it to the so-called tender who takes it from the blade and lays it on the smooth surface already prepared and to one side of where the digging takes place. Here the bricks are allowed to remain until dried. The digging then continues along the bog in most any manner desired, always leaving the new surface of the bog from which the peat has been dug as smooth as possible so as to form a new drying ground.

When the blocks of this cut peat are placed on the drying ground they are usually piled on edge to allow the surplus water to dry out. Sometimes they are turned after they have stood for a week or so, although this is not necessary. After the bricks are dry enough to be easily handled they are stacked up in piles of twelve to twenty bricks so arranged that the air can readily circulate through the whole pile. They are allowed to remain thus for about four weeks, depending upon the weather. They are then removed to a large stack somewhere near where they are to be used. When placing the bricks in this stack they are so arranged that there is a small air space between each brick, which allows still more of the water in the peat to evaporate.

These cut peat bricks weigh from a half to one pound each after they have been thoroughly air dried and will be about 6 to 8 inches long, 4 inches wide and 2½ to 3 inches thick. They contain about 20 to 30 percent of moisture. This is really the poorest form of peat fuel, as it is bulky, easily broken or crumbled and burns up very rapidly, especially if the draft is strong. However, it is equal to wood in the amount of heat produced. It burns with a red, somewhat smoky flame. It kindles very easily and will retain a fire for a long time if the draft is closed. It can be burned in all wood stoves and in most coal stoves except those of the magazine type.

Cost of Production.

The cost of producing peat in this form varies with the cost of labor, as it is entirely a hand labor proposition. Two men with the ordinary amount of skill will dig and lay out on the drying ground from six to ten tons of cut peat per day of ten hours. The total cost of producing the cut peat, stacked ready for use will run, in this country, from $1.75 to $3.00 per ton of air dried product.

Cutting and drying of this form of peat should be done as early in the spring as possible, for the reason that it is much easier to dig at this time and also it will dry more readily in the early spring and summer than later in the fall. When the cut peat is placed in the final stack it should be covered over in some manner, either with boards or with a grass tatch, in order to keep the snow of winter and the rains of fall from it. Otherwise the peat bricks will take up moisture and will have to dry out again before being ready or fit to use.

No Commercial Value.

There are other methods of preparing this cut peat by hand, but the above is the one most generally used and the most practical. One way is to use an ordinary hay knife and go through the bog cutting large square lumps by sawing to a depth of two or even three feet and then loosening these lumps at the bottom and taking them to the drying ground. This, however, is not very satisfactory for the reason that the bricks are too large to handle easily and they crumble from their own weight.

Machines have been developed and are used to some extent to do the necessary cutting of this form of peat, when it is used on a larger scale. The essential parts of these machines are a series of knives which are forced through the bog leaving the cut bricks behind them. They are then picked up and loaded in carts or wheel barrows and taken to the drying grounds. From then on the process is as outlined above.

This cut peat has really no commercial value for the reason that it will not bear transportation and it is so bulky that in order to store a winter's supply for the ordinary home a basement several times the size of the house would be necessary. But there is no reason why farmers and settlers living close to a peat bog should ever buy any wood or coal when this fuel may be so easily prepared, and where it may be stored outdoors the bulkiness is no drawback.

Machine Peat.

The term machine peat is used to designate all forms of peat fuel which, after being dug, has been treated to a process of grinding or macerating and pressing before forming it into bricks for final use. It is the result of developments from the old hand process of taking cut peat and was designed to overcome most of the defects to be found in that form. It produces a more compact and very much denser product and one that will bear transportation to most any distance.

The fibrous peats to be found in this region are so vastly improved by the machining that there is no comparison. The effects of this mechanical treatment is to reduce the fibers to a pulp, thus releasing all of the water contained in the plant cells that cannot otherwise be reached by the drying process. The water retaining capacity is greatly lowered, hence the peat will dry much more rapidly and to a greater extent so that the resulting fuel is more compact, denser and of far superior quality.

When the macerated or ground pulp is placed on the drying racks or ground the outside is soon covered with a coating of a gluelike substance that becomes nearly waterproof when thoroughly dry, but which still is porous enough to allow the water of the inside to evaporate and escape. The result is that rain does not wet this form to any appreciable extent.

Equipment Not Expensive.

There are two distinct methods of processes used for macerating the peat. The first is to add enough water to the peat as it comes from the bog to make it into a soft paste. After grinding the material is almost a liquid. It is then flowed upon the ground and after drying sufficiently it is cut into bricks and allowed to dry still more. This method has been supplanted by the more recent and better process of grinding the peat just as it comes from the bog, which produces a pulp of about the consistency of ordinary mortar. This pulp is then forced through orifices of the proper shape to make bricks by cutting into the proper lengths. This is the method most generally used and differs only in the type of machine and the method of drying the pulp.

This method of manufacturing peat into commercial fuel is adaptable to all kinds of raw peat. The equipment needed for carrying on the process is not very expensive and it has been so thoroughly demonstrated as to be far past the experimental stage. As a matter of fact it is the only method so far found to be satisfactory in Europe for producing fuel for general purposes, being much more profitable than the briqueting processes.

The first types of machines for making this form of peat fuel attempted to force the water from the substance by means of pressing. This was a natural mistake, as it seems that it should be very easy to press water out of peat, but after many years of expensive trials it has been proven impossible. The forces of nature, the sun and the wind are the only successful and profitable means to employ in getting the water out of peat.

The different types of machines and their resulting products will be discussed in another article.

Stories For Boys

What does your boy read? Dime-novel trash? Or good, clean, wholesome stories of outdoor adventure? Does he read of the lure of the cities, or the romantic story of the great farmland? Is he going to leave home as soon as he can, or is he going to stay on the farm as your partner? Fathers everywhere tell us that stands right up with Uncle Sam's club work in keeping their sons and daughters interested in staying with the farm.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN makes two claims on the farm boy's interest: First through its practical articles—from how to feed his prize pig to how to use carpenters' tools properly. Second, in every issue is a fine, clean adventure story written especially for country boys. A new story is just starting—Diamond Rock—by a veteran of the recent war. Happy will be the purchasers of these furnaces when they see the necessary prices next fall!

10 DAY SALE

Your chance to buy at prices that we may never see so low again.

ROUND OAK
PIPELESS FURNACE

This sale has made us many friends. They will feel even more kindly toward us next winter when they experience the warmth and comfort of the moist, healthful air that a Round Oak Pipeless Furnace circulates. They will thank us, too, when they try to price these furnaces later and hear that the building boom has created a scarcity with a correspongind advance in price. They will enjoy the convenience of tending but one fire and the fuel savings will look mighty good. Finally, long years of comfort, low expense and appreciation of air that is always clean, will cause them to look back at this future installation, if necessary. If you lack ready cash, let us talk it over. We regret to tell you we believe that no more will be obtainable at these prices.

We thoughtfully say "Hurry in and order one of these furnaces"

This sale is nearly ended. All latest 1920 models bought at aJnuary prices. We are sharing profits to tide over the dull season in heating. We will reserve furnaces for sale with gratitude.

LEADS CHURCH SURVEY IN MINNESOTA TOWNS

REV. HOWARD JOHNSON
Director of Interchurch World Movement's Minor City Survey.

STUDY OF MINOR CITIES IS BEGUN

Places of More Than 5,000, Less Than 25,000, Included.

200,000 MINNESOTANS TO BE ASKED QUESTIONS

Under the direction of Rev. Howard Johnson, the Interchurch World Movement will make a survey in Minnesota of all cities of 5,000 and less than 25,000 population. There are about 30 of these cities in all, and they include all Minnesota cities except Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. The total population of these 30 cities is more than two hundred thousand.

The survey will include a plat of the educational, industrial business, philanthropic and religious activities in each block of the city. This block survey will be followed by a house to house inquiry to ascertain the church membership or religious preference of each person living in the city. Results will be tabulated to give a comprehensive idea of the whole situation in the community.

Each church will also fill out a detailed schedule, giving a recital of past achievements and an estimate of future needs. Recommendations based upon the surveys will be sent to the various denominational missionary boards concerning the needs of each field.

The cities to be surveyed in Minnesota under this arrangement are varied in character, but for the most part are agricultural, railroad or educational cities. Six of the cities are in the Iron Range district.

Mr. Johnson resigned as pastor of the Baptist Church of Luverne to give all his time to the Interchurch World Movement. He is a graduate of Bucknell University and Crozier Theological Seminary. He came to Minnesota three years ago from a New York pastorate.

The surveys are already organized in Northfield, Winona, Rochester, Hibbing, Bemidji, Brainerd and Moorhead.

A Letter From the West.

To our many friends in Thief River Falls: We promised so many to write and tell about our trip and how we like Washington that I will ask The Times to print a letter which will have to answer to all and save me a lot of work.

We left Thief River Falls on the 24th of March, stopping at Crookston and Grand Forks on our way to Ferndale, Washington. At Grand Forks we were met by Mr. and Mrs. Ladmell and we had just time to say goodbye before the coast train came in.

The first night we did not sleep much as we were not used to sleeping on a train. Next morning we found ourselves out in Montana and found another party from Thief River Falls on the train—Mr. and Mrs. Erick Lorn—on their way to Seattle. We had our coffee cooked and table set just like home and enjoyed our trip although there is not much to see through Montana. It became dark before we reached Glazier Park so we did not see much there.

The second night we slept well and next morning noticed that the train was standing still. I looked out and saw the steep mountain on one side and a river on the other. Found there was a rock slide ahead of the train and saw a big rock had fallen out of the mountain wall and across the rail. The trainmen were using dynamite in an effort to blast it away but the rock was so large that each charge took away but little of it. At last they chiselled away sufficient to allow the engine to pass but the ladders on the side of the baggage car caught and the train had to back up again. Finally after three hours and twenty minutes delay we managed to pass. That rock might have thrown the whole train into the river but for the watchman patrolling this dangerous pass. He happened to hear the rock slide and stopped the train just in time. This happened a little ways east of Bonners Ferry, Idaho. Arrived at Spokane and had a 15 minute stop, continuing at high speed as they were trying to make up for lost time. This was not to be, however, as just as we were coming to a little station named Edwall we were again stopped by a wrecked freight train ahead. Another three hours of waiting.

But they say everything has an end and so it was with this trip. We had been delayed so much that in running down to Winatche it became dark and we missed the most interesting scenery on the whole trip—the Cascade mountains where the train runs on high trestles, through tunnels and winding in and out among mountain peaks. Arrived at Everett at 12 o'clock at night and stayed till morning. Boarded another train going north and arrived at our destination at 1 o'clock.

Now I presume your question is about as follows: How do you like Washington? The answer is: Don't like it so far. We were told before we came here that it was full summer, but such is not the case. There is an awful cold wind and we even have snow on the ground since we came here, so we have not gained anything by changing places so far and if we don't like it any better a year from now most likely we will move back to Minnesota.

We live on a paved road where about 1,000 autos pass every day with such speed that I am afraid to look at them. Accidents happen very often.

Met the Skogstad family since we came here and they seem to like it allright. They have a very nice place.

Well, I don't know whether The Times has its own printing plant again so I must close my letter. Should I find that it has been of any interest to my old neighbors I might perhaps write another. This is my first communication to a newspaper, but I trust in the mountains being so high that I cannot hear the remarks.

Our best greetings to all our friends at Thief River Falls. Yours truly, O. J. OIEN and Family.

MINNESOTA MAN GAINS 20 POUNDS

WAS SO RUN DOWN COULD HARDLY KEEP ON HIS FEET. IS NOW STRONG

"I have not only gainted twenty pounds since I began taking Tanlac but I feel so fine all the time that my father has commenced taking it too and I have called in here today to get four more bottles," said Martin Hangen of 1051 Sixteenth Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., when he called at the drug store a few days ago. Mr. Hangen is a popular bookkeeper for the Dickenson Grain Co., and during the late war he served nineteen months in France with the American Expeditionary Forces.

"For three years I have been in bad health. I was in the army but it failed to improve my condition like it did for most of the boys, in fact, I kept getting worse and worse all the time," continued Mr. Hangen. "When I got out of the army I was in such a weakened, run-down condition that I was as pale as a ghost, felt tired all the time, had an awful case of indigestion and, in short was in the worst fix I had ever been in. My appetite was so poor that I had to force myself to eat enough to keep alive and even then what I ate disagreed with me and gave me terrible cramping pains in my stomach and caused me to have attacks of heartburn. My blood was in bad condition and I had awful attacks of headaches and my kidneys troubled me so much that I had terrible pains through my back. I couldn't sleep sound at night and I was so weak that I could hardly get about and all that kept me going was nerve.

"I tried all kinds of medicines but nothing ever did me any good at all until I commenced taking Tanlac and I want to tell you the way it helped me right from the start is simply remarkable. The indigestion has all left me and I am able to eat anything I please without being troubled in any way. My kidneys are in fine condition and never bother me one bit and the pains in my back have all disappeared. My blood has been purified and the headaches are a thing of the past and I sleep like a log at night. As I said I have picked up in weight until I have gained twenty pounds and I have more strength and energy than I have had in years, and to make a long story short, I samply feel great."

THE STRENGTH OF A BANK

The strength of a bank depends entirely upon the ease tnr speed with which it can make its assets available in Cash when needed. Because of our membership in the Federal Reserve System, we can at any time instantly obtain cash. This in effect increases our available reserve and insures our being able to meet any demand for funds which the community may make upon us.

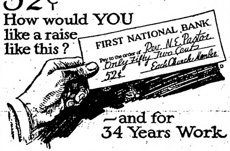
How would YOU like a raise like this?



—and for 34 Years Work

THAT is the kind of increase in salary the minister has received. His living expenses have risen just as fast and as far as yours.

But he is paid on the average just 52 cents more per church member than he was paid 34 years ago.

The Minister Never Fails You

Every officer of the Government with a war message to deliver appealed to the ministers first of all.

But 80% of the ministers receive less income than government economists figure as a minimum for the support of an average family.

When hospitals need money they enlist the support of the ministers—and receive it.

But when sickness visits the minister or the members of his family they must be treated in a charity ward. His pay is less than a day laborer's.

8 out of every 10 ministers receive less than $20 a week—about half the pay of a mechanic.

We Pay Him Half the Wages of a Mechanic

And of these pitifully inadequate salaries, how much do you contribute? Nothing if you are outside the church; an average of less than 3c a day if you are a church member.

All of us share in the benefits of Christian ministers to the community. They marry us; bury us; baptize our children; visit us when we are sick. In their hands is the spiritual training of the youth.

We Are All Profiteers at Their Expense

Part of the Interchurch World program is this—a living wage for every minister of Jesus Christ; an efficient plant, and a chance to do a big man's job.

If you want better preachers, help to pay the preachers better. It's the best investment for your community—and for your children—that you can ever make.

MANY KINDS, AND ALL GOOD

That Would Seem to Be the Verdict of Humanity on the Great Question of Pies.

They were talking about pies and discussing which was the best, and, what we gathered from the cheerful controversy, all were the best.

The person who stood up for the good old apple pie was just as eloquent in his references to the peach or pumpkin pie. In fact, each person would hurry through the praise of one kind of pie in order to champion another, which convinced us that of all the varieties of food in this world the pie is the blessedest.

Sometimes you will find a man who doesn't eat pie, but watch him. Pie is a remedy for many distempers. We one time cured a ferocious sick headache with a quarter of mince pie, and that, too, on the advice of a physician.

One of the party never heard of a mulberry pie, and what a barren life she must have led. We are through with the cherry pie era and with what joy it has filled the world! We came to the berry era, and first of all there is the huckleberry pie, which berry has rescued from sunshine and soil all the grace of the earth. If a man does not like a huckleberry pie, it is because the pie or himself has not been well made. The black raspberry pie stands away up on the snowy peaks of perfection and for picnic purposes it is unparalleled. When we eat raspberry pie in the woods we feel that the Dryads are feeding us from their lily white hands.

There are other glorious pies, of course, but we must have room to say that the glory of a pie is in the grace and charm of the cook. The pastry depends upon her temper, and the pastry is three-fourths of a pie. If we were going to get married again, we would arrange a pastry-making contest, and the damsel that made the best pastry we would marry—if we could.—Ohio State Journal.

UNABLE TO ANALYZE DRUG

Intoxicating Principles of Powerful Narcotic, "Cohoba," Remain a Mystery to Chemists.

When Columbus arrived at the island of Haiti he and his followers were interested to observe a curious practice of the natives, who were accustomed on ceremonial occasions to make use of a narcotic snuff productive of a sort of hypnotic state, with vision supposed to be supernatural.

The tribal wizards, or priests, while under the influence of the drug, were accustomed to hold communication with unseen powers, and their mutterings were construed as prophecies and revelations of hidden things.

The snuff was called "cohoba," and, in the form of a fine powder, was inhaled through a forked wooden tube, the forks being inserted in the nostrils and the lower end of the tube buried in a little heap of the snuff, which was held on a tray of carved wood. Sometimes large snail shells were used for snuff boxes.

The mimosa-like tree from which the snuff is obtained is plentiful along the banks of the Orinoco and the Amazon. It grows in Haiti, Porto Rico and other islands of the Antilles. The seeds yielded by its pods are dried, roasted and ground to powder, which is sometimes mixed with lime from calcined snail shell.

Only recently has this tree been identified by Dr. W. E. Safford of the government plant bureau as the source of the snuff, the origin of which has hitherto been a puzzle. The chemical properties of the drug are still unknown and so its intoxicating principle remains a mystery.

Frightful Experience.

"What was my most thrilling experience?" mused the ex-pilot. "Ah! I could never forget it. It was a bright starlight night, but the lurid flashes around us obscured all else as we sped through the air. The advancing enemy was hard upon us, while all around we heard the weird, savage music so terribly familiar, and the thud as of a thousand falling meteors. We dived, looped, corkscrewed till our senses were numbed. I felt a sharp pain in my right foot, a dull weight in my side—I was falling, falling—and knew no more till I found myself lying on the ground badly smashed some hours later."

"And that was really your record aerial engagement?"

"No," he replied; "it was my first experiment with the jazz."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Paying the War Cost.

Referring to the cost of the war, Secretary of War Baker told the finance committee of the senate and house that the total outgo in round numbers would be $30,000,000,000; but $9,000,000,000 of this was loans to our allies. Nearly a third of the net cost has already been paid out of money raised by taxation. The other two-thirds was obtained from the five Liberty loans. If we pay a billion a year, besides interest, we can clear off the war cost in about twenty-one years.

Big Contribution to War.

One of the most striking contributions of the United States to the war was the enormous quantity of smokeless powder high explosives produced, says the Scientific American. From April 1, 1917, to November 11, 1918, we produced 632 million pounds of smokeless powder, which was almost exactly equal to the combined output of France and Great Britain.

HOME GROWN SEED

Repeated tests in the spring wheat states prove beyond any question that Marquis outyields any other spring wheat and because of its excellent milling qualities is gaining very rapidly in popularity.

Being a better wheat than the other Fifes, Bluestem and Velvet Chaff in most localities, a concerted action should be taken to establish Marquis as the standard wheat.

Home-grown seed if of a fair quality, is better than that obtained from a distance, although a good seed brought from another locality is usually better than poor seed grown at home. Each farmer will do well to keep his seed as pure as possible and to select for seed a field which can be kept free from weeds and other grain mixtures. Every farmer ought to establish a seed plot on a different piece of ground each year and keep enough seed for at least two years. Oftentimes seed grown from such a plot is worth a lot of money.

If good seed is not available at home or in the locality, ask your banker or elevator what plans have been made to bring seed into the county or write to the state experiment station. If you have any 1918 seed do not sell it at the elevator but keep it for seed and let your neighbors know that you have some good seed. Don't sell any wheat suitable for seed at the elevator for the market. Hold it for seed. Somebody wants it. Seed is scarce this year.

SEED BED FOR WHEAT

Loose on Top, but a Firmly Packed Root Bed.

Wheat is a shallow feeding plant and therefore should have a firm foundation. When wheat is to follow corn or other cultivated crop, no plowing is necessary, but the surface should be made fine with a harrow. The plowing ought to be done in the fall for best results. If deep turned a few days before seeding in the spring time, no maximum yield is possible unless some sort of sub-packing implement can firm the root bed thoroughly.

Do you remember the circus ring in the morning after the show, after the horses have pounded it down and at the same time scuffed it up on top? That is the ideal condition for the seed and root bed.

Deep plowing is probably necessary now and then owing to conditions, but the root bed should not be disturbed by the plow or any other tool for spring seeding.

The spring work should be nothing more or less than pulverizing the top layer about two or three inches deep on corn land or land which is in proper condition.

If necessary to plow in spring, a heavy corrugated roller should be used. The root bed must be packed hard and firm. A hard under surface is imperative whether obtained by machinery or by nature.

SEED VERY POOR

The indications are that seed wheat has low germinating qualities this year and it will take careful fanning and selection to get the best of it out for seed. In all probability the 1919 crop contains a sufficient amount of good wheat to sow the required acreage in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, but it will take very careful handling to grade it, to treat it for smut and to test it for germination.

Farmers are accustomed to taking their wheat from their own bins, therefore the cost of seed wheat will be approximately that of Marquis wheat or possibly 10 to 15 per cent above. Farmers will continue to grow wheat if they can be reasonably sure of a fair profit. The price is high and will be high for the year. Every effort should be made to sow a normal acreage of spring wheat.

SEED WHEAT

Select seed with dark flinty kernels free from yellowberry. Marquis is the favored wheat because it contains plenty of gluten of the best quality for bread-making. It matures from five to ten days earlier than other wheats, avoiding danger from hot winds and drought. Being earlier it is not so liable to rust. It does not shell out and waste so badly as Bluestem, Fife and Velvet Chaff during harvest even when overripe. The straw is shorter and stiffer and therefore suffers less from lodging.

If you buy seed be sure that the variety is as pure as possible, because one variety is always better than a mixture.

SPRING PLOWING

Spring plowing may be slightly shallower than fall plowing and should be worked down immediately. The surface mulch should not be too fine and powdery in districts where blowing is common. If too fine the rain may puddle it and not penetrate so readily. An excellent seed bed can be made in the spring on fall plowing or on spring disking followed immediately with corrugated rollers.

Number of Days to Harvest.

Marquis is an early variety ripening from 98 to 135 days after sowing, the average being about 115 days. This makes it three or four days earlier than most of the other Fife varieties, but it should be put into the ground just as soon as the seed bed may be prepared.

HOUSE BUILDING IN KOREA

Operations Always Begun by the Construction of a Most Ingenious System of Flues.

When a Korean begins to build a house he first lays down a system of flues where the floor is to be. These flues begin at a fireplace, usually built in an outer shed or in a closed alleyway connected with the house. From the fireplace the flues branch out like the ribs of a fan and end in a trench at the back of the floor space. This trench, in turn, opens into a chimney, usually built at some distance from the house. When the flues are completed the builder carefully covers them over with flagstones; he then cements the whole floor and covers it with a sort of thick oiled paper for which Korea is famous. The rest of the house is then built round the completed floor.

The heating system works in this way: When it is time to cook the rice for the morning meal the housewife lights a little straw or brushwood in the fireplace in the outer shed. While the rice is cooking the heat from the fireplace passes through the flues, heating the stone flags of the floor and diffusing a pleasant warmth that lasts until it is time to prepare the next meal. Two heatings a day generally suffice to keep the floor warm. On the floor the people sit by day and sleep by night. The heavy oiled paper that covers the floor prevents any smoke from entering the room.

Center of Agricultural Production.

The center of agricultural production of the United States, according to the value of crop and animal products for 1917, is in west-central Illinois, as shown by a diagram just issued by the department of agriculture. The states of greatest production are: Iowa, $1,330,000,000; Illinois, $1,255,000,000; Texas, $1,045,000,000; Missouri, $947,000,000; Ohio, $851,000,000; Nebraska, $774,000,000; Indiana, $766,000,000; Kansas, $735,000,000; New York, $700,000,000; Minnesota, $646,000,000; Pennsylvania, $630,000,000; Georgia, $605,000,000; Wisconsin, $598,000,000; California, $575,000,000; Michigan, $534,000,000, and Kentucky, $520,000,000.

Really Serious.

The Newlyweds had unwittingly chosen their abode in the neighborhood where scandal was rife.

One morning one of the neighbors sent a hoarse whisper over to her chief confidant:

"What's the trouble between the Newlyweds?"

"Her husband tried to keep something from her."

"Oh, that's not serious! Men will have their little secrets."

"Ah, you don't understand! This is serious. He tried to keep a dollar and a quarter of his last week's pay."

VALUE OF CROPS OF COUNTY LAST YEAR $2,197,615

THIS DOES NOT INCLUDE $328,196 PAID TO PATRONS FOR BUTTERFAT

BEST DAIRY SHOWING IN NORTH HALF OF STATE, OUTSIDE OF POLK

WHEAT STILL THE BIG CROP, RUNNING TO OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS

While Pennington county is one of the smallest in the state in acreage it stands in sixty-second place among the 86 counties in the number of cultivated farms contained within its borders, and in sixty-sixth place in the value of general field crops produced. The total value of the rye, corn, spring wheat, barley, potatoes, hay and flax was $2,197,615, there being 18 counties falling under this figure, among them communities of recognized agricultural standing such as Carlton, Aitkin, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Kanabec, Mille Lacs and Roseau.

The spring wheat crop is still the most important in the county, representing about a quarter of the total in money value. According to the above statement the amount received for this cereal by the farmers of Pennington was $585,000. Polk and Ottertail are the banner wheat counties, the former producing a crop worth $5,400,000, while the latter scored an even million dollars less. Marshall also was a heavy producer, the crop there being valued at $4,286,000.

Corn Shows Up Well.

Last season was particularly favorable for corn in the northwestern part of the state and all counties made good records. The value of the crop raised here was $205,200, which is only about $20,000 below Kittson, a much larger county. The banner corn county in the state is Renville, the value of the crop there being $5,241,600.

The oat crop of Pennington county was worth $374,800 as compared with $230,400 for Red Lake county and $294,000 for Roseau. Nobles county is the leader in this cereal, $2,553,600 being the return there.

Fair in Potatoes.

As compared with Polk and Marshall counties Pennington was not very strong on barley, the crop totaling $171,520. In this cereal also Polk and Marshall are leaders, the former's crop being worth $1,760,880 and the latter's $1,252,800.

The value of Pennington county's potato crop was $214,200, there being 40 counties that did not reach this amount. Among these are Marshall, Roseau and Cass. Clay is the leading potato county of the state, the crop there being valued at $4,700,160, while Polk is rapidly coming to the front, its production last year bringing the neat sum of $1,028,160.

Pennington County's rye crop was worth $117,000, being beaten in this department by Red Lake county, whose total was $136,000.

Hay Crowds Wheat.

It will no doubt prove a surprise to many to find that the hay crop of the county was almost as valuable as the wheat. The total for this staple amounted to $508,200, which falls but little short of the record made by Sherburne, Norman and Scott counties. In hay Marshall county leads Polk, the former totalling $938,000 as compared with $770,000 for Polk.

The flax output of the county was valued at $396,495, leading Ottertail, Norman, Pope, Red Lake and Roseau and falling only about $75,000 behind Kittson. Marshall is state leader in this crop, its value there being $794,825.

Satisfactory as the above showing is, it is in the dairy division that Pennington county stands almost at the head. Outside of Polk there is not another county in the northern half of the state reaching the figure for butterfat production credited to Pennington. The total is $328,196.02 as against $634,034.75 for Polk county with four times the acreage and twice the number of cattle. The figures for other nearby counties will prove of interest: Red Lake, $165,880.70; Kittson, $200,435.15; Roseau, $168,446.07; Marshall, $268,051.98; Clearwater, $136,912.26; Norman, $247,578.19; Mahnomen, $68,184.20; Clay, $172,370.72; Becker, $306,866.80; Hubbard, $43,887.85; Cass, $92,627.12; Itasca, $45,506.53.

What Oil Husbandry Means to You

THE price of gasoline is high when compared to the price asked five years ago, but the price would be much higher if it were not for the long list of useful products made from that portion of the crude which is left after the gasoline and refined oils have been removed.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) makes a wide range of products from this residue — each product rendering a definite, useful service to mankind, and each bearing its share of the cost of production, thereby helping to keep down the price you pay for gasoline.

The petroleum chemists in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) constantly are at work trying to develop new processes which will enable the Company to utilize every fraction of the crude oil, thus eliminating waste.

This means husbanding the country's resources by taking from the crude oil the maximum number of useful products, and recovering a maximum yield of each.

To do this is the constant aim of the Company.

Correcting An Evil

Here's an idea we want to pass on to you because it is timely. While all of us are reconstructing international ills, let's reconstruct some of our home-grown evils — particularly those that affect the farmer. This bank and unite in saying: Let's reconstruct the produce middleman and get better prices for both grower and consumer. Let's reconstruct the meat handler and give the stockman a chance. Let's reconstruct our marketing system.

Let's make the farmer's dollar bigger and its buying power greater. In a word, let's recognize that the American farmer deserves the biggest, broadest leadership that can be found — such leadership as THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, nationally, and this bank, locally, are giving today. ONE DOLLAR will bring you this oldest and best farm periodical for 52 weeks. Just ask us to charge your account; or, if you haven't an account with us, come in and talk it over.

COURT DECREES DITCHES 102-3 MADE ONE JOB

DITCH NO. 30, PENNINGTON COUNTY, TAKEN OUT OF PROCEEDINGS

SURVEY OF DIAGONAL PLAN ALSO CALLED FOR BY JUDGE GRINDELAND

ACTION ACCORDS WITH RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE RED LAKE COMMISSION

Judge Grindeland in chambers at Warren this week signed the order consolidating ditches No. 102 and 103 in Beltrami and Marshall counties and dismissed from the proceedings the petition to make ditch No. 30 in Pennington county a part of the consolidated system. This does not mean an individual enterprise. Ditches 102 that the latter project is abandoned but that it can be better handled as n individual enterprise. Ditches 102 and 103 will hereafter be known as Consolidated Judicial Ditch No. 1.

The court also ordered the engineer in charge to make a survey of the proposed route for what is known as the modified diagonal ditch and present the same as early as possible. This proposal is for a ditch beginning in the northeast part of Marshall county and having its outlet in the Thief river a short distance above Thief River Falls.

Commission Approves.

The decision in this matter by Judge Grindeland is in thorough accord with the recommendations of the newly organized Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy commission so far as the desirability of undertaking the work is concerned, but nothing in the nature of a plan of procedure is suggested, this being left to the engineers.

Plan of New School Accepted by Board

SUND & DUNHAM, MINNEAPOLIS, WILL RUSH WORK ON SPECIFICATIONS

At a meeting of the school board on Tuesday evening the plans of Sund & Dunham, Minneapolis architects, for a new school building on the East Side, were accepted. The successful firm is prepared to go right ahead with the work of getting out the specifications and will advertise for bids as soon as possible.

The plans call for a 14-room building. The old structure will be wrecked and the brick and other material used as far as possible. The frame building will continue to be employed as a school until the new one is completed. This will not provide sufficient room but it is the intention to rent one or two of the churches on the east side of the river and equip them temporarily for school purposes.

No name has as yet been selected for the new building and it is probable that the children themselves will be permitted to suggest one.

Outside Merchants Invited to Lecture

LOCAL ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD INTERESTING MEETING WEDNESDAY

There will be a business session of the Thief River Falls Merchants association next Wednesday evening, followed by a lecture by R. I. Byington, lecturer for the Burroughs Adding Machine company, on "Personal Efficiency as Related to System." The talk is educational along general accounting lines.

A special invitation has been extended to the merchants of surrounding towns to come and hear this lecture and the business men of the city, whether members of the association or not, will also be welcomed.

A 50 cent lap lunch and smoker will follow the lecture.

Resigns as Pastor of Lutheran Church

REV. O. J. KVALE MAY ENTER CONGRESSIONAL RACE IN SEVENTH

After serving as pastor of the Lutheran church in this city since January 1, Rev. O. J. Kvale last Sunday preached his farewell sermon to the congregation and will take up the pastorate of his former call at Benson, Minn.

It has been known here for some time that the congregation at Benson was adverse to letting him go and that he felt as if the people there had the first call upon his services. He finally decided to give up the charge here and return to his former home.

Rev. Kvale was a short time ago endorsed for the Republican nomination as congressman from the Seventh district by the Farmer and Labor convention in Minneapolis. While he did not specifically so state it is the understanding here that he will accept and make the campaign. In referring to the matter in church on Sunday, Rev. Kvale only stated that he was undecided, but that should he conclude to enter the political field he would apply to the work the same principles and be guided by the same religious ideals as he has espoused as a minister of the Gospel.

The retiring pastor is a man of high standing within the councils of his denomination and a speaker of both charm and force. His acceptance of a nomination at the hands of the Nonpartisans would surprise many of his closest friends here, but he has stated that he would follow the dictates of his conscience in the matter and is evidently not prepared to apologize to anyone for the stand he may finally decided to take.

Winton-Nichols Co. Buys Lengby Yards

NINTH PLANT IN THIS SECTION ACQUIRED BY WELL-KNOWN CONCERN

C. A. Nason, secretary of the Winton-Nichols Lumber company, this week closed a deal with Lillo Brothers at Lengby whereby the lumber yrad operated by them is added to the Winton-Nichols string. The change of ownership was affected at once, the old manager, W. S. Wheeler, being left in charge.

This last acquisition makes nine yards in this immediate section operated by the Winton-Nichols people, the others being located at Thief River Falls, Mavie, Goodridge, Radium, Middle River, Holt, Fosston and Viking. The concern is one of the oldest in this section of the state engaged in the lumber and building material business and one of the best-known and most favorably regarded in the state. According to Mr. Nason negotiations are pending whereby it is probable that others will be added in the near future, giving the concern a buying power enjoyed by but few of its competitors.

Another Pioneer Gone.

James Novotny, father of Mrs. John Havel of this city, died at his home near Badger at the advanced age of 85 years. Mr. Novotny came to this country from Bohemia about 60 years ago and had been a resident of northwestern Minnesota for 40 years. He formerly resided at Tabor in Polk county, but for the past 20 years has made Badger his home. During recent years deceased had been in failing chalth. He leaves a family of grown up children and a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Havel attended the funeral which was held on Sunday.

Loses One Finger.

Fred Stephanson, 10-year-old son of the Goodridge druggist, accidently fired the charge of a shot gun thru his hand this week. He was holding the hand over the muzzle of the piece when in some manner it was discharged. The member was badly lacerated and Dr. H. W. Froehlich, who was called found it necessary to ambutate the middle finger.

Stork a Loafer But Still Leading Reaper

DECREASE OF 27 IN NUMBER OF BIRTHS DURING PAST YEAR

Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund has just received the annual report of the births and deaths in Pennington county from the state board of health. There were 296 babies born during 1919 as compared with only 143 deaths. At that the stork did not maintain the record of the year previous, failing by 27 to reach the total for 1918. There was an increase of one in the death roll over the previous twelve months, which is a very good showing when it is remembered that the county went through a severe influenza epidemic.

Deer Park carries off the banner among the townships, reporting 11 arrivals and no departures. Smiley also did remarkably well, there being 17 births and four deaths. Rocksbury, Reiner and Black River make the poorest showing, the first reporting 11 births and 16 deaths, Reiner 5 births and 6 deaths and Black River 2 births and 8 deaths. In the case of Rocksbury the figures are misleading as the Tri-County sanatorium is situated there and deaths occuring at that institution are charged against the township. Following is the record for the different localities in the county:

Township	Births	Deaths
Black River	2	8
Bray	4	1
Cloverleaf	7	2
Deer Park	11	0
Goodridge	4	1
Hickory	7	2

INDIAN IS SENT TO STILLWATER FOR FOUR YEARS

REV. MARCUS D. SMITH OF MAHNOHMEN PLEADS GUILTY TO SERIOUS CHARGE

TWO OTHERS SIMILARLY ACCUSED COMMITTED TO ST. CLOUD REFORMATORY

JUDGE GRINDELAND ALLOWS FOR TRIBAL CUSTOMS IN HIS SENTENCE

Rev. Marcus D. Smith, a fullbloded Indian and an Episcopal minister at Twin Lakes, Mahnomen county, was on Tuesday evening sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater by Judge Andrew Grindeland at a special term of court held in this city. Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of having carnal knowledge of an adopted daughter 14 years of age. Arrested with him on the same charge were Joseph Summers and Alfred Oliver, both Indians. The latter are about 22 years of age and were committed to the state reformatory at St. Cloud.

C. C. Cooper, county attorney of Mahnomen county, Sheriff Joseph Urnes and Clerk of Court T. H. Blanchard accompanied the prisoners to this city. The latter were represented in court by Attorney A. J. Parsons.

Judge is Lenient.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Grindeland said that while mindful of the seriousness of the charge to which the prisoners pleaded guilty, yet he could but take into consideration the fact that they were Indians and according to their tribal customs the crime was one to which no great importance was attached. Because of his supposedly superior education and greater age Smith was given the most severe sentence, although there seemed to be no great difference in the degree of guilt admitted by the trio.

The Mahnomen county officials left for their homes in charge of the prisoners Wednesday morning.

Will Commemorate I. O. O. F. Centenary

DR. JAMES O. WERNTZ WILL DELIVER PRINCIPAL ADDRESS HERE

It was one hundred and one years ago on April 26 that the first Odd Fellows lodge in the United States was instituted at Baltimore. In every subordinate lodge in the country appropriate exercises in commemoration of that event will be held on some date as near the actual anniversary as is possible. Lone Pine lodge of Thief River Falls is making preparations for thsi event which will mark another step in the progress of this great organization. Dr. James O. Werntz of Moose Lake, grand marshall of the I. O. O. F. of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker and it is possible that August Hohenstein of St. Paul, grand master-elect, will also be present. The meeting will be held in the hall of the lodge on Monday evening, May 3.

Numerically the Odd Fellows is the largest lodge in America having a membership of considerably over two million. The three links are in evidence wherever there is any considerable congregation of men and the great work it is doing makes it very popular.

The meeting will be open to all Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, together with their invited friends. Members of the order who may belong to some other jurisdiction will be particularly invited and it is hoped to make the meeting one of the best in the history of the lodge.

Thief River Pioneer Dies in Milwaukee

JAMES MEEHAN, SR., OWNER OF FIRST SAW MILL, DIES AT ADVANCED AGE

Word has just been received here of the death in Milwaukee of James Meehan, Sr., an old-time resident of Thief River Falls. He was 86 years of age.

Together with his brother, Patrick, James Meehan built the first saw mill in Thief River Falls, the plant beginning operations in 1891 and continuing until 1898, when they sold out to the Thief River Falls Lumber company. Previous to that time they had built a mill at St. Hilaire but found that because of the low stage of water in the river it would be impossible to drive the logs to that point. Having been given a bonus to locate there, however, the people would not permit them to remove the machinery and it was necessary to secure other equipment for the plant here, at the same time permitting that at the lower town to remain where it was. The Meehans never did saw any logs at St. Hilaire.

Deceased is well remembered by all old-timers, having been something of a power in local affairs during his residence here.

BURTON SPEAKS AT AUDITORIUM NEXT TUESDAY

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT TO STOP OFF HERE BY SPECIAL REQUEST

ENROUTE TO GREENBUSH TO DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

MAY BE LAST OPPORTUNITY FOR MANY TO HEAR THIS NOTED EDUCATOR

The people of Thief River Falls and vicinity will be given an opportunity of again hearing Dr. Francis Marion Burton, president of the university of Minnesota, before he leaves the state for the purpose of becoming the head of Michigan university.

Dr. Burton will speak at the auditorium here next Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock and a general invitation has been extended to all to come out and hear him. The subject of his discourse has not yet been nanounced, but that it will be both timely and of general interest goes without saying.

The university president will be on his way to Greenbush for the purpose of dedicating a school building and stops off here at the request of a large number of citizens. In complying Dr. Burton stated that he looks forward with a great deal of pleasure to this opportunity of again meeting the people of this neighborhood.

High-Salaried Man.

As president of Michigan university Dr. Burton will receive the highest salary paid to a man in his position by any similar institution in the United States, the reported figure being $12,000 per year. He is recognized as one of the foremost educators in the country and is in constant demand for addresses by the people of all sections. Those who recall the masterly speech delivered by him during the war will not need to be urged to be present on this occasion.

The problems confronting the country are serious and numerous. Dr. Burton has made a deep study of both their cause and cure so that the remedies and solutions he proposes should carry a great deal of weight.

Everybody is invited to hear this address and there is no admission charge.

Issues Republican Pamphlet.

Nearly 20,000 copies of a pamphlet entitled "Why Republican?" compiled by Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen, chairman of the state republican women's committee, are to be sent out to women in all parts of the state through the county organizations, women's clubs and church organizations. Five hundred copies were sent out today to county chairmen and women, congressional chairmen and women delegates to the state convention. This pamphlet includes brief chapters on suffrage, prohibition, child labor, federal reserve bank, the republican party, and "Achievements of the Republican Party."

Flood Control Bill Favorably Reported

FINAL HEARING ON MEASURE HELD IN HOUSE LAST SATURDAY

Representatives Steenerson and Knutson appeared Saturday before the House Flood Control committee on the final hearing on the bill for the improvement of Red Lake and Red Lake river for navigation, drainage and flood control purposes. The bill authorized the construction of controlling works at the outlet of Red Lake and authorizes the deepening and straightening of the Red Lake river, and tributaries, with a view to prevent floods, not only in the drainage basin of Red Lake and Red Lake river, but also in the Red River. This bill was favorably reported by the committee.

The control of the Red Lake water levels will in effect establish a reservoir to prevent floods in the Red River valley. The bill confers upon the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district, organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota, authority to construct these improvements. The purpose is not only to prevent floods but to establish drainage outlets for vast areas in Itasca, Beltrami, Clearwater, Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties. A quarter of a million acres of this area is in the Red Lake Indian reservation.

The total cost of the primary project will be about $800,000, but only part of this sum will be assessed against lands for drainage benefits, the expense being apportioned as follows: Water Power companies operating between Thief River Falls and Grand Forks, $240,000; Indian lands, $236,000; lands outside of the reservation, $248,000; and the United States government, $15,000.

This is a great piece of constructive legislation and the project, when completed, will easily rank as one of the most beneficial reclamation projects ever completed in the northwest, and will add to the agricultural area of northern Minnesota at a conservative estimate one million acres. This is a project in which the whole state of Minnesota is interested for owing to severe storms and floods hundreds of farmers in this drainage district lost their crops, valued at many millions of dollars last year, and that the state was compelled to authorize relief of several hundred thousand dollars at the last session of the legislature.

Several weeks age a committee of the Minnesota Legislature visited Washington in the interest of reservoir projects on Lake Traverse and Ottertail Lake for the purpose of preventing floods in the Red River valley in Wilkin, Clay, Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties, and the reservoir on Red Lake will be a part of this comprehensive scheme when completed.

Willing to Pave if Streets Are Ready

PREPAREDNESS RATHER THAN COST TO BE ARGUED BY OBJECTORS

When the bids for paving the streets of Thief River Falls are opened on May 4 it is expected that citizens interested will be at the council chambers in force to present their views on the subject. That there will be strenuous objection to undertaking the work at this time is certain, but those most outspoken in their opposition state that they are not taking this attitude because of their objection to paving but solely on the ground that the streets are not in condition at the present time to be usrfaced in this manner. They point out the unsightly hummocks left by reason of the sewer and water excavations and maintain that if these are leveled off a hollow will in a short time develop which will mean craced pavements and endless cost for repairs and upkeep.

Others claim that these trenches may be paved over and no one will ever know they are there for all the damage that can result. They point to the admitted fact that other cities have gone ahead with their surfacing immediately after the excavations have been filled and that they have held up under the most severe traffic.

It was expected that the item of cost would be the stumbling block, but this is gradually disappearing as an argument. It seems to be realized that there is slight likelihood of any reduction for many years to come and that the job might as well be undertaken now as any other time.

Whatever the outcome when the bids are read, the session is certain to be most interesting.

Boy Hit by Auto.

Melvin Tweten, seven years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Tweten, 502 State avenue north, was quite severely injured by being struck by an automobile on Sunday. The lad was rolling a hoop along the street and had stepped out of the way of an automobile coming from the west and directly in front of one driven by Carl Loen. The latter was running very slowly at the time and stopped his car within a few feet of where the boy was struck. The latter was unconscious when picked up and rushed to the Physicians hospital where Dr. Froehlich attended him. It was at first feared that the accident might result fatally but the victim has picked up gradually and there is every reason to hope that he will soon be as sound as ever. Mr. Loen is keenly sorry for the accident but does not believe himself in any manner responsible.

Accused of Bringing Whiskey Across Line

TWO MEN HELD HERE AWAITING FURNISHING OF $2,000 BOND

Frontis Parker and Oscar Johnson of Warroad, were brought here last Friday by Deputy U. S. Marshall Frank L. Bradley and placed in the Pennington county jail on a charge of having shipped 24 quarts of whisky from Sprague, Man., across the line into the United States in violation of the national prohibition act. They were arrested upon their arrival on the American side, taken to this city and given a hearing before Court Commissioner Wilhelm Michelet.

The men are being held awaiting arrangements for the furnishing of $2,000 bonds imposed by the commissioner. Friends were expected to arrive last evening to furnish the necessary sum and provide for their release. During the time that they have been awaiting someone to come to their rescue they have been in charge of Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh.

Attending Medical Clinic.

Dr. A. J. Paulson left the first of the week for Minneapolis where he will attend the state clinic. On Sunday he will continue his journey to New Orleans to attend the meeting of the National Medical association. Thereafter he will spend some time doing post-graduate work at Tuloume university, specializing in work pertaining to the eye, nose and throat.

ORGANIZED WITH AIM OF HELPING BIG MOVEMENT

REV. J. B. SMITH CHAIRMAN OF CHURCH CAMPAIGN IN THIS COUNTRY

CLOSER COOPERATION IN FINANCING IS VITALLY NEEDED CHANGE

MOVEMENT EMBRACES THE WORLD AND INCLUDES ALL DENOMINATIONS

The church has long recognized the fact that there has been a lack of efficiency in reaching the unhurched masses of our own country, as well as the great non-Christian masses of foreign lands. It has also been aware that this inefficiency has been due, in part at least, to denominational rivalry, overlapping and other evils that ought to admit of remedy when a proper Christian spirit prevailed. Hence this is a move for closer co-operation and in no sense a unification of the different evangelical bodies.

Plan of Operation.

The methods employed are labor along much needed lines and in places where the need appears to be greatest, and to raise vast sums of money somewhat commensurate with the great wealth of the church. There is a local organization for the survey of the district comprising Pennington and parts of Red Lake and Marshall counties. Dr. Johnson of St. Paul was the principal speaker at a meeting here last week and under his direction the following organization was affected: Rev. J. B. Smith of the M. E. church, chairman; Rev. R. L. Barackman of the Presbyterian church, chairman of the tithing department; Miss Ella Evans, life service; Andrew Bottelson, finance; Rev. Elmer Laroe, county survey, and Mrs. Christianson, spiritual work.

Collecting Information.

It is the purpose of this organization to collect and send to headquarters all the information available so that an intelligent disposition of the forces of the church may be made and that the local work of the churches concerned may be prosecuted with the utmost energy and governed by greater intelligence and brotherly feeling.

The move seems to be a spontaneous one on the part of the church to meet her responsibilities fairly and intelligently and will have the unflagging interest of all those who are interested in the spread of vital Christianity over the earth.

Take Entire Swartz Cigar Factory Output

TESSUM COMPANY BECOMES SELLING AGENT FOR CIGARS MADE HERE

The Tessum Seed, Grain & Supply company have added another department to their wholesale business in this city. Recently a deal was made whereby the concern takes all the cigars turned out at the factory of Charles C. Swartz and will become the distributors for these popular goods. The Swartz brands are Thief River Falls Booster, El Como and Factory Smoker—each a strong favorite in its division.

The new arrangement is adopted on the score of economy. The Tessum company recently became the handlers for this section of a nationally renowned line of candies and as the concern maintains a corps of traveling men making the territory at all times the addition of a line of cigars seems like a good business proposition. At the same time it enables Mr. Swartz to devote his intention to the manufacturing end.

"Big Time" Artists With Legion Revue

NOTED STARS ADDED TO OTHER FEATURES OF BIG SOLDIER SHOW

Fred Scanlan, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the American Legion Revue, the big vaudeville attraction booked for the auditorium next Tuesday evening, has received a letter from Reynolds & Lundberg, managers of the show, informing him that besides the features noted in the large advertisement in The Times today, they have secured two special numbers of more than ordinary merit—Irene Wenzeland and Rae LeAsne, two very clever artists appearing in piano and song. These young ladies are just off the "big time" vaudeville circuit and have joined forces with the revue for this tour. This makes the show one of seven exceptional acts, including the famous "Destroyer" cast which shows a United States destroyer stripped for action in the war zone and gives glimpses of the life on board one of these famous little fighters.

The revue will without question be the greatest thing of its kind ever presented in Thief River Falls.

THE OVERALL BRIGADE

There is hardly a doubt but that the overall movement, inaugurated in the South and which is rapidly spreading to other sections of the country, will have the effect of bringing down the prices of clothing if it is followed far enough. Whether or not anything in the nature of a permanent benefit results depends upon the determination of the votaries of the new fad.

A short time ago the women in many cities went on a luxury strike, vowing that they would not purchase unnecessary articles or anything for which an exorbitant price was asked. The movement fell flat, presumably because the feminine buyers had not the hardihood to withstand the temptation of buying the proscribed apparel.

Will the men be able to carry the matter past the fad stage? It begins to look as if there might be some hope of this. Clothing is too high and the blame is variously placed. Investigations have failed to fasten the responsibility on anyone and it is likely that conditions beyond the control of any person or group of persons is primarily responsible. Referring to this matter the Duluth Herald says:

"The Overall club is the latest. It is bobbing up here, there and everywhere, including Duluth.

"In Birmingham, Alabama, where it started, one result was the prompt raising of the price of overalls from three dollars a suit to six; but even at that, overall wearers are way ahead if they stick to it. This spring men's clothes are ten dollars more than last fall's, and unless something happens next fall's will be ten dollars higher still.

"If enough people stop buying commodities that are soaring, they will quit soaring. They can't help it. But one overall club will not do it, nor a dozen nor a hundred. What will do it is to make the fashion spread all over the country, and to have those who take it up stick it out for awhile.

"Don't blame the retailer for all the imposition. It goes from him back all the way to the button-hole stitcher who used to get nine dollars a week and now exacts fifty; and it takes in everybody connected with the process.

"Moreover, the retailer has to take what the jobber will sell him, pay whatever the jobber asks, and pretend to like it. The production isn't up to the demand; but if enough wear overalls that will be cured, and a good many other things too.

"Overalls will do it IF enough people get the habit and stick to it."

The St. Paul Dispatch seems to think that even though the price of clothing does come down the cost of the favored overalls will immediately jump to a point that will make their acquirement impossible. Warning those who are favoring this movement of what they may expect, the Dispatch says:

"Is there a possibility that the promoters of the overall club movement have overlooked one interesting probability? They are abandoning ordinary clothing and donning jeans for two reasons—first, because the jeans are cheap and second, as a warning to clothing profiteers. All right; but how long will overalls be cheap if there is a general movement in their favor? If these promoters are correct in their premises and there is profiteering in clothing, it is logical to expect that the same profiteering methods will be applied to overalls the instant the new demand for them is felt. Have the overall clubs thought of this?"

IT MEANS MORE POTATOES

All right, get mad about it if you want to. The Times is going to keep right on urging every man in northwestern Minnesota to test his seed before planting just as if we were hired to do so. It is realized that farmers know more about farming than do editors, but that makes no difference.

After all that has been said on the subject it will be taken for granted that no man will sow wheat without first having ascertained its germinating percentage. He would not be foolish enough to start the season with the chances all against his securing a crop. If native wheat is shown to be all right there will be no need of looking farther. On the other hand, if this seed fails to come up to expectations nothing could be more indefensible than putting it into the ground with the expectation that it would somehow acquire virtues it does not intrinsically possess. The chances against the wheat grower are sufficiently numerous and varied without his deliberately adding to them.

But how about potatoes? The spud is fast becoming an item of first importance in the section and the growers should begin to work toward a definite result. This can only be done by getting together and agreeing on the variety best adapted to the conditions here and then striving toward securing the very choicest products representing that particular kind. The marketing problem is always present but this need not be taken into consideration unless there are potatoes to sell.

Treat the seed against disease. The fact that a person believes his ground to be clean and that no blemishes are visible on the spuds he intends to plant will not insure a sound crop. Unless the seed is treated trouble may occur at any stage of its development. The safety of the crop is worth this much of an investment in insurance.

The potato is liable to prove the big ready-money crop next fall. More should be planted than ever before but the matter should be approached in the same manner as any other business proposition. Hap-hazzard methods will get us nowhere. This has been demonstrated in the case of livestock and field crops are no different. If you would secure the best results you must plant the best seed.

WHAT AILS THE SOLDIERS?

The facts may as well be admitted and the situation faced. The returned soldiers are dissatisfied with everything connected in any way with their reception and the provisions made for their future. Some of the expressions heard are astounding when it is considered that they are uttered by men who but recently were fighting for their country.

Ask almost any young man who has returned from service in France and you will be shocked at the views he expresses. The other day a group in this city was heard to remark that never again under any circumstances would they don the uniform of Uncle Sam. No specific reasons were given—they were just disgusted.

What is the reason for this attitude and how is it to be overcome? The American Legion is apparently unable to stem the wave of dissatisfaction now sweeping the country—in fact it may develop that the Legion itself is partly responsible for it. Hundreds of thousands of soldiers will have nothing to do with the organization, asserting that it is representing only the officers and doing nothing for the rank and file. The accusation is probably unjust, but that does not alter the fact that it is being made.

A writer in the Saturday Evening Post a couple of weeks ago called attention to the same situation. He stated that the East was full of discontent on the part of the soldiers at the treatment they had been accorded upon their return. Attempts to in any manner use them for political purposes was also being resented, he said, and warned any party undertaking anything of this kind that it would be treading on dangerous ground.

The trouble may straighten itself out but at present the situation is far from pleasant. When you hear young men who have worn the uniform say that they will be found dead before they will ever don it again it denotes a condition that should have the effect of making all our people thoughtful.

WOOL GROWERS ASSOCIATIONS

Farmers who have sheep are advised to interest themselves in forming county wool growers associations, similar to live stock shipping associations, which will handle the marketing of the wool for members. Directors of such an association hire a storage place and elect a manager who takes in the wool and, upon their orders, sells it for cash or consigns it to a wool commission firm. This plan has been tried in a small way for several years in Minnesota and has usually resulted in a savving of 5 to 12 cents a pound for the producer.

Sheep owners who are interested in forming associations to handle wool pools are advised to consult with their cunty agricultural agent or local farm bureau officials and to suggest a meeting of growers for the organization of a wool pool, if after full discussion it seems desirable.

A sample constitution and suggestions for handling a wool pool may be secured from the department of agriculture, State capitol or from the extension division, University Farm, St. Paul upon application.

WILL THIS HAPPEN?

Potatoes at 65 cents per order! It is not so long ago that a person could secure a pretty good meal, from soup to pie, for that amount of money at many a good eating house anywhere in America. Now it is the price charged for the potatoes alone. The spud is the table aristocrat at this particular moment and it looks as if he is about to be considered altogether too exclusive for common association.

Potatoes perform an important part in the table scheme of the ordinary American family and when the price of spuds goes up to between $5 and $7 per bushel, as now seem likely, the situation becomes little short of alarming. There are not many things the workingman's household can substitute for potatoes and when the price reaches a prohibitive figure he is decidedly up against a hard proposition. Supds may be dropped from the bill of fare of hotels, and are so being dropped, but these are in a position to offer something in their place. This is not always possible in the household of the workingman.

If the farmer benefitted to any extent by the present situation it would not be so bad, but he does not. He sold his potatoes long ago and is in luck if he has enough remaining for seed.

Another trouble is that instead of these prices stimulating potato planting this spring the opposite may be the case. It is quite a temptation to the farmer to be able to sell all he has on hand at a higher price than was ever offered before and devote his potato acreage to something else. He is liable to figure that there will be so many potatoes by fall that they will be worth little or nothing and for this reason consider himself justified in "taking his profit" when it is offered.

This is one of the hardest blows yet recorded against the dinner table of the poor man.

Have the Courage to Go Ahead

The man who has the foresight to go ahead with his plans now will be the winner in the end. There is nothing to indicate that there will be a reduction in the prices of commodities—in fact the tendency is the other way.

The Man Who Builds Now Will Be the Gainer

He will have the use of his buildings while the other man is waiting for prices to come down, with every prospect of being disappointed in the end. The man with the necessary buildings, particularly on the farm, is the one who gets the profits. He has the place to properly care for his products or to house his stock to the best advantage. His loss in wastage and shrinkage is smaller and the added conveniences save from loss of time.

Build This Year and Be Prepared

Comparatively it costs less to build now than at any other time. The cost is somewhat higher but so are the returns. DO NOT DELAY.

We shall be pleased to give you the benefit of our wide experience in supplying material. We have been doing it in this section for a quarter of a century.

Monsieur Beaucaire

Monsieur Beaucaire is a far-famed French nobleman.

He is one of those happy-go-lucky, independent chaps, with a smiling disposition.

His cousin, Louis XV, is desirous of his marriage with a certain French girl.

The girl is satisfied, but for obvious reasons, Monsieur is not. He'd like a little romance first he declares, and so he sail for England in the disguise of a common barber. However, he does not carry on that profession, but he runs a gambling den. Then he gets his first glimpse of the beautiful English girl, Lady Mary. He resolves to meet her, and in doing so forgets the French lassie at home.

In order to meet her he forces an English Lord (whom he has in his influence, due in some way to the gambling den), to introduce them. And then———.

Come to the Lyceum Tuesday, April 27th, and John Seaman Garns will tell you if he had any romance, if he meets Lady Mary, his impression, about the French girl, and what happened to Monsieur.

Girls Community Club.

The Girls Community club met in the commercial club rooms on Monday evening with a very large attendance. The girls had the good fortune of listening to a very interesting and instructive talk on Citizenship by Mrs. P. L. Fevoist of Duluth, who was formerly vice president of the State Federation of Woman's clubs but is now state chairman for the Gen. Wood campaign. In her talk she brought out many points of interest regarding the ability of women in the political field as well as along other lines of work for public good. Three little girls from Miss Tandberg's eighth grade class gave readings on Americanization. A group of boys from the same class offered a playlet on different nationalities when receiving citizenship papers. Lunch was served by the S's and T's. Preceding the program a short business meeting was held in which delegates were elected to the convention to be held at Warren on May 5 and 6. Those chosen were the Misses Rosa Taylor, Grace Wilson, Irma Johnson and Marie Nelson.

Woman's Club Meeting.

A lecture-recital by Dr. James Davis, musical critic of the Minneapolis Tribune, was the chief attraction at the meeting of the Woman's club held on Monday afternoon at the commercial club rooms. His chosen topic was "Folk Songs." In his talk he expressed strong antagonism toward rag-time and "jazz" stating that it was degenerating and that it failed to produce serious thinking. He then went on to explain the origin of folk-songs and told how they were the basis of all good music. Dr. Davis alleged that all of our great composers found their inspirations in folk-lore. At the conclusion of his lecture he sang a number of folk-songs which met with the hearty approval of all present. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher also delighted the audience with two vocal numbers. "Who Knows," and "Smilin' Thru."

At the business meeting which preceded delegates were elected to the district meeting of the Woman's clubs to be held in Warren on May 5 and 6. Mrs. W. J. LaBree, Mrs. O. F. Mellby and Mrs. E. M. Stanton were chosen. A committee of five including Mrs. H. O Loken, Mrs. R. McGinn, Mrs. G. C. Streeter, Mrs. J. Provencher and Mrs. G. H. Biddick was appointed to make arrangements for the Garnes entertainment to be given in this city on April 27. The following ushers were appointed: Mrs. S. C. Coumbe, Mrs. G. W. Connell and Mrs. Gynther Tessum.

Admission, 35 cents.

Are we going? Sure!

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
Colds Croup

"Granny" Chamberlain

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Yours for Health—"Granny" Chamberlain.

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobacco. But when tobacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' tobacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobacconess" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.

Is Remarkable Play.

"The Miracle Man," the great moving picture that will be shown for the last time at the Lyceum this evening, has created more comment than any other film production ever seen in the city. It is a great picture and teaches a valuable lesson besides being photographically a masterpiece. The attendance on the first two evenings as well as at the matinees was very good and it is expected that the final performance will be as well favored.

Lady Maccabees.

The ladies of the Maccabees request all memmers to be present at a meeting in their hall on April 26. As business of importance is to be transacted all members are urged to be present. By request of the commander.

To The Teachers of Pennington County:

At the time of the mailing of the teachers' requisition for State High School Board examinations, the teachers attention was called to the fact that he or she must make out his or her requisition at that time, for both March and May examinations.

The card blank known as "Eighth Grade Information" contained two squares in which to check for either or both examinations. The teacher checking only for the March examination and not the May examination will not receive the May examinations questions.

The county examiners' (or county superintendents') requisition must be made not later than April 3, 1920. You will therefore note that any requests for questions after said date cannot be considered. Therefore the two squares on your "Eighth Grade Information Card."

The county superintendent is known as the county examiner. If you will read the rules, you will note that he and his deputy have only one week in which to forward the returns for the county to the state examiner. That is one week following the last day of the examination. It is therefore very necessary for all district deputy examiners to be prompt in forwarding their returns to this office.

At the time of the March examination, two deputy district examiners forwarded their returns too late. These returns were received a day later than our returns were due at the department. These returns could not be accepted and were therefore returned to the respective district examiners. If you want the returns of your examiners district to be forwarded to the state examiner, you must forward to reach us on or before June 1, 1920. Remember we must be allowed some time in reviewing your marking of the papers. We must have the county returns in by June 3 as we need this time for our work.

Teachers whose pupils are taking the examination but who are not themselves appointed examiners are not permitted to accompany their pupils to the examination district without first making special arrangements with their school boards to "make up" the days so lost.

The class lists are not made out by the district deputy examiners but by the county examiner and his deputy. The county is created as though it were one school with the county superintendent as the examiner. These lists will not be sent out from this office.

Below will be found a list of all appointed examiners, grouping of schools, number of examinees, etc. This list is based upon all requests for May examinations made at the time "The Eighth Grade Information" cards were made out. If you failed to designate on same that you wanted the May examinations, it is now too late to apply for them. The state high school board accepts no requisitions from the county after April 3, 1920:

First is given district, then name of examiner, grouping of districts, and number of examinees:

Dist. 11, Mamie Votava, 11 and 2 Unorg., 6; 68, Katherine Dunn, 68, 3; 135, Gunda Engen, 135 and 25, 9; 31, Anna Barstad, 31 and 28, 3; 42, Mabel Engen, 42, 5; 43, Gladys Johnson, 43, 3; 15, Irene Lanage 15 and 46, 11; 37, Jas. B. P. O. E. INSTALL AND TALK OVER HOME BUILDING

NEW OFFICERS ASSUME THEIR STATIONS IN BIG LODGE FRIDAY NIGHT

MATTER OF BUILDING HOME PLACED IN HANDS OF COMMITTEE

MEMBERSHIP INCREASED 260 DURING PAST YEAR; TOTAL NOW 452

New officers for the year were installed last Friday night by Thief River Falls Lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., at one of the best meetings of the year. The following were inducted into their respective stations. Past Exalted Ruler Andy Anderson officiating as installing officer: G. Howard Smith, exalted ruler; H. W. Protzeller, esteemed leading knight; J. W. Hendry, esteemed loyal knight; W. W. Prichard, Jr., esteemed lecturing knight; Edward F. Dolan, secretary; Joseph Elsenpeter, treasurer; C. H. Storholm, W. H. BonDurant and Math Barzen, trustees; G. W. Connell, esquire; L. D. McAdams, inner guard; E. M. Bennes, chaplain; R. M. Sheldon, organist.

Johnston Relinquishes Gavel.

Before turning over the principal office in the lodge to his successor, R. L. Johnston delivered a short address in which he thanked the officers and members for their co-operation during the year, stating that it was through their hearty support that the remarkable growth in membership had been possible and the work of the order carried on with such marked success. He was of the opinion that no lodge in the state could show a better record and urged his successor and those who will serve under him not to permit the good work to stop but to put forth every effort to maintain the same ratio of growth during the year just opening. Mr. Johnston said that while he relinquished the chair he wanted it understood that this fact in no manner lessened his interest in the order nor would he consider his responsibilities in any way lightened. He urged the others to continue to serve in the same splendid manner as heretofore and hoped that when it came Mr. Smith's duty to turn the lodge over to a successor it would be in quarters owned by the lodge. Mr. Johnston was given an ovation at the close of his address.

Smith Feels Responsibility.

Upon assuming the chair the new exalted ruler said he hoped to deserve the high honor conferred upon him by the members, but feared that his term would fall short of that of his predecessor in actual achievement. He bespoke for himself the same open-hearted co-operation as that which has been so much in evidence during the past and heartily seconded the hope that an Elks' home would be the one crowning achievement of his administration.

Mr. Smith then announced his appointments and standing committees, stating that he had called the other officers into conference, particularly regarding the personnel of the building committee. This, in his opinion, was the most important of them all at this time and he hoped that its members would go about their duties with that fact in mind. The committee is made up of the following: F. H. Herrick, chairman; Math Barzen, Andy Anderson, C. A. Nason, H. W. Protzeller, T. L. Melgnard, W. A. Barnard, W. W. Prichard, Jr., L. A. Lampert, all of Thief River Falls; F. W. Shogren, Lancaster; George Marvin, Warroad; and Frank Johnson, Mahnomen.

The question of erecting or securing an exclusive Elks' home was discussed at considerable length, all present being heartily in favor of going ahead if this could be done within the means of the lodge. Ways and means of financing the enterprise were talked over and finally left to the committee in charge. A number of sites will be carefully considered and it is very likely that something definite will be reported within a short time.

The Standing Committees.

Exalted Ruler Smith gave out his list of appointments for the year as follows, the first named being in each case the chairman:

Sick committee, P. J. Keating, J. O. Yotter, Dr. C. R. Crandall, A. H. Akre, C. W. E. Nelson, F. F. Haynes.

Committee on by-laws, Theo. Quale, Perl W. Mabey and W. J. Brown.

Membership committee, L. R. Johnston, P. J. Keating, W. S. Sylvester, R. H. Storholm, T. J. Austad.

Custodian of lodge property, L. D. McAdams.

Was Greatest Year

The membership of the lodge was increased by 260 members last year, being at the present time more than twice the size it was when the officers who retired on Friday evening took charge. The total membership is 452, being one of the largest in the country for a town the size of Thief River Falls.

Spud May Disappear From Hotel Tables

LOWLY TUBER BRINGING FROM $4.80 TO $7.00 IN MINNEAPOLIS

The "Passing of the Potato" impends.

With the time honored spuds retailing in Minneapolis markets at from $4.80 to $7.00 a bushel, they are about to disappear from public and private menus.

This was indicated when the Minneapolis Hotel and Restaurant Men's association called a meeting to consider the question of the soaring Irish specialty.

Dispatches last week from Chicago were to the effect that potatoes there had assumed a top place on price cards, with listings of 65 cents an order common.

Such prices are not considered likely in Minnesota, however. Instead, potatoes will just disappear from many menus, it is prophesied.

LIEBERMAN BROTHERS

Great Show Coming For Legion Benefit

VAUDEVILLE REVUE OF REAL MERIT PROMISED FOR NEXT TUESDAY

The American Legion Revue which comes to the auditorium on Tuesday for the benefit of Elmer J. Eklund post, is a vaudeville revue of real merit. It contains such acts as James and Darling, Eddie Russell, Al Scheeman, Fred Lundberg, the king of Swede dialect comedians, the Destroyer Quartet, the Legion Minstrels, and one added attraction put on especially for the tour they are now making. Besides which they have American Legion orchestra.

James and Darling feature Jimmy James and his piano-accordeon, of which he is a master. Miss Darling is a lady xylophone player of preeminence, and together this team are venders of both the classical and jazz.

Eddie Russell is a great eccentric tramp and dance artist, and his novelty wooden shoe dances are the latest steps in jazz terpischorean art. As a comedian he is a second Nat Wills.

Al Scheeman is to be remembered as the man who had charge of the U. S. theatre at Camp Cody and later toured France with the A. E. F. Revue. It is requested that Al be given a chance to work on some of the neutrals in the crowd. He takes your time but leaves your watch—the peerless prestidigitator, if you please. Try and catch him—you will be the first to do it.

Fred Lundberg is known as the best Swede dialect comedian on the stage today and his interpretation of a Swedish janitor is one of the funniest acts in vaudeville.

The Destroyer quartet are masters at blending both the classic and near-jazz numbers, as well as the old standard songs that we all know and like to hear when they are sung in the good old way.

The Legion Minstrels are seven clever young fellows who dance and sing in a way that gives you the impression of the famous minstrels of other days. And then look for the added attraction.

Bonus Certificates Are Placed on Sale

STATE ASKS PUBLIC TO INVEST IN VERY DESIRABLE SECURITY

Nearly $5,000,000 of Minnesota soldiers' bonus certificates of indebtedness are being offered at a fifteen days' popular sale. The sale began on Tuesday under the direction of Henry Rines, state treasurer and bonus board members. The certificates bear 5 per cent interest, payable semi-annually, and are exempt from all taxes. Because of the high class investment offered and the purpose for which the funds are being made, bond board members expressed confidence that the issue will be oversubscribed.

The sale will be handled through the state treasurer's office, but all banks and trust companies in Minnesota have been asked to co-operate and purchasers may make their application through any bank or direct to the state treasurer.

Treasurer Rines estimated that funds now available for paying soldiers' bonuses will be exhausted about May 1, and announced that the continuation of payments then will depend largely on the success of the depend largely on the success of the popular sale. Service men may purchase certificates with their bonuses, it was pointed out, inasmuch as better investments are difficult to find. Notices to that effect will be inclosed with bonus checks mailed out in the future.

John Seaman Garns in Recital Program

WILL GIVE TWO READINGS UNDER AUSPICES OF WOMAN'S CLUB

John Seaman Garns, one of the foremost impersonators and readers in the west, will appear in two programs under the auspices of the Woman's club on Tuesday, April 27. One entertainment will be held at the Lyceum in the evening and an admission fee of 35 cents will be charged.

As a monologist Mr. Garns has few superiors on the lyceum circuit. He appeared in this city last winter before the club in a number of miscellaneous humerous readings and made a decided hit. It is expected that at the evening entertainment he will choose as his program selections from Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire," regarded everywhere as his best. Among the other numbers in his repertoire are "Old Baumgartner," by John Luter Long, "What You Will," by Richard Mansfield, "Ireland in Song and Story," "Poets of the people" and "American Humor."

Those who had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Garns on his previous visit will not need to be told that there is a treat in store. He has appeared in recitals in every state in the North and the press has invariably given his work the highest praise. Concerning his interpretation of Monsieur Beaucaire the Sheboygan News says: "It was the best thing ever given here."

BUSINESS MEN WIN PROMOTIONS

"Honor where honor is due," says S. J. Severson, recently appointed yard manager of the White & McCullough Lumber Companies, Harwood, N. D. He wrote to Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., saying the position was directly due to his training there.

The Interchurch Movement.

(Duluth Herald.)

The Interchurch World Movement is, we believe, a project that should have the earnest support not only of every member of the church organizations that are affiliated with it, but of every Christian citizen who believes that humanity's greatest need today is the profession and practice of Christianity—of every man and woman who wishes well to humanity.

The movement is a grouping of missionary, educational and philanthropic organizations within the several denominations, and of allied interdenominational agencies.

All of these organizations do many things of the same nature. The Interchurch World Movement is an affirmative answer to this uestion: "Cannot these organizations group themselves for mutual benefit, study one another's plans and literature, and actually do some things together; for example, conduct a united publicity and financial campaign?"

Question and answer both are obvious. The situation suggested the question, which cannot be a new one; and the question suggested the answer, which is the Interchurch World Movement. It is a co-ordinating organization, as we take it; an organization to prevent overlapping, to reduce overhead costs by sharing them, and to give the common work the strength and impetus of united effort.

If, incidental to the start thus made, something in the nature of church consolidation ultimately should come out of it, that too is an obvious need and an obvious and inevitable result, even though this is not the primary aim of the organization.

When the question of affiliation was before one of the denominational bodies recently a pastor of that denomination warned its members that the movement embodied danger to the independent existence of some denominations. It was significant that despite this warning the members of that denomination voted overwhelmingly to affiliate. Which is as it should be.

Says a booklet from headquarters describing the movement: "In the process of such an enlarged co-operation there may be revealed to some Christian organizations, especially those which are already closely akin, the knowledge that consolidation or combination would produce better results for the entire cause of the kingdom of God, and there may be supplementary actions of this character. The effort itself, however, is not directed primarily to these questions, but rather to the more immediate and pressing one of co-operation."

The need of this work, and the value of it, are only too plain. The movement itself is analogous to very similar movements in many fields that are characteristic of this hour of flux and change and progress. Co-operation is the magic word of the time. That the Christian bodies associated in this movement can do more and better work through co-operation than they can possibly do independently is so plain that it does not even need stating.

And if, in the end, co-operation to some extent by natural processes involves consolidation, that too will be an inevitable forward step dictated by obvious necessities.

The Interchurch World Movement is a movement forward and upward and it deserves the widest possible sympathy and support. So irresistible is its appeal to common sense that it is not imaginable that either sympathy or support will be withheld.

The Public Forum

The Teacher's Conference.

Several persons have asked me what was done at the conference. I shall therefore give a brief outline of it.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning about 1200 people, men and women, were seated in the auditorium of the Farm School awaiting the beginning of the deliberations.

One of the members of the state board of education was assigned the duty of leading the meeting.

Hon. J. M. McConnell, commissioner of education, opened by reading a very scholarly paper on education in general and the necessity of increasing the salaries of teachers. Then followed the reading of two other papers consisting principally of figures and statistics gathered by a special committee appointed by the state board to investigate the yearly earnings of teachers, farm hands, city and mine laborers, storekeepers, lawyers, doctors, craftsmen of nearly all trades, etc. About 60,000 questionnaires had been sent out to gather such information besides quite a little personal investigation. This was done to prove that most of the teachers are working for too small salaries. Many statements in these two papers were sharply questioned by some of the delegates.

The fourth address was delivered by Hon. G. B. Aiton, president of the state board of education. In an eloquent way he pointed out the necessity for increasing teachers' salaries. He also urged the necessity of increasing the requirements as to education of teachers. When his address was finished the fingers of the clock pointed to the figure 2. Some of the delegates then asked if there was any chance to get dinner near by. Mr. Aiton replied that it was doubtful, as we were so many. We were literally in a wilderness, although the city of Saint Paul stretched out several miles on all sides of us. We therefore decided to have a short delegates' meeting at once. No delegate could very well stay over Sunday, so everything was hurried along at top speed, with minds full but empty stomachs. A temporary organization was formed by electing one Mr. Larson chairman; the secretary of the M. E. A. acted as temporary secretary. A few short speeches were made by delegates. A motion was made to form a permanent organization by joining the M. E. A., but as only a few of the delegates understood what M. E. A. signified, (Minnesota Educational Association), the motion was tabled. The traditional American maxim, "Keep out of Entangling Alliances," finished that motion quickly.

The exciting sense of having much to do and no time in which to do it, made it just about impossible to conduct business in any workable way. The chairman had a hard time of it. That conference represented much of the practical intelligence of the state.

The state board of education had recommended a minimum teacher's salary of $65.00 and a maximum salary of $140.00 per month, this to be adjusted to circumstances by people who were willing to promote the best possible education in their districts. It was moved, seconded and carried to adopt this recommendation. A motion to adjourn was quickly carried, and we all hurried out to the street looking for street cars to take us somewhere to get some dinner and get our passenger tickets, etc—and the conference was over.

Being one of the few delegates who made a short speech at the conference and having my mind full of my subject yet, I will, later, if I get time and the editor permits, write a few short articles on the necessity of improving the living conditions for teachers of our public schools. We have made fine development in making school buildings and their equipment, but the living conditions for teachers are the same now as they were 50 years ago.

Respectfully

A. K. LOCKREM.

OVERLOOKED!

I have sold some of my houses, but my best bargains have been overlooked.

If you want something for investment, look up what I have to offer in flats and duplexes. I can show you something worth while to investigate if you want good returns on your money. I also have a few houses left at a bargain. Rents have gone up but they will still go higher, so will the prices on houses.

The man who has not provided himself with a home is losing money every day. Investigate.

Great Record For Season by Local Basket Shooters

Coach Albert Tommeraasen of the Thief River Falls high school has completed a performance record for the basketball team and finds that the boys acquitted themselves with much credit throughout the season. A total of 507 points were made in the different games played, while opponents scored 298. The record is nine games won and five lost, with one disputed.

The individual score given below is based on 24 points as perfect. Each division is given three points in the point score. Goals scored, assists, defensive play and generalship are positive qualities, while fouls and bad passes are negative qualities. Making 50 per cent of all goal tries would give a perfect score in short shots, 33⅓ per cent in long shots and 20 per cent in extra long shots.. The score follows:

Name	Short Shots	Long Shots	E. Long Shots	Assists	Def. Play	Fouls	Bad Passes	Gen'l-ship	Total Score
Schuster ----	150-49	72-20	29-4	2.43	2.0	1.07	0.64	1.7	15.8
McGinn -----	37-10	12-2	2-0	3.9	2.0	2.2	0.3	2.0	16.
Hadrath ----	184-57	59-4	13-2	2.07	1.7	1.2	0.36	1.3	15.
Flattum -----	29-7	48-8	27-5	1.08	1.6	1.5	1.0	1.6	15.
Larson ------	80.23	42-5	11-1	2.06	1.6	1.2	0.8	1.5	14.5
LaBree -----	29-7	34-4	18-1	1.1	1.14	0.8	0.5	1.0	14.

The points scored by each individual player are as follows: Schuster, 158 in 15 games; McGinn, 50 in 11 games; Hadrath, 141 in 15 games; Flattum, 40 in 14 games; Larson, 65 in 14 games; LaBree, 41 in 11 games; Ralston, 10 in part of three games; Warner, 2 in part of two games; Werstlein, 2 in part of two games.

LIGHTENS THE FARM WORK

During these days of high wages and scarcity of help the farmer often is a heavy loser by reason of not being able to get his work done at the right time. He could get rid of a large part of this worry and loss if he would install a

Fairbanks-Morse "Z" Gasoline Engine

Made one and a half, three or six horsepower.

These engines have these distinctive features:

1. Economically use kerosene—or distillate, coal oil, tops, etc.—as well as gasoline.
2. Run successfully on these fuels under light or heavy load—you don't have to make readjustments.
3. Bosch high tension oscillating magneto eliminates batteries and battery troubles—means quick starting.
4. Throttling governor assures constant, reliable power. It makes the engine run smoothly.
5. Suction fuel feed—no pump—simple and reliable.
6. Convenient speed controller gives change of speed, if desired, while engine is running.
7. Removable bushings in bearings.
8. Close speed regulation.
9. Ample positive lubrication.
10. Practically automatic in operation, requiring but little attendance—easily started and stopped. Run smoothly, quietly, cleanly.
11. Fairbanks-Morse Quality throughout.
12. Furthermore, every bit of metal in these engines is effectively used to give greatest strength without excess weight. The crank shaft is of forged steel with extra large bearing surfaces—it is built for long life. The interchangeable die-cast liners in main and crank bearings are easy for you to replace if necessary. Need but little floor space—simple foundation.

Station-to-Station Calls Are the Cheapest and Quickest Long Distance Telephone Service

Two principal classes of long distance telephone service are in use. They are known as "STATION-TO-STATION" and "PERSON-TO-PERSON" service.

Station-to-station service should be used when you are willing to talk to anyone at the distant telephone called. Person-to-person service is intended for use when you wish to talk to a particular person or persons.

Station-to-station service is not only cheaper but it is more rapid and less subject to error than person-to-person service. On station-to-station service the call can be completed as soon as the distant telephone is answered, while on person-to-person service the particular person wanted must be located and summoned to the telephone.

The charge for a station-to-station call can not be reversed; that is it can not be charged to the telephone called, for in that case the telephone operator would have to locate a particular party to approve the charge which would make it a person-to-person call.

HOW STATION-TO-STATION CALLS SAVE MONEY

Station-to-station calls, no doubt, can always be used for a large part of your business or social calls, but you may be able to make greater use of this lower-priced service if, just before you place your call, you will analyze the probable conditions in the office or home of the person wanted.

For example, if it is possible that Mr. Brown may be out but his clerk can give you the information you want, a station-to-station call will meet your needs. Or if you are reasonably sure Mr. Jones will be at home at a certain hour, a station-to-station call could be made advantageously.

Then too, by making previous arrangements, the person you want could be near the telephone at the time you put in your call.

For example, if Mrs. Jones calls her daughter regularly once a week, it could be arranged between them that the call will be made at a specified time so that the daughter can be near the telephone to receive the call. Or if it is an occasional call, a postal card could be sent to the daughter telling her what time the call will be made.

HOW TO MAKE A CALL.

When making a STATION-TO-STATION call, you would say, for example, "I want to make a Station-to-Station call to George Smith's store at (give town and state and, if known, the street address and telephone number.)

If you want to use PERSON-TO-PERSON service you would say, for example, "I want to make a Person-to-Person call to John Smith at George Smith's store at (give town and state and, if known, the street address and telephone number.)

EXAMPLES OF DIFFERENT RATES

Following are examples showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to sixty-four miles:

Miles	Station-to-Station	Person-to-Person
0-12	$0.10	$0.15
12-18	.15	.20
18-24	.20	.25
24-32	.25	.30
32-40	.30	.40
40-48	.35	.45
48-56	.40	.50
56-64	.45	.55

APPOINTMENT AND MESSENGER RATE

Appointment calls and Messenger calls are special kinds of person-to-person calls.

An APPOINTMENT CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is quoted for service when an appointment is made by the calling party to talk at a particular time.

When a person who does not have a telephone is called over long distance and a messenger must be sent to summon the party to the telephone, the MESSENGER CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is charged, and to this is added the necessary messenger charges.

THE REPORT CHARGE

When you place a call for a particular person or persons and for any reason they can not be reached the same day at the address given, or will not talk, or if you make a call and you are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within an hour, a REPORT CHARGE is made. The report charge is about one-fourth the station-to-station rate. It is intended to cover part of our expense of handling the uncompleted call.

SPECIAL EVENING AND NIGHT RATES

The EVENING rate, between 8:30 p. m. and 12 midnight on station-to-station calls, is about one-half the day rate. The NIGHT rate, between midnight and 4:30 a. m., is about one-fourth the day Station-to-station rate.

However, no evening or night rates are quoted on station-to-station calls where the day rate is less than 25 cents. On such short-haul calls the day rate applies. For longer distances special evening and night rates are quoted.

Because it is difficult to reach particular persons at night, when many are away from their homes and places of business, there are no special evening or night rates quoted for person-to-person calls.

THE CARNIVAL

One of the biggest events of the year is the "Big Carnival", which is to be held on the 22nd and 23rd of this month. You can't afford to miss it, no matter how poor you may be, because you'll never have another opportunity like this one.

What are you going to see when you get there? Well in the first place you will think that a big circus has come to town when you see the tents which are pitched on the grounds of the high school. Every thing you wish to see will be right there at hand. We have a Japanese Tea Garden, Perfume Stands, Kewpie Dolls, Grab-bags, Chocolate Wheels, Leather Pillow Tops, Confetti by the bushel, also Fortune Tellers, Wrestlers, Boxers and Coon Dodgers and almost fifty large shows.

It would be an impossibility to mention what we are going to have; it would be easier by far to tell what we are not to have. Also a big parade will be given in the main streets of the city. We have a number of tents both large and small so we can accommodate a large number of people.

Come! See what the students of the local high are capable of giving the public. You will never feel sorry, because your money is not wasted. Everybody welcome.

DEBATING TEAMS LOOKING FOR A PICNIC

The Public Speaking class has begun its debate work for April. The class is divided into teams, each team consisting of four members and having a different subject to debate upon. Both the affirmative and the negative sides are working hard and anxious to be entertained at the picnic which will be given by the defeated side. So far, the two sides have an equal number of victories and they stand the same chance of being victorious at the end of the season.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS PARTY

On Saturday evening the old gym was again the scene of merryment and feasting. The Sophomore class prepared a fine dinner and program for the boys' and girls' basket ball teams. The evening was spent in playing various games and dancing. Everyone present seemed to have enjoyed the evening immensely. This was the annual party given by the Sophomores.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

On Thursday Mr. Main talked to the Public Speaking class on the value of the ability of speaking in public, regardless of the type of work the individual is following.

Clear enunciation combined with the power to think clearly are the most important factors in the requisites for success.

To illustrate the necessity and the importance of clear enunciation and accurate thinking Mr. Main gave several selections, which were greatly appreciated by the students.

FRESHMAN PARTY

On April 16th the Freshmen gave a party at the Lincoln high. The guests were the faculty of the high school.

The following program was given:

Address by Freshmen President——Harold Aga
Piano Solo——Pearl Weeks
Song——Myrtle Williams
Violin Solo——Allison Stitt
Accompanist——Alice Lonson
"Lord Ullin's Daughter"——Members of the Class of 1923

After a delightful lunch the remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing.

THE SINGLE TAX DEBATE

The Public Speaking class on Friday heard the question of Single Tax debated. The affirmative was upheld by Dreng Bjornaraa and Herman akre and Gunder Legvold and Dennis McGinn defended the present system, or in other words, took the negative side of the debate. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

It was one of the best of this year's debates. Every speaker was filled with the subject and delivered it in a creditable manner.

KEY TO YOUR SALARY

How much salary are you getting? Twelve a week, did you say? Oh, you are talking dollars!

What else are you getting? The chance to learn Business, are you not? Experience! In other countries you have to pay for that; you do not receive pay for it.

What else are you getting? Association with men farther up the ladder, you hope to climb. Well, each one of them is giving you a part of all he has. All that he has learned, all the skill or ability he has acquired. He may not know that he is giving it but he is, if you are the right kind of chap.

If you are in the atmosphere of success, you must absorb some of the elements of success. If there are great men above you in the organization then a portion of their greatness will find lodgement in your system, if you will let it.

What is your twelve dollars compared with these returns. It is only the dividend from your investment of time and effort.

HARRY T. MOREY

When not at work on a picture Harry T. Morey is to be found in No. 16, a dressing room which dates back to the early days of his career in the Brooklyn studio of Vitagraph. It was 10 years ago that he occupied this room with Earle Williams. The walls resemble a combination of art museum and rogues' gallery. They are hung with pictures of Morey in various roles, ranging from a policeman, his first part; the crook, Joseph Garson of "Within the Law," to the high financier in "The Gamblers." Recently, he has added Philip Grey in "The Birth of a Soul" and a detective character in "The Flaming Clew."

JOE RYAN

Joe Ryan felt that he just had to be a villain to keep up the natural fitness of things. He was born at the foot of Devil's Tower, in Crook county, Wyo., and he just naturally had to play he was a bad man. That he succeeded is evidenced by the hisses he receives in nearly every city and town in this broad land. But away from Vitagraph's thrilling serials, he is one of the most quiet and likable men in the motion picture world. And to prove it he is being co-starred with Jean Paige in a serial.

WILLIAM DUNCAN

It is only natural that William Duncan should be the hero of hundreds of thrilling escapes and strenuous rescues in Vitagraph's famous serials. His physique and early training particularly fitted him for just such a career. He completed his education at the University of Pennsylvania, where he took a prominent part in college field games and athletics. He became athletic instructor and toured the country at the head of his own dramatic company before becoming a serial star and director.

SOLDIERS LIKED WAR BREAD

British Fighting Men Found Their Health Improved Through Use of Unbolted Wheat Meal.

A little more than a century ago, when Britain had been fighting for years against Napoleon, food became very scarce. Following is from a book on bread-making, written by Sylvester Graham, in 1837:

"In order to conserve wheat as much as possible, the British government ordered that the army should be supplied with bread made from unbolted wheat meal, i. e., simply the wheat ground without having the bran or middlings removed. The soldiers were at first displeased with the bread and refused to eat it, even casting it from them in great rage, but after two or three weeks they began to be much pleased with it and preferred it to the fine-flour bread.

"The result of this experiment was that not only was the wheat made to go further, but the health of the soldiers improved so much and so manifestly in the course of a few months that it became a matter of common remark among themselves and of observation and surprise among the officers and physicians of the army. They expressed themselves with confidence and zeal on the subject. The public declared that the soldiers were never so healthy and robust. The public papers were for months filled with praise of whole-wheat bread, and it was regularly introduced into families.

"Still, after this experiment with such happy results and so general and full a testimony had been given in favor of the coarse-wheat bread, when large supplies of superfine flour came in from America, and the crops from home became again abundant and the act of parliament regarding the food of the army became extinct, most of the people by degrees returned to their old habits of eating fine bread."

SURGEONS DO GREAT WORK

Rehabilitation of Wounded Soldiers Seems Little Short of Miraculous to a Civilian.

Foster Debevoise of South Orleans, N. J., on a recent tour through France and England, visited the armies at the front, and speaks with enthusiasm of their indomitable spirit and unfailing hopefulness.

In commenting he speaks on the work done for wounded soldiers:

"The men in English cities, of whom I saw hundreds, without legs or arms, or with reconstructed faces, and those in hospitals in process of being mended, all had the same words: 'If only I could go back again!' And this brings me to another wonderful thing, and that is the way the hospitals are performing miracles. When finally, sometimes after months and months of treatment, the reconstructing process is finished, the men are taught trades and placed in positions so that they are enabled to take up their lives again with a large degree of happiness. Straps operate as muscles on artificial legs and arms; and I have seen such men swing a hammer, play golf, knit, or work at lathes. It is almost incredible what is being done. Hats off to the doctors, I say!"

The United States government will apply the same methods of reconstruction to those of our boys that are disabled or crippled.—Marion Couthouy Smith.

Saccharin Not Injurious.

Some quite unfounded statements have been made to the effect that saccharin disturbs the digestion, injures the kidneys, or is even responsible for gastric carcinoma. There is no evidence that saccharin or its allies has any effect whatever on the economy even when it is used in quantities larger than are required to sweeten foods and beverages to suit ordinary tastes. And this, in spite of the fact that saccharin has been in use for more than a quarter of a century.

The mere fact that it is an artificial substance remotely derived from coal-tar does not necessarily render it poisonous, as some seem to suspect. At the same time it is, of course, valueless as a food in the sense in which sugar is a food, and even as a flavor it to most tastes is inferior to the natural substance.—British Medical Journal.

Rubber in Japan.

The rubber manufacturing industry in Japan has developed greatly within the past year in the scope and variety of its products. In the export trade, too, its importance is increasing. The growth of the industry may be seen from the steady increase in the import of crude rubber. The official trade returns state that the import in 1917 totaled 9,689,632 yen over the figure for 1915. Formerly most of the automobile tires used in Japan were imported into that country, but now the greater part of Japan's needs are supplied by domestic manufacturers. The export of automobile tires has also begun with the development of rubber plants in Japan.

Girls Herding Sheep.

Herding sheep—the loneliest job in the world—is the latest industry to attract women. Wyoming ranchers have given so many men to the war that sheepherders are very scarce. Hence Misses Lulu Munson, Belle Pattison and Grace Keenan, Campbell county lassies, have become shepherdesses at a wage of $50 a month and "found." They have been employed by B. J. Reno, and each girl acts as guardian to 2,500 "woolies." These girls are said to be the first feminine sheepherders in the United States.

He Couldn't Stand Up Under the Work

WAS SO RUN DOWN ASKED FOR LIGHTER EMPLOYMENT—IS WELL AND STRONG NOW

"I have taken my share of medicine during the past three years but everything failed to relieve my trouble until I got hold of Tanlac", said John Versen, a civilian employee in the quartermaster's department at Fort Snelling, Minn., while telling of his remarkable recovery by the use of this medicine, recently.

"I had held out about as long as I could, after being troubled for three years with rheumatism, indigestion, constipation and a general run-down condition," Mr. Versen continued. "I had rheumatism in my arm and shoulder blades, so bad I could hardly move my arms and it was agony for me to put on my coat or dress myself, let alone trying to do my work. I had been doing o[illegible] work but I could not stand up under it any longer and had to ask to be transferred to the inside. M digestion was so bad that hardly a thing agreed with me. About a half hour after every meal I would start to bloat up with gas and would have awful attacks of indigestion and was troubled all the time with constipation.

"As I said, nothing helped me one particle until I began taking Tanlac, and that did the work, and today after taking three bottles, I haven't an ache or pain in my body. All signs of rheumatism have disappeared entirely and I am as active as I ever was before. I eat three hearty meals every day and never suffer any bad after effects at all and my constipation has been relieved. I sleep better at night and when morning comes I am ready for as big a day's work as any man. I feel several years younger and am just full of life and energy all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

The Gasoline Problem

THE grave problem confronting the serious-minded men in the petroleum industry today, is to keep pace in production with the seven-league strides of the demand for gasoline.

In ten years the production of crude oil in the United States has increased only 90 per cent, while during the same period the output of gasoline has increased 560 per cent.

The demand for no other commodity in general use has increased to a degree that even approximates the mark reached by gasoline.

In ten years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased its output of gasoline from 150 million gallons to more than 600 million gallons a years.

It is apparent that this could not have been accomplished except by intensive application of improved, scientific methods of refining.

As a matter of fact, the price of gasoline is held in bounds only by the sheer force of science.

Except for the ability of such institutions as the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to make a wide range of useful products from that part of the crude oil which is not used to make gasoline, you would be paying a much higher price for gasoline than you pay today.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is bending every effort to increase its output of gasoline to meet the demands and to sell it to you at as low a price as possible.

War Veterans Form County Organization

C. O. PARSONS, MINNEAPOLIS, DELIVERS ADDRESS EXPLAINING AIMS

A fair sized crowd turned out to hear an address by C. O. Parsons of Minneapolis, on the aims and purposes of the World's War Veterans at the auditorium last Saturday evening.

The speaker started out by saying that the war veterans was the first organization of service men on record, having been formed while the boys were still in France. According to him the army officers attempted to suppress its extension among the soldiers even before the formation of the American Legion. The latter, said the speaker, was an organization of officers while the War Veterans aimed to look after the interests of the rank and file. Out of 42 bodies formed at one time or another for the purpose of including all those who served in the war, only two now remain—the Legion and the Veterans.

Mr. Parsons scored the legion members for their stand at the St. Louis meeting where they opposed the granting of a bonus of any kind to the soldiers. He asserted that $257,000 had been received from the Morgan bank in New York to further the work undertaken by the Legion.

Referring to the action taken in this state by the legislature in an attempt to do something for the boys, Mr. Parsons said that when the bill was introduced at the regular session only the farmer and labor members were in favor of it. By the time the special session had been called the demand for fair treatment for the soldiers had become so strong that the politicians no longer dared hesitate.

He criticised the conduct of the war, stating that 23,000 new millionaires had been created by reason of it, but now that it was time to do something for the men who did the fighting different schemes for making the common people pay the bill were proposed. Everyone who dared oppose the work of the grafters, he said, were accused of being slackers and bolsheviki.

Mr. Parson's address smattered strongly of socialism throughout but apparently pleased the audience. At times it seemed as if he took no pains to conceal this fact, referring frequently in the most bitter terms to the "bosses of the old parties." Particularly did the Republicans come under the ban of his displeasure.

After the address a World's War Veteran organization was formed with 23 charter members. This, it is understood, has since grown to about 40.

Welfare Board for County Appointed

HAS CHARGE OF ENFORCING LAWS RELATING TO CHILD WELFARE

The State Board of Control has appointed Mrs. J. M. Bishop and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Thief River Falls, and Peter C. Wold, Highlanding, as members of the Pennington county welfare board, with George M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools, and Oscar J. Peterson, chairman board of county commissioners, as ex-officio members.

This board is created under the provisions of the new laws relating to children which were passed by the last legislature.

The board will act as a local administration unit for the county in the enforcement of all laws relating to the protection of defective, delinquent, dependent, and neglected children. It is an official body acting throughout the county and in behalf of the state for the protection of children who are in need of the state's care and guardianship.

The board will work in close contact with the probate judge Ira C. Richardson, who is the judge of the children's court. It will investigate for the judge applications for county allowances (so-called mothers' pensions) and will visit frequently the homes where such allowances have been given in order that the fullest possible measure of help and assistance may be rendered to the mother and her children. The judge will also be assisted in the administration of the new juvenile court law. Cases of delinquency and neglect of children will be investigated by the welfare board, and the shaping of an enlightened policy in dealing with delinquency should result from the mutual labor of the board and the judge.

300 DELEGATES TO FREE CHURCH SESSION IN JUNE

THOSE PRESENT WILL REPRESENT ALL SECTIONS OF U. S. AND CANADA

MEETINGS TO CONTINUE FOR ONE WEEK, BEGINNING WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9

LOCAL CONGREGATION TAKING STEPS TO MEET PROBLEM OF LODGING

The annual conference of the Lutheran Free church of the United States and Canada will be held in Thief River Falls from June 9 to 15. An English conference and young peoples' rally will be held at the same time, the delegates to these helping very materially to swell the crowd.

Eight years ago the conference meeting of the same denomination was held in the city and our people made a special effort to take care of the delegates. The members of Rev. George Larson's church alone were not sufficiently numerous to look after the visitors and others volunteered the use of such rooms as they might have for their accommodation. The treatment accorded the visitors at that time was such as to make the selection of Thief River Falls unanimous when it came to naming the place for holding the 1920 convention. The church membership is greatest in the Northwest and this city is most conveniently located for holding the meeting.

Will Ask For Rooms.

The majority of those who will come do so at their own expense and it will be the aim to make the cost as light as possible. To this end citizens who can lodge one or more persons for a few days will be asked to do so free of charge. Committees have been appointed for the purpose of canvassing all section of the city for the names of those who will volunteer to assist in this matter and there is no doubt but that the response will be liberal. This committee is made up of the following, together with the territory they will canvass: L. Savig, State and Arnold avenues; John Dahl, Duluth avenue; Ole Snustad, Knight avenue; J. L. Bean, Main avenue; T. A. Fossum, LaBree avenue; Carl Froseth, Horace avenue; Mrs. Inga Berg, Atlantic avenue; Mrs. E. O. Erickson and Mrs. George Larson, Red Lake Boulevard and east of Soo depot; August Sorteland, Riverside avenue and south of Great Northern depot; Ole Revdahl, Conley and St. Paul avenues; Ole Oftelie, Markley avenue; Olof Neset, Kendall avenue; Soren Berglund, Tindolph avenue; Elling Iverson, Crocker avenue and eastward.

Ask Aid of Churches.

Outside of the serving of meals by the Zion Ladies aid, there will be no arrangements made in this regard, the hotels and restaurants being expected to take charge of the overflow.

The use of three other churces in the city will be asked for the holding of English services during the evenings and for committee and corporation meetings.

Is Important Body.

The membership of the Lutheran Free church at the present time is about 30,180. There are 250 pastors and 30 missionaries. Rev. Johan Mattson of Minneapolis is president; Rev. O. H. Sletten, Minneapolis, vice president; Rev. P. O. Laurhammer, Fairdale, N. D.; secretary, and Rev. Elias Berlie, Dalton, Minn., ordinator. As auxiliaries of the church are many institutions and bodies, among these being Augsburg seminary, one of the oldest Lutheran colleges in the United States; a board of home missions and the Lutheran board of missions, Oak Grove Lutheran Ladies' seminary, Fargo; Bethania college, Everett, Wash.; Bethesda homes, Willmar; Paulsbo Orphan and Old Folks' home, Paulsbo, Wash., and a number of ohters.

The city auditorium will be used for the general meetings, having been tendered free by the city council.

Peat Plots Started on Twenty Fields

PHOSPHATE APPLIED TO DETERMINE EFFECT OF TREATMENT ON WHEAT

The Pennington County Farm bureau in co-operation with the University of Minnesota, through the divisions of soils and extension, is starting experimental plots on twenty fields along the Elwell road. On each field two plots of one half acre each are laid out and acid prosphate applied. The yields of wheat on the treated and untreated plots will be determined and reported later.

The purpose of the experiments is to find out whether acid phosphate will increase the yield per acre. In 1918 similar experiments on good soil in Stevens county showed that an application of acid phosphate at the rate of two hundred pounds per acre gave an increase in yield of wheat on unmanured land of two to ten and a half bushels per acre, as reported in Special Bulletin No. 34.

In 1918 at Golden Valley, on the peat experimental tract, acid phosphate caused very marked increases in yields in case of nearly all crops. In 1919 the crops at Golden Valley showed the same effect until destroyed by high water. A large number of demonstration plots were started last year on peat soils of farmers in the northwestern counties and the crops on almost all of these showed that the phosphate was very beneficial.

A new form of acid phosphate is expected to be placed on the market sometime this summer. The new form will carry 48 per cent of available plant food instead of 16 per cent, the amount carried by the common acid phosphate. One ton of this new triple super-phosphate will treat as much land as three tons of the old and the price, while more per ton, will undoubtedly be much less per pound of plant food than in the case of the regular 16 per cent acid phosphate.

Primary Elections in State Saturday

WILL CHOOSE DELEGATES TO COUNTY MEETING ON THE FIFTH

Republican voters in every county in the state will hold a caucus on Saturday of this week for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a county convention on May 5, at which meeting will be selected delegates to attend the state elimination convention on May 8. According to the call the purpose of the last-anmed gathering will be the selection of a candidate for the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and one railroad and warehouse commissioner. The names of the parties selected for each of the above offices to be the ones going on the primary ballot at the election on June 21.

In Pennington county the hours for holding open the voting places have been fixed from 7 until 9 o'clock. The basis of representation is the same as in the presidential primaries early in the present month and the county is also entitled to the same number of delegates in the state convention, this being seven. Women will be permitted to participate in these caucuses and conventions.

Double Anniversary Sale at Mogensen's

CLOTHIER HAS BEEN FOUR YEARS IN CITY—ONE YEAR IN NEW STORE

As will be seen by the double page spread in another section of the paper today, E. O. Mogensen, the clothier, is going to celebrate two anniversaries by holding a great bargain sale. An event of this kind is rather unusual during these days of constantly increasing prices and the opportunity offered our people to secure goods of the very highest grade at big discounts will no doubt be taken full advantage of.

It was just four years ago that Mr. Mogensen entered the business field in this city. He was successful from the start and his store soon became recognized as one of the best in this section. One year ago he moved to the present fine quarters and increased patronage has resulted because of the more favorable location and also by reason of the wider acquaintance now enjoyed by the proprietor. The Mogensen store is one of which any city might well be proud and his reputation is such that everyone knows that any bargain offered by him is genuine.

ORGANIZATION MEETING COUNTY WELFARE BOARD

Meeting called to order by Oscar J. Peterson. The following people were in attendance and listened to Miss Helen Montegriffo of the state board of control who gave information as to the numerous duties connected with their work: County Commissioner Oscar J. Peterson, County Attorney Theo. Quale, Judge of Probate Ira C. Richardson, Peter C. Wold, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Geo. M. Gunderson and Mrs. A. Larson.

The new board proceeded to organize by electing the following officers: Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president, to serve as such at the pleasure of the board; Geo. M. Gunderson, secretary, to serve until such time as a county nurse is appointed by the county board of commissioners. If this provision failed to materialize then his term to terminate at any time he himself saw fit.

The time of meeting was by motion set for the first Monday of every month at 2 p. m.

The county was, by motion, divided into the following districts, to be presided over as follows: Peter C. Wold, all of the territory lying to the north of the Red Lake river and east of the Thief river, excluding the city; Oscar J. Peterson, all of the territory lying south and east of the Red Lake river, excluding the city; Geo. M. Gunderson, all of the remaining territory including the village of St. Hilaire, but excluding the city: Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Bishop, all of the city of Thief River Falls.

The secretary was instructed to publish the proceedings in the city papers.

The meeting was by motion adjourned without electing a treasurer and vice president.

POPULATION OF 4,685 SHOWN BY CENSUS FIGURES

TEN YEAR INCREASE IN CITY IS 971, OR 26.1 PER CENT

DOES NOT INCLUDE RESIDENTS OF HALF DOZEN NEW ADDITIONS

BEMIDJI RECORD GOOD WHILE CROOKSTON REPORT IS DISAPPOINTING

The population of Thief River Falls, according to the federal census of 1920, is 4,685. This news was contained in a telegram received from Congressman Steenerson by Mayor John Bratrud on Saturday.

The result is somewhat disappointing, it being generally believed that the city would reach 5,000 at least. The gain during the past ten years was 971 or 26.1 per cent. This is the best showing thus far reported for any city in this immediate vicinity.

Additions Not Counted.

Only the persons residing within the corporate limits were counted—and not all of these. The city as commonly referred to is considerably larger than this, there being six residential additions adjoining the corporation limits at different points the residents of which are citizens to all intents and purposes. These additions are Rustad's, Fairgound, Fairfax, Bothun's, Park and Smiley. It is certain that another thousand would have been found had these been included. The comparison is very good, however, and there is no use raising a howl over the count now.

Crookston's Bad Showing.

One of the surprises of the census returns is the record made by Crookston. According to the figures the neighboring city has a population of 6650, a decrease for the decade of 909, or 12 per cent. Crookston papers are claiming that the enumeration was inefficiently carried on and that no such slump as that indicated is possible.

Bemidji has made rapid progress, showing an increase of about 32 per cent. The total population there is 7,086 as compared with 5,099 ten years ago. This is a gain of 1987 persons, but in this number is included nearly 1000 persons residing at Nymore, which has become a part of Bemidji since the state census was taken five years ago. At that time the population of Nymore was given as 834. Deducting this from Bemidji's figures would give the city an actual increase of 1153, or just 182 more than is credited to Thief River Falls.

Senior Class Play at Auditorium Friday

CLEVER PLAY TO BE PRESENTED BY PARTICULARLY COMPETENT CAST

The Senior class of the Thief River Falls high school will present "A Strenuous Life" as the annual class play on Friday evening at the auditorium. The people taking part have been putting in something of a strenuous time in getting ready for the presentation, but it has been rehearsed until every detail runs with the smoothness of a professional production. Miss Agnes Wilson and Miss Ella Evans have had charge of the coaching and reports are that they have accomplished wonders. The cast and carried on as rapidly as funds prove decidedly worth while. Here is the lineup:

Tom Harrington, foot ball captain ---------- Leland Schuster
Reginald Black, his chum ---------- Herman Aakre
James Roberts, a freshman ---------- Lloyd Peterson
Byron Harrington, father of his son ---------- Roy Flattum
William Everett James, a new professor ---------- Henry Sagmoen
Dan Devanent, from the hills ---------- Joseph Weirus
Prof. Magee, director of the gym ---------- Henry Stengelson
Nugata Good, honest Japanese school boy ---------- Clarence Vevea
Dawly, a collector ---------- Lee Ihle
Mrs. Wiggenton Wiggins, the landlady ---------- Jessie Barnett
Marian Devenant, her father's daughter ---------- Alyce Berg
Ruth Thornton, Mrs. Wiggins' niece ---------- Mollie Hermanson
Dulcie Harrington, Tom's sister from high school ---------- Kathleen Ures
Widow McGuire, "The Widow" ---------- Alpha Bishop

Cliff Rice Returns.

Clifford Rice, formerly clerk at the store of E. O. Mogensen, was in the city last week on business. Since his return from the army he has joined the force of G. Sommers & Co., St. Paul, as traveling salesman. "Cliff" put in 11 months overseas, six of which were spent in Germany. He was on the actual firing line for 41 days but came out without injury. One of the pleasant surprises of his army career he says was running into George Loken on the streets of Paris during a furlough.

SIGN PETITION FOR IMPROVING RED LAKE RIVER

SIXTY FARMERS IN EAST SECTION OF COUNTY ASK ACTION OF CONGRESS

CITY COUNCIL FORMALLY GOES ON RECORD AS FAVORING THE PROJECT

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON STATES THAT BILL WILL SOON PASS

Early action by congress in the matter of passing the bill providing for the straightening and deepening of Red Lake river is indicated by dispatches from Washington. Congressman Steenerson has informed interested parties in this city that the government is about ready to undertake its part of the work and that there is no doubt of the passage of the bill at an early date.

W. J. Brown, on behalf of the Red Lake Conservancy and Flood Control district, on Tuesday evening appeared before the city council and asked that body to formally attach the approval of the city to the petition to be forwarded to Mr. Steenerson for use in presenting the final arguments to congress. Mr. Brown explained that the city was in no manner obligating itself in the matter of costs by thus advocating the early passage of the measure and that it was a matter of very great importance to the future of the entire section. The council unanimously passed a resolution complying with this request and instructed Mayor John Bratrud and City Clerk A. H. Akre to sign it on behalf of the city.

Approved by Farmers.

The petition already contained the names of more than the required number of signers, about 60 farmers in the eastern section of Pennington county having indicated their approval of the petition.

The request calls for the straightening and deepening of the river from its outlet at Red lake to the western boundary of Kratka township and for the construction of controlling works at the head of the stream.

Every detail connected with this important matter is now progressing satisfactorily and things are being placed in readiness to begin the preliminary work as soon as authority is granted and the necessary formalities attended to.

Cemetery Plan Submitted.

Frank H. Nutter of Minneapolis, landscape gardener and architect, has submitted plans for the improvement of the recenty added plot at Greenwood cemetery. The old cemetery is filled up and the commission has purchased 43 acres adjoining. The work of clearing and improving this new site will be begun at once and carried on as rapidly as funds will permit. The plan submitted by Mr. Nutter will provide a beautiful cemetery, graveled drive ways, ornamental fences and miniature parks being some of the features.

The commission has requested all who own lots at the cemetery to have them cleaned up by Memorial Day. A number of the graves have an uncared-for appearance which detracts from the appearance of the entire plot.

Will Learn Cost of Paving on Tuesday

BIDS TO BE OPENED BY CITY COUNCIL AT SPECIAL MEETING

The city council will meet in extra session next Tuesday at 2 o'clock for the purpose of considering bids for paving 22 blocks in the business section of Thief River Falls. Whether or not the city engages upon this work during the coming summer will depend almost entirely upon the cost as disclosed by the bids.

Much of the opposition to paving seems to have disappeared. Many of those who were prepared to fight the proposition to the last ditch three weeks ago now profess to be favorably inclined if it can be proven that the streets are in condition to proceed with the work. That a certain amount of opposition will develop is certain but indications are that it will be nowhere near as serious as at first anticipated.

As to the kind of pavement to be laid nothing has as yet been decided. There seems to be a strong feeling that cement should not be employed, but outside of this no favorite has developed. Much will undoubtedly depend on the cost of the different substances, although the council may be depended on to take everything into consideration when awarding the contract.

On Tour of Inspection.

President H. A. Brumund and Councilmen John Dahl and Severn Brandon left Tuesday evening on a tour of inspection of the paving done in a number of nearby cities. They will go to Fargo, Wahpeton, Crookston, Breckenridge and other places and will look into the water supply question at the same time. Several of the places to be visited have lately installed water supply systems of different kinds and the Thief River councilmen will get all the data available on each kind. They will return in time to be present at the meeting next Teusday afternoon, at which time bids for paving will be opened.

Ordinance Passed.

The ordinance giving the Standard Oil company the right to erect the buildings necessary for storing inflammable oils within the city limits was given its third reading and passed on Tuesday evening. The site for the structure is on the East Side a short distance from Bridge street and about where the power house of the saw mill stood in former years.

Joins Browning Society.

Miss Dorothy Bottelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson, of Thief River Falls, who is attending Hamline University, St. Paul, has been pledged to membership in the Browning Society, a woman's literary organization at that school.

Ask Steps be Taken to Hold Park Site

COUNCIL COMMITTEE WILL ACT WITH PARK BOARD IN MATTER

A committee of the city council, composed of Carl Froseth, O. L. Ihle and Andrew Ness, has been appointed by President Brumund to act with the park board in looking into the matter of selecting a site for park purposes. Dr. G. W. Booren and Emil E. Zeh of the board appeared before the council on Tuesday evening and urged that a plot of three acres across the river from Squaw Point be acquired and the work of converting it into a public recreation ground begun. The joint committee will make an immediate inspection in order that a report may be made to the council without delay.

The council members admitted that something should be done at once in order to provide a park site even though it be impossible at this time to do any great amount of work on the project. Suitable plots for the purpose are very scarce and the prices of those which might be used are steadily advancing. For this reason quick action is advisable.

The park board members also asked that the block owned by the city on Bridge street between Crocker and Tindolph avenues be seeded down and a number of trees set out. This plot has been rented to private parties for a potato field during the past two years but might be made into a very pretty park for the people of the East Side. The council also agreed to this.

First Indication of Building Activities

COUNCIL GRANTS PERMITS FOR NEW RESIDENCE AND HOTEL ENLARGEMENT

Building costs may be high but that is apparently not going to deter the citizens of Thief River Falls from going ahead with needed enterprises. The first applications for building permits of any importance were presented to the council at Tuesday evening's meeting and most willingly granted.

B. Dan Bjorkman, proprietor of the Model laundry, applied for permission to construct a brick residence in Porter's addition, across the street from his place of business. The estimated cost is $7,000.

K. S. Dahl, proprietor of the Central hotel, will make improvements costing in the neighborhood of $2,000. He will add another story to the building, making three in all, and otherwise enlarge the place.

John Bundy was granted permission to make repairs to his residence on the East Side and to build additions, placing the cost at $1400.

Legion Revue Cancelled.

There was no entertainment staged in this city by the Legion Revue last Tuesday, although the appearance of the troupe here had been widely advertised. A message from Bemidji caused the committee in charge to cancel the date. Fred T. Scanlan, chairman, stated that if the things reported were true he did not wish to be in any way responsible for the appearance of the outfit in this city.

The revue showed at Brainerd last week and was to have filled a date at Bemidji on Saturday. The class of performance presented was so rank that the Brainerd legion committee rang the curtain down before the end of the performance and at once notified Bemidji of what had happened. The boys in the latter city cancelled at once and in turn put the Thief River Falls bunch wise. From here the word was passed on to Crooksson. That outfit will find itself out of luck.

Bankers at Pinehurst.

The Associated Press dispatches of Monday morning announced the arrival of the executive council of the Minnesota Bankers association at Pinehurst, N. C. Among the Minnesota representatives were noted Kelsey S. Chase, president of the Peoples bank, St. Paul; C. L. Hansen, president First National bank, Thief River Falls; A. A. Crane, vice president First National bank, Minneapolis, and Theodore Wold, vice president Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis.

BOWEN DECIDES NOT TO ENTER CONGRESS RACE

NONPARTISAN SPEAKER SEES NO ADVANTAGE IN GOING TO WASHINGTON

MEETING OF LEADERS AT CROOKSTON MAY 4 WILL DECIDE COURSE

BOWEN AT RED LAKE FALLS CLAIMS TO BE ORIGINATOR OF MOVEMENT

E. A. Bowen of Fergus Falls, will not enter the primaries as a candidate for congress in the Ninth district against Halvor Steenerson. This was the statement made in a number of address in this section last week and repeated to a large audience at the court house here on Thursday evening.

Mr. Bowen evidently did not think a great deal of the advantages of going to congress and stated that in his opinion he could be of greater value to the cause by continuing as an organizer and expounder than as a representative at the national capital.

A meeting of the district leaders will be held at Crookston on May 4 for the purpose of deciding whether or not another candidate is to be selected to make the primary race. The Polk county Nonpartisans held a mass convention on Monday and endorsed R. T. Buckler of that city as the man to make the run against Congressman Steenerson.

Bowen is Fine Speaker.

Mr. Bowen was greeted by an audience that filled every available space on the second floor of the court house and extended down the stairs and into the hall. He is a pleasant and forceful speaker and put forth his arguments with good effect. He kept away from extremes and made a most favorable impression even on those who did not agree with him or in the purposes of his program.

Considerable time was devoted to showing that the state-owned industrial plants in North Dakota were successful in cutting the cost to the consumer at the same time providing a greater return for the producer. Mr. Bowen claimed that the flour mill at Drake, for instance, was making good in spite of the fact that it was selling flour for considerably less than others and paying the farmer more for his wheat, particularly the plans of its votaries whereby they expect to eliminate the costs added to necessities of life by reason of alleged mismanagement and profiteering by middlemen.

The speaker touched but lightly upon Amendment No. 1 but said enough to prove that he was not in favor of its passage in the present form.

Says He Was Originator.

A statement alleged to have been made by Mr. Bowen in his address at Red Lake Falls has occasioned considerable surprise. He claimed that the credit for originating the Nonpartisan league belonged to him and not to the parties to whom it is generally attributed.

Women Will Wonder How it Can be Done

LOKENS WILL PAY MORE FOR RETURNED GARMENT THAN ITS FIRST COST

H. O. Loken is not a betting man ordinarly but last week he decided to take a chance. A traveling man for one of the largest suit houses in the country ended his trip in Thief River Falls and offered to sell Loken his entire sample line of fall and winter coats. He said in effect: "I'll bet you anything that you can sell these coats right now if the inducement is made sufficiently attractive." Loken did not think so at the time but the price made on the garments was such that no merchant could withstand the temptation. He bought.

Now he intends selling winter garments in the spring and will go about it this way: Any lady wishing one of the coats—and they are beauties—can buy it at exact cost, plus one dollar. It matters not whether the garment costs $200 or $20—the agreement holds. She may retain this coat until the first of October and if at that time she is for any reason dissatisfied with her bargain she can return it and get her money back, including the dollar, and she will besides be paid eight per cent on her money for the time it has been kept by the storekeeper.

No more unusual proposition was ever presented and Mr. Loken is now of the opinion that he will lose his bet.

Mother's Day May 9.

Mother's Day falls on May 9 this year and local greenhouses are prepared to take care of the demand usual just previous to that anniversary. Of late years it has become the custom of sons and daughters who have left the old home to remember mother on this particular day with a gift of flowers and to wear one themselves as an act of homage and respect. It is a beautiful custom and should be encouraged.

War Veterans Form County Organization

C. O. PARSONS, MINNEAPOLIS, DELIVERS ADDRESS EXPLAINING AIMS

A fair sized crowd turned out to hear an address by C. O. Parsons of Minneapolis, on the aims and purposes of the World's War Veterans at the auditorium last Saturday evening.

The speaker started out by saying that the war veterans was the first organization of service men on record, having been formed while the boys were still in France. According to him the army officers attempted to suppress its extension among the soldiers even before the formation of the American Legion. The latter, said the speaker, was an organization of officers while the War Veterans aimed to look after the interests of the rank and file. Out of 42 bodies formed at one time or another for the purpose of including all those who served in the war, only two now remain—the Legion and the Veterans.

Mr. Parsons scored the legion members for their stand at the St. Louis meeting where they opposed the granting of a bonus of any kind to the soldiers. He asserted that $257,000 had been received from the Morgan bank in New York to further the work undertaken by the Legion.

Referring to the action taken in this state by the legislature in an attempt to do something for the boys, Mr. Parsons said that when the bill was introduced at the regular session only the farmer and labor members were in favor of it. By the time the special session had been called the demand for fair treatment for the soldiers had become so strong that the politicians no longer dared hesitate.

He criticised the conduct of the war, stating that 23,000 new millionaires had been created by reason of it, but now that it was time to do something for the men who did the fighting different schemes for making the common people pay the bill were proposed. Everyone who dared oppose the work of the grafters, he said, were accused of being slackers and bolsheviki.

Mr. Parson's address smattered strongly of socialism throughout but apparently pleased the audience. At times it seemed as if he took no pains to conceal this fact, referring frequently in the most bitter terms to the "bosses of the old parties." Particularly did the Republicans come under the ban of his displeasure.

After the address a World's War Veteran organization was formed with 23 charter members. This, it is understood, has since grown to about 40.

Welfare Board for County Appointed

HAS CHARGE OF ENFORCING LAWS RELATING TO CHILD WELFARE

The State Board of Control has appointed Mrs. J. M. Bishop and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Thief River Falls; and Peter C. Wold, Highlanding, as members of the Pennington county welfare board, with George M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools, and Oscar J. Peterson, chairman board of county commissioners, as ex-officio members.

This board is created under the provisions of the new laws relating to children which were passed by the last legislature.

The board will act as a local administration unit for the county in the enforcement of all laws relating to the protection of defective, delinquent, dependent, and neglected children. It is an official body acting throughout the county and in behalf of the state for the protection of children who are in need of the state's care and guardianship.

The board will work in close contact with the probate judge Ira C. Richardson, who is the judge of the children's court. It will investigate for the judge applications for county allowances (so-called mothers' pensions) and will visit frequently the homes where such allowances have been given in order that the fullest possible measure of help and assistance may be rendered to the mother and her children. The judge will also be assisted in the administration of the new juvenile court law. Cases of delinquency and neglect of children will be investigated by the welfare board, and the shaping of an enlightened policy in dealing with delinquency should result from the mutual labor of the board and the judge.

300 DELEGATES TO FREE CHURCH SESSION IN JUNE

THOSE PRESENT WILL REPRESENT ALL SECTIONS OF U. S. AND CANADA

MEETINGS TO CONTINUE FOR ONE WEEK, BEGINNING WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9

LOCAL CONGREGATION TAKING STEPS TO MEET PROBLEM OF LODGING

The annual conference of the Lutheran Free church of the United States and Canada will be held in Thief River Falls from June 9 to 15. An English conference and young peoples' rally will be held at the same time, the delegates to these helping very materially to swell the crowd.

Eight years ago the conference meeting of the same denomination was held in the city and our people made a special effort to take care of the delegates. The members of Rev. George Larson's church alone were not sufficiently numerous to look after the visitors and others volunteered the use of such rooms as they might have for their accommodation. The treatment accorded the visitors at that time was such as to make the selection of Thief River Falls unanimous when it came to naming the place for holding the 1920 convention. The church membership is greatest in the Northwest and this city is most conveniently located for holding the meeting.

Will Ask For Rooms.

The majority of those who will come do so at their own expense and it will be the aim to make the cost as light as possible. To this end citizens who can lodge one or more persons for a few days will be asked to do so free of charge. Committees have been appointed for the purpose of canvassing all section of the city for the names of those who will volunteer to assist in this matter and there is no doubt but that the response will be liberal. This committee is made up of the following, together with the territory they will canvass: L. Savig, State and Arnold avenues; John Dahl, Duluth avenue; Ole Snustad, Knight avenue; J. L. Bean, Main avenue; T. A. Fossum, LaBree avenue; Carl Froseth, Horace avenue; Mrs. Inga Berg, Atlantic avenue; Mrs. E. O. Erickson and Mrs. George Larson, Red Lake Boulevard and east of Soo depot; August Sorteland, Riverside avenue and south of Great Northern depot; Ole Revdahl, Conley and St. Paul avenues; Ole Oftelie, Markley avenue; Olof Neset, Kendall avenue; Soren Berglund, Tindolph avenue; Elling Iverson, Crocker avenue and eastward.

Ask Aid of Churches.

Outside of the serving of meals by the Zion Ladies aid, there will be no arrangements made in this regard, the hotels and restaurants being expected to take charge of the overflow.

The use of three other churces in the city will be asked for the holding of English services during the evenings and for committee and corporation meetings.

Is Important Body.

The membership of the Lutheran Free church at the present time is about 30,180. There are 250 pastors and 30 missionaries. Rev. Johan Mattson of Minneapolis is president; Rev. O. H. Sletten, Minneapolis, vice president; Rev. P. O. Laurhammer, Fairdale, N. D.; secretary, and Rev. Elias Berlie, Dalton, Minn., ordinator. As auxiliaries of the church are many institutions and bodies, among these being Augsburg seminary, one of the oldest Lutheran colleges in the United States; a board of home missions and the Lutheran board of missions, Oak Grove Lutheran Ladies' seminary, Fargo; Bethania college, Everett, Wash.; Bethesda homes, Willmar; Paulsbo Orphan and Old Folks' home, Paulsbo, Wash., and a number of ohters.

The city auditorium will be used for the general meetings, having been tendered free by the city council.

Peat Plots Started on Twenty Fields

PHOSPHATE APPLIED TO DETERMINE EFFECT OF TREATMENT ON WHEAT

The Pennington County Farm bureau in co-operation with the University of Minnesota, through the divisions of soils and extension, is starting experimental plots on twenty fields along the Elwell road. On each field two plots of one half acre each are laid out and acid prosphate applied. The yields of wheat on the treated and untreated plots will be determined and reported later.

The purpose of the experiments is to find out whether acid phosphate will increase the yield per acre. In 1918 similar experiments on good soil in Stevens county showed that an application of acid phosphate at the rate of two hundred pounds per acre gave an increase in yield of wheat on unmanured land of two to ten and a half bushels per acre, as reported in Special Bulletin No. 34.

In 1918 at Golden Valley, on the peat experimental tract, acid phosphate caused very marked increases in yields in case of nearly all crops. In 1919 the crops at Golden Valley showed the same effect until destroyed by high water. A large number of demonstration plots were started last year on peat soils of farmers in the northwestern counties and the crops on almost all of these showed that the phosphate was very beneficial.

A new form of acid phosphate is expected to be placed on the market sometime this summer. The new farm will carry 48 per cent of available plant food instead of 16 per cent, the amount carried by the common acid phosphate. One ton of this new triple super-phosphate will treat as much land as three tons of the old and the price, while more per ton, will undoubtedly be much less per pound of plant food than in the case of the regular 16 per cent acid phosphate.

Primary Elections in State Saturday

WILL CHOOSE DELEGATES TO COUNTY MEETING ON THE FIFTH

Republican voters in every county in the state will hold a caucus on Saturday of this week for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a county convention on May 5, at which meeting will be selected delegates to attend the state elimination convention on May 8. According to the call the purpose of the last-anmed gathering will be the selection of a candidate for the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and one railroad and warehouse commissioner. The names of the parties selected for each of the above offices to be the ones going on the primary ballot at the election on June 21.

In Pennington county the hours for holding open the voting places have been fixed from 7 until 9 o'clock. The basis of representation is the same as in the presidential primaries early in the present month and the county is also entitled to the same number of delegates in the state convention, this being seven. Women will be permitted to participate in these caucuses and conventions.

Double Anniversary Sale at Mogensen's

CLOTHIER HAS BEEN FOUR YEARS IN CITY—ONE YEAR IN NEW STORE

As will be seen by the double page spread in another section of the paper today, E. O. Mogensen, the clothier, is going to celebrate two anniversaries by holding a great bargain sale. An event of this kind is rather unusual during these days of constantly increasing prices and the opportunity offered our people to secure goods of the very highest grade at big discounts will no doubt be taken full advantage of.

It was just four years ago that Mr. Mogensen entered the business field in this city. He was successful from the start and his store soon became recognized as one of the best in this section. One year ago he moved to the present fine quarters and increased patronage has resulted because of the more favorable location and also by reason of the wider acquaintance now enjoyed by the proprietor. The Mogensen store is one of which any city might well be proud and his reputation is such that everyone knows that any bargain offered by him is genuine.

ORGANIZATION MEETING COUNTY WELFARE BOARD

Meeting called to order by Oscar J. Peterson. The following people were in attendance and listened to Miss Helen Montegriffo of the state board of control who gave information as to the numerous duties connected with their work: County Commissioner Oscar J. Peterson, County Attorney Theo. Quale, Judge of Probate Ira C. Richardson, Peter C. Wold, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Geo. M. Gunderson and Mrs. A. Larson.

The new board proceeded to organize by electing the following officers: Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president, to serve as such at the pleasure of the board; Geo. M. Gunderson, secretary, to serve until such time as a county nurse is appointed by the county board of commissioners. If this provision failed to materialize then his term to terminate at any time he himself saw fit.

The time of meeting was by motion set for the first Monday of every month at 2 p. m.

The county was, by motion, divided into the following districts, to be presided over as follows: Peter C. Wold, all of the territory lying to the north of the Red Lake river and east of the Thief river, excluding the city; Oscar J. Peterson, all of the territory lying south and east of the Red Lake river, excluding the city; Geo. M. Gunderson, all of the remaining territory including the village of St. Hilaire, but excluding the city; Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Bishop, all of the city of Thief River Falls.

The secretary was instructed to publish the proceedings in the city papers.

The meeting was by motion adjourned without electing a treasurer and vice president.

POPULATION OF 4,685 SHOWN BY CENSUS FIGURES

TEN YEAR INCREASE IN CITY IS 971, OR 26.1 PER CENT

DOES NOT INCLUDE RESIDENTS OF HALF DOZEN NEW ADDITIONS

BEMIDJI RECORD GOOD WHILE CROOKSTON REPORT IS DISAPPOINTING

The population of Thief River Falls, according to the federal census of 1920, is 4,685. This news was contained in a telegram received from Congressman Steenerson by Mayor John Bratrud on Saturday.

The result is somewhat disappointing, it being generally believed that the city would reach 5,000 at least. The gain during the past ten years was 971 or 26.1 per cent. This is the best showing thus far reported for any city in this immediate vicinity.

Additions Not Counted.

Only the persons residing within the corporate limits were counted—and not all of these. The city as commonly referred to is considerably larger than this, there being six residential additions adjoining the corporation limits at different points the residents of which are citizens to all intents and purposes. These additions are Rustad's, Fairgound, Fairfax, Bothun's, Park and Smiley. It is certain that another thousand would have been found had these been included. The comparison is very good, however, and there is no use raising a howl over the count now.

Crookston's Bad Showing.

One of the surprises of the census returns is the record made by Crookston. According to the figures the neighboring city has a population of 6650, a decrease for the decade of 909, or 12 per cent. Crookston papers are claiming that the enumeration was inefficiently carried on and that no such slump as that indicated is possible.

Bemidji has made rapid progress, showing an increase of about 32 per cent. The total population there is 7,086 as compared with 5,099 ten years ago. This is a gain of 1987 persons, but in this number is included nearly 1000 persons residing at Nymore, which has become a part of Bemidji since the state census was taken five years ago. At that time the population of Nymore was given as 834. Deducting this from Bemidji's figures would give the city an actual increase of 1153, or just 182 more than is credited to Thief River Falls.

Senior Class Play at Auditorium Friday

CLEVER PLAY TO BE PRESENTED BY PARTICULARLY COMPETENT CAST

The Senior class of the Thief River Falls high school will present "A Strenuous Life" as the annual class play on Friday evening at the auditorium. The people taking part have been putting in something of a strenuous time in getting ready for the presentation, but it has been rehearsed until every detail runs with the smoothness of a professional production. Miss Agnes Wilson and Miss Ella Evans have had charge of the coaching and reports are that they have accomplished wonders. The cast and carried on as rapidly as funds prove decidedly worth while. Cliff Rice Returns.

Clifford Rice, formerly clerk at the store of E. O. Mogensen, was in the city last week on business. Since his return from the army he has joined the force of G. Sommers & Co., St. Paul, as traveling salesman. "Cliff" put in 11 months overseas, six of which were spent in Germany. He was on the actual firing line for 41 days but came out without injury. One of the pleasant surprises of his army career he says was running into George Loken on the streets of Paris during a furlough.

SIGN PETITION FOR IMPROVING RED LAKE RIVER

SIXTY FARMERS IN EAST SECTION OF COUNTY ASK ACTION OF CONGRESS

CITY COUNCIL FORMALLY GOES ON RECORD AS FAVORING THE PROJECT

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON STATES THAT BILL WILL SOON PASS

Early action by congress in the matter of passing the bill providing for the straightening and deepening of Red Lake river is indicated by dispatches from Washington. Congressman Steenerson has informed interested parties in this city that the government is about ready to undertake its part of the work and that there is no doubt of the passage of the bill at an early date.

W. J. Brown, on behalf of the Red Lake Conservancy and Flood Control district, on Tuesday evening appeared before the city council and asked that body to formally attach the approval of the city to the petition to be forwarded to Mr. Steenerson for use in presenting the final arguments to congress. Mr. Brown explained that the city was in no manner obligating itself in the matter of costs by thus advocating the early passage of the measure and that it was a matter of very great importance to the future of the entire section. The council unanimously passed a resolution complying with this request and instructed Mayor John Bratrud and City Clerk A. H. Akre to sign it on behalf of the city.

Approved by Farmers.

The petition already contained the names of more than the required number of signers, about 60 farmers in the eastern section of Pennington county having indicated their approval of the petition.

The request calls for the straightening and deepening of the river from its outlet at Red lake to the western boundary of Kratka township and for the construction of controlling works at the head of the stream.

Every detail connected with this important matter is now progressing satisfactorily and things are being placed in readiness to begin the preliminary work as soon as authority is granted and the necessary formalities attended to.

Cemetery Plan Submitted.

Frank H. Nutter of Minneapolis, landscape gardener and architect, has submitted plans for the improvement of the recenty added plot at Greenwood cemetery. The old cemetery is filled up and the commission has purchased 43 acres adjoining. The work of clearing and improving this new site will be begun at once and carried on as rapidly as funds will permit. The plan submitted by Mr. Nutter will provide a beautiful cemetery, graveled drive ways, ornamental fences and miniature parks being some of the features.

The commission has requested all who own lots at the cemetery to have them cleaned up by Memorial Day. A number of the graves have an uncared-for appearance which detracts from the appearance of the entire plot.

Will Learn Cost of Paving on Tuesday

BIDS TO BE OPENED BY CITY COUNCIL AT SPECIAL MEETING

The city council will meet in extra session next Tuesday at 2 o'clock for the purpose of considering bids for paving 22 blocks in the business section of Thief River Falls. Whether or not the city engages upon this work during the coming summer will depend almost entirely upon the cost as disclosed by the bids.

Much of the opposition to paving seems to have disappeared. Many of those who were prepared to fight the proposition to the last ditch three weeks ago now profess to be favorably inclined if it can be proven that the streets are in condition to proceed with the work. That a certain amount of opposition will develop is certain but indications are that it will be nowhere near as serious as at first anticipated.

As to the kind of pavement to be laid nothing has as yet been decided. There seems to be a strong feeling that cement should not be employed, but outside of this no favorite has developed. Much will undoubtedly depend on the cost of the different substances, although the council may be depended on to take everything into consideration when awarding the contract.

On Tour of Inspection.

President H. A. Brumund and Councilmen John Dahl and Severn Brandon left Tuesday evening on a tour of inspection of the paving done in a number of nearby cities. They will go to Fargo, Wahpeton, Crookston, Breckenridge and other places and will look into the water supply question at the same time. Several of the places to be visited have lately installed water supply systems of different kinds and the Thief River councilmen will get all the data available on each kind. They will return in time to be present at the meeting next Teusday afternoon, at which time bids for paving will be opened.

Ordinance Passed.

The ordinance giving the Standard Oil company the right to erect the buildings necessary for storing inflammable oils within the city limits was given its third reading and passed on Tuesday evening. The site for the structure is on the East Side a short distance from Bridge street and about where the power house of the saw mill stood in former years.

Joins Browning Society.

Miss Dorothy Bottelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson, of Thief River Falls, who is attending Hamline University, St. Paul, has been pledged to membership in the Browning Society, a woman's literary organization at that school.

Ask Steps be Taken to Hold Park Site

COUNCIL COMMITTEE WILL ACT WITH PARK BOARD IN MATTER

A committee of the city council, composed of Carl Froseth, O. L. Ihle and Andrew Ness, has been appointed by President Brumund to act with the park board in looking into the matter of selecting a site for park purposes. Dr. G. W. Booren and Emil E. Zeh of the board appeared before the council on Tuesday evening and urged that a plot of three acres across the river from Squaw Point be acquired and the work of converting it into a public recreation ground begun. The joint committee will make an immediate inspection in order that a report may be made to the council without delay.

The council members admitted that something should be done at once in order to provide a park site even though it be impossible at this time to do any great amount of work on the project. Suitable plots for the purpose are very scarce and the prices of those which might be used are steadily advancing. For this reason quick action is advisable.

The park board members also asked that the block owned by the city on Bridge street between Crocker and Tindolph avenues be seeded down and a number of trees set out. This plot has been rented to private parties for a potato field during the past two years but might be made into a very pretty park for the people of the East Side. The council also agreed to this.

First Indication of Building Activities

COUNCIL GRANTS PERMITS FOR NEW RESIDENCE AND HOTEL ENLARGEMENT

Building costs may be high but that is apparently not going to deter the citizens of Thief River Falls from going ahead with needed enterprises. The first applications for building permits of any importance were presented to the council at Tuesday evening's meeting and most willingly granted.

B. Dan Bjorkman, proprietor of the Model laundry, applied for permission to construct a brick residence in Porter's addition, across the street from his place of business. The estimated cost is $7,000.

K. S. Dahl, proprietor of the Central hotel, will make improvements costing in the neighborhood of $2,000. He will add another story to the building, making three in all, and otherwise enlarge the place.

John Bundy was granted permission to make repairs to his residence on the East Side and to build additions, placing the cost at $1400.

Legion Revue Cancelled.

There was no entertainment staged in this city by the Legion Revue last Tuesday, although the appearance of the troupe here had been widely advertised. A message from Bemidji caused the committee in charge to cancel the date. Fred T. Scanlan, chairman, stated that if the things reported were true he did not wish to be in any way responsible for the appearance of the outfit in this city.

The revue showed at Brainerd last week and was to have filled a date at Bemidji on Saturday. The class of performance presented was so rank that the Brainerd legion committee rang the curtain down before the end of the performance and at once notified Bemidji of what had happened. The boys in the latter city cancelled at once and in turn put the Thief River Falls bunch wise. From here the word was passed on to Crooksson. That outfit will find itself out of luck.

Bankers at Pinehurst.

The Associated Press dispatches of Monday morning announced the arrival of the executive council of the Minnesota Bankers association at Pinehurst, N. C. Among the Minnesota representatives were noted Kelsey S. Chase, president of the Peoples bank, St. Paul; C. L. Hansen, president First National bank, Thief River Falls; A. A. Crane, vice president First National bank, Minneapolis, and Theodore Wold, vice president Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis.

BOWEN DECIDES NOT TO ENTER CONGRESS RACE

NONPARTISAN SPEAKER SEES NO ADVANTAGE IN GOING TO WASHINGTON

MEETING OF LEADERS AT CROOKSTON MAY 4 WILL DECIDE COURSE

BOWEN AT RED LAKE FALLS CLAIMS TO BE ORIGINATOR OF MOVEMENT

E. A. Bowen of Fergus Falls, will not enter the primaries as a candidate for congress in the Ninth district against Halvor Steenerson. This was the statement made in a number of address in this section last week and repeated to a large audience at the court house here on Thursday evening.

Mr. Bowen evidently did not think a great deal of the advantages of going to congress and stated that in his opinion he could be of greater value to the cause by continuing as an organizer and expounder than as a representative at the national capital.

A meeting of the district leaders will be held at Crookston on May 4 for the purpose of deciding whether or not another candidate is to be selected to make the primary race. The Polk county Nonpartisans held a mass convention on Monday and endorsed R. T. Buckler of that city as the man to make the run against Congressman Steenerson.

Bowen is Fine Speaker.

Mr. Bowen was greeted by an audience that filled every available space on the second floor of the court house and extended down the stairs and into the hall. He is a pleasant and forceful speaker and put forth his arguments with good effect. He kept away from extremes and made a most favorable impression even on those who did not agree with him or in the purposes of his program.

Considerable time was devoted to showing that the state-owned industrial plants in North Dakota were successful in cutting the cost to the consumer at the same time providing a greater return for the producer. Mr. Bowen claimed that the flour mill at Drake, for instance, was making good in spite of the fact that it was selling flour for considerably less than others and paying the farmer more for his wheat, particularly the plans of its votaries whereby they expect to eliminate the costs added to necessities of life by reason of alleged mismanagement and profiteering by middlemen.

The speaker touched but lightly upon Amendment No. 1 but said enough to prove that he was not in favor of its passage in the present form.

Says He Was Originator.

A statement alleged to have been made by Mr. Bowen in his address at Red Lake Falls has occasioned considerable surprise. He claimed that the credit for originating the Nonpartisan league belonged to him and not to the parties to whom it is generally attributed.

Women Will Wonder How it Can be Done

LOKENS WILL PAY MORE FOR RETURNED GARMENT THAN ITS FIRST COST

H. O. Loken is not a betting man ordinarly but last week he decided to take a chance. A traveling man for one of the largest suit houses in the country ended his trip in Thief River Falls and offered to sell Loken his entire sample line of fall and winter coats. He said in effect: "I'll bet you anything that you can sell these coats right now if the inducement is made sufficiently attractive." Loken did not think so at the time but the price made on the garments was such that no merchant could withstand the temptation. He bought.

Now he intends selling winter garments in the spring and will go about it this way: Any lady wishing one of the coats—and they are beauties—can buy it at exact cost, plus one dollar. It matters not whether the garment costs $200 or $20—the agreement holds. She may retain this coat until the first of October and if at that time she is for any reason dissatisfied with her bargain she can return it and get her money back, including the dollar, and she will besides be paid eight per cent on her money for the time it has been kept by the storekeeper.

No more unusual proposition was ever presented and Mr. Loken is now of the opinion that he will lose his bet.

Mother's Day May 9.

Mother's Day falls on May 9 this year and local greenhouses are prepared to take care of the demand usual just previous to that anniversary. Of late years it has become the custom of sons and daughters who have left the old home to remember mother on this particular day with a gift of flowers and to wear one themselves as an act of homage and respect. It is a beautiful custom and should be encouraged.

The Most Astounding Offer Ever Made!

We Will Pay More For a Returned Garment Than it Cost in the First Place!

You will say this cannot be done. Ordinarily you would be right, but this is how the matter stands: A traveling man representing one of the largest coat houses in the country just about closed his spring selling trip in this city. It should be remembered that goods for fall delivery are sold early in the spring and that the selling season is about at an end. He offered to make a bet that the Loken store could sell the coats he carried right at this time, providing the inducement was made sufficiently attractive. We took him up and here is our proposition:

We will place these garments on sale for two days only—Friday and Saturday of this week—on the following terms:

> The garments cost us all the way from $20 to $200 each. We will sell them at exactly this price, plus one dollar to cover the cost of actual handling, express, etc. It makes no difference what kind of a coat you select from this stock—we will hand you the wholesaler's invoice and you pay us what it calls for, plus one dollar.

"But," you say, "there is nothing to prevent Loken from marking up the price or presenting a fake invoice." The proposition is so unusual that you are justified in being suspicious of it and we do not blame you, but here is the guarantee of our good faith in the matter:

> You may carry off any of these garments on the terms above set forth. You may keep it until the first day of October, 1920. If on that date you are for any reason dissatisfied with your bargain, bring the garment back. We will return the original purchase price, plus the dollar, AND WILL PAY INTEREST ON THE MONEY YOU DEPOSITED WITH US AT THE RATE OF EIGHT PER CENT for all the time we have retained it. Not a question will be asked and no excuses offered. Bring back the garment and get your money, plus eight per cent.

How Can We Do This?

We know that next fall the prices on coats will be at least 25 to 50 per cent higher than at present. We therefore stand to lose nothing by having these exceptional coats thrown back on our hands. In fact, we will be gainers if you decide not to keep them. NO SUCH OPPORTUNITY WILL COME YOUR WAY AGAIN. ACT NOW.

Next Year's Styles

Remember that these goods are not left-overs from a previous season's stock. Every garment represents exactly what will be worn next fall and just what every up-to-date merchant is buying for his trade at that time. Nothing different or better can be had because nothing else will be made. Long before goods such as these are offered to the trade the manufacturers will be making up garments for next spring. You positively cannot go wrong on this. WE COULD NOT AFFORD TO HAVE YOU DO SO.

Come in, pick out the garment you want and take it with you under above positive guarantee!

Peter Newman Dead.

Word was received here this week of the death of Peter Newman at the Milwaukee, soldiers' home. He was 80 years of age and a pioneer of Thief River Falls, having lived in this city for about 35 years and leaving only about a year and a half ago to spend his last days at the Milwaukee home, he having been a soldier in the Union army and hailing from that state. Deceased homesteaded the farm now owned by T. P. Hamry about two miles north of the city and resided there for many years. Coming to town he engaged in the restaurant business, which he followed for some time. One daughter and an adopted son survive, the former being Mrs. Andy Smith of this city. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance among the old-timers here and was a man of some consequence in the days of his prime and prosperity.

A Successful Carnival.

From an attendance and amusement point of view the carnival staged last week by the high school students was a decided success. Financially it would have turned out all right also had not certain of the booth tenders misjudged its purpose. The system of accounting seems to have been rather inefficient and as a result a deficit may result where there was every promise of a large surplus. Something like a thousand dollars was taken in and the exact outcome will not be known until the books are fully checked up. It was a great show; however, and it is to be hoped that the financial returns will be as great as merited. It took a lot of hard work on the part of everyone to put the thing across and it would be too bad to find that a serious slip had been made in one of the most important departments.

Four Minute Speaker Here.

This evening the first of a series of talks, under the auspices of the Minnesota Sound Government association, will be given in this city at the Lyceum theatre.

The picture deals with the origin of the Nonpartisan league and features Max Figman in the leading role. The picture is highly interesting and entertaining. Mr. Figman is supported by an excellent cast.

Other talks and pictures relating to the Nonpartisan league will be shown at intervals of about five days, the exact dates to be announced later. No extra admission charged.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with Peterson-Kittleson.

The following account of the marriage of P. G. Peterson, deputy city clerk, taken from the Fosston Thirteen Towns, will prove of interest to local people. The newlyweds will make this city their home and will live in the Ness flat, Duluth avenue north:

Monday of this week at the Presbyterian parsonage at Bemidji, Miss Genevieve Kittleson, an estimable young lady of that city, became the bride of Peter G. Peterson of Thief River Falls, and eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Peterson of Fosston. They were attended by Miss Elaine G. Boyd of Thief River Falls and Nary Kittleson, brother of the bride. Garns Lecture Well Received.

The recital by John Seaman Garns of the McPhail School of Dramatic Art, given at the Lyceum theatre under the auspices of the Woman's club Tuesday evening was of the highest order and exceptionally entertaining. The leading number was the presentation of Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire." His impersonation of the happy-go-lucky French nobleman was exceedingly good. Mr. Garns also delighted his audience with a number of vocal selections and humorous stories in the dialect of the Yankee, Irish and Scandinavian. Between the first and second acts of Monsieur Beaucaire Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher rendered two solos which were very much enjoyed. The entertainment on the whole was one of the best of its kind ever given in this city and it is hoped that Mr. Garns will visit our city again in the near future.

Entertained Informally.

In commemoration of her birthday anniversary Miss Avis Akre entertained a few of her friends informally at her home on Duluth avenue north on Wednesday morning. Needlework formed the chief diversion. The honor guest was presented with a handsome gift as a token of their appreciation and esteem. Mrs. Sponheim has been an active member of the musical section for a number of years and her departure from this city in the near future will mean the loss of a most efficient and estimable woman.

Buy Graduation Gifts Now Why---?

Because now stocks are large and complete. We have fresh stoccks of Stationery, Gift Books, Kodak Albums, Graduation Books, Fountain Pens, Candle Sticks and Shades, Vases and other suitable gifts.

Because merchandise of all kinds is scarce and hard to get. Transportation is slow and getting worse. We have been buying heavily ever since the first of the year and this merchandise is all here now and crowded on our shelves. We have a better stock to pick from now than we will have in a month or in two months or any time until this fall when the Christmas goods begin to arrive.

Buy especially Graduation Books and give them now so that the students will have a chance to get them filled out before the class graduates and scatters.

Shop now and buy when you see what you want, avoid being disappointed. Nine times out of ten when you find just what you want and put off the purchasing of it until later you find the article gone when you go back to get it.

"Flowers for Mother"

Join the Millions of Men, Women and Children of this Great Nation in Paying Homage to Her.

This day has been set aside by an Act of Congress as a day to be kept sacred in honor of the "Mothers" when we, as a Nation, turn aside fro mour usual tasks to pay homage to her who gave us birth, whose guiding hand and unselfish love made life's path smooth for our first faltering steps.

FLOWERS

Profusely fragrant and delightfully refreshing, they will, if presented on this day, be a true token of love and devotion. It means so much to Mother, every petal, every leaf, every waft of fragrance is laden with a message for her. It speaks to her in langauge no human tongue can speak—it makes her feel that the pain, the anxiety, the fear, the sleepless nights, her silent sorrow, her sufferings have not been in vain—it speaks to her of love returned, the sweetest of all compensations and it means so little to you measured by the standard of gold and silver.

Give Her Favorite Flower to "The Best Mother That Ever Lived, Your Mother." All flowers are appropriate for "Mother's Day." Blooming Plants, Cut Flowers, Baskets, in fact any of the many kinds She likes so well.

PRESIDENT BURTON'S ADDRESS

At ten o'clock on Tuesday morning the Auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity. Dr. Burton's name acted as a bugle which called the people together.

The theme of Dr. Burton's speech was the importance of education. Knowing that the citizens of tomorrow—the school children of today—will have to face grave problems of the uttermost importance. Dr. Burton attempted to impress upon his audience the value of their training. He told the students that they must do their work thoroughly; the teachers that they must arouse the pupils to active thinking; and the citizens of Thief River Falls that they must support their educational system because these three things would assist in building characters that will make the future of American democracy secure.

The people who went to the Auditorium, hardly knowing what to expect, left it feeling that they had been permitted to see farther than the surface—that they had learned to do their share in making our educational system a truly democratic institution.

Corn Pain Stopped Quick

"Gets-It" Loosens Them So They Lift Off in A Jiffy.

The corn pains cease as soon as a few drops of "Gets-It" reach the corn. It goes out of the hurting business forever.

For a day or so the corn remains, getting looser and looser and without a twinge from it. Then, it gets so loose that you just lift it right off, without even feeling it, and cast it away. That's how easily and simply "Gets-It" disposes of the corn nuisance.

"Gets-It," the unfailing, guaranteed, moneyback corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mf'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Farm Labor Scarce.

A shortage of farm labor which may be as acute as that of 1918 and threatens to curtail food production on American farms, Secretary of Agriculture Meridith said in an appeal to the businessmen and college students to spend their vacations working on farms particularly as helpers in the harvest fields. The supply of farm labor is only 72 per cent of normal, carefully compiled, reports to the department indicate, as compared wth 84 per cent last year.

Mother Took Her Son From School

WAS WORRIED BECAUSE HE WAS FRAIL AND THIN—IS THE PICTURE OF HEALTH NOW

"I just wish I could tell every mother in Milwaukee about Tanlac, for it is simply wonderful what it has done for my boy," said Mrs. Bertha Krause, 1031 Pratt St., Milwaukee, Wis., while telling of the remarkable benefits her son derived from taking the medicine.

"Ever since Earl was ten years old," Mrs. Krause said, "he had been in poor health, and in spite of all I could do for him he got worse. He had awful sick headache spells nearly every day and they made him so faint and weak he would have to go to bed. His appetite was so poor that he ate practically nothing, and his stomach was so badly upset that he could hardly retain the little he did eat. He was almost continually nauseated and every morning he complained of a bad taste in his mouth. His nerves were badly unstrung and he was so restless he could not sleep well. He had a pain in his side so bad that he could not lie on that side. For a year and a half he was out of school and he got so weak and thin I worried over him all the time.

"One day he read about Tanlac himself and asked me to get him some. It was no time before he began to improve and now he really looks like a different boy entirely. His appetite is just fine and everything he eats agrees with him perfectly. The headaches have disappeared and he never complains of that pain in his side. His nerves are steady and normal and he is sleeping soundly every night. His face has filled out and he looks better and stronger in every way. I am more grateful to Tanlac than words can express, and I will always have a good word to say for it of what it has done for my son.

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

Congress Approves Bridge at Red Lake

SUPERINTENDENT INSTRUCTED TO GO AHEAD WITH CONSTRUCTION

Representative Harold Knutson has received a letter from the Indian bureau, stating that plans for the proposed bridge at the outlet of Red lake, on the Red Lake reservation, have been approved and the superintendent has been instructed to proceed with its construction.

Plans for the construction of roads on the reservation during the current season have been approved, involving an expenditure of about $10,000.

A similar amount will be expended for road work in the next fiscal year, and the superintendent has been asked to submit plans for the work, so that it may be commenced July 1, when funds become available.

Lutherans to Help Europe's Starving

REV. GRIMSRUD IS CHAIRMAN OF CAMPAIGN IN PENNINGTON COUNTY

To meet Minnesota's quota of $228,000 in the intensive campaign for $1,800,000 among the Lutherans in the United States for the suffering, famine-stricken and destitute Lutherans in 15 different countries in Europe, every county in the state is being organized and county chairmen named to head the work.

The chairman in charge of this work in this county is Rev. C. M. Grimsrud of St. Hilaire, and each congregation will be reached from headquarters, 501 West hotel, Minneapolis, through the congregational secretaries.

More than 50 counties of the state are already organized, and preliminary work locally being done to launch a successful drive May 9th to May 16th. "Lutherans in Minnesota and America have never before been confronted with such immense responsibilities," said Rev. G. Keller Rubrecht of Minneapolis, president of the synod of the Northwest, who is state director of the campaign, at the first meeting of state workers in Minneapolis last week, in his opening address, charging Minnesota Lutherans with the duty to meet the appalling conditions abroad. "Minnesota and America were never so wealthy as they are today. Europe was never, not even during the years of war, so poverty stricken and helpless. Even the terms of the peace treaty makes us peculiarily responsible for our brethren over there. The cry of millions of starving children alone must break the dear hearts to liberal response."

Goes to Grand Forks.

H. Mayne Stanton, who since his return from the army has been secretary of the Civic and Commerce association of Bemidji, has resigned and accepted a similar post with the Commercial club of Grand Forks, entering upon his duties on May 15. Mr. Stanton has been one of the most consistent and tireless of the Bemidji boosters and will be greatly missed The job he assumes will give a somewhat larger field for his talents, however, and advancement is the order of the day.

Ribbon Social.

There will be a ribbon social at the Swenslie school house, district number 135, 3 miles west of the city on the Jefferson highway, Saturday evening, May 1. Girls bring ribbons and lunch for two. Everybody invited.

THE REASON WHY

There are many reasons WHY clothes will be UP in price again this coming season—host of them are very good reasons indeed.

The Princess Theatre has a surprise for its audience this week—a compelling and very worthy reason why men are paying good prices for clothes. Incidentally it is a reason which every good American will be proud to know of.

Through the Oen Mercantile Co., proprietor of The House of Kuppenheimer here and John Brumund of the Princess a short photoplay scenario with a powerful punch has been filmed entitled THE REASON WHY. It is running on this week's bill—be sure and see it.

Briefly here is its story—A young alert chap is about to accept a new and important position where clothes appearance counts a great deal. He goes with his father to select a smart and serviceable suit. The price is a little more than he paid for his last suit and like all alert young men of today he asks WHY—and is shown the answer, which is the surprise of the photoplay. The young man is thoroughly satisfied and proud that the making of KUPPENHEIMER clothes is different than the old time way all ready-to-wear clothes used to be made. He is not the kind of a fellow who wants to profit at the expense and the suffering of others—he is a thoroughly 100 percent American.

Aside from giving a graphic reason for the increase in the cost of clothes the picture also accents the value of good clothes appearance—the importance of wearing clothes that have real style and right fit. a29

The Public Forum

Our Public Schools.

Our public schools can be improved very much in one particular line, namely, the living conditions for teachers.

I shall begin with the Rural Schools.

Our beloved country has made no development along this line the last 50 years. Searching thru the storehouse of my memory back to 50 years ago, I can find no other line of human activity where development has been at a stand-still. It happened that we had a man teacher 50 years ago, but the percentage is steadily decreasing.

Our public schools have been depending on the good and untiring service of women teachers, but it can be figured out by mathematics that we will continue to have too few teachers if we shall continue to depend on the supply from our women friends. The young women are now getting to be just as good business managers as men, and it is getting to be the custom to pay them the same wages as men. Consequently women will more and more be drawn into business life.

The steadily increasing demand from our state educational department for more years of education for teachers will in a large measure decrease the number of students for the teaching profession, for the simple reason, that a good training for business life can be obtained for about half the expense and half of the time it takes to become an acceptable teacher. It is only by the divinely imbued inclination of the female sex to live among and to care for the feeble and young folks of our race that we have so many more women teachers than men. But this very same blessed inclination also takes the young women out of the teaching profession and into homes of their own, as a rule, after only a few years of teaching, and their average years of teaching are but few. We see, then, that the forces that tend to draw young women out of the teaching profession are from two directions, namely, Business life and Home life.

The force that tends to draw the young men out of the teaching profession need be only from one of these lines, namely Business life. If we establish Teachers' Homes right by the school house and let teachers live there with their family the whole year free of charge, and if we add about 10 acres to the school grounds and make of these acres a little teacher's farm on which could be kept one or two milch cows, etc., and let teachers care for this little farm his own way and to his best advantage during his summer vacation, free of charge, we shall soon have a great number of men teachers who have chosen teaching as their life profession.

Anyone can easily see that such a teacher's home right by the school house if properly cared for would be equivalent to several hundred dollars to the teacher. Anyone that knows something about human nature can judge that many young men would prefer a free life during the summer months on such a teacher's home to being tied up indoors in many other occupations.

The modern auto, and telephone would take away the feeling of loneliness and the teacher and his family would have the great advantage of an out-door life during summer. In these times of tuberculosis an outdoor life during summer is to be coveted.

The Minnesota Health Journal for April 8 has a table showing percentage of deaths from tuberculosis out of every 100,000. Out of 53 different lines of occupation the man on the farm stands next safest against tuberculosis. This fact alone ought to increase the interest for rural life. The rural school teacher should be interested in rural life and should be able to interest the children in the science of producing the precious fruits of the earth. By having a little farm to attend to he would naturally become an able teacher in this much needed branch of study.

But I must write one more article on Rural Schools.

The Dairy Cow

Governor Lowden, of Illinois, recently said:

"The Cow is a most wonderful laboratory. She takes the grasses of the pasture, and the roughage of the field, and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the highest health of the human race, and which can be found nowhere else. Men have sought for centuries the fabled Fountain of Youth. The nearest approach to that fountain which has yet been discovered is the udder of the cow. Without her milk, children languish, the vigor of the adult declines, and the vitality of the human race runs low."

Scientific dairying will bring millions of added wealth to this locality, as it has brought millions to the timber and prairie lands of northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

Remember this strong Bank stands ready to help all our worthy farmers finance the purchase of good dairy stock.

LAUNDRYMEN will tell you that every man has a favorite shirt. He wears it oftener than any other one, and naturally, it makes more frequent trips to the laundry. Among the most frequent visitors you will find many

Summit Shirts

They fit as well after laundering as they do the first time you wear them. They improve with acquaintance. Summit shirts are carefully laundered before they leave the factory. They are then carefully inspected before being shipped. When you buy a Summit Shirt, you know it will "stand the gaff" because it has already demonstrated its ability to do so.

CEMENT NOT SPECIFIED

Those who find fault with the hard surface road program of the State Highway commission base their objection principally on the mistaken notion that the passage of Amendment No. 1 will mean the paving of these roads with cement. They not only object to the material itself but also to the enterprise as a whole, stating that it will mean a few miles of excellent roads near the large cities and nothing for the rest of the state. Furthermore, they are of the opinion that roads entirely satisfactory and much cheaper can be built and the money derived from the tax on automobiles thus be made to stretch over a much larger territory.

To some extent their opposition is not without merit, but when they go so far as to advocate the rejection of Amendment No. 1 because of it they are certainly making a mistake. There is nothing in the proposed law that makes it incumbent on the commission to employ cement, or even to pave, for that matter. The law itself simply establishes the routes and provides the means for paying for the roads later on, no matter how these may be constructed. As to this latter matter, the legislature would have to decide.

It may be found that actual paving of the highways is not feasible. The high cost may serve to make this impracticable and the greater speed with which a larger area can be served by substituting gravel may convince the lawmakers that the latter plan is best. This would do away with the objections voiced against cement on so many sides. It might leave the counties that have already voted to issue bonds for paving in a rather difficult position, but the remainder of the state can not be expected to follow their lead if it is proven to be to their disadvantage.

The trouble is that by defeating Amendment No. 1 the people would be de depriving themselves of any road program whatever, other than the makeshift now in force. This they do not wish to do and would gladly endorse the proposition if assured that all sections of the state would be treated alike. As the matter now appears to many the law simply gives them an opportunity to help pave the main highways in the state—say one between the twin cities and head of the lakes and a couple more in the southern section—leaving the less populous districts to wallow in the mud for years, during all of which time they would be helping pay for pavement that is of no benefit to them. Quit emphasizing this cement paving proposition and a large part of the opposition will disappear.

THEY HAVE ANOTHER GUESS

The one hundred and sixty-two senators and representatives who are planning a junketing trip to the Orient at the expense of the government had better stick around awhile and maybe they will change their minds. The cost of this trip is vaguely placed at "hundreds of thousands of dollars," while as far as can be learned its value to the country will be nil.

Treasury officials are estimating the current year deficit in the government revenue by the billions of dollars and warnings of greater economy are being sounded from every direction. Public enterprises of great importance are halted because there is no money in sight with which to carry them on. The tax burden is causing murmurs of discontent everywhere. In spite of these things a lot of peoples' representatives consider the time proper for a long and useless journey "at government expense."

The trip is to be made on army transports, according to the information given out. This plan was undoubtedly adopted because it is the most expensive.

WHEAT BADLY NEEDED

The backward spring is liable to curtail the amount of acreage devoted to wheat in this section much beyond the point that would have been reached had the season been normal. Under ordinary circumstances the fact that less wheat than usual was being planted would be a cause for congratulation rather than the opposite, but conditions make things very much different this year.

There is an alarming shortage in the winter wheat crop and a scarcity will be the probability even with an increased acreage of spring wheat. As matters now stand large numbers of farmers who had decided to cut down on wheat and devote their land to other crops may change their minds and go in more heavily than ever for the more popular grain. They are practically assured of a good price even though the government guarantees have been removed and it is also probable that many will take the world-need into consideration and do what they can toward relieving the situation. Certain it is that unless the program is changed the food outlook will be worse instead of better.

Seeding has been somewhat retarded in this neighborhood by the late spring, but there is still time to plant wheat with every hope of its coming out all right. Men who have farmed here for years say that some of their best crops have been secured from seed planted after the first of May. The delay should not therefore be urged as an argument against going into wheat to the same extent as in previous years.

The government's request is that wheat—more wheat—be planted. Everything indicates that this will prove good advice.

RETAIN THE OLD NAME

It is only a matter of sentiment, of course, but even at that the subject is worth considering for a moment.

A modern building is to be erected on the site of the present Knox school on the East Side and it has been suggested that the name be changed to something different from the one now used.

There is much opposition to this, particularly among the old-timers. The present name to them represents something. It recalls a period in the history of the city when the building of school houses was not such an easy matter as it seems to be at present. They remember the time when such enterprise could only be entered upon providing all the people were willing to forego something in order to make its consummation possible. Every detail connected in any manner with the construction and equiping of this particular school is still fresh in their memory and they wish to have a voice in this matter of changing names.

When a school building was first needed on the East Side the district had no money with which to provide one. In order to lighten the burden on the taxpayers Charles J. Knox, at that time a resident of Thief River Falls and the owner of considerable property in the neighborhood, donated the site of the present Knox school. He did not attach a solitary condition to his gift and the naming of the building after him was an act of his fellow citizens who simply wished in this manner to voice their appreciation of his generosity.

A fine school building, such as the Knox was at that time considered, would not be complete without a bell in the little steeple adorning the entrance. This meant the outlay of more money and the school trustees hardly felt themself justified in providing it. Again Mr. Knox came to the rescue. He offered to raffle off one of the lots owned by him on the East Side, the proceeds to go towards the purchase of a bell. E. K. Aasen, still a resident of the city, won the lot. He has perhaps forgotten its exact location and only remembers that the raffle brought in money enough to provide the desired bell.

People on the East Side were proud of the Knox. It was a model school at the time of its erection and every man and woman in the city had in some manner contributed toward its attaining this distinction. Mr. Knox was given much credit at the time and no one has arisen since to maintain that he was not entitled to it.

What the old-timers now wish to know is this: Why should the new building be given a name that signifies nothing in particular instead of being permited to retain the one around which so many fond memories linger?

A SPASM IN OVERALLS

The statement is made that the fad of wearing overalls has already had the effect of bringing down the price of clothing in cities of the East. If such is the case it has certainly served a good purpose.

Up to the present time, however, the movement has scarcely assumed proportions which entitle it to be regarded as more than a fad—and a passing fad at that. If it continues to grow it is bound to bring down the cost of the higher grade clothing materials—but that is not all it will do.

Laboring men have entered a strong and rather well-taken protest against the thing being carried any farther. They say that even as matters now stand they are compelled to pay about $7 for a suit of overalls worth half that sum, and that if this thing continues it will mean still greater advances. These men are not wearing overalls as a protest against the high cost of other kinds of clothing, but because it is the only material suitable to their purpose. Farmers are in the same fix exactly and do not view the new movement with unmixed enthusiasm.

Economy in buying clothing is all right and should be practiced along with economy in other lines. The trouble is that the overall movement simply provides another opportunity for needless expense, at the same time adding to the burden of those who must buy this particular class of goods. The man who allows a fairly serviceable suit of clothes to hang in a closet and buys himself a suit of overalls for $7 is not helping lower the cost of living. If he did not buy the overalls he would in all likelihood not have bought anything at all in the line of wearing apparel for the simple reason that he did not need it. He has simply aided by one suit in raising the cost to the man who must have one like it and bought seven dollars' worth of something he did not need.

Would it not have been a much more sensible idea to start a movement having for its purpose the wearing of the clothes one already has until these are past serving their purpose? We are all more or less wasteful in this respect and the saving that might be effected if all would wear their clothes a little longer would make a greater difference in the demand for high-class goods than all the overall movements that can be introduced and would not unnecessarily boost the price of the latter class of garments.

Make a patch on the county seat of a man's trousers a sort of badge of honor and see if the result is not much more satisfactory.

MAYBE THIS MEANS YOU

Just why it is that certain autoists consider it necessary to run past a church with their cut-out wide open on Sunday morning when services are being conducted is something that is a little hard to understand. That such is the practice will be admitted by all those who do not own an automobile and consequently go to church on Sunday morning.

The practice should be stopped. Drivers should stop it voluntarily as it shows an unconcern for the feelings of others that is certainly not creditable. No doubt thoughtlessness is to blame in most instances but this does not excuse the practice. Where there is no such mitigating circumstances there should be an ordinance that would make it a misdemeanor.

Just the least bit of consideration for the rights of your neighbor, however, will be all that is necessary.

Martin Stokke.

Martin Stokke died at his home near Germantown on Sunday following a two weeks' illness. The deceased was born in Crookston on May 5, 1883, at which place he lived with his parents until he was 21 years old. He then homesteaded at Malcolm for 17 years, later moving to Germantown where he acted as postmaster for two years. His later years were spent in farming in the vicinity of Germantown. In 1912 he was married to Miss Betsey Larson of Germantown and to this union were born three children all of whom survive. Funeral services were held from the Trinity Lutheran church on Thursday afternoon. Interment took place in Greenwood cemetery.

Republican Primaries.

There will be held a Republican Primary Election in the different precincts of the county, on the first day of May, between the hours of two and nine P. M., for the election of delegates to a County Convention to be held in the city of Thief River Falls, on Wednesday the 5th day of May, when delegates will be chosen to the State Convention, to be held in the city of St. Paul on the eighth day of May.

The basis of representation for precinct and county will be the same as for the Presidential primary. Women are entitled to participate fully in the primaries and convention. The delegates present from the different precincts will co-operate with the present chairman of the woman voters, Miss Effie Hamry, for the selection of women chairman for the different precincts, where such selection has not already been made. Representation from every precinct in the county is urgently requested.

TAX ON INCOME ONLY EQUITABLE PLAN YET FOUND

TAX EXPERT HERE URGES ADOPTION OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

TOTAL TAX LEVY FOR YEAR IN COUNTY INCREASED BY $70,770

PREDICTS FUTURE WILL SEE NO DECREASE IN PUBLIC EXPENDITURES

The Assessors' meeting for Pennington County was held at the court house last week. Nearly all of the assessors of the county were in attendance.

H. B. Bacon, chief clerk of the Minnesota Tax commission, spoke on the duties of the assessors, explaining the assessment laws and answering questions relating to the duties of the assessor in his work of valuing real and personal property.

In his talk Mr. Bacon said: "The public has the right to expect and should demand of every person elected to any public office, the full, fair and impartial discharge of the duties of his office, to the very limit of his ability.

"This applies to the office of the assessor, which while too often thought unimportant, is the real foundation upon which the whole administration of the general property tax rests. It is, in fact, one of the most important and difficult of all of the minor public offices, for upon the fairness of the work of the assessor depends the fairness of the distribution of the tax burden.

"There was more than $92,000,000 spread on the tax list of the state in 1919, and the justice with which this great sum is supportioned among the tax payers of the state depends entirely upon the foundation furnished by the assessor. Inequality in assessment means inequality in taxation, and the omission of any taxable property from the assessment roll, an added burden to the honest tax payer, and works an injustice to the person of moderate means and in favor of the prosperous citizen.

"Taxes have increased in every county in the state, and in Pennington county in about the same proportion as in other counties.

"In 1918 the total levy for the county was $240,934, and in 1919 this was increased to $311,713, and the average tax rate from 48.7 mills in 1918 to 61.3 mills in 1919.

"This increase, however, should give the assessor no concern. He is no more responsible for the increase in the tax than any other citizen in his district, but upon him rests the duty of making the burden fair for each tax payer in his district. He can do this only by placing on the assessment roll all of the taxable property of his district and valuing such property in accordance with the standard fixed by law. This is the best service he can render to the people who have elected him.

"It is not likely that there will be any decrease in expenditures. It is more likely to increase, and because of the increase, some new source of revenue should be provided.

"An amendment to the constitution has therefore been submitted to the people for adoption at the next general election to be held in November of this year, giving the legislature wider powers in exempting, in whole or in part, certain kinds or classes of personal property from taxation and giving them power to impose a tax on incomes privileges and occupations.

"This amendment, if adopted, provides that the legislature may exempt from taxation, household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by the county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs.

"It provides for taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and for the exemption from taxation of a reasonable amount of income, and finally that such taxes may be in lieu of taxes on any class or classes of personal property as the legislature may determine.

"The assessors should carefully study this law and if it meets with their approval, call the attention of the tax payers to the importance of the amendment.

"In Wisconsin, where an income tax law has been in successful operation for some years, the revenue amounted to $11,784,000 in 1918 and in 1919 the tax assessed against incomes amounted to $20,988,000, giving only a little more than 2 per cent of which was directly paid by farmers.

"It is altogether likely that the return from such tax would be as great if it did not exceed the revenue derived from this form of tax in Wisconsin.

"When you take into consideration the very great increase in the tax during the past few years and the probable demands for increased revenues in the future, it would seem that the best source may be found in the adoption of the income tax amendment."

Stephens For Governor?

H. B. Crozier, political writer for the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch, announces through the columns of these papers that A. D Stephens of Crookston is figuring on entering the Republican elimination convention which will select the candidates of the party for governor. The announcement caused considerable surprise in this section of the state, where Mr. Stephens has more friends than in any other part, no one having imagined that he entertained ambitions in that direction.

The candidates, declared and receptive, now line up as follows: Julius A. Schmahl, S. G. Iverson, J. A O. Preus, L. A. Fritsche, M. J. Dowling, Thomas Keefe, W. F. Schilling, W. I Nolan, Thomas Frankson, F. E. Hadley, A. D. Stephens.

Again Tell Farmers of Wheat Shortage

NEED OF LARGE CROP OF SPRING VARIETY IS VERY URGENT

Reports from the spring wheat regions of a plan for reduced acreage this year caused the department of agriculture to issue a statement last week urging farmers to revise their planting plans. Weather conditions and a shortage of farm labor have affected the planting but statistics presented by the department advised increased production because of the poor condition of the winter crop and the continued world demand for wheat.

The normal requirements for consumption and export are about 800,000,000 bushels. Of this amount only 483,617,000 bushels is indicated from the winter wheat this year. The world demand, it was pointed out, will be as great as usual and none can be expected from Australia because of a poor wheat year, and the disorganized transportation conditions makes it improbable the movement of the 55,000,000 bushels Russia has announced she will have ready for export.

It was pointed out that the estimated 483,617,000 bushels of winter wheat may be even less because of winter killed fields and indications that the Hessian fly will be unusually active through large areas. The grasshopper menace, the statement also said, is serious in large parts of great plains belt.

Maria Sanford Dead.

Dr. Maria Sanford, professor emeritus of the University of Minnesota and one of the best-known women in the United States, was found dead in her bed at the home of Senator Knute Nelson in Washington last Wednesday morning. She was 83 years of age and had gone to Washington for the purpose of attending the annual session of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Heart disease was given as the cause of her demise.

The women of the state will particularly mourn the death of Miss Sanford, who was one of the most earnest workers for equal suffrage and other legislation in which women are particularly interested to be found in this country. She was a recognized authority on educational and social problems and only a short time ago delivered a lecture on these subjects in Thief River Falls.

16 Million 438 Thousand Miles a Day

THIS is the potential mileage supplied daily to the people of the Middle West by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

In arriving at these figures we have taken ten miles per gallon as the performance of the average car, and multiplied it by 600,000,000, the number of gallons of gasoline marketed by this Company last year, and divided the result by 365.

The task confronting the Company is a dual one.

Not only must it maintain this flow of gasoline at all times, but it must so plan its activities as to keep pace with constantly increasing demand for fuel, whether this demand be normal or abnormal.

That, in a word, is the job of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the Company is as big as its job.

Every resource, every ounce of energy, and all its equipment are at work to keep pace with the insistent demands for gasoline and other products.

The management recognizes its responsibility to the motorists of the 11 states the Company serves, and every effort is being made to meet this responsibility.

"A Word to the Wise" says the Good Judge

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Weyman-Bruton Company, 1107 Broadway, New York City

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A CERTAIN man in New York filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 53%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is —less than we spend for daily papers

—less than a local telephone call
—less than a third of the day's car fare
—less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty denominations. They have surveyed their whole task, no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men or women who love America—to you—this week asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be.

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better will the world be because you passed through?

WHAT a difference in these motor-car days, when every point in the county is hardly more than "just around the corner."

People's ideas are changing, too.

They're beginning to figure out how much it is costing them to keep a car. And the man who is doing the greatest amount of figuring is the man with the moderate-price car.

II

There still seems to be a notion in some quarters that any tire is good enough for a small car.

That's not what the man who owns it thinks.

In recommending and selling U. S. Tires we are trying to see his side of the proposition—finding out what he wants in a tire and giving him that.

III

Large or small, U. S. Tires are built to only one standard of quality—the standard that produced the first straight side automobile tire, the first pneumatic truck tire.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that counts with the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world.

Church Fund Drive in County This Week

FRIENDLY NON-MEMBERS WILL BE ASKED TO ASSIST MOVEMENT

G. L. Sterns of Thief River Falls, has been named county campaign director of the Interchurch World Movement in Pennington county. The appointment is made by W. L. Smithies, state campaign director, with offices at Minneapolis.

Mr. Sterns will have charge in a general way of each of the co-operating denominational drives for funds and in this capacity will combine nearly a dozen drives which would ordinarily be made separately.

In view of the attention which this united campaign is expected to attract, there is to be made at the same time, April 25 to May 2, a non-denominational request for funds. This request will be made of persons who are friendly to the church or who may not have been reached by the denominational canvasses in the county.

"It has been pointed out," Mr. Sterns says, "that the co-operation of the churches will provide a financial ingathering of $336,000,000, which will make possible unheard-of things in the service of the Christian church to all huamnity.

"When we realize how little this really amounts to as a donation from each church member, or from those persons who are friedly to the church, success of the Movement is assured."

Start Campaign to Fight Tonnage Tax

PEOPLE OF NORTHWEST MINNESOTA WILL SOON EXPLAIN THEIR POSITION

The Minnesota Fair Tax association was formed at a mass meeting attended by over 500 people from 66 different towns in northern Minnesota on Jan. 12 of this year. It is claimed to be a people's organization with which the mining companies have nothing to do, and its aim is to fight the tonnage tax, not in the legislature as the mining companies have always done, but by taking the facts concerning iron ore and its taxation directly to the people of the state.

The organization plans to circulate literature, public advertisements in papers, send speakers throughout the state and in every way possible acquaint the people of the state with all the facts concerning a tonnage tax. This work will be begun the first week in May when canvassers, prominent business men of northern Minnesota who have volunteered their services will invade all parts of the state with propaganda directed against the tonnage tax.

Funds for carrying on this campaign were secured by selling over 30,000 memberships at $1 each, and by contributions from commercial clubs and business men in northern Minnesota.

The work of the Minnesota Fair Tax association is being carried on by an executive committee consisting of the following northern Minnesota business men: R. W. Hitchcock, Hibbing, chairman; N. M. Koll, Cass Lake; R. R. Wise, Brainerd; W. G. Brown, Chisholm; E. C. Kiley, Grand Rapids; W. J. Archer, Virginia; F. J. Dacey, Duluth; G. H. Lommen, Biwabik; J. A. Thomas, Ely; F. E. $20,000 Needed to Complete Buildings

VALLEY LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION WILL MAKE DRIVE FOR FUNDS

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Red River Valley Live Stock association it was decided to organize a vigorous drive to secure the balance needed to complete the buildings owned by the association. May 12 and 13 have been decided on for this drive. The directors and members of the advisory board will be in charge in each county and will call upon all interested in live stock development to assist. Each county has a certain quota which must be secured if the work of the assoiation is not to be greatly hampered and the new addition delayed.

The recent articles in "The Country Gentleman" have given the Red River Valley live stock national prominence. It is up to the valley now to maintain this record. Without the winter live stock show is destined to become a great annual event not only so far as this section is concerned but for a much larger area.

This drive will include the counties from Becker to Roseau. $21,000 is needed to complete a $50,000 plant owned and controlled exclusively by the members of the association themselves.

The following well known Pennington county men are members of the official boards of the association: Fred Beerbower and Paul Engelstad of Thief River Falls. In addition there are 20 stockholders at present in this county. This number must be increased materially in order to secure the remainder of the county's quota.

Some Favor It.

Warroad Pioneer: There has been some rumor that the Nonpartisan league would oppose Amendment No. 1, but that seems improbable. While Mr. Lee, who led the opposition to the amendment in the conference, is a Nonpartisan senator, the best speech in favor of it was made by Senator Schmeckel, of Renville county, also a Nonpartisan.

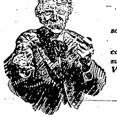
There's a World of Solid Comfort In the Rich, Red Tin

YES, sir, we mean that same warm red and gold tin that smiles a welcoming "Howdy" to you in every tobacco store. Know what those colors mean?

The red is for the friendly warmth, the mellow cheeriness, that Velvet puts into your old pipe. And the gold is where the Kentucky sunshine, that ripens good old Velvet, has just sort of soaked through.



Remember what Velvet Joe said about it?

"You've met canned meat and canned music. Ever see any tinned sunshine? Well, look into any Velvet tin."

And think this over:

We don't have to hide Velvet's taste or smell with a lot of this, that and the other thing. Because Velvet has naturally what pipe smokers want—real simon-pure tobacco taste and fragrance. It's just good, honest Kentucky leaf, made still more friendly and mellow by two years' ageing in wooden hogsheads. Just good tobacco. That's all. But it's mighty near enough for the man who wants a pipeful of tobacco and not a box of bon bons.

The picture of a pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

How's the Velvet holding out in your old red tin?

Paving Job Awarded to Canada Men

Bitulithic Is Material Favored and the Price $3.98 Per Square Yard

Cost For Each 25-Foot Lot Will Be $400—Twenty Years in Which to Pay

C. C. Knutson of Blue Earth, Gets Storm Sewer Contract at $13,444

The contract for paving 24 blocks in the business district of Thief River Falls was on Tuesday let to the Bitulithic Construction company of Winnipeg. The contract price for the completed job is $3.98 per square yard and calls for a two-inch bitulithic surface on a six-inch crushed stone base, plain monolithic concrete curb and gutter, except at the corners, where the gutter will be armored, and at the intersections of sidewalks.

Includes Entire District.

The contract was let in accordance with the resolution originally passed in March of the present year, no attempt being made to reduce the size of the district. It was expected that objectors would be on the ground for the purpose of attempting to gain a postponement of the program, but none appeared. The job was let to a concern enjoying the reputation of being one of the most responsible in the business and which has a number of similar contracts in the neighborhood.

Concrete is Cheapest.

The same company offered to install concrete pavement for $3.65 per square yard but council members who had made visits to other cities and inspected the results following the use of all kinds of paving materials were evidently convinced that the more elastic material would better serve the purpose here.

Four bidders were on hand when the meeting opened. The General Contracting company of Minneapolis, submitted an offer to do the work for $4.04 for bitulithic and $3.80 for concrete. E. Johnson & Co., of Superior, submitted a bid covering concrete only, their price being $3.94 per square yard. Fielding & Shepley, St. Paul, presented a bid calling for creosote blocks at $6.25, bitulithic, $4.09, and concrete $3.90. After reading the bids the council adjourned until 5 o'clock when they again took the matter up and without further argument accepted the bid of the Winnipeg concern.

Totals $400 Per Lot.

The cost of paving the streets will be a trifle over $400 for each 25-foot lot. As the payments are scattered over a term of 20 years it means the retirement each year of $20 on the principal, to which must be added the interest. This last item will grow smaller year after year, however, as the principal sum is reduced. Even those who were at one time most outspoken in their opposition now admit that the undertaking is not such a serious matter. Persons outside the present paving district have already signified their intention of applying for pavement at the earliest date possible.

Reenforce Across Trenches.

Where trenches have been dug for the purpose of installing new water connections the pavement will be reinforced with steel in order that there shall be no danger of a cave-in. The condition of these trenches has been one of the causes for the objections to paving, it being maintained that these were not properly refilled. Holt & George of this city, the contractors, have volunteered to go over all the work done, take out the dirt and puddle it back to the entire satisfaction of the engineer in charge. The early freeze-up last fall forced them to hastily provide such protection as they could against the frost and they stand ready to rectify any errors that circumstances caused them to commit at that time.

The Paving District.

Men of long experience in such matters state that there is not the slightest danger in paving over newly filled trenches, particularly when these have the additional protection of re-inforcement. The heavy rollers employed will pack the dirt sufficiently to insure it against future settling.

The district to be paved is as follows: Main avenue from the Great Northern railway tracks to Sixth street; LaBree avenue from First to Fourth street; Horace avenue from First to Fourth street; Third street from the Soo tracks to Knight avenue; Second street from Atlantic to Knight avenue; First street from the Red Lake river to Knight avenue. Six blocks of alleys will also be paved as follows: From First to Fourth streets between Horace and LaBree and between LaBree and Main avenues.

Storm Sewers Let.

The installing of storm sewers in district No. 1, was let to C. C. Knutson of Blue Earth, his bid being $13,444. G. H. Ward of Grand Forks, and Holt & George of this city, were also bidders on this work, their figures being $16,184 and $16,868 respectively.

Will Await Decision.

The successful bidders will await the outcome of a supreme court decision before going ahead with their contracts. Last week Judge W. L. Converse of the Dakota county district court rendered a decision in a case involving paving in the village of Farmington that may delay matters for a short time. The court held that the law passed in 1919 which provides that cities and villages may issue bonds for public improvements without submitting the matter to a vote of the people invested them with no such power and that the citizens must pass upon the question. This decision has upset the paving program in a number of Minnesota municipalities and will be tested before the supreme court as quickly as the matter can be legally arranged. Before this decision was rendered Attorney General Hilton gave it as his opinion that the law empowered municipalities to go ahead in the manner adopted by the councils of Thief River Falls and other cities. Judge Converse did not rule that the law was unconstitutional but simply that it failed to make its intent sufficiently clear. The bidders for the work fully understand the circumstances and were willing to accept the contract tentatively. If Judge Converse is upheld it will simply mean that matters will have to be postponed until an election can be held.

Leaguers Buy Paper.

It is rumored that the Crookston Press, a twice-a-week publication, has been sold to a company made up principally of Polk county farmers and that it will hereafter espouse the cause of the Nonpartisan league. The Press has had a hard row to hoe for a long time and its sale to Nonpartisan interests has been rumored for more than a year.

ANOTHER STATE ROAD FROM CITY NORTHWARD

Application Laid Over—Ditch Objection Disregarded by Commissioners.

An application for a state highway running northward from the Soo roundhouse to the county line was presented to the county commissioners at their meeting last week. The petition was signed by a large number of farmers living in the district that would be traversed by such highway and its construction would benefit a large section of country, besides providing another lead toward the city from that direction. The matter was laid over to a later meeting.

The commissioners ordered County Auditor T. P. Anderson to advertise for bids for the repairing and cleaning of ditches Nos. 39, 45 and 59 in Kratka and Highlanding townships. This action was taken in the face of objections voiced by several farmers from the neighborhood who were present and asked that the work be not undertaken because of the expense. It was shown that these ditches were badly filled up and that postponement of the necessary cleaning would add greatly to the cost later on.

A petition for a ditch in the town of Star was presented. This ditch would run north and south near the center of the township and empty into the Red Lake river.

The application of John Dahlen, asking that he be set off from school district No. 57 and attached to district No. 8, was granted.

SANATORIUM CALLED MODEL INSTITUTION

Federal Inspector Pays High Compliment to Tri-County Management

Dr. John Soper, federal inspector of tuberculosis sanatoriums, was in the city last week for the purpose of looking over the Tri-County institution. He was very much pleased with the manner in which the work has been carried out here thus far and spoke most highly of the plans pursued as well as of the evident competency of the personnel. Dr. Soper stated that the hospital at this point was the best and most efficiently conducted of any he has visited in the four states which comprise his territory.

As this was the first visit made to the sanatorium by a federal inspector the commissioners and management are naturally very much pleased over the report.

Odd Fellows Anniversary Meeting Well Attended

An audience which filled all the available space at the lodge room of the Odd Fellows in this city listened to an address by W. O. Werntz of Moose Lake, grand marshall of Minnesota, on the history, aims and purposes of Odd Fellowship, last Monday evening. The meeting was held to commemorate the one hundred and first anniversary of the founding of the order in the United States, this being a season of similar gatherings all over the country.

Dr. Werntz delivered a most interesting discourse. He did not devote much time to the history of the order, preferring evidently to speak on its aims and purposes. He said that the charitable work being carried on in every state in the Union has reached enormous proportions and that the homes established for the care of the aged, infirm and dependant Odd Fellows and Rebeccas were accomplishing wonders. He is an eloquent and interesting speaker and an authority on the order's history. The large audience followed him with the closest attention and lent its particular approval to the highly patriotic expression of his discourse.

A musical program, arranged by Miss Jessie Barnett, was presented and greatly enjoyed. The meeting closed with a lunch and dancing.

Speakers Here For and Against Nonparty League

J. F. Hillyer, a speaker for the Farmers and Workers Nonpartisan organization, spoke to a fair-sized audience at the auditorium last Monday evening. He hammered big business unmercifully and maintained that the program of the party to which he belongs was the only one that promised anything in the way of relief from the profiteers and other oppressors of the people. Senator O. A. Naplin acted as chairman of the meeting.

F. L. Ferguson, a young man sent out by the Minnesota Sound Government association, spoke for a few minutes at the Princess theatre on Monday evening, preceding his remarks by showing a short moving picture film. He lambasted Townley and the league's record in North Dakota and claimed that the state had been practically ruined through the laws enacted by the last legislature.

Filtration is Favored by Councilmen

Committee Reports Strongly in Favor of Chemical Treatment Plant.

Would Provide Inexhaustible Supply From River at Very Low Cost.

Deep Wells Found Generally More Expensive and Less Reliable.

Another attempt will in all probability be made by the city council to provide the people of Thief River Falls with pure water. They will undoubtedly proceed along a new line this time, starting out with the idea that the only satisfactory solution of the problem is chemical treatment of the water from Red Lake river.

The council committee appointed to visit neighboring cities with a view to learning something from the experience of others was composed of President H. A. Brumund and Councilmen John Dahl and Severen Brandon. These representatives put in three days last week in making their investigations and returnd firmly convinced that a chemical treatment plant will provide the surest, safest and cheapest supply that can be installed.

Wapheton's Experience.

Among the places visited was Wapheton. This city has an excellent water supply, the source of which is the Red River of the North. This is a murky, muddy stream, as is well known, but the water comes out of the filtration plant as clear as crystal and absolutely free from any injurious substances of any kind. The cost of pumping from the river to the supply tank is five and three-tenths cents per thousand gallons and the cost of filtering, including the necessary chemicals, is two and three-tenths cents per thousand gallons. This total outlay of seven and six-tenths cents per gallon provides all the water needed for all purposes in the city.

Wells at Moorhead.

The city of Moorhead is supplied by wells and the water is chemically pure. The quantity, however, leaves something to be desired as it has happened that there has been a shortage and two more wells will be drilled.

Grand Forks uses filtered water and the people there are well satisfied with it. The supply is reliable and the cost of providing is very low.

Will Act Soon.

Mr. Brumund says that the matter will be brought to the attention of the council at the time the committee reports. He has written to the concern making a specialty of chemical filtration plants and expects to learn something concerning prices and lay a complete report before the council at an early date.

Nothing is of greater importance to the future of the city than a supply of pure water and in Thief River Falls it can now be secured without incurring a very heavy expense.

Lutherans Call Pastor From North Dakota Town

Rev. T. E. Sweger, at present serving the congregation of the Lutheran church at Cooperstown, N. D., has been offered the post of pastor by the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church in this city and has tentatively accepted. Rev. Sweger is a young man who has made a reputation for himself in the North Dakota town and is highly recommended by all who know him. He has already resigned his present call but will not be able to come to Thief River Falls before the first of September. A plan for securing a man to fill the place temporarily is now under consideration by the trustees. It is likely that a theological student will be asked to come here during the college vacation period.

Seek to Raise $20,000 For Valley Live Stock Pavilion

A campaign for the live stock pavilion fund will be carried on in the Red River Valley on May 12 and 13. It is the intention of the live stock breeders of the valley to build a $20,000 annex to the barns in Crookston.

The winter show and sales have been so successful the past two years that they have far outgrown the present capacity of the buildings. Even under difficulties last winter's sales amounted to over $100,000, and new state records were made. The educational value, together with the prestige given to the Red River Valley stock breeders directly or indirectly, benefits every resident of the territory.

The allotment for Pennington in this drive is set at $750, and with the present enthusiasm for better live stock this amount should easily be reached.

Mayor Hodgson Re-Elected In St. Paul on Tuesday

Mayor L. C. Hodgson was re-elected Tuesday in the most hotly contested city election in recent political history of St. Paul.

"Larry Ho" defeated his opponent, William Mahoney, Socialist-labor candidate for the mayoralty, by the narrow margin of 2,353 votes.

The soldier vote played an important part in the Hodgson victory, it was evidenced when the returns from the 132 precincts placed three soldier candidates in the city council. Latest returns indicated that three labor councilmanic candidates won.

ISSUING A NEWSPAPER UNDER DIFFICULTIES

The Times will reach its readers this week somewhat freakish in appearance. Only about one-quarter of the new material ordered has as yet put in an appearance and we are simply compelled to make the best of the situation.

A newspaper man will fully appreciate our fix. No column rules, head rules, head letter, newspaper heading, and only a very limited supply of display type—and with such layout the crew is trying to print one of the largest weekly papers in the state. First-class men, however, never permit little things like these to bother them, particularly when backed by an Intertype machine. None of us know just how or where we are coming out but the paper will be printed even if it is found necessary to split cigar box covers to provide slugs and fasten forms on the press with hay wire.

Times Stood as Leader of State Papers

Publishers' Directory Shows This Paper's Circulation to be the Largest.

Is More Than 1500 Ahead of That of Any Other Minnesota Weekly.

Isued From Own Plant This Week For First Time Since Fire.

The Thief River Falls Times enjoys the distinction of having the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper printed in the English language in Minnesota. The publishers have maintained this to be the case for the past two years and now their claims are verified by the foremost authority on the subject to be found in the United States. The Annual Newspaper Directory, published by N. W. Ayer & Son of Philadelphia, contains the circulation figures of every paper in this country, Canada and Mexico for the year 1919. The compilation is made by experts who have access to all the data, books and records of the papers and is the most reliable and thorough that it is possible to secure. The data is secured principally for the benefit of national advertisers—the people who buy space on proven circulation figures alone. The authenticity of the directory has never been questioned during the 57 years that the work has been issued.

Is the Highest Honor.

There are weekly publications in Minnesota issuing more papers than The Times but they are printed in a foreign language or devoted to some particular purpose or enterprise. From a purely newspaper standpoint The Times is in the lead its nearest competitor being the Wilmar Republican.

This is a position that no amount of money could purchase. The subscribers must be bonafide and of record or they are not counted. So particular are the Ayer people in this respect that the press count is not taken, every paper going to employers, handed out over the counter or sold on the street being deducted. Nothing is credited except the names actually on the list. It is the most reliable work of its kind to be found in America and is so regarded by advertisers everywhere.

From Its Own Plant.

The Times is today issued from its own plant for the first time since January 26, at which time practically the entire outfit was destroyed by fire. The interim has been a most trying season to everyone having anything to do with the paper, patrons as well as publishers coming in for their share of annoyance. Only a part of the equipment has as yet arrived and the getting out of the edition entails considerable hardship, but a start is made and conditions will grow rapidly better from now on. Equipment deliveries are very unreliable and manufacturers refuse to make definite promises covering anything. When things are finally in shape, however, The Times will have an outfit second to none to be found in the office of a weekly in the Northwest.

Sponheim Families Leave To Make Home in West

H. P. Sponheim and son, Oscar, with their families, last week left for Seattle with the intention of permanently settling in that neighborhood if conditions are to their liking. Their intention when leaving was to stay a year in the extreme Northwest, at the end of which time they would have definitely decided upon their future course.

The Sponheims, father and son, are pioneer bankers of Thief River Falls, the former having been the first president and principal stock holder of the Peoples State bank, now merged with the First and Peoples. Oscar became connected with the institution upon his graduation from high school and was until a short time ago its cashier. Both have been prominent in the business and social life of the city for the past fifteen years and enjoy perhaps the widest acquaintance of any men in the county. H. P. Sponheim still retains his interest in a number of enterprises in this neighborhood and will doubtless return at frequent intervals even tho he should decide to stay in the West permanently, but it is understood that Oscar has disposed of practically everything in which he was interested here.

Dalton Man N-P Choice in 9th Dist.

N. E. Thormodson Secures Endorsement at Meeting in Crookston.

Senator O. A. Naplin of Pennington County Was Favorably Considered.

Action Means Lively Contest in Republican Primaries Next Month.

N. E. Thormodson, farmer, residing at Dalton in Ottertail county, was on Monday endorsed for the republican nomination for congressman from the Ninth district at a meeting of delegates representing the Nonpartisan league, held at Crookston. He will be the opponent of Halvor Steenerson at the primaries next month, the winner in this preliminary contest being in turn pitted against Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls at the election in November.

Mr. Thormodson, who is a man between 35 and 40 years of age, has nere held public office, but was endorsed for the legislature by the League organization in Ottertail county this year. He will withdraw his name from the legislative ticket and devote his attention to the congressional campaign, it is stated. He is a graduate of the law department of the university of Minnesota and has practiced his profession at Madelia and Hanska. During the past few years he has been conducting a farm near Dalton.

Others Were Mentioned.

Senator O. A. Naplin of Pennington county was among those very favorably considered for the place and could without doubt have had the endorsement had he desired it. R. T. Buckler came to the convention with the endorsement of the Polk county delegation, but the south end of the district united on Thormodson and made their claims stick.

Pennington county was represented at the convention by Gust Naplin of Polk Center township.

SORTEDAHL IS AGAIN CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE

Present Member From Red Lake County Consents to Make Run

Martin O. Sortedahl of Red Lake county, one of the representatives from the Sixty-fifth district in the state legislature, last week filed as a candidate for re-election. He had decided not to again allow his name to be used in this connection, but friends prevailed upon him to change his mind.

This gives Red Lake county two candidates for the nomination, A. J. Hemstad of Plummer, having been endorsed for the place by the Nonpartisan league about a month ago. The other representative is Walter A. Day of Clearwater county, who is also a candidate for re-election with Nonpartisan endorsement. Pennington county, which with Red Lake and Clearwater forms the Sixty-fifth district, will in all probability not have a candidate for the house, Senator O. A. Naplin, who holds over, being a resident of this city.

Local Bank Applies First For Soldier Bonus Bond

The First and Peoples State bank of Thief River Falls was one of the first two banks to apply to State Treasurer Henry Rines for a chance to invest in the new soldier bonus bonds issued by the state. The bank whose request came in at the same time is a Goodhue county institution. The First and Peoples took $10,000 worth of the securities.

Wins First Prize For Thrift Exhibit at Warren

The Thief River Falls Woman's club was the winner of first prize in the thrift exhibit at Warren on Tuesday. The exhibit consisted of children's clothes made over from those of older persons, renovated home made articles such as coats, aprons, dresses and many other things.

Nearly every club in the district had an exhibit at the meeting and the verdict was that the Thief River Falls ladies had by far the finest. Among those who attended the Warren meeting were: Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, president of the local club; Mrs. Jacob Biederman, Mrs. W. J. LaBree, Mrs. L. F. Fisher, Mrs. G. C. Tessum, Mrs. E. M. Stanton, Mrs. E. E. Zeh, Mrs. Gay Halvorson, Mrs.

Urge Extension of Wheat Control Until July 15

Sentiment is rapidly crystalizing among wheat growers of the Northwest in favor of an extension of the Federal wheat guaranty, until July 15, in order that ample time may be provided for the marketing of holdover stocks of grain, according to Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce firms.

Southwestern farmers already have appealed to their congressmen for an extension of Federal control of the wheat market, although Julius Barnes, wheat director of the United States, has expressed his disapproval of a continuation of the existence of the grain corporation.

Views of farmer organizations, as well as grain exchanges, will be given at a conference in Chicago on Friday, called by Julius Barnes, and at which Minnesota banks and grain firms will be represented.

O'Neill Speaks at Crookston.

At the noonday luncheon of the Association of Public Affairs at Crookston last Wednesday, former State Senator D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, a member of the state board of grain appeals, boosted good roads in a general discussion of the Babcock amendment. Many of the delegates to the Polk county Republican convention were present at the meeting by invitation.

Will Attend Convention.

Julien Provencher, proprietor of the Hotel Evelyn, leaves this evening for Chicago, where he will attend the convention of the National Hotel Men's association. Returning he will visit Manistee and other points in Michigan and make the trip by boat as far as Duluth.

Assessor Starts Out.

Lars Backe, city assessor, on Saturday started on his round of good cheer. Up to date he has only gone so far as to hand the usual blanks to the business men of the city, who were doubtless all glad to see him come around on this particular mission. The real estate is also to be assessed this year.

50 Per Cent Less Wheat This Spring

Yields in Grain and Potatoes Expected to be Greatly Reduced.

Late Season and High Cost of Seed the Disturbing Factors.

Flax and Barley Will be More Heavily Planted Than Ever.

The wheat acreage in northwestern Minnesota is this year just about one-half what it was in 1919, according to County Agent J. J. McCann and others who are in a position to know just how matters stand. While it is true that much more wheat was sowed last year than is ordinarily the case, yet reliable estimators figure that the amount planted is fully 25 per cent below the five year average.

Various reasons are given for this state of affairs. One is that now the government price guarantee is romevd the farmer is not sure of being able to sell his crop at a profit even though he should secure one and he therefore prefers to take chances on something less tricky than wheat. Another reason for the shortage is the scarcity of good seed. The crop last year was not of the best and many farmers are adverse to using it for seed. Others sold their entire supply, figuring that when seeding time came they would be able to secure what they needed and at the same time improve the quality. They now realize their error but nothing can be done about it.

World Needs Wheat.

There is a shortage of wheat thruout the civilized world and there is no question but that the cereal will bring a high price in the fall. It is even maintained that suffering and death from hunger is not outside the range of possibility because of the lowered production in the countries recently at war. The Argentinie crop is not heavy and so strenuous has become the demand for it that the government has established an embargo and prevents any wheat from being shipped out of the country. The United States and Canada will be depended on to supply the world and present indications are that they will be unable to do so. Prices will naturally advance under such conditions and the farmer who plants wheat and is able to get it into the ground in good season will unodubtedly be well repaid.

Potatoes Also Short.

The potato acreage in Pennington county will also be fully 50 per cent less than last year. For this condition the price of seed is almost entirely responsible. A farmer cannot see his way clear to pay from four to six dollars per bushel for seed potatoes and much land heretofore devoted to the crop will be turned to other uses. When potatoes took a sudden jump to unheard-of prices many farmers sold all they had on hand, figuring that it was not good business to hold on when such profits could be secured. Many no doubt thought that by seeding time more could be procured at a price below that for which their own holdings were sold and now find themselves up against a hard proposition.

More Flax and Barley.

Instead of wheat more flax and barley will be sowed than ever before. Flax will in many cases be put into old land, providing it has not before carried such crop. The usual proceedure is to put flax on new breaking but many will try it out in older fields this year. Barley can be sowed later than wheat and is not in the same danger of being destroyed by rust. Oats also are being more exclusively planted than for many years past.

SHIP IN CARLOAD OF PUREBRED HOLSTEINS

A carload of purebred Holsteins were purchased from W. F. Schafer of Detroit by Gust and Oscar Wilson of Hazel and Ben Rosendahl of Thief River Falls being assisted in the selection by County Agent J. J. McCann. These animals have some of the best breeding of the Holstein families and will be a credit to their owners as well as to the county.

Pennington county is rapidly coming to the front in the number of purebred cattle owned by its farmers. During the last eight months 46 purebreds of the various breeds have been purchased for this vicinity.

Instruct For J. Preuss as Ticket Head

Seven From Pennington Will Support State Auditor For Governor.

Roseau County Man Favored as Candidate For Secretary of State.

Only Few Outside Districts Represented at County Convention.

The Republicans of Pennington county seem to be in favor of J. A. O. Preus as the party's candidate for governor this fall and they went so far at the convention on Monday as to instruct the county's seven delegates to vote as a unit for him until such time as he has been nominated or it shall appear that his selection is impossible.

Following are the delegates: Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. J. H. Hardesty, Dr. O. F. Mellby, H. S. Dahlen, T. P. Anderson, Thief River Falls; J. P. Jensen, Goodridge, and G. I. Fellman, St. Hilaire.

The caucuses for the selection of delegates to the county convention were held on Saturday evening but outside of Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge it is probable that there were few precinct headquarters in the county open for voting. At any rate not more than two or three sent representatives to the county gathering.

This does not necessarily imply that there is no interest in the elimination convention to be held at St. Paul today, but that the party's voters generally will be satisfied with the choice, no matter who it may be.

Holm Gets Delegation.

Mike Holm of Roseau county, will have the solid vote of the delegation in his effort to capture the nomination for secretary of state. Judge Holm has been making an active campaign and it looks as if he will go into the convention with a following stronger than that of any other man. He has been making an active campaign and has the solid backing of the northwestern corner of the state.

Theodore Quale was chairman of the convention and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson secretary.

GOVERNMENT RUSHING FLOOD CONTROL WORK

Blueprints, Specifications and Estimates For Proposed System Submitted

The vigor with which the federal government is quietly pushing plans for drainage and flood protection in the Red River valley is brought to mind by the appearance of blue prints, specifications and estimates of construction cost just printed by the U. S. Bureau of Drainage.

The preliminary work has confirmed all officials in the belief that the best way to stop the many millions of annual crop loss, due to actual flooding or to water-soaked fields which cause late seeding and the consequent rusting of grain, is by a valley wide project consisting of dams, reservoirs and channel improvements, to hold back the "peak" of the spring flood and retain it for a short time until the local waters have had time to drain out of the flat Red Valley.

Gates and controlling works are recommended for the dams so that the water can be emptied with a few days or weeks, avoiding any great amount of damage from flooding about the reservoir. As a limited amount of good land will be damaged estimates are included in the report covering generous compensation to the owners.

Officers Discover Booze But Bootleggers Escape

County Attorney Theo. Quale, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Chief of Police E. O. Erickson have in their charge 16 quarts of perfectly good Canadian whiskey and they would very much like to lay hands on the owners.

The whiskey was found concealed in an ice house in the northern part of the city and the men who put it there were seen but they managed to get away. Very good descriptions were obtained, however, and there is every probability that they will be approached.

On Monday Chief Erickson received word from Lancaster to the effect that three men were headed for Thief River Falls with whiskey in their possession. Mr. Erickson informed the sheriff and county attorney and the three awaited the arrival of the freight on which the parties were riding. Owing to a misunderstanding the officers were not on hand just when the train stopped and their quarry managed to get off without being suspected. They were evidently suspicious of the ice house, however, and proceeded to make an investigation. The men had hidden the whiskey and made their getaway, the 16 bottles being unearthed without any difficulty.

Reads Paper on Life Work Of Late Maria L. Sanford

At the meeting of the Woman's club on Monday afternoon Mrs. Robert Vance read a paper on the life and work of Miss Maria L. Sanford. At the conclusion of her remarks the audience was asked to rise and stand in silent contemplation for one minute as a mark of respect for the dead teacher.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, May 17.

Senior Class Pleases In Fine Comedy Production

An audience that practically filled the auditorium witnessed the performance of "A Strenuous Time" by the senior class of the Thief River Falls high school last Friday evening. The play is a clever comedy and was well handled by the cast. Every member had his or her lines perfect and acted their parts with thorough appreciation of what was required. Many are of the opinion that no high school play in years has been so well presented and Miss Agnes Wilson and Miss Ella Evans, have been highly complimented on the excellent results.

It is the intention to present the play at several nearby towns later in the month, the itinerary including Baudette, St. Hilaire, Plummer and other places.

Swedish Lutherans Join World Service Campaign

At a meeting held on Monday evening at the Swedish Lutheran church the Lutheran Church World Service was discussed by Prof. C. E. Sjostrand of Warren. Rev. C. M. Grimsrud of St. Hilaire, chairman of the Pennington county committee, spoke on the subject of raising funds. Minnesota's quota is $228,000 out of a national total of $1,800,000, the portion of Pennington county being placed at $1,817. Prof. Sjostrand explained that the need is so great that twice the amount specified could be used to good advantage.

An organization was effected with Rev. Albin A. Larson as chairman. Committees for the various churches of the denomination in the county will be appointed during the present week and an active campaign carried on.

LEAGUER FILES FOR ATT'Y-GENERALSHIP

May 12 is the Last Day Candidate Can File For State Office.

Thomas Sullivan, St. Paul, a Nonpartisan league candidate, on Monday filed in the office of the secretary of state for the republican nomination for attorney general at the primaries June 21. Mr. Sullivan was the successful candidate for the nomination two years ago. Attorney General Hilton, incumbent, already has filed for re-election on the republican ticket.

Wednesday, May 12, 40 days before the primaries, will be the last day for filing for state offices. Candidates for county office may file as late as June 2, but judges of probate, county commissioners and some clerks of court are the only county officers to be elected this year.

At Work on Streets.

Holt & George have a crew of men at work refilling the trenches dug last fall for the purpose of changing the water main connections. They are puddling the earth back into place and tamping it down, this being one of the stipulations of their contract. The early freezeup forced them to abandon the streets in rather bad condition but they are remedying the matter as rapidly as possible. It is quite a contract to go over the work again but it will have to be done before any further steps are taken in the matter of paving.

Still It Pays.

Paper famine is forcing papers to combine, reduce size, raise advertising and subscription rates, or in many cases go out of business altogether. Numerous Sunday papers now sell at 10 cents or more. The Ladies' Home Journal sends us its new advertising rate card, and you may be interested in seeing what that high-toned monthly charges for its advertising space. The rate is $12 a line or $168 an inch. A full page in colors costs $11,000 and if it is the back cover page it runs up to $15,000. These rates are for one insertion. The Saturday Evening Post rate is $10 a line, and $10,000 for last cover page. How many pages would you like at these rates?

What Are You?

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

The world is either too conservative or too radical. We do not know which way to turn. Organized labor is too radical for some and too conservative for others. Individuals are either bolshevists or rank reactionaries. The man of good sound sense seems to have been lost in the shuffle.

It is a very easy thing to call names to classify the other fellow. The sooner, however, that America gets down to the business of looking at its problems and its people without hangover prejudices, the sooner large public difficulties will be solved.

JOHNSON MILLINERY

312 LaBree Ave. N. Open Evenings

Farm Machinery Situation

We feel that it is our duty to call to the attention of our trade, the facts before us. In brief then; We have been requested by the several manufacturers with whom we do business to advance our prices on different machines from 10% to 25%, these advances having been made by International Harvester Co., Moline Plow Co., and others taking effect at once.

BUT

We, however, are not bound under our contracts to make these advances in prices at this time, but that we are protected under our contracts to the extent of machinery ordered under our contracts we are going to give to our trade the benefit of the old prices for some time.

How we will protect our customers

This means that we will not advance our prices until present stock is exhausted, and by placing your orders now for anything in the line of farm machinery which we handle, the entire saving of these advances will go to such customers. For example; Grain Drills having advanced 20%, by buying now will mean a saving of about $40.00 or over. Grain Binders have advanced 10% and if you will give us your order now, this saving is yours. On Grain Binders, and other machinery which you buy for Harvest and fall use, we do not ask for settlement now. Simply your order, and we will then protect you under the old prices. This we will also do on Twine. Twine is now about 6 cents per lb., cheaper than last year, but there is no guarantee that this price will be in effect when harvest season comes. But we can protect you under these saving prices if you will place your order now. If you need a plow of any kind, now or for fall or next year, buy now, or place your order now and save from 10% to 15%. Hay Stackers and Sweep Rakes are up 20%. If you need any of these buy now and save this 20%. We have mentioned just a few items above, but there is hardly a single piece of machinery that is not advanced in price as per above percentage.

The manufacturers give the reason for these increases in prices that almost daily they are confronted with increases in the cost of both labor and material, and while we are very sorry indeed to make the statement, we are quite confident that further advances are bound to follow. Therefore the very wisest move—we state to our customers now—figure out what you need for some future time, or even that you believe you can make use of, and place your orders with us now. It will positively be a safe and good investment.

THE PAVING PROGRAM.

Now that the contract has actually been let it is probable that not half a hundred people in Thief River Falls would go on record as being opposed to paving. For a long time some of them thought they were, but the longer they looked at the proposition the more convinced they became that it was a needed improvement and one that the city had gone without too long already. Most of those who have been on the list of objectors—and many of them were good, conscientious men who actually believed that the move was unwise—now are willing to go at least so far as to say that there never was a question as to the desirability of paving but that they rather figured that the time was not ripe.

It is going to cost the man who owns a twenty-five foot lot in the paving district just about $400 to have the pavement placed in front of his property. He will be given twenty years in which to pay this sum, or at the rate of $20 per year. To this will be added the interest, but this and more can surely be discounted by reason of the added value of his holdings. He realizes this now and is willing to admit it.

The outcome of this paving agitation shows what can be accomplished when everyone is willing to approach a subject with no other intent than that of solving it in the best manner possible. At the outset it looked as if the community might be pretty well divided on the question, but as time passed and it became more and more evident that no one was trying to put across anything but what he considered for the best interests of all concerned a better feeling prevailed and it was admitted that there might something be said for both contentions. That so little fuss was made over the final letting of the contract proves that the people are pretty well satisfied that the wisest course has been taken.

The members of the city council are entitled to a whole lot of credit for having held out in their original determination, which was to pave the streets if it could be done at any sort of a reasonable price. They were criticised in some quarters and praised in others, but were not swayed unduly by either attitude and did what in their judgment was best for the future of the city. That their final decision was the right one to arrive at everyone will admit before the end of the summer.

There may be those who believe that a cheaper material should have been employed, but they are few. The council took pains to investigate the advantages or drawbacks of every kind of pavement within reach of the different committees and when after such investigation they voted unanimously for bitulithic it could have been for no other reason than that they considered it the best within their means.

Cement would have been a few cents per yard cheaper but if the material chosen is even in the slightest degree more suitable for the purpose the rejection of the less costly surfacing was justified. It must be remembered that we will have to live right with this pavement for years and years and that the few cents difference in cost is a matter of absolutely no importance if we find that we have what we want.

WHEAT STILL KING

Unless surrounding counties go in more heavily for wheat this spring than has Pennington, this corner of Minnesota is gonig to fall far behind its usual supply of this important staple. Men competent to judge of the matter claim that not more than 50 per cent of last year's acreage will be planted to wheat this spring, and this means about 75 per cent of a five year average. Because of the price guarantee and the recognized shortage the farmers devoted more than the usual attention to wheat last year. This guarantee has been removed and uncertainty as regards future prices has had something to do with the curtailment, but the late spring is the principal factor in bringing about the present decidedly serious condition.

The farmer knows that the world will need his wheat next fall but he is afraid that the rust will get to it before he has a chance to turn it over to the world, in which case no one would get any benefit out of the time and money he spent in getting it into the ground. Experience has proven that when wheat is planted later than the twentieth of April the chances against its bringing forth a crop are not particularly good. He therefore turns to flax or barley, both of which can be sown later and with a greater assurance of coming out all right.

It should be remembered that the northwestern farmer is not to blame for the present conditions. He would willingly plant wheat were he given any kind of assurance that his crop could be disposed of at a profit. He proved this to the entire satisfaction of everyone while the guarantee held good. He would likely do the same thing this year without a guarantee, realizing that the price will in all probability be higher than when a minimum was fixed, but the weather has taken the matter out of his hands.

He can still help out the situation by planting potatoes, however, but again he is up against it. Seed is so high that he is afraid the harvest price will leave him with no margin. This fact threatens to cut down the potato acreage also, creating a shortage in another necessary staple.

Bear in mind the fact that the city is more interested in what the farmer does this year than is that individual himself. The latter will provide enough for his needs without any trouble, but if he does no better than this it will go hard on the consuming public. For this reason if no other every agency should be bent toward assisting him and encouraging him to plant such crops as are most likely to be in demand. Just how this may be done is not very apparent. It is not likely that any plan for providing cheaper and more plentiful seed can be launched at this late day with any hope of saving the situation. Urging more extensive planting without in some manner providing the means for carrying out such program will not help. The farmer is simply powerless to act differently even if he wished to.

The outlook is not very cheering, but the farmer is perhaps less to be pitied than those dependant upon his products.

A COMMUNITY ASSET

The beautifying of home grounds in towns and villages is not only a source of pleasure to owners of homes but is a real community asset, says R. S. Mackintosh, horticultural specialist of the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Mackintosh says that in his travels about the state he has noticed that travelers, in passing through any community, are quick to give attention to local improvements and that a town in which the grounds about residences are improved always excites favorable comment. At this time of year, therefore, there should be a general setting out of trees and shrubs for shade, beauty and protection, and the planting of back-yards with vegetables, fruits and flowers as a means of reducing the high cost of living and of adding to the pleasures of the table and the beauty of the home surroundings. As a preliminary to this, Mr. Mackintosh adds, there should be a general cleaning up in every community. Tin cans, ash-piles and other debris, should be removed, lawns raked, and leaves gathered up and burned or else piled where they will decay in order to be made use of later as fertilizer materials.

Every town urges Mr. Mackintosh, should be well groomed, and a concerted movement by the people of every community should be made to see that such grooming is general thruout the community.

Just at this time when so much is being said about church unity, the action of the people of Baudette stands out as an excellent example for others to follow, especially those of the smaller communities. During the past year or two five Protestant pastors belonging to different denominations have been forced to leave the field at Baudette because of lack of support. The citizens of that enterprising burg have come to the conclusion that their efforts are being too widely scattered and that centralization will bring better results. Consequently a movement has been started having for its purpose the calling of a pastor to serve a community church to which all will be invited to come on an equal footing. They have found that they cannot maintain a half dozen organizations whose aim it is to arrive at one purpose in practically the same way and will "cut the overhead" by consolidation. The only fault to find with a movement of this kind is that it was not started sooner.

Why You Should Buy Guaranteed Roofing

When you buy roofing you want durability as well as shelter. You want to know that it will last long enough to make its average cost per year a reasonable figure.

That is why Certain-teed should appeal to you. For, when properly laid, Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight.

The guarantee adequately protects your investment, but it does not accurately measure Certain-teed's life. In fact no one knows just how durable Certain-teed is, because in no case has it ever been known to wear out on the roof.

And Certain-teed is more than durable. It is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof. It effectively shelters your property.

With all these advantages, Certain-teed Roofing costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain, than any other type of good roofing.

See your dealer about Certain-teed. He either has it or can get it quickly from a nearby Certain-teed distributing center.

VICTORY BREAD

Effective May 5th

Owing to the steadily increasing cost of raw materials we are forced to increase the price of "VICTORY BREAD" from 10 and 15 cents to 12 and 18 cents per loaf.

The time has come when we must choose between two courses, that of lowering the quality or increasing the price of the bread.

The first course is out of the question as far as we are concerned. We will not allow ourselves to stoop so low regardless of the temptations which present themselves from time to time.

The only course left open to us is that of increasing the price. Knowing full well the conditions we are all up against, we have been reluctant to do this in the immediate past. The last straw having come with the recent rise in flour and sugar.

However, in looking over the present prices of the various foods we find bread even at this price to be very cheap, in fact it is the cheapest as well as the best food that money can buy, this on account of its high caloric content.

Bread is composed of about 85% Carbo-drates, 10% Protein, 3% fat and 2% Ash and Crude Fiber. You can readily see by this analysis that bread is your BEST food. Carbohydrates and fat represent the ENERGY producing ability and the Protein represents the TISSUE building and repair value of the food. Ash and Crude fiber represents the waste material.

Compare Bread With Any Other Food In Regard To Their True Value As A Food and You Will Be Convinced Beyond the Slightest Shadow of a Doubt, That—

SIX FIRES IN COUNTY IN 1919; LOSS $29,500.

The report of State Fire Marshall George H. Nettleton for the year 1919 has just been issued. It shows that the total loss from fires during that period in the state was $3,891,544 while the value of the buildings in which these fires occurred and the contents thereof was $5,907,194.

Pennington county had six fires, the value of the property involved being $46,350, the damage $29,500, and insurance $27,800. One arrest was made and conviction secured in the county for persons accused of setting fire to their property.

Red Lake county also had six fires the loss there being $8,500 with insurance of $8,025. Marshall county had three fires, Roseau county had 11, and Clearwater county none.

Dwelling houses naturally head the list in the classes of property destroyed in the state, there being 1005 reported under this classification. Stores and barns come next with 169 and 164 respectively. Eleven wholesale houses caught fire and there were 36 hotel fires.

Fires of unknown origin were 424 in number and responsible for losses amounting to $1,569,166. Sparks from chimney heads the list among the known causes, there being 213 thus designated. Among the other causes of fires were defective flues, 125; carelessness with matches, 102; electric wires, 81, and gasoline explosions 23.

Visited Neighboring Lodge.

Two auto loads of Odd Fellows, members of Lone Pine lodge, went to St. Hilaire last Thursday evening and witnessed the conferring of the third degree on a class of eight. The work was very well done and all the proceedings of the evening most interesting. A number of the St. Hilaire Odd Fellows made application to join the recently formed Riverside encampment in this city and will be initiated at an early meeting. There is considerable interest in this department of Odd Fellowship in this section and as the Thief River Falls lodge takes in a large territory the growth of the new branch will no doubt be rapid.

Will Support Steenerson.

Warroad Pioneer: There is a large element within the league membership in this district that supported Steenerson two years ago and will support him again this year, regardless of any other candidate that may be offered. Six thousand five hundred of those who voted for Lindbergh two years ago also voted for Steenerson. This element consists of the well informed grain growers in the Valley counties, who have kept close watch on legislation effecting the northwest grain farmer, and who know that in the last few years Steenerson has been the most effective spokesman in congress in their behalf. This, together with the fact that he has always been ready to co-operate with the North Dakota delegation on local measures affecting the northwest may cause the league leaders to abandon the idea of putting up a candidate against him this year.

Pennington County Boys Will Attend State Camp

Farm boys of the state will have their ninth annual camp at the Minnesota State Fair this year, Sept. 1 to 11. Two farm boys from each county who won first place in the contest for the largest enrollment in club projects, conducted by the agricultural extension division of the Minnesota farm college in 1919, are entitled to membership in the camp. Those who will go from Pennington county are Amos Mostue and Vernon Copp of Thief River Falls.

Ole R. Tuff.

Ole R. Tuff of Wanke passed away at his home last Saturday. Deceased was 69 years, 6 months and 18 days old. He had been ailing for some time with rheumatism, and this, followed by an attack of rheumatism, caused his death. The children were all summoned home and spent his last days with him.

After all there is only the difference of a few beats of the heart between the living and the dead. A little more anxiety, a few more tears, a few more moments of gladness, and the universal fate will be ours.

The body was laid to rest at Nazareth's cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. B. A. Johnson of Northwood, N. D., was the only out-of-town person present aside from the immediate relatives.—Contributed.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE FILES FOR CONGRESS

Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls Wants Democratic Nomination

Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls believes there is a chance that a Democrat may be elected to congress from the Ninth district this year and has filed as a candidate. This is the first time for some years that the Democrats have had a man on the ticket for this position, and while his chances of election do not look particularly bright it is understood that he will make a campaign for the place.

According to the Red Lake Falls Gazette Mr. Jeffers, who is the present register of deeds in that county, sizes up the situation as follows:

"Millions of dollars and millions of men have been sacrificed to make the world safe for Democracy so I figure that it is now safe for a Democrat to run for Congress in this Ninth district."

W. L. SMITHIES LEADS INTERCHURCH DRIVE

W. L. SMITHIES

Minnesota Director of Interchurch United Simultaneous Financial Campaign.

STATE ORGANIZED TO BACK CHURCH

Duluth Man Heads Campaign to Raise Minnesota's Quota.

INTERCHURCH CAMPAIGN ASKS BILLION IN U. S.

Men Who Gave Services to Government for Dollar a Year Enlist in Cause under Banner of Cross.

During the week of April 25 Minnesota is to raise her quota in the billion dollar campaign proposed by the Interchurch World Movement. The responsibility of directing the financial campaign in this state rests upon W. L. Smithies, executive secretary of the Interchurch Council of Duluth, who has been appointed state campaign director.

Mr. Smithies organized and successfully directed war drives in northern Minnesota, including the Red Cross membership drive, Y. M. C. A. and united war work campaign and has launched into his new work by dividing the state into 11 districts with general headquarters at 836 Lumber Exchange, Minneapolis.

Campaign Directors Named.

Campaign directors have been appointed in each of the 11 districts. They in turn select a campaign director for each county, and the county directors assume the responsibility of community organization. These community organizations are made up of both church members and non-church men who have a friendly feeling toward the church.

Each cooperating denomination will have its solicitors who will work wholly among the people of their denomination. The citizens' committee in each community will approach friendly citizens with no particular church affiliation and call upon business organizations to present the program for more businesslike church activity.

"During the war," says Mr. Smithies, "business men of broad caliber were willing, as a patriotic service, to give their time and energy to the work of winning the war on the dollar-a-year basis. Men of the same kind—indeed, in many instances the same men—are accepting the challenge of this inspiring task of raising money for the spread of the Christian religion throughout the world, and for the efficient administration of Christian churches and institutions in the United States. These men recognize in this movement a new spirit of forgetfulness of theological or denominational differences. In fact, the movement is grounded on the principle that friendly rivalry between different denominations will enhance the effectiveness of the entire campaign for funds.

Every Dollar Assigned.

"For the first time in history, people of the United States will be asked to give to the World Movement and they will know beforehand just where every dollar of their money is going. Absolute protection of the local church identity and denominational identity is one of the strong features of the plan. No local church is asked to yield one whit of its rights and privileges when entering the united campaign.

"All denominations come together in a great meeting to make their reports. Denominations form divisions and local churches form units in those divisions. In addition there is the enlistment of the citizens' division, made up of friends in the community who have no denominational connections.

"It is proposed in the united campaign in the community that the great report meetings made up of denominational divisions and local church units, together with the powerful Citizens' Division, give a demonstration in the community of the solidarity of the Christian forces and the wonderful comprehensiveness of the church program which has grown out of the survey."

And Still They Come.

Oliver J. Quane, newspaper editor, veteran of two wars and successor to John A. Johnson as editor of the St. Peter Herald, has filed for governor of Minnesota on the Democratic ticket. His makes the fifth entry, the others being R. W. Hargadine, St. Paul; C. M. Andrist, Minneapolis; Julius Thorson, Benson, and Edward Indrehus, Foley. As there are about eight on the Republican ticket the voter will have a wide range to select from.

FREE SCHOLARSHIP AT HAMLINE IS OFFERED

High school students of Thief River Falls have been invited to participate in a scholarship competition by Hamline university, St. Paul. A scholarship valued at $100 will be awarded to the high school senior who is successful in competition against other students of his district.

For the purposes of the competition the state has been divided into districts. Pennington county, with Kittson, Roseau and Marshall, is in the twenty-eight district.

The contest is open to accredited high school seniors who expect to be graduated this spring. Each candidate must submit a transcript of his high school record, a composition of from 500 to 2,000 words on a current topic and three testimonials as to character. These will be judged by the Hamline scholarship committee.

The high schools in the twenty-eighth district are Argyle, Stephen, Warren, Hallock and Roseau.

Libraries As a Protection Against Wildcat Schemes

Speculation in "wild-cat" stocks which has caused enormous losses in the last few years, is being checked not only by investigations conducted by municipal chambers of commerce and kindred organizations, but by public libraries. Thousands of dollars have been diverted from spurious or doubtful enterprises and much misery spared by information obtained from books on library shelves dealing with the fundamentals of the proposition which "promised" large and quick returns on the investment.

A man in a middle western city recently lost a large sum by investing in a gasoline producing proposition without informing himself in its feasability. Another saved himself thousands by going to the public library and reading about the technology of gasoline making. Enormous amounts of money could be saved daily by persons in every walk of life if they would obtain authentic information before they undertake the particular proposition in which they are interested.

A vast store of technical information is available at the public library and its widespread use will tend to eliminate many sources of waste and useless effort in the industrial and business world. The Enlarged Program of the American Library Association purposes to promote good reading and universal self-education through books and libraries and create a public sentiment that will adequately support existing libraries and cause libraries to be created where they do not now exist. To carry out the provisions of this program, a fund of $2,000,000 is now being raised by librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries without recourse to an intensive drive.

Let's Talk Potato

You, as a grower, and we as handlers, have a common interest in the success of next fall's potato crop. Unless you are successful in producing the staple we will have none to handle.

Potatoes are high in price and indications are that they will continue to be one of the most profitable and dependable products that a man can raise. But the stock must be of a kind and quality for which there is a demand. Northwestern Minnesota growers have already lost thousands of dollars by failing to observe the rules long ago adopted by successful potato men in other sections.

Stop this loss. Get together and plant uniform seed, treated to prevent disease. Plant it in ground carefully prepared and which has grown no diseased potatoes for some years. Cultivate consistently and spray when necessary in order to prevent insect pests from destroying your crop.

Follow These Instructions and You Cannot Fail

Come in and talk the matter over with us. We will be glad to give you the best advice of which we are capable. In this way you may be prevented from making a mistake at the outset and we will have been instrumental in increasing the potato yield of the section. We'll both be money ahead and will be generally better off for the acquaintanceship.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

The Value of Song.

In these days of money-grabbers the people are too busy to think of the better things in life. Years ago, songs were sung while the people performed their daily work. Many of these were sung by their ancestors, some of them were composed as the people worked—just simple melodies of home life. Now we are too busy to sing, except when some "popular song" catches our fancy. The person who really understands music, the one who looks farther than the notes is considered an exception. That should not be the case. A little thought, a little attention would make it possible for everyone to understand the beauties of music. Because it would be easy, is the one reason why we should forget habits of hurry, and learn to know the better things in life.

So let us spend at least a few minutes every day in songs that personify American life.

"A Strenuous Life."

The play of Friday was a decided success. Both the matinee and the evening performances were well attended. The Senior class received about $500.50.

The serious troubles that Tom Harrington (Leland Schuster) had to face and his methods of solving were certainly entertaining. The delightful actions of "the freshman," the policy of Mrs. Wiggins and the Japanese servant's "Yes" were appreciated by everyone.

Miss Evans and Miss Wilson and the cast worked very hard that this play might be a success. The fact that they presented such an excellent performance shows that they are worthy of the praise which everyone has given to them.

They Say!

George Votava only asked three questions in algebra class Thursday morning as they had a test.

Kenneth Russell got a job on the track team, taking the discus to the fair grounds and back.

The Junior class ice cream social on Friday night after the Senior class play was a success. About fourteen dollars were taken in.

Thursday evening an accident occurred in Miss Akre's room which is just beneath the laboratory. The faucets had been left turned on and the floor was flooded with water, which soaked through the floor causing some of the plastering to fall down in Miss Akre's room. Fortunately no one was in the room at the time.

Victor Beckirk is again riding to school. Roscoe Bakke's bicycle knowledge is responsible.

Melby is not going to play ball on the campus any more. Last Thursday he missed the ball and it did not stop until Bill Herrick's head got in the way.

Coach Tommeraasen has his track team going in very good style. The boys are beginning to take a greater interest in the work and greater numbers are coming out every night.

An inter-class track meeting is to be held here on Saturday, May 8th, which will be a lively affair.

Kenneth Russell is a good jumper.

"Dovey" Dolan walked in from the fair grounds without any help last night.

The General Science classes will have accomplished a great task if they have their long "essays" in on Friday.

Some of the teachers visited Ingeborg Barstad's home Sunday.

Did you all notice the smile that Selma Newton had on the other day?

The typewriting classes were given tongue-twister exercises on Friday, and they did twist.

Some of the students in bookkeeping are getting a short vacation—those who have worked hardest.

You are worth a lot from the chin up. There is no limit. (If there is anything there at all.)

Do you know what Tommy said to Mildred Bottelson in Geometry class last Thursday a. m.?

Lillian Knight is getting to be quite popular in geometry class. Do you know why?

Those elected for the athletic board for next year are: Myrtle Krohn, Forrest Ralston and Charles Herron.

Botany: Student (finding it impossible to make a branch on a tree he was drawing look natural.):

"Say, I've struck it! I'm going to pretend its chopped off right here like this."

Another: "Aw, I say, let's just chop the whole tree down and draw the stump."

Mr. Melby evidently thinks some of his pupils ought to wear the Belleau Wood brand of collar.

One: "Well, I just got me a new car."

Another: "I thot you were going to have your old one repaired?"

One: "I couldn't afford it."

"You have a nerve, young man! Can you tell me why I should take you in partnership?"

"Well, you see, I'm going to marry your daughter and you can't afford to have a mere clerk for a son-in-law."

We see that Lloyd Lonson is now wearing long trousers.

Lynn Halvorson is a rising young orator.

Knute Hegtvedt has been confined to his home in Erie for the past week on account of sickness.

Who knows but what there is a reason for "Pills" attitude toward the girls of T. R. F. during the past week?

The carnival had more effects on the school and pupils than a financial one.

Herman Aakre went to bed at a reasonable hour one evening.

The "Prowler" is still prowling.

Roy Flattum intends to tie his "stomach" on the back of his car when the class play goes to Baudette.

Alfred came to algebra today.

Milton Larson seems mighty busy evenings now.

Frank Erickson says Norse is easy.

Harold Westin was seen on LaBree avenue north after 10 o'clock.

Why was Miss Evans cross Tuesday when she told Marie to sit down?

Kaiser Melby has had charge of the assembly the last period for two days.

Will Jim be the champion jumper of T. R. Falls?

Ralston will have a better chance to speak now.

Why does Jim shine his ring every day?

Our Public Schools.

In my last article I advocated the making of teachers' homes by the school houses in the country districts. By this I do not mean to say that such should be done in every district.

In my home district we have more than one teacher whose home is within easy walking distance of the school house, and we wish to employ home talent. But in districts where there are no teachers and difficult to get one, an arrangement can easily be made with some gentleman who would be willing to enter the teaching profession, provided he would be assured a suitable home near the school house on a little farm on which could be kept one or two milch cows, etc., and he was assured a steady job as long as he did good work. In the little country of Norway this arrangement has been running nicely for a generation.

The teacher's home should be provided free of charge to the teacher. He should be held responsible only for careless or unnecessary breakage or destruction of any or all parts thereof. His salary should be a certain amount of money per annum and the free use of the farm. He should be his own boss on the farm; the better he managed the farm the more his income per year would be. By this method the district would pay several hundred dollars every year. In other words, the teacher would allow the district a reasonable amount of house rent and the teacher would make for himself quite a sum of money from the farm. The district would run no risk in losing anything on the farm, because farm lands are raising in value every year, while the buildings could be insured.

This is the arrangement the church people have with ministers who reside in the country, and I see no reason why the same method should not do with teachers. They are supposed to be honorable and fair-minded men. In the cities also the different congregations furnish parsonages free of charge to their ministers and have no trouble to get along that way. The character of teachers in a moral sense are in many ways the same as that of ministers.

In order to get men into the teaching profession as above stated the time limit also must be changed. Hitherto no district has ever dared to employ a teacher for a longer period than just the school months. Why be so nervous about this? Are teachers a dangerous set of men that must be got rid of as soon as school is out? I think it would be perfectly safe to have them in the district during the summer vacation also.

There should be no time limit set. The agreement should be that the teacher continue as teacher of the district as long as he does good work. If the teacher then has a school where he wishes to continue, anyone can see that he would do his very best to do good work. Thus the teachers would strive to acquire efficiency and the schools would be the gainers.

60 Ton Miles of Motor Truck Freight Per Person

DURING 1917 (latest authentic figures available) motor trucks hauled 60 tons of freight a mile for every person in the United States.

Then the country was at war and the capacity of the railroads was overtaxed.

It is doubtful if even a small percentage of this enormous tonnage could have been moved except by motor trucks.

The management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), recognizing the necessity of furnishing facilities for supplying gasoline to automobiles and trucks as they traveled through the country, established Service Stations at convenient points throughout the territory served.

These Service Stations perfected the system of distribution maintained by the Company.

The drivers of this caravan of motor trucks which carried the 6 billion ton miles of freight in 1917 would have found their task more difficult of accomplishment had it not been for the network of Service Stations along the way.

While the Standard Oil Company was supplying a substantial share of the fuel consumed by these motor trucks, it also was supplying its regular patrons, and meeting the demands of the United States Government with great quantities of gasoline for war purposes.

Its preparedness and its ability to meet an emergency, however unheralded the emergency may be, serves to emphasize one of the salient phases of the bigness of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Consolidation Meeting Great Boost.

One of the most important meetings in the history of this community was held last Thursday evening at the Congregational church to discuss the consolidation of Districts Nos. 26, 137 and 41 in Marshall county and No. 2 in Pennington county. Great interest is prevailing throughout these districts for the realization of the plan and the church was filled to capacity with enthusiastic boosters. The first speaker of the evening was Miss Shelland of the department of education, St. Paul, who delivered a very stirring lecture on the past and present educational conditions in the state and what may be expected for the future. Also the advantages offered in the city schools compared to the present one-room country schools and how this deficiency can be greatly overcome in the establishing of consolidated country and village schools, with the arrangements for individual tutors for the primary, intermediate, upper and high school grades. Miss Shelland made particular mention of the lost time in the one-teacher school and the consequent necessary condensation of all the work carried on. Most teachers in country schools are required to teach as many as eight different grades and the result is that no grade can be permitted a recitation period longer than ten and twelve minutes—a time deplorably insufficient to properly elucidate and explain an average school lesson.

Consolidation, according to Miss Shelland, was the only hope for the rural districts of ever competing with the city in the education of the coming generations, and she gave it her recommendation.

The second speaker was County Superintendent G. M. Gunderson of Pennington county, who spoke for a few minutes on the present conditions of the schools of that county, the existing deficiencies along many lines in several of the rural districts, and the notable advantages offered the children of Thief River Falls in comparison. From a little pamphlet on the past and present conditions of the schools in Missouri, Mr. Gunderson extracted a few humorous incidents which, when related in his own jocular manner, caused considerable merriment among the audience but which tended to show that at a time not very long past the people in general thought considerable more about their stock, mules and hogs than about the proper rearing and education of their own boys and girls.

David Johnson, superintendent of Marshall county, next took the speakers chair. He did not deliver any address but gave a number of statistics concerning these schools from communities where they have existed for some time and also left the meeting open for any inquiries from the people present. Mr. Johnson had also prepared a number of figures concerning the cost and upkeep of a school of the size required for this community, and both himself and Miss Shelland were convinced that an annual taxation of about 40 mills would fully cover the necessary expenses of maintaining a consolidated school here. Considering that the average present taxation in these districts is about 10 mills the increase would be about 30 mills above what is being paid now. An informal vote of the people present was taken to ascertain the true sentiment among the crowd, but the actual vote was not counted as practically every hand in the building was raised in favor of the plan. Superintendent Johnson was authorized to prepare a plat of the four districts and submit the same for the approval of the department of education at St. Paul and petitions will later be circulated to secure the necessary signatures of freeholders for the realization of the plan.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Gulseth of Viking have purchased the present quarters of the Farmers State bank, and will move here next week to take up their residence and it is their plan to run a lunch cafe in the future. The front of the building will continue to be used by the bank until their new building is completed.

There still seems to be a notion in some quarters that any tire is good enough for a small car.

GREAT CONCERT TROUP AT LYCEUM SATURDAY

Norwegian Nightingales to Appear in Songs and Instrumental Selections

The "Norwegian Nightingales," Agnes Lerstad, mezzo contralto, and Melvina Lerstad, soprano, are young ladies with naturally delightful voices who are rapidly climbing the pinnacle of fame. They are being featured in the Lerstad Concert company under the management of The Northwestern [illegible] bureau of St. Paul.

With them are Mary Goodrich Read, a violinist whose equal is not often heard. She has a life-long familiarity with the violin, has received her training both in this country and in Europe and has played before many audiences in both countries. The harpist, Fern VanBramer, adds a quaint attraction to the program. The sweet harmony of the harp is not equaled by any other instrument and the training and experience Miss VanBramer has received enables her to produce most pleasing effects. All this is delightfully supported by the excellent accompanying on the piano by Miss Margaret Henke. Miss Henke's remarkable technique enables her to perform not only as a soloist, but also as an accompanist of a most sympathetic type.

Miss Hazel Bryngelson, who as a reader makes the audience both laugh and cry is also with the "Norwegian Nightingales." She expresses the subtle humor found in O. Henry's stories by the inflection of her voice and in her splendid facial expression. She also reads from other authors. Her lighter numbers include many dialects.

It has been said by most severe critics that this is a group of artists that is seldom, if ever, surpassed. So there is a real treat in store for the people of Thief River Falls, at the Lyceum theatre, Saturday, May 8, at 8:00 p.m. m6

HIGHER ADVERTISING RATE ONLY SOLUTION

Would Reduce Amount of Space Used and Thus Save Print Paper

Blame for the high price of print paper was placed primarily on mill manufacturers, brokers and jobbers, although publishers themselves were held partly to blame, by witnesses before a senate investigating committee. Curtailed consumption to break the spot market pending increased production was advocated generally as a remedy.

Opposition to a suggestion by Senator J. A. Reed that the government receive authority to take over the print paper supply and allocate it to the newspapers was unanimous. Such a plan, according to Fleming Newbold of the Washington Star, would be disastrous to production.

Warren G. Bailey, publisher of the Warrenstown, Pa., Democrat, alleged a combination existed among the paper manufacturers.

Print paper production will be increased by 200,000 tons next year, Paul Patterson, Baltimore Sun, told the committee. If publishers continue the universal efforts to reduce consumption there should be a marked effect by next fall, he said.

Publishers seriously are considering raising prices to three cents a copy in many cities, he explained.

"The only effective way to curtail consumption is to reduce advertising space by charging higher rates and thereby reducing the size of advertisements. An arbitrary reduction in advertising space would be almost impossible to execute."

"The real remedy is a happy and reasonable restriction by newspapers that is closing the gap between production and consumption, is it not?" asked Senator Reed.

"Yes," Patterson replied, "but there is no possibility of increasing production this year."

"We also have reached the point where advertising rates must be radically increased to meet the situation."

"Prior to this year I don't think advertising rates were increased beyond the increase of circulation."

Savings Certificate Record.

According to the report of the government savings organization the Ninth Federal Reserve district bought $5,456,000 worth of saving certificates and stamps during the year 1919. Minnesota led the states of the district with $2,935,744.70, of which Pennington county furnished $10,219.67. Other counties in the ten thousand dollar class are Kandiyohi, Meeker, Pipestone, Rock, Scott and Steele. The record for Northwestern Minnesota counties is as follows: Clearwater, $2,535.23; Kittson, $4,200.27; Marshall, $6,856.76; Norman, $11,164.80; Polk, $22,433.64; Red Lake, $4,604.98; Roseau, $4,873.92.

There will be a meeting held at the Sathre school house southwest of the city next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. R. L. Barackman of the Presbyterian church, will deliver an address on the subject of Near East relief and steps will be taken to form an organization for the securing of funds for this cause. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

The Sugar Problem

(The following letter, received by the Thief River Grocery Co., will no doubt be of interest to all sugar users):

NATIONAL WHOLESALE GROCERS' ASSOCIATION OF THE UNITED STATES
No. 6 Harrison Street, New York, N. Y.

April 22, 1920.

TO MEMBERS:

Your officers have been very busy, with regard to the sugar problem, doing several things which will count for good if anything can. We have been studying the facts and figures, conferring with refiners, officials and others acquainted with the situation, trying to find "the nigger in the woodpile" if there is any, and finding some better way actually to improve conditions than "hollering about it." Innumerable letters from our members, telling us the facts in their several sections of the country have been helpful and such as have greatest value as evidence to get at the truth, have been placed in the proper hands, with our most urgent prayer for action.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH SUGAR?

That the sugar situation is critical and severe admits of no denial. From every part of the country, wholesalers and retailers, as well as consumers are complaining of inability to get enough for their needs and with good reason. But the excited way in which some of the scramble for sugar presents itself suggests that perhaps the excitement has become one of the very causes back of the trouble and a little more calmness and patience would help the situation. As we find the situation, here are some of the salient points:

1—Sugar is not to be had in sufficient quantities and regular supply from refiners, even for their long-time regular customers.

2—Speculators, brokers and often parties wholly outside the wholesale and retail grocery trade are offering sugar at fancy prices, 2, 3 and even 4 cents above the refiners' nominal prices, for immediate carlot delivery.

3—Refiners complain of inability to buy raw sugars at reasonable prices at points of origin and consequently have no surpluses available for delivery, but most of them are hard at work refining raws for private owners who outbid them in Cuba and elsewhere, on a basis of toll fees, which fees are understood to be far more profitable than the permitted legal fees which formerly prevailed when they were working on their own sugars for sale through regular channels.

4—Not all refiners are agreed as to the causes of the high prices and not all are as frank as might be desired as to why they are unable to make regular delivery to their old customers.

5—Plainly the speculators are in control of the refined surpluses of sugar, while the Cuban owners of raws have inflated ideas of values entirely out of reason; and have sold most of their crops at prices which give them enough money to allow them to hold their unsold portions till buyers will pay the prices demanded. And as long as American refiners do not get together with them on a buying basis, and foreign refiners and domestic speculators do, the balance of the crop unshipped stands a mighty slim chance of getting into the channels which normally flow through the wholesale grocer to the households of this country at reasonable prices.

6—So far as appears, the Government officials who might possibly gain some control over the situation are evidently not securing results and the refiners generally display a complacency that perhaps follows naturally from a contemplation of their bank balances.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

These conclusions are not idle chatter based on excited letters and haphazard theories, but are the outcome of conferences with those best informed, a study of statistics of unquestioned accuracy and much consultation among our own best authorities. As nearly as we can get at it, the whole trouble started when Mr. Hoover's policies of control were too hastily abandoned, in the days just preceding the action of Congress in extending the Lever Act. Had the Government authorities at that time taken control of the raws in Cuba, bought the whole crop, even at the prices then prevailing, much less than half what Cuba demands today—and continued apportioning the supply to refiners, licensing rigidly all buyers and sellers, the statistical shortage would have been met and overcome. Everyone would have had comparatively enough sugar for their needs. By the time Uncle Sam realized this, the speculators had control and the resulting high prices prevented even belated correction.

Then came the Louisiana incident.

Next came the reaction from the speculators buying of Cuban raws by manipulators. The owners of the raws contracted with our own refineries to refine the raws on a toll basis, reported to be a good deal more profitable to the refiners than operating on their own lines under the Lever Act for the service of their regular customers. It is not altogether certain that all the refiners tried to resist. It should be said to the credit of a very few refiners that they have refused to do any toll refining. It might also be said that if the refiners had not made their plants available to the speculative owners, the latter could not have "turned the trick."

FACING THE ISSUE.

There are a good many other causes that have played a part in the situation—car shortage—strikes at seaboard termini, on railroads and in plants—foreign exchange complications and what not—but unless they have any bearing on a possible remedy, they come largely under the category of "crying about spilt milk," so we refrain from further discussion. Looking at the situation, face to face:

1—There is a great amount of sugar held by speculators, here and in Cuba. Also a great deal (in the aggregate but in small individual lots) in the hands of alarmed jobbers, manufacturers, retailers and housewives. Bought as a precaution, it caused an unnecessary shortage, created a psychological scare that only added to the trouble and now offers a temptation to the lucky owners.

2—There is a statistical shortage in the remaining stock of raws which might be forced into regular trade channels if the refiners would function as they ought to. Cuba has produced (to the first of April) about 1,991,000 long tons as against 1,738,000 the preceding year, but had shipped off the island 1,307,086 tons as against 292,485 last year year and has stocks on hand of only 659,330 tons as against 778,076 the preceding year. The stocks of raws in the United States and Cuba together amounted to 765,188 tons as against 1,111,203 tons, a shortage of 346,015 tons and New York raw prices (duty paid) were quoted at (April 15) 18.56 cents as against 7.28 cents at the same time last year. Refiners were reported as having melted since January 1st 911,000 tons as against 779,000 tons, but against 78,500 tons and had on hand (in all hands) only 86,234 tons had exported since the first of January 145,000 tons of refined as as against 118,589 tons last year.

These facts are not reassuring but they do seem to offer too substantial a front to be swept away by mere complaining and shifting responsibility.

WHAT CAN WE DO ABOUT IT?

What can we do about it? To this problem we have given a great deal of attention and study, not to mention conferences with refiners, government officials in Washington and others. It looks to us as though the wholesalers, retailers and consumers chief hope lies in having the authorities at Washington exercise the power granted them under the Lever Act against speculators.

We are trying to help you get out of trouble, by intelligent effort. If every member will try to understand the situation and help us find not only causes but remedies and then get behind us as we put them up to the Government on one side and the speculators on the other, we may find some way out of our dilemma.

We are glad to report that the United States Department of Justice has now called an important conference at Washington to consider some of these facts.

Acting Secretary.

WILL ASK ALL TO HELP IN CHURCH MOVEMENT

Every Person Will Be Given Opportunity to Boost Along Good Work

With a hundred million dollars actually raised to date and the discovery that hundreds of people who are willing to give to the Interchurch World Movement have not been asked to do so, the announcement is made that the whole machinery of all the denominational campaigns as well as the general campaign organization, will be turned loose during the present week for a strenuous effort to give every person the opportunity to say yes or no to a request for the support of the church.

"There are thousands of dollars waiting to be given for the advancement of Christian work in Minnesota that require only the asking on the part of some interested person," said W. L. Smithies, state campaign director, in making the announcement.

"The astonishing response so far reported throughout the state has served to stimulate scores of churches who dispaired of being able to raise their quotas. I am receiving letters daily from towns, which on account of the necessary haste with which the campaign was set up have been unable to complete the work of organization, and in practically every one of these letters a statement is made 'give us a little time and we will come through. We are going to raise this money if it takes a month.'

"This makes it probable that the final figures in the campaign will not be available for several weeks, and maybe months, but the church is aroused and the people are stirred to an interest in the Interchurch World Movement and the success of the $336,000,000 campaign is unquestionably assured by this awakening enthusiasm."

JOHNSONS OUTNUMBER SMITHS AND BROWNS

Records Show That Famous Family Was Well Represented During War

Postmaster John Morgan is in receipt of a whole sheaf of printed matter pertaining to the work of the bureau of war risks at Washington and has been perusing the contents with considerable interest. He finds that upward of 4,600,000 soldiers, sailors and marines were insured under the war risk insurance act. In the card indexes are listed the names of 53,200 Johnsons, the most numerous family name in the bureau records. Some of these Johnsons also spelt their names variously, as Johnston and Johnstone. The Smiths, with 51,950, are not far behind numerically. The Browns, with 48,000, are third, and the Williams family comes to the front with 47,000 names. Then in the order named come the Joneses, 28,050 strong; the Andersons, 22,000 the Walkers, 18,500.

Of the 53,200 Johnsons, 2,138 were christened John, and 2,062 William Johnson. The favorite Christian name in the Smith family is William, being borne by 3,412 Smiths; while John was the given name of 2,625 Smiths. Of the 48,000 Browns who wore the uniform 2,000 were named plain John Brown. Of the Williams family, 280 signed up as "Willie Williams," and 170 as "William Williams." There were 900 "John Andersons," 800 were Christianed "Carl," and 600 "Charles."

ST. PAUL TEACHER GAINS 21 POUNDS

Was Almost Helpless For Over a Year—Quickly Restored by Tanlac

"I was almost helpless with rheumatism when I began taking Tanlac, but now I haven't an ache or pain of any kind and have gained twenty-one pounds in weight," said Miss Lily Minor Peese, 83 West Tenth St., St. Paul, Minn., who has been a teacher in and about the city for eighteen years, in a statement the other day.

"I suffered with rheumatism so long that I have been able to get out of the house only three times during the past year," she continued. "I was almost helpless, for I was confined to my bed for weeks at a time and I was simply in misery from morning till night. The pains in my back felt like a knife cutting, my joints were stiff and my muscles were drawn and swollen. My appetite left me and my stomach was so badly upset that what little I ate caused severe pains in my sides and around my heart. My nerves were in an awful condition and I lost weight until I was so weak I could not stand up at times.

"My next door neighbor advised me to try Tanlac, and since it has done so much for me I will always be grateful to her for telling me about it. The rheumatism began leaving me right after I started taking Tanlac and now it has completely disappeared. The pains in my back and sides and around my heart have also left me. My appetite was never better and I can eat just anything I want without suffering any bad effects. I am not nervous or restless and am sleeping soundly every night. I have not felt so well and strong in years and it is a real pleasure for me to recommend the medicine that did it all."

Meets Death Under Hoofs Of Mad Bull

Christ Mattson, Aged Farmer, Fatally Injured by Animal Friday Evening.

Knocked Down and Trampled On, He Manages to Crawl Toward House.

Taken to Hospital in This City Where Death Occurred Last Sunday.

Christ Mattson, a farmer living about one and a half miles northwest of Hazel and who, on the day previous had celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday, was fatally injured by a Holstein bull in the barn at his home on Friday evening. He was taken to the Physician's hospital in this city where he died Sunday morning.

The aged man had gone to the barn for the purpose of feeding the bull, this being one of his chores. The animal had at no previous time given indications of an ugly disposition and no one considered it in the least dangerous to go near him.

According to Dr. H. W. Froehlich, who was called, the animal had evidently hooked his victim first, the stub horns entering on the inside of the left leg near the body, tearing a wide gash and knocking the man down. Using his hoofs the bull had thereupon pounded his prostrate victim across the stomach, tearing the muscles and inflicting internal injuries, although the skin was not broken at this point.

Examination at the hospital showed his injuries to be such as to make recovery practically impossible and the members of the family were notified. The body was prepared for burial at the Larson undertaking rooms and interment made in Hazel cemetery.

Deceased was born in Norway and came to this country at an early age. He was a resident of Pennington county for many years and most highly regarded among the people of the neighborhood in which he lived.

ELKS SECURE OPTION ON RIVER FRONT PLOT

Would Fill in Property With Overburden Taken From City Streets.

Thief River Falls lodge of Elks has secured an option on the piece of property at the foot of third street and fronting on the river with a view to erecting a club house thereon and in other ways improving the place. The plot is in its present state too low and subject to overflowing and it would be necessary to do considerable filling in order to make it available for building purposes. It would also be necessary to have the east end of Davis street condemned as a thoroughfare.

In order to see what could be done in the matter, a committee composed of Math Barzen and F. H. Herrick waited on the council Tuesday evening with the request that the city order all dirt taken from the streets when preparing them for paving dumped onto the low land referred to. It was pointed out that no nearer place for getting rid of this overburden could be found and that the city would be under no expense for leveling.

It was found that the contract with the paving concern provides that no charge is to be made for hauling this material for a distance up to 1000 feet but that 2½ cents per yard will be charged for any distance over that. It is estimated that 15,000 yards will have to be removed and as the Elks will not require over 6,000 yards the matter was easily arranged. The council figured that besides providing a convenient dumping place it was worth something to the city to have this particular section improved and the request was unanimously granted.

As Davis street now ends at Third and there is no possibility of its ever being continued farther, this part of the petition was quickly disposed of.

JOINS GREAT MOVING PICTURE COMBINATION

Manager Brumund Becomes Member of First National Exhibitors Organization.

Mark Ross, representing the First National Exhibitors' organization, a combination of producers and theatre men who have joined forces for the purpose of providing the public with better moving pictures at a lower price, was in the city the first of the week and laid the program of the association with which he is identified before Manager Brumund of the Lyceum and Princess theatres. So favorably did Mr. Brumund regard the proposition that he became a member at once.

The First National aims to so arrange things that the men who show the pictures will have something to say about them. As things now stand, according to Mr. Ross, a few men absolutely control the business and can do as they please both as regards quality and price. The National now has 26 distributing offices in the United States and will soon cover the country from ocean to ocean. The concern has under contract such stars as Mary Pickford, D. W. Griffith, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Katharine Macdonald, Charlie Chaplin, Charles Ray, Anita Stewart, Marshal Neilson, Mildred Harris, Jack Pickford, Olga Petrova, Bert Lytell, Mitchell Lewis and many others. These are the very topnotchers in the moving picture profession.

Being a member of the First National will mean that the Princess and Lyceum will show the same pictures as New York and Chicago houses and at a price that is not prohibitive. Mr. Ross stated that Mr. Brumund was entitled to much credit for thus securing the best for his patrons, particularly when the fact that he has no opposition is taken into consideration.

Winger Returns to City.

After an absence of about a year, during which time he was connected with a business house at Kennedy, Olaf Winger has returned to this city and accepted a position at the store of A. S. Lieberman. Mr. Winger was for years in the clothing department of the Oen Mercantile company and is one of the best known young men in the county. He has a large number of friends, particularly among the farmers, and these will be glad to welcome him back.

PINE SEEDLINGS FOR PLANTING NEAR HERE

Expert Will be on Ground Next Week to Assist in Setting Out Trees.

A shipment of between 15,000 and 20,000 white pine seedlings is expected to arrive in this city within a few days for distribution among the farmers and others who are willing to plant and care for the young trees. The shipment comes from the state propagating station at Cloquet and is sent under orders from the state forestry board, of which Daniel Shaw of this city is a member.

G. M. Couzet of the forestry department, is expected in the city about the time the shipment arrives and will give information as to the best manner of setting out the seedlings, which are from 8 to 14 inches in height.

A large number of farmers have signified their intention of setting out the young trees but the largest order will go to the Tri-County sanatorium where 1000 will be placed. The planting will be with the intention of providing groves for windbreaks, it being claimed that a shelter of trees on three sides of a building is equivalent in climatic effect to moving it 200 miles farther south.

Mr. Couzet advises that in case he is delayed in getting here, all those who receive trees must be sure to keep the roots thoroughly wet as in this manner they will keep for a long time if put in a cool, shady place.

Mr. Shaw has frequently attempted to secure a greater interest in tree growing in this section, both among the people here and the officials of the forestry department, and this initial shipment is a direct result of his efforts.

Park Plan Opposed By Council Majority

The city council does not take kindly to the proposition that the point formed by the Red Lake river at its confluence with the Thief be purchased for park purposes. While admitting that the property is in every way desirable and very reasonable—$1200 being the price asked—they maintain that it is too small to be of much use as a playground. Councilman Andrew Ness reported that he had secured an option and the purchase was strongly urged by Mayor Bratrud and President Brumund, besides Mr. Ness. They pointed out that the point now constituted almost the only place where property touching the river can be secured at any such price and that unless it is taken up at once it may be too late. In fact Mr. Ness said he would buy it himself as an investment if the council did not care to do so. Nothing definite was done about the matter and it will in all probability come up at a special meeting to be held on Tuesday.

MINIMUM WAGE SCALE FOR RURAL TEACHERS

Pass Resolutions Placing $85 as the Low Figure For Beginners.

At a meeting of rural teachers held in the court house in this city last week a resolution was passed for presentation to the different school boards establishing a minimum wage scale for teachers. The resolution was drawn up by a committee composed of Misses Werstlien, Votava, Richardson, Kellberg and Johnson, and provides for the following rate; the first figure applying to teachers who have served less than two years and the second figure to those of longer experience:

Second class certificate, $85-$90; first class certificate, $95-$105; high school training, $100-$110.

The meeting was opened by County Superintendent G. M. Gunderson and a permanent organization formed by the election of Miss Anna Froiland as president and Miss Mabel Kellberg secretary.

The action taken as regards the salary scale was by unanimous vote of all present.

Extensive Experiment in Onion Raising is Launched.

The Goodridge Banner states that 20 acres of ground in the vicinity of that village have been rented from Joe McCabe and are being sown to onions. The ground has been plowed, disced and harrowed until it is in first-class shape. The seed is sown broadcast. The work is being done under the direction of S. O. Palmer, the promoter of the scheme. Associated with him are J. P. Jensen, Ted Tandberg and Prof. Norby. It had been planned to get the seed in the ground last fall, but winter set in too early.

This is an experiment that will be watched with interest by people thruout northern Minnesota, for if good yields of onions can be obtained here, it means thousands of dollars to the farmers.

Potato Men To Organize Next Friday

Senator James Cumming Will Address Growers at St. Hilaire Meeting.

Associations Already Formed in Nearly Every County in the State.

Aim Will be Standardization and Improved Marketing Conditions.

A Pennington County Potato Growers association will be organized at a meeting to be held in St. Hilaire on Friday afternoon, May 21, at one o'clock. Senator James Cumming of East Grand Forks, who has been instrumental in forming associations of this kind all over the state, will be present and assist in getting the work started. The plan is to at once affiliate with the State Potato Growers' association, organized at Little Falls last year.

The aim of the new organization is to put Minnesota forward as the chief potato state of the nation. To this end all association members will be asked to plant uniform varieties and work toward certified seed. The movement is one of the most important engaged upon by the farmers of the state for years and the enthusiasm with which they are taking hold of the proposition is most encouraging.

The people in the vicinity of St. Hilaire have taken the lead in this matter. Much interest has been evinced in the raising of certified seed and some work toward forming an organization already accomplished. Plans for the building of a potato warehouse have been considered and it is probable that the erection of such plant will be begun within a short time after the county organization is formed.

Another matter that will in all probability come up for discussion at the meeting will be the pooling of wool. This plan has been followed with marked success by sheep raisers in other sections and will no doubt be found of value here.

Senator Cumming is an authority on these matters and it will be to the interest of those engaged in potato and wool raising to be present at the meeting.

FAMOUS CHOIR WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Lady Singers From Oak Grove Seminary Here For Church Meeting.

Interest will be added to the meetings of the delegates of the Lutheran Free Church, to be held in this city from June 9 to 15, by the presence of the ladies' choir of Oak Grove seminary, Fargo. This is one of the most famous organizations of its kind in the West and will insure that the musical division of the meetings is fully in keeping with the importance of the event as a whole.

Rev. George Larson, pastor of the local church of the denomination, says that the committee on arrangements is meeting with much success in finding lodging places for the delegates. As there will be in the neighborhood of 3,000 of these, the problem of their entertainment presents some difficulties, but these are all being overcome. Rev. Larson is keeping a regular card index system to show just who is coming and what disposition is to be made of them so that there will be no confusion upon their arrival.

The convention, which is to be held in the auditorium, will without question be the largest in the history of the organization and very much the largest for which the people of Thief River Falls have ever acted as hosts.

Makes Proposal Changing White Way Light Poles

The representative of a large electrical supply house was in the city this week for the purpose of conferring with the council regarding the proposed extensions and changes to be made in the electric light system. Underground conduits will have to be laid before paving is put down and the figures presented were for this work. One of the suggestions made by him was that the present light standards on the White Way be retained but that instead of the cross-arm type now employed the city should remove the crosses and use one large lamp at the top. The salvage in making this change would go a long way toward making the necessary change. He was awarded a contract with the understanding that if the courts prevented the city from going ahead with paving the order would be automatically cancelled.

Greatest Silk Purchase In History of Northwest.

H. O. Loken returned Saturday morning from Chicago, where he attended one of the most remarkable merchandising events of late years. The largest silk importing house in America suddenly found itself compelled to unload a large part of its holdings and notified a few merchants in each state by telegraph. As an indication of the standing of the Loken store among wholesalers it may be mentioned that outside of the Twin Cities and Duluth only three men in Minnesota were notified of the sale, Mr. Loken being one of these.

The reason for the sale is that Japanese bankers suddenly found themselves with a vast quantity of silk securities on their hands, the high prices having had the effect of curtailing the demand. Importers were notified that bills must be met at once and the slump in prices followed. Mr. Loken says that buyers were present early in the morning on the first day of the sale and that the transactions for the two days totaled $2,000,000. The price reduction was astounding, he states, it being considered impossible to secure even the lowest grade silks for what these premium goods were bringing. He secured $5,600 worth—by far the largest silk order ever placed by a house in this section.

The bargain is to be passed on to the people without delay, a full-page advertisement in this issue of The Times giving further details of this remarkable merchandising event. The ladies of this section will find that they can dress in the finest silks at a cost in many cases lower than that of wool. This should bring a demand for these goods during the next few days that will make the merchant sorry he did not buy $10,000 worth.

Opening Gun By Nonparty In This City

Dr. Shipstead, Candidate For Governor, Will be Here Monday Evening.

E. N. Thormodson, Congressional Choice of Nonpartisans, Will Speak.

Thomas Vollom of Erskine, Who Opposes Mike Holm, Will be in Party.

The first political rally of the 1920 campaign to be held in Thief River Falls will be on Monday evening, May 17, when Dr. Henrick Shipstead of Glenwood, endorsed by the Nonpartisan league as the Republican candidate for governor and who will contest for the honor of leading the party in the state with J. A. O. Preus at the primaries, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Shipstead will make an active campaign from now on and will appear in different sections of the state with such other candidates as may reside at the points of his appearance.

There is no question but that he will be greeted by a packed house in Thief River Falls, as those who do not agree with him and will not vote for him will be as anxious to hear what he has to say as will his most ardent supporters.

Candidate for Congress.

E. N. Thormodson of Dalton, endorsed by the Nonpartisans for congress in the Ninth ditsrict, will be on the platform with Dr. Shipstead and will present his views on national issues to the people. Another member of the party is Thomas Vollom of Erskine, who will contest in the primaries for the nomination for secretary of state with Mike Holm of Roseau county.

Will Draw Large Crowd.

The prominence of the speakers is sure to draw large crowds from all sections of the Northwest, Thief River Falls having been selected for this big meeting because of having a hall of sufficient capacity to hold any audience that is likely to appear under almost any circumstances.

The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

Contribute Liberally to Near East Relief Fund.

The people of Rocksbury township have always been noted for the liberality with which they have supported any worthy movement brought to their attention. It was so with the different Red Cross campaigns during the war, the Y. M. C. A. drives, church fund campaigns, and everything else in which they interest themselves. The latest move engaging their attention is Near East relief, and S. O. Lee, township chairman, reports as follows on the results of the solicitations thus far made:

S. E. Hunt, $5; S. O. Lee, $5; Paul Engelstad, $5; C. E. Oien, $5; Halvor H. Olson, $2.50; Casper Falk, $5; Knute Ystesund, $1; Lars G. Netteland, $5; S. O. Finhart, $1; K. H. Finstad, $5; Fred Turnquist, $1; Dan Johnson, $1; Johan Johnson, $2; A. E. Anderson, $1; Henry Oen, $2; Mrs. Halvor Hostvedt, $1; Ed. A. Aubol, $5; P. Engelstad, $5; Henry Pope, $2; O. B. Gunderson, $1; G. P. Hanson, $1; Emil Welo, $1. Total $62.00.

Delegates to Conferences of Swedish Lutheran Church

Rev. Albin A. Larson of the Swedish Lutheran church in Thief River Falls, was chosen as the delegate to the synodical conference of the denomination at Johnstown, N. Y., by the Red River valley conference held at Nelson, near Fergus Falls, this week. Mrs. Larson was selected as the delegate of the Woman's Home and Missionary societies of the district to the national meeting held at Johnstown on the same dates as the synodical conference.

The Nelson meeting was one of the most successful ever held. It was decided to open an orphanage and receiving home and a committee was appointed to investigate the prospects for beginning hospital work. Warren, Moorhead and Alexandria are being considered as locations.

The taking over of Northwestern university at Fargo and North Star college at Warren as denominational institutions was also up for consideration.

The Lutheran Bible Institute is a new feature of church work that is being carried on in a most satisfactory manner. S. M. Miller of St. Paul is in charge of this work and was present at the district conference.

Preus G.O.P. Favorite For Ticket Head

Present State Auditor Chosen on First Ballot at Minneapolis Meeting.

Mike Holm of Roseau Endorsed as Candidate For Secretary of State.

Platform Declares For Fair and Equitable Tonnage Tax on Iron Ore.

Jacob A. O. Preus, present state auditor, was on Saturday endorsed for the Republican nomination for governor by the elimination convention held in Minneapolis. But one ballot was taken, the vote in favor of Mr. Preus being so decided that his selection was made unanimous.

Louis L. Collins of Minneapolis, returned army service man, was nominated for lieutenant governor without opposition, other candidates withdrawing in his favor.

Judge Mike Holm of Roseau was nominated for secretary of state in a field of six candidates after three ballots had been taken. The Pennington county delegation had been instructed for Preus and Holm and were thus with the winners from the outset.

Three present officials were endorsed for renomination, these being Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general; Henry Rines, state treasurer, and O. P. B. Jacobson, member of the railroad and warehouse commission. Judge Homer B. Dibell of the supreme court was also endorsed for renomination in the primaries.

Julius Schmahl Withdraws.

One of the things that paved the way for the early nomination of Mr. Preus was the withdrawal of Julius A. Schmahl from the race. The present secretary of state has been an active candidate since early in the campaign and while he requested that he be not considered by the elimination convention there is considerable speculation as to what his course will be. The other candidates for the gubernatorial endorsement—Thomas Frankson, Thomas Keefe, S. G. Iverson, M. J. Dowling and L. A. Fritsche—will without question withdraw from further effort to secure the nomination at the primaries.

Tonnage Tax Is Up.

Delegates from the iron mining districts supported Mr. Preus for the indorsement, but he was "put over" by delegates from northwestern and southern Minnesota who favored the tonnage tax. The real battle of the convention was over this question. Friends of the tonnage tax were determined that it should be settled before nominations were made.

It was freely stated on the floor that several county delegations would stand for Preus if the convention declared for the tonnage tax, but otherwise would not vote for him. Three votes were taken and the convention insisted on adopting its resolutions before taking a ballot on governor. Once the tonnage tax had been endorsed, the endorsement of Preus was a certainty.

New Planks Appear.

The resolutions adopted by the convention reaffirm the platform of March 20, which includes support of prohibition and woman suffrage.

New planks were approved:

Declaring for Americanism against socialism.

Declaring for farmers' co-operative movements and against state ownership of industries.

Indorsing collective bargaining.

Indorsing the Babcock road amendment.

Favoring a "fair and equitable tonnage tax law on iron ore."

Favoring return to the convention system for party nominations, and advocating legislation to prevent any but bona fide members of the party from running as republicans.

Pledging support of republicans to the candidates indorsed and to the national ticket.

SIXTY-FIFTH SPLITS ON IRON TAX ISSUE

Pennington For Tonnage Measure, Red Lake and Clearwater Against.

Pennington county's seven votes were cast in favor of a tonnage tax on iron ore at the Republican elimination convention in Minneapolis on Saturday. In this attitude the delegates were deserted by their conferees from the other two counties in the district, Red Lake county's six votes and the seven from Clearwater going against the proposition.

The vote in the convention stood 701 in favor of the tax and 331 against it. A number of delegations were split on the issue, Polk being among these, eight of its 14 votes being in favor with six against. The counties of the Ninth congressional district lined up as follows on the proposition:

	Yes	No
Becker	11
Clearwater		7
Clay	9
Kittson	7
Mahnomen	7
Marshall	10
Norman	9
Ottertail	14	4
Pennington	7
Polk	8	6
Red Lake		6
Roseau		7
Wilk'n	7	1
Total	89	31

Returns to Gonvick.

George T. Hamery, vice president of the First National bank in this city for the past five months, left yesterday afternoon for Gonvick for the purpose of again taking up his residence in that village. He is president of the Farmers' State bank in the Clearwater county town and has other interests there which require his personal attention almost constantly. He is a high-class business man and it is to be regretted that he could not see his way clear to remain in Thief River Falls. He made many warm friends during his stay here and these will regret his departure.

Returns From East.

C. L. Hansen, president of the First National bank, returned last week from the East where he had been on business for about three weeks. Mr. Hansen attended the meeting of the National bankers association at Pinehurst, N. C., and stopped at a number of the larger cities enroute. He had a very pleasant trip but is not particularly enthusiastic over the stretches of the country he saw. So far as agricultural development is concerned, he says, northern Minnesota is so far ahead of the Southeast that there is absolutely no chance of making a comparison.

STEENERSON TO STAY ON JOB AT CAPITAL

May Not be Able to Visit Constituents Before the Primary Election.

Close personal friends of Congressman Steenerson in Thief River Falls, who have been asking him to pay the city a visit before the primaries, have been informed that it will be impossible for him to leave his duties at Washington at the present time. A number of important measures in which he is interested, among them the Red Lake river improvement project, are at a stage where he does not believe it advisable to absent himself for any considerable time. He has been working hard on matters of interest to the district and would welcome an opportunity to escape for awhile, but states that the people are now so well acquainted with him that a tour of speech-making seems superflous.

Later in the summer, after the adjournment of congress, Mr. Steenerson says he will pay the city a visit and expects at the same time to continue his trip to Goodridge and Grygla.

Economy and Efficiency Demand Change of Current

Robert Payne, representing the Northwestern General Electric company of St. Paul, was in the city the first of the week for the purpose of explaining the advantages to be gained by changing the current now generated at the electric plant from a direct to an alternating type. He said that the city should prepare to make the change at once and that more equipment should be added in order to secure the best results. He further suggested that a dam be built at a point a short distance down the river where sufficient power could be generated to supply not only the city but a large section of adjacent territory as well.

W. W. Prichard Sr., who was among those present when Mr. Payne spoke in the council room, said that the thing to do was to appoint a commission to handle the public utilities of the city.

Mr. Payne in the course of his remarks said that Thief River Falls is the only city in the state now using a 220 volt direct current.

Flax Advised Where Late Spring Retards Seeding

To farmers who have been unable to get in the usual crops, on account of the lateness of the season, agricultural college men at University Farm are making the suggestion that flax be sown.

Various causes at home and abroad have served to create an unprecedented demand for the cereal. Since 1913 the price has advanced each year until it is now about four times the pre-war price. Flax seed is indispensable in construction work and its cultivation is a simple proposition. New breaking or clean Minnesota land should, climatic conditions being normal, produce a good crop even if sown after other farm crops have been planted.

Flax may be sown early or as late as June 1 to 15. Andrew Boss, vice director of the Minnesota Experiment station, recommends the use of one bushel of seed to every two acres. Seed should be secured at once, as it is scarce. If there is danger of the seed being affected with wilt, treat it with formaldehyde. Care must be exercised not to get seed too wet.

Beltrami Farmers to Grow Sorghum and Build Mill.

Farmers in the vicinity of Ten Lakes, a township east of Bemidji, have decided to establish a sorghum mill. The proposition is being promoted by Oscar Hauglum, who has purchased a mill and evaporator. Several farmers have secured seed and will plant a large acreage of cane this spring.

Next fall the mill will be put into operation and syrup will be manufactured. The farmers believe that they will not only be able to take care of their own needs, but that they will also be able to put a quantity on the market and if the proposition proves profitable it will become permanent.

New Shoe Man In Charge.

A. C. Aure, formerly connected with one of the largest shoe houses in Minneapolis, has taken charge of the shoe department of the Loken store, succeeding Alfred Olson, who has returned to the cities. Mr. Aure is a man of long experience in the business and comes very highly recommended. This particular department of the Loken store has kept pace with the remainder in growth and takes the entire time of an expert in the business. Mr. Aure will give his personal attention to the correct fitting of every pair of shoes leaving the place.

Put Utilities In Hands of Commission

Motion to This Effect is Introduced at Council Meeting Tuesday Evening.

Can be Accomplished by Simple Resolution Creating Necessary Board.

Matter Laid Over in Order to Give Members Time For Consideration.

Again the proposition to place the public utilities of the city in the hands of a commission is under consideration. The matter has come up on numerous occasions before but for one reason or another it has never been carried out.

That some of the members of the council have always considered the plan the only feasible one for handling the electric light and water department is well known, and when on Tuesday evening Supt. Ole Legvold of the department reported that one of the turbines had slipped and that no power from the dam could be expected until the matter had been remedied, the thing come to a head suddenly. Councilman O. L. Ihle, without preliminary of any kind, moved that a commission be appointed at once with full power to take charge of the water and light plant.

Others Advise Waiting.

There was no outspoken opposition to the program, but Councilman Carl Froseth said he wanted a little more time in which to acquaint himself with the consequences of such action. Other members rather seemed to favor this view and it was suggested to lay the matter over until next meeting, which was done without a vote having been taken on Mr. Ihle's motion.

Empowered to Go Ahead.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie stated that there was no doubt of the council's right to appoint such commission without further fuss than a resolution to that effect duly passed by the required majority. The law provides that the council may appoint commissioners to have charge of public utilities, the terms of such officers being for one, two and three years. The one serving the last year of his term would in each case be chairman of the commission. The matter of compensation is left entirely in the hands of the council, but the law provides that it must not exceed a stated sum.

In the Modern Way.

In practically every city in Minnesota the utilities have been placed in control of a separate body, it being realized that the councilmen cannot give the matter proper attention, no matter how willing they may be to devote their time to the subject.

Turbin at Power House Goes Out of Commision.

Just before six o'clock on Tuesday afternoon an accident occurred at the dam power house, the extent of which has not yet exactly been ascertained. The turbine at the east end of the flume without apparent cause slipped out of position sufficient to prevent the cogs from meshing and thus threw the work of running the dynamos onto the companion wheel. This does not furnish sufficient power and the auxiliary Diesel engines had to be called into play. Superintendent Legvold believes that the floor of the flume must have moved and thus let the wheel down, but cannot be certain until a more extended examination has been made.

American Legion Post to Elect Officers Saturday

The semi-annual meeting of Elmer J. Eklund Post, American Legion, will be held at the Brumund hotel at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, May 15. The election of officers will take place at this time and other matters of much importance are likely to come up. Any ex-service man who wishes to join the legion is invited to attend the meeting and become affiliated with the organization at this time.

Sons and Daughters Will Celebrate Norway's Day

The seventeeth of May—Norway's independence day—will be appropriately celebrated by members of the local Sons and Daughters of Norway lodges next Monday. The exercises will take place at Masonic hall at 8 o'clock and will be open only to members of the two organizations.

Hans O. Chommie will be the speaker of the day and an appropriate program of music and recitations has been arranged.

Mayor Hodgson Fles as Candidate For Governor

Mayor L. C. Hodgson of St. Paul, who was recently re-elected to that position, on Tuesday filed as a candidate in the primaries for the Democratic nomination for governor.

On the same day Dr. L. A. Freitsche withdrew as a candidate on the Republican ticket.

George L. Siegel of St. Paul, has filed as a candidate for associate justice of the supreme court and has the endorsement of the Nonpartisan

For Mail Carrier's Job.

It will soon be the time of year when some man must be appointed by the department for carrying the mails between the Soo depot and postoffice in this city. Those who wish to apply for the place must have their bids in the postoffice by noon next Saturday as none will be received after that time. Further information can be had by applying to Postmaster John Morgan.

Charges For Phone Work Are Reduced

Thief River Falls Among Cities Affected by Commission's New Ruling.

Making Changes in Type of Instrument Reduced From $3.50 to $1.00.

Material reduction of installation and miscellaneous charges by telephone companies has been ordered by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission, the order to become effective May 15. Some time ago the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company, the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph company, and some of the larger local telephone companies, filed with the commission a graduated scale of charges for service connections, moving of telephones, changing of equipment, and for other work, which scale, in some particulars, was higher than those prescribed by the so-called Burleson or federal rates. After hearings, which continued several days, and a careful study of the proposition, the commission disapproved the proposed charges and established a revised schedule, considerably lower than that proposed, and much lower than the federal scale.

Applies to Thief River Falls.

Thus in cities of the third group the charge for installation—also known as service connection—when instrument is not in place, is $2.50 for a business house and $1.75 for a residence; when instrument is in place the charges respectively are $1.75 and $1.25 for business and residence. The federal rates were $3.50 flat for either business or residence, with the telephone not in place, and $1.50 with the telephone instrument in place.

The cities and villages of the third group to which these rates apply are as follows: Anoka, Biwabik, Buhl, Coleraine, Bovey, Excelsior, Gilbert, Glenwood, Grand Rapids, Hopkins, Litchfield, Little Falls, Luverne, Marshall, Montevideo, Morris, Northfield, Ortonville, Pipestone, Princeton, Thief River Falls, Tracy, Wadena, Wayzata, Willmar and Windom.

For installing an extension telephone, the new charge is $1.00 if the instrument is not in place and no charge will be permitted if the instrument is in place. The federal charges respectively were $3.50 and $1.50—a very decided decrease. Connections on private branch exchanges will be made for $1.00 each instead of $3.50 as under the federal scale.

Moving Cost is Cut.

Moving of telephones, which formerly cost the patron $3.50, in the future will cost but $1.00; if the move is made outside the premises the charge will be the same as for a service connection instead of the flat rate of $3.50.

Changes in type of equipment, as from a wall telephone to a desk set, which formerly cost the patron $3.50 will cost but $1.00 in the future. A subscriber superseding another but retaining the old number will be required to pay only $1.00 for directory listing in place of $1.50. When a new number is necessary the routine will be the same as for a new installation and corresponding charge for business and residence telephones will apply instead of the flat rate of $3.50 which was in effect during government control.

HE COULDN'T STAND UP UNDER THE WORK

Was So Run Down Asked for Lighter Employment—Is Well and Strong Now.

"I have taken my share of medicine during the past three years but everything failed to relieve my trouble until I got hold of Tanlac," said John Versen, a civilian employee in the Quartermaster's department at Fort Snelling, Minn., while telling of his remarkable recovery by the use of this medicine, recently.

"I had held out about as long as I could, after being troubled for three years with rheumatism, indigestion, constipation and a general run-down condition," Mr. Versen continued. "I had rheumatism in my arm and shoulders and in my back, right between the shoulder blades, so bad I could hardly move my arms and it was agony for me to put on my coat or dress myself, let alone trying to do my work. I had been doing outside work but I could not stand up under it any longer and had to ask to be transferred to the inside. My digestion was so bad that hardly a thing agreed with me. About a half hour after every meal I would start to bloat up with gas and would have awful attacks of indigestion and was troubled all the time with constipation.

"As I said, nothing helped me one particle until I began taking Tanlac, and that did the work, and today after taking three bottles, I haven't an ache or pain in my body. All signs of rheumatism have disappeared entirely and I am as active as I ever was before. I eat three hearty meals every day and never suffer any bad after effects at all and my constipation has been relieved. I sleep better at night and when morning comes I am ready for as big a day's work as any man. I feel several years younger and am just full of life and energy all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

Commencing Friday, May 14th, Loken Brothers Will Offer Their Share of the Chicago Million Dollar Silk Sale

Conceded by the Chicago and New York Daily Press to be the greatest Silk Sale ever put over in America. We received our share, and now have the entire purchase ready for quick disposal. So commencing Friday, May 14th at 9 a. m. this, the Biggest Sale of fine Silks starts. Nothing like it was ever attempted by us before. Such Values, Such Beautiful, Lovely Silks. The misfortune of a few of the large New York Silk Mills who went under only 30 days ago is now your good fortune, as every yard offered is brand new, fresh Silks. The choicest, most fashionable Silks, as sold today in the largest silk departments in this country, except our prices are very much less.

ANOTHER EVIDENCE OF THE BUYING POWER OF THE LOKEN STORE

Never before has such a bargain opportunity been offered the ladies of this section. The occasion is so unusual that a short explanation of how it came about may be advisable.

We were notified by telegraph that the largest silk importing house in America would on a certain day sell at a tremendous reduction some two million dollars worth of silks, and were asked to be present. Only three other merchants in Minnesota outside the three large cities were thus notified. Arriving at the salesroom in Chicago we found that the reductions were so astounding that we purchased the largest consignment of silks ever secured by a merchant in this section, the amount being $5,500. The goods are here and we are going to give the ladies of this vicinity the benefit of this fortunate purchase. Read every word of the advertisement appearing on our page ad of The Times today. Prove to your own satisfaction that never has such an opportunity come your way.

This is but another indication of what the Loken buying system can accomplish for you. Our standing and connections often makes it possible for us to pick up bargains of this kind and they are immediately passed on to the public. On this occasion it is silks which we are able to offer at a price in many instances lower than that of wool. Another time it may be something else. But in order to continue doing business along this line the public must show some appreciation of the efforts made in its behalf. We know that big reductions in these days of constantly advancing prices are looked at with suspicion, but many occasions still develop whereby the wide-awake merchant can secure bargains for his trade—providing that trade will take advantage of what he offers. Just now all we ask is that you inspect this line. It will be worth your while to have looked over the shimmering, dazzling array even if you do not buy a single yard of the goods.

We mean absolutely what we say when assuring the ladies of this neighborhood that never again will such an opportunity come their way. A glance at our show windows and salesroom will convince anyone of this. We have arranged everything so as to make the event one great Silk Week and the lady who misses a visit to the store during the sale will have cause to regret it.

THIS IS THE MOST REMARKABLE OF ALL LOKEN SALES. MISSING IT WILL BE A CAUSE FOR FUTURE REGRET.

THE NEXT IMPORTANT MOVE.

Whatever else may be said when the present city administration finishes its term of office, it is certain that the charge will not be made that it has been a "do-nothing" outfit. So far as progressive plans and actual accomplishments are concerned every member must be credited with keeping abreast of the demand and up with the times.

After many years of discussion and some few attempts at getting at the matter, it has finally been decided that our business streets shall be paved. The necessity for engaging upon this work has been apparent for a long time, but no administration has until now cared to brave the opposition that was sure to be voiced should the work actually be undertaken. Now that the project is well under way it is found that even those who were loudest in their protests are at least reconciled if not enthusiastic over the prospect.

But another and even more important step is soon to be taken. We need paving badly enough but we need a plentiful supply of pure water even more. This fact is fully realized by the council members and they are going to start right in to supply what is wanted. Careful investigations have been made and the kind of a system practically decided on. The plan that should have been adopted in the first place will now be tried out. It is absolutely certain that it will be successful.

Considerable money has been spent in sinking wells, it being hoped that a sufficient flow would in this manner be disclosed. The effort failed. For this the councilmen then in charge of the city government were not to blame. The scheme looked promising to everyone who had anything to do with making the decision in its favor, a committee of citizens advocating the plan strongly. Nothing is to be gained now by harping on the failure. The only thing that is worth remembering is that water can evidently not be secured by this means and that some other must be tried.

The council believes that filtration is the only sensible system to employ. By installing a purifying plant there would be an unlimited supply furnished by the Red Lake river and there is no question but that treatment will make it equal to any found in the state. As a matter of fact there is nothing much the matter with the river water right now. In its course from the Red lakes it picks up considerable vegetable matter but the absence of cities or even villages of any size along its banks between Thief River Falls and the source prevents contamination of a more dangerous kind. Filtration of the river water presents the surest and cheapest method of securing this necessity for the people.

The city has money with which to install this plant and no borrowing will be found necessary. The project presents nowhere near the difficulties attendant upon the paving proposition and can be carried through without much of an effort. The delay has been due in a large degree to our inability to decide on the best plan to follow and now that this has been found there is no longer an excuse for holding back.

A POOR TIME TO QUIT.

The Thief River Falls commercial club seems to have reached a state of what Grover Cleveland would call innocuous desuetude and which by the rest of us would be referred to as harmless inactivity. The organization could not have hit upon a worse time for suspending animation.

A newspaper does not particularly like to call attention to shortcomings on the part of the civic body to which all the people look for initiative and guidance, but someone will have to do it and it may as well be The Times. It is not to be understood that fault is found with the officers or directors to any greater extent than with the rest of the members. Everybody seems by common consent to have dropped all interest in the club, and the fact is decidedly to be regretted.

Three or four years ago the city had the model commercial club of this section. Plans were made, things undertaken—and sometimes carried out. The fact that not every program entered upon was successfully completed made no difference. Interest was kept alive through our trying to accomplish something. Now this stimulus seems in a great measure to have been removed.

Why is this the case? There is as much need for a live commercial club right at this minute as ever before in the city's history—in fact the need is greater. There are more projects and prospects that should be engaging the attention of the people of the community now than has been the case for a long time. Why are we not at it?

One trouble is that there is no longer a secretary in charge. It makes no difference what may be undertaken, it is practically foredoomed to failure unless there is a man on the job in whom responsibility may be centered. Someone must be at the head of things and it is impossible for the president to assume details. He may initiate and suggest, but the actual work of carrying on must be left to a man who has access to all records and attends to the correspondence of the club. He it is who must secure the co-operation of other members in any plan that is deemed worthy of being tried out. Without a secretary the club will get nowhere.

There are projects now on foot in which the Thief River Falls commercial club should be involved up to its ears. Passing up the river improvement proposition as on a fair way to being realized, there is the need of a road through the Indian reservation. This city was the original trading point for a vast section of country in that direction and would become so again with the right kind of roads. If the club would concentrate its efforts on this one item during the present year and help in its accomplishment it would not have been maintained in vain. As matters now stand it would not be surprising to find those who have liberally supported it in the past drop out and simply permit the organization to die from lack of nourishment.

The result obtained in the sugar beet enterprise is evidence of what can be accomplished when an effort is made. There are others just as important and they should be attended to.

THE CANDIDATES.

Whether or not the candidate for governor selected by the elimination convention last week is elected in November will depend very much upon the attitude of others who were also candidates for the same position before that convention. If one of them should refuse to stay eliminated it would gum up the program and might result in both being sidetracked in the primary election. The ticket as selected is, we believe, satisfactory to a majority of the Republicans in the state, but that is not quite all that is necessary.

It is hinted that Julius Schmahl will make the primary run in spite of the fact that Preus was the man selected for the place. This is not likely. Julius has been used pretty well by the Republicans and to add to the burdens of the party this year by dividing the primary vote would be playing the part of an ingrate. Preus will need all the votes in order to defeat Shipstead, who will enter the race against him with Nonpartisan endorsement. Anyone who believes that there will be nothing to the contest and that it is already a foregone conclusion that Preus will be the final nominee has another guess coming. The very quietness with which the Shipstead campaign is being conducted should give the regulars some considerable concern.

The nomination of Mike Holm as secretary of state is naturally pleasing to the people of this section. He has long been a resident of northwestern Minnesota, is a man in every way capable of holding the position and his chances of election seem very good. It was good politics to name him, as Thomas Vellom, whom the Nonpartisans have endorsed, is also from the Ninth district.

As concerns the remainder of the ticket, it is in every way acceptable. Rines, Hilton and Jacobson will run on their records and there is nothing in these they need be afraid to have the people scrutinize.

The platform contains a demand for a fair and equitable tax on iron ore. On this proposition the delegates from the Sixty-fifth district were divided, the seven from Pennington voting for the resolution while those from Red Lake and Clearwater counties voted against it. The probabilities are that this particular plank will become one of the leading issues of the campaign and the vote at the elimination convention would indicate that even in northwestern Minnesota sentiment is divided.

BIGGEST MEETING BEFORE THE PRIMARIES

THE TIMES CIRCULATION.

The circulation of the Thief River Falls Times has been investigated by one of the highest authorities on the subject in the United States and found to be larger than that of any other weekly printed in the English language in Minnesota. This is perhaps the most enviable position that can be achieved by a newspaper and one of which the publishers are justly proud.

The figures are taken from the newspaper directory of N. W. Ayer & Son of Philadelphia, the most authentic and dependable work of its kind in the United States. The report is given out only after the most careful investigation, the concern staking a reputation gained during fifty-two years of constant service to the advertisers of America on its correctness.

It is the conviction of the publishers that no other paper in the state covers its field so thoroughly as does The Times. The homes in Pennington county into which the paper does not go are few and far between. It is the "county paper" for hundreds of families the members of which depend upon its columns almost entirely for news of their neighbors and the outside world. These readers have stuck to The Times for years, never complaining even when circumstances, such as the fire of last winter, has forced the paper to curtail on both news and advertising, and consequently on service. This proven loyalty on the part of its friends is the most cherished asset that the paper has, being regarded as even more to be desired than its circulation standing among Minnesota publications.

Many interesting facts are given in the new directory. It finds that there were at the time of compilation 22,428 publications in existence, a decrease of 646 for the year. These papers are printed in 10,088 towns, a decrease of 201. As an indication of the hardships through which newspapers have passed since the war started it is stated that a total of 2296 have suspended publication during that period.

Merely for the sake of comparison it may be stated that all papers at present printed in Pennington county are recorded and that the publication next to The Times in point of circulation is credited with 600.

Welcomes the Women.

Warren Sheaf: The city of Warren has the great honor and privilege this week to be the host to a large number of the best people of the state, the ladies of the Federation of Women's Clubs of the Ninth District, who hold their twentieth annual convention here today and tomorrow. From widely scattered homes they come to counsel and discuss with one another questions of vital importance to the home and home life, to the community, to the state and to the nation. As the emancipation of woman progresses, her mellowing, purifying and ennobling influence is being felt more and more in all spheres of human endeavor. It is not many decades ago that the proper and only place of woman was to prepare the meals, to wash the dishes, to sweep the floors, the make the beds, and even to build the fires and have a cup of hot coffee ready for her lord and master when he arose in the morning. Education, especially the higher education, was denied to her. Today woman is recognized as an equal partner with man. It is recognized that she has a mind and soul fully as capable of development as the mind and soul of man, and that she has rights and responsibilities fully as important and sacred as those of man. While she will always shine with the greatest luster in the home, and her varied domestic duties be her most blessed work, so we hope at least for the sake of mere man, yet society has found out that woman should be given the same opportunity to develop her God given powers as are given to man. By making the most of her life she will enhance the happiness and welfare of the whole human race. By developing her talents and powers she will become a better wife, a better mother, and a better citizen. This is the age of co-operation, and men and women are learning that by co-operation will they enhance each other's happiness and be better able to solve the many perplexing questions of life.

Warren extends a most hearty welcome to you, good and noble women, who have come to participate in this convention. May you have an enjoyable and profitable meeting and may you carry away pleasant memories from your visit to Warren, memories that shall sweeten your work and be helpful to you in days to come.

It Must Improve.

Bemidji Sentinel: The Thief River Falls Times will soon be issued from its new plant, fitted out since their recent fire. They have been issuing a splendid paper, despite the obstacles encountered, and it is difficult for us to see how it can be much improved, even when they start with their own equipment.

Eighteen Years of Faithful Service

To the People of Minnesota and the Nation

A man has to learn to be a Congressman. A new congressman must begin at the bottom of the class and work up.

A. E. Bowen, nominated for Congress by the Non-Partisan League, in stating why he declined to be a candidate, said that, if elected, he would be buried in some insignificant committee assignment, would have but little chance to express himself on the floor of the House, and would be unable to render his constituents the service they could reasonably expect of him. He is absolutely correct. Though above the average in ability, he would have to remain there for years before coming to the front as a factor in shaping the affairs of the nation. And that is true of every new man elected.

Halvor Steenerson had to begin at the bottom and work up. He is now chairman of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads—the legislative head of the world's greatest co-operative business institution, the postal service of the United States. He is probably the best informed man in the nation today on postal affairs. For years he has been one of the main forces back of the rural free delivery service, and he hasn't forgotten the folks at home, for the Ninth District of Minnesota is among the first in the country in its miles of rural mail routes.

In former Republican periods of power the New England states largely controlled in Congress. They returned their members term after term until they got on the important committees and secured leadership. Minnesota and Iowa today are in a position of commanding influence in Congress for the same reason. Minnesota and Iowa leadership in Congress means control in behalf of agriculture—the farmers. New England leadership means control in behalf of the manufacturers and their employees.

Agriculture is the big industry in the Ninth District. It is a fine theory that every man should take a national view in legislation, but in actual practice every congressman fights for the principal industries in his district. If he did not do so, he would not remain a congressman. The farmers have had no abler advocate in Congress than Halvor Steenerson, and he is now in position to be of greater service to them than ever before.

He came to northwestern Minnesota when it was a vast wilderness, and has lived to see it become one of the garden spots of the nation. His heart is with the people of this district, his pleasure is in seeing that they get a square deal, and he has the fighting ability necessary to be effective in their behalf.

Freshmen Carry Off Track Honors at High School Meet

The interclass track meet held at the fair grounds Monday night was carried out with great success. The outcome of the class competition resulted in the Freshmen carrying off the honors with a total of 55 points and the Juniors, Seniors and Sophomores taking second, third and fourth places with 26, 19 and 10 points respectively. The particularly bright light of the contest was Parenteau who starred in a great variety of feats. The divisions, time and winners of the contest were as follows:

100 yard dash: Time 10.8—Parenteau, 1st; Halvorson, 2nd; Dolan, 3rd; Hadrath, 4th.

220 yard dash: Time 24—Parenteau, 1st; Halvorson, 2nd; Hadrath, 3rd; Paulson, 4th.

440 yard dash: Time 61.8—Dolan, McGinn, Coyle, Holmgren.

½ mile run: Time, 2.42—Parenteau, Olson, Erickson, Knudzen.

1 mile run: Time, 6:6.8—Herron, Coyle, McGinnity, Holmgren.

Shot put, 12 lb. Distance, 33 feet 10 inches—Parenteau, Sorenson, Flattum, Olson.

Discus, 81 feet 8 inches—Parenteau, Olson, Legvold, Coyle.

Broad jump, 16 feet 6.5 inches—Parenteau, Dolan, Halvorson, McGinn.

High jump, 5 feet 1 inch—Hadrath and Parenteau tied for 1st; Russell, 2nd; Dolan, 3rd.

Relay race: 1.59—Freshmen, 1st, per Dolan, Herron, Barzen, Parenteau.

The Pageant.

Instead of the usual Senior-day exercises, there will be presented a huge pageant. About three hundred and fifty students will take part in it. It will be presented on Friday evening, May 21, for the first time.

The name of the pageant is "The Light." All the glimmers are gathered into one broad gleam of education.

Any City, an alderman attempts to cut down the appropriation for education. Education then shows, in a vision, the necessity of public support of the schools. There are eleven glimmers; they are, Experience, Tradition, Invention, Training, Discipline, First Lesson in Democracy, The Bark, Force, Training for Democracy, A Warning and Education's Dream of the Future.

Summer Project Work.

Many people think that a high school education is merely a theory. This, however, is not so. Several classes are planning to put into practice the knowledge obtained from their text books during this school term.

The agricultural students are going to apply their book knowledge during the summer months.

The students in the home economics department will carry on their work. They will continue to bake bread, cakes, etc., and in addition can fruits and vegetables. When the school term opens in September, the students who have utilized their knowledge will give a report of their project work. In this way the pupils can be easily judged and their true merit determined.

They Say!

This column is what "they say" about that class play trip.

Clarence Vevea was snoring in Hotel Hagenah when Leland murmured, "Blessed Youth, happy in the possession of peace." Clarence looking up—"Yis."

"Yes, Sir, I am Professor Yames," said Henry Sagmoen at Roseau.

Prof. Melby to Gordon LaBree, "Can you catch an out?"

Dennis McGinn danced with a girl in Spooner.

Ernest Barzen returned from Baudette in time for the 220 yard dash.

Greenbush had one screen, a squeaky Davenport, and a scenic stage.

We are still wondering why the assembly room was so quiet on Thursday and Friday of last week.

The "Light" will be the first pageant ever given in Thief River Falls.

Several agents (?) have visited the public speaking class during the past week. Every one was well supplied with cars, face cream, powder, magazines and electric motors.

Miss Wilson, "What part did Ophelia play in Hamlet?"

Maybelle, "Oh, she was a chambermaid!"

(Ophelia's father was a Chamberlain).

The Senior lament is "Every day brings us nearer the end."

Joe's dog had a lonesome time for a couple of days last week.

If you want to know how to run a Maxwell, ask Stanton. He doesn't even stop for ditches.

Where is South America? It's about fifteen miles from the road to Baudette.

All Hank Stengelson has to do is to give his "Lizzie" the address and she rambles along without any more effort.

Clarence Vevea missed his calling when he didn't join a circus. His specialty is doing acrobatic stunts on the back of the "Speed Demon."

A common question, "Where do we eat?"

Answer, "When in doubt eat anywhere and anything and charge it."

Referring to the stage in Baudette Alpha Bishop said, "even the schenery sook"—and she hadn't been in Spooner.

Miss Zeh's speed tests seem to be speeding up again.

The Juniors actually have taken down their banquet decorations.

Examinations begin on Friday May 21st.

Ask Henry Stengelson, Henry Sagmoen, Lee Ide, Dennis McGinn, or Clarence Vevea about the dress parade they put on in the Hagenah hotel in Roseau.

Baudette citizen to member of the Thief River Falls Senior class play cast, "Well what's the title of this play you're putting on?"

Cast member, "Oh, it's the Strenuour Life."

Baudette citizen, "Yes, I imagine it is, but what's the name of the play?"

79 SENIORS IN 1920 HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

Largest Number in School's History to Graduate With End of Term.

Preparations for commencement week are already under way at the Thief River Falls high school. All classes are this year larger than at any previous graduation, that of the seniors exceeding last year's score by seven and that of the year before by two. There are 79 young men and women who will lay aside their school work at the end of the term, at least so far as the regular course of studies is concerned, and will either engage in some pursuit or enter an institution of higher education.

The school year has been most successful from every point of view, no untoward circumstance having interposed to check the progress of the work. Two years ago war activities broke in on the regular program and last year the influenza epidemic served to retard progress. The work in every department has this season been of a highly satisfactory character, most of the students graduating with high credits.

According to Miss Ella Evans, principal, the following will be awarded diplomas at the close of the school term:

Edgar Aasland, Henry Aastad, Harriet Anderson, Lillian Anderson, Jennie Anderson, Jessie Barnett, Alice Berg, Alpha Bishop, Orlando Bishop, Celia Biorge, Inez Breeze, Milden Bogren, Margaret Burns, Lulu Cook, Stanton Dahlen, Vera Daily, Frances Erickson, Fred Erickson, Marcus Evenson, Ellen Fellmen, Roy Flattum, Vivian Gabrielson, Florence Gavin, Emma Graff, Rose Gunstad, Rueben Hadrath, Hilda Hammarsten, James Helle, Mollie Hermanson, Ruth Halvorson, Lee Ide, Mildred Jahr, Anna Johnson, Alpha Johnson, Ruth Kiland, Anna Kilen, Amanda Klungness, Ruth Koep, Gordon LaBree, Dorothy Lane, Philip Larson, Gunder Legvold, Dagny Leverson, Hubert Malberg, Denis McGinn, Harold Nelson, Knute Nelson, Agnes Newton, Christine Newton, Edna O'Brien, Myrtle Olson, Maybelle Ostby, Lutrella Paulson, Puella Pederson, Lloyd Peterson, Lovina Poirier, Sylvia Pierson, Helga Quindlog, Mabel Rogers, Myrtle Roseland, Elsie Randorf, Henry Sagmoen, Leland Schuster, Esther Scovell, Henry Stengelson, Elsie Sundahl, Mabel Shefveland, Gerda Soriom, Wilhma Sund, Ida Sovde, Amy Syverson, Agnes Tandberg, Madeline Thill, Kathleen Ures, Charles Warner, Joseph Welrus, Hazel Welo, Gladys Wiener, Adelia Wiener.

BREAD FACTS

EVERYBODY should eat plenty of good white bread. It is wholesome, nutritious and very easy to digest.

It is easy to bake bread along with your other cooking. Made in your own clean kitchen, from your own selected materials, you can be sure of its purity, wholesomeness and fine flavor.

Bread is the cheapest food in the world because it supplies the most nutriment for the least money.

Ten cents' worth of flour contains more nourishment than ten cents' worth of any other food you can buy.

The amount of heat and muscular power furnished the body is measured in calories or fuel units. The table below (prepared from U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Bulletin No. 142) shows the amount of energy (in calories) that ten cents will buy in flour and five other staple foods:

		Calories
Wheat flour	[illegible] lb.	5440
" "	[illegible] lb.	4080
Rice	[illegible] lb.	2025
Potatoes	@ 20c [illegible]	1070
Cheese	@ 25c lb.	732
Salt Codfish	[illegible] lb.	465
Beef, sirloin	@ 25c lb.	410

All these foods are wholesome and desirable but, as the figures show, wheat flour gives far more for the money. Cut down the food bill by eating more bread and biscuits and less of the more expensive foods.

THE number of motor vehicles in use in the United States during 1919 increased 23.2 percent over 1918. For the same period the production of gasoline increased only 9 percent.

To supply gasoline for the greatly increased fleet of motor vehicles is the problem confronting the petroleum industry.

To date, the solution of this problem has been possible by reason of the reserve stocks on hand. This bulk storage has served as an expansion and contraction factor to keep supply equal to demand.

In the 11 states it serves, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains 3780 bulk storage stations where stocks of gasoline are carried sufficient to meet the normal demand, with a reserve for almost any emergency.

Had it not been possible to keep this tremendous reserve in the field, thousands of motorists would have been unable to operate their cars during the late transportation troubles.

This equipment, representing an investment of millions of dollars, is managed by alert men, trained to serve you. So far it has proved itself equal to any demands made upon it.

The foresight of the men responsible for the operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has enabled them to estimate accurately the probable needs of the motorist for gasoline, and they have located bulk and service stations at convenient points throughout the territory, where the needs of the buying public can be supplied quickly and easily.

This emphasizes the benefits derived by the public from the efficiency of a company as big as its job.

VICTORY BREAD

Effective May 5th

Owing to the steadily increasing cost of raw materials we are forced to increase the price of "VICTORY BREAD" from 10 and 15 cents to 12 and 18 cents per loaf.

The time has come when we must choose between two courses, that of lowering the quality or increasing the price of the bread.

The first course is out of the question as far as we are concerned. We will not allow ourselves to stoop so low regardless of the temptations which present themselves from time to time.

The only course left open to us is that of increasing the price. Knowing full well the conditions we are all up against, we have been reluctant to do this in the immediate past. The last straw having come with the recent rise in flour and sugar.

However, in looking over the present prices of the various foods we find bread even at this price to be very cheap, in fact it is the cheapest as well as the best food that money can buy, this on account of its high caloric content.

Bread is composed of about 85% Carbo-drates, 10% Protein, 3% fat and 2% Ash and Crude Fiber. You can readily see by this analysis that bread is your BEST food. Carbohydrates and fat represent the ENERGY producing ability and the Protein represents the TISSUE building and repair value of the food. Ash and Crude fiber represents the waste material.

Compare Bread With Any Other Food In Regard To Their True Value As A Food and You Will Be Convinced Beyond the Slightest Shadow of a Doubt, That—

"BREAD IS YOUR BEST FOOD AND YOU WILL EAT MORE OF IT."

Tonnage Tax

Tonnage tax has been an issue—a political issue—in Minnesota for about twelve years. It has been used as a political club. Almost no facts as to its nature or its effects have been published, but the Minnesota Fair Tax Association now proposes, in a series of advertisements, to give the principal facts concerning the iron ore industry and its taxation and thus give the people of Minnesota an opportunity to judge for themselves as to the effect of a tonnage tax.

If these facts are not correct, they can easily be proved untrue; if they are correct, they are of most serious concern to everybody in Minnesota.

1. No state levies a tonnage tax.

   If any state should levy a tonnage tax, surely it is the great coal mining state of Pennsylvania. Its mineral production and export is much greater than Minnesota's, but it does not levy a tonnage tax. Neither does any other state.

2. Every state that has tried a tonnage tax has discarded it as unwise, unjust, and unprofitable.

   Michigan had a tonnage tax from 1853 to 1891 when the law was repealed as injurious to the state.

   Minnesota had a tonnage tax from 1881 to 1895 when it was repealed in face of vigorous opposition from the "steel trust."

   British Columbia tried a tonnage tax for a number of years but found it so unprofitable that it was repealed.

3. One of the "arguments" in favor of a tonnage tax is the "steel trust"—people seem to think that iron mining in Minnesota means the "steel trust."

   Do you know that there are about 130 iron mines in Minnesota and that the "steel trust" operates only 32 of them?

   Do you know that the "steel trust" does not own or operate a single mine on the Cuyuna Range?

   Do you know that the "steel trust" does not own or control one-half of one per cent of the iron ore that the U. S. Geological Commission says exists in Minnesota?

Why adopt something that is so bad that nobody else will have it?

Why levy a tax that will hit the people of Minnesota 200 times as hard as it hits the "steel trust?"

SOLDIERS URGED TO OBSERVE LEGION WEEK

Governor Issues Proclamation Fixing Period as Week of May 9.

Governor Burnquist has proclaimed American Legion week beginning next Monday, and urges all Minnesota service men to unite with that organization and the people of the state to appreciate its great present and future value to the state and nation. The proclamation follows:

"One of the great results of the World war is the American Legion. This organization has now more than 480 posts in Minnesota with a total membership of about 60,000.

"During the week beginning May 17 a campaign will be conducted in our state and throughout the entire country for the purpose of increasing the legion's membership.

"No patriotic organization in the United States should be more enthusiastically encouraged or sustained than the American Legion. It stands for the perpetuation of American principles, the Americanization of all of our citizens and the spirit of fraternity of our people. As the Grand Army of the Republic has for several decades been a most effective force for the development of loyalty to country, so will this new organization be of influence and power in our national life.

"Therefore I, Joseph A. A. Burnquist, governor of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the week beginning May 17, 1920, American Legion week and urge all our service men to unite with said organization and all our people to appreciate its great present and future value to our state and nation."

Grasshopper Raid Feared In West Valley Counties.

Warning of an impending visitation by grasshoppers in numbers sufficient to do great damage to vegetation has been sent by A. G. Ruggles of University Farm, state entomologist, to county agents of western border counties in Minnesota. North Dakota entomologists confirm reports that the hopper pest has spread to virtually all districts in that state. North Dakota agents have purchased immense quantities of paris green and white arsenic for the preparation of bran mash with which to fight the insects.

In his communication the state entomologist urges county agents along the western border to organize the farmers so far as possible to meet the impending invasion from the west.

Mrs. J. O. Hoyum and children are spending this week in Thief River Falls visiting with friends and relatives.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Thief River Falls woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles should be glad to hear this Thief River Falls woman's experience:

Mrs. Chas. Alexander, 218 Conley Ave., says: "Last fall I had been picking berries, and when I got home I was suddenly taken with a bad attack of kidney complaint. The pains across my back kept me from doing my work and such a thing as doing my washing was out of the question. I often got dizzy and was afraid to walk across the room. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I felt miserable. One of my neighbors suggested Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at the East Side Drug Store. I got entirely over the trouble and I have felt fine ever since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Alexander had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SENIOR CLASS STAGES ELABORATE PAGEANT

"The Light" to Be Presented on Two Evenings at the Auditorium.

The senior class of the Thief River Falls high school has engaged upon a rather unusual undertaking to mark the closing of the school year. It is the presentation of the pageant, "The Light," designed to show the progress of education through the ages. The presentation will be the second to take place in the United States, the first being at Cleveland during the meeting of the National Educational association this spring. Supt. W. A. Ziegler, who saw the pageant at Cleveland, says it is most beautiful and instructive and created a vast amount of enthusiasm among the people of the Ohio city as well as the visiting educators.

The presentation will take place at the Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday, May 24 and 25, at 8 o'clock in the evening. A cast of 250 people is required and it will be necessary to build the stage out six feet in order to accommodate the production.

The same pageant will be presented at Minneapolis in the fall but will not be seen at another Minnesota school this spring. The students and faculty have been busy of late in the rehearsing of the different scenes and tableaus and those who have been permitted to get a line on the presentation say that it is without doubt the most remarkable thing ever attempted by a high school class.

Choir Visits St. Hilaire.

The children's choir of the local M. E. church went to St. Hilaire Sunday and sang in the M. E. church to the delight of a large congregation. The young folks were taken in autos and enjoyed the trip very much. Mrs. C. A. Nason, who has had the children in charge, was congratulated upon her success in training the young choir to such a state of efficiency. They will sing in the M. E. church here Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

SUPT. ZIEGLER LOSES TIPS OF THREE FINGERS

Gets Members Into Jointer at High School Mechanical Department.

Supt. W. A. Ziegler of the city schools met with a serious accident while working in the mechanical department of the high school on Monday afternoon. He was running a short piece of board over the power jointer when it was wrenched out of his hand, throwing his fingers into contact with the rapidly revolving knives. The first two fingers on his right hand were cut off just below the first joint and the third finger just below the tip. According to those in the building with him at the time, the superintendent was running the board through against the grain and was holding it firmly onto the jointer. The knives wrenched it from him and threw it against his left hand with sufficient force to lacerate that member quite severely. Before he could regain his balance the knives had caused the damage noted to his right hand.

The injury was immediately dressed and Mr. Ziegler is getting along first rate, although both hands are causing him a great deal of pain.

DELEGATION ATTENDS WATERWAYS HEARING

Thief River Falls Shows Interest in Lake-to-Ocean Movement.

States and Canada jointly maintain a commission of six members, three appointed from each country, having jurisdiction over the boundary waters and the boundary lines between the two countries. There has been a good deal of agitation for the deepening and improvement of the canals from the head of Lake Superior to tide water in order that ocean vessels might make the points on the Great Lakes and sail direct to the markets of the world with unbroken cargoes.

Naturally in such a project much may be said both for and against and the commission above referred to has been requested to hold hearings and gather data in those sections of the country more immediately interested and whose products might advantageously reach the world's markets over the proposed route.

A hearing by the commission was held at Grand Forks on Tuesday, at which there was considerable representation from communities in western Minnesota and North Dakota. Thief River Falls was represented by Olaf Ramstad, Math Barzen, T. P. Hamry, and Daniel Shaw, and the commission was informed that the best evidence they could give of the interest of this community in the matter was the fact that they had driven sixty miles over mud roads to be present.

Facts and figures were presented by Governor Frazier of North Dakota, Professor Ladd and many others representing the two states.

Man Hit by Automobile Recovering at Hospital

Omer Anderson, returned service man and clerk at the Hermanson Hardware company's store, was quite seriously injured Sunday night in a manner that still remains something of a mystery. With a number of companions he had been at Warren and the party was returning when they ran out of gasoline. There were four occupants of the car and each started in a different direction to look for fuel. Anderson took the road straight ahead, it is said, and as one of the others found what was wanted before he returned the rest of the party started ahead with the idea of overtaking him. The lights were working badly and the driver was unable to see far ahead. A short distance from where the stop was made the car overtook Anderson and ran smack into him. He was brought to the hospital where it was found that two ribs were broken and that he had sustained other injuries. He is now on the road to recovery, it is stated.

Anderson was aboard the Tuscania when that vessel was torpedoed during the war but came out of the wreck without injury.

Ladies' Club Very Active During Year

Annual Report of Secretary Discloses a Very Successful Season.

Mrs. Daniel Shaw Elected to Head Organization For Ensuing Term.

Chairmen For Different Divisions of Club Work Also Appointed.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Thief River Falls Woman's club was held at the commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon. The report of the secretary, Mrs. E. M. Stanton showed that the season had been the most active in the history of the organization and that it has exerted a marked influence upon the social and home life of the city. Under the leadership of Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, the retiring president, the club has gained renown for its achievements in every section of the state and is at the present time regarded as the model organization of its kind in this section of the country. There is not a doubt but that this excellent record will be maintained under the guidance of the new officers, all of whom have been active in the councils of the club and instrumental in bringing it up to its present enviable level.

The new officers are as follows: Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president; Mrs. E. E. Zeh, vice president; Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, secretary; Mrs. Robert Vance, treasurer. Besides Mrs. Froehlich the following will retire from office at this time: Mrs. P. W. Mabey, vice president; Mrs. E. M. Stanton, secretary, and Mrs. G. Howard Smith, treasurer.

A Splendid Record.

The secretary's report submitted by Mrs. Stanton enumerated the following as the more outstanding features of last year's actitivities, particularly in the entertainment line. The record indicates that the committees in charge were at all times desirous of securing the best to be had and that their efforts met with unusual success.

May 17th, 1920.

Report of the work of the Thief River Falls Woman's Club, for the year ending May 17th, 1920.

Fifteen meetings were held during the year. The meeting for February was not held on account of the "Flu" epidemic then prevailing in the city. Music, gymnasium, French and social welfare sections were organized, all of which were active throughout the year. A donation of $20.00 was made at Christmas time to help in making A Merry Christmas for the poor and needy of the city and later on a contribution of $50.00 was made for the Near-East Relief. During the year various donations were made to other charities by the Social Welfare section.

For the several sections, the following chairmen were appointed:

Music section—Mrs. Guy Halvorson
French section—Mrs. A. W. Swedenberg
Gymnasium section—Mrs. A. S. Sapero
Thrift section—Mrs. Daniel Shaw
Community service—Mrs. L. G. Larsen
Americanization work—Mrs. Heggan

Mrs. Richards was appointed chairman of the Public Health for the Ninth Congressional district, by the president, Mrs. Selvig of Crookston.

The following out of town speakers and entertainers appeared at our club meetings: October 20th, 1919, John S. Garns of the University Extension department and the McPhail School of Music in a lecture recital, "Passing Phase of American Humor." November 3rd, 1919, Miss Hester Pollock, director of Women's Activities of the Ninth Federal district, on "Thrift." On November 17th, 1919, the late Dr. Maria L. Sanford, instructor and head of the English department of the University of Minnesota for over 30 years and known as "Minnesota's Grand Old Woman," gave us a very inspiring talk on "Our Duty to Our Boys and Girls and How to Make Thief River Falls the Best Place in Minnesota to Bring Up Our Boys and Girls." On January 19th, 1920, Prof. Payne, head of the industrial department of education of the State University, lectured on the "Fundamental Causes of the Present Industrial Unrest." On February 16th, 1920, Mr. Wyman Horr of Duluth, favored us with a piano recital. March 1st, 1920, Prof. J. A. Young of the Department of Political Science of the Minnesota University, gave us a talk on "Citizenship and Americanization." April 5th, 1920, Miss Dorothy Lovhed of the English department of the University, spoke on our "Coming Sanity Toward Russia." April 19th, 1920, Dr. James Davies of the University Extension Course appeared in lecture recital, "Folk Songs."

Local musicians and speakers who appeared before the club during the year include Mrs. Halvorson, who led several community sings; Mrs. Aga, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Sponheim, Mrs. G. W. Booren, Mrs. Gullingsrud, Mrs. Mellby, Mrs. Brink, Miss Hoorn and Miss Zeh; Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Edberg with the Presbyterian choir; Elry Porter, Herman Bishoff and Miss Alice Bourque, who furnished a musical December 29th, 1919. Mrs. Hardisty gave us a talk on the Women Voters' league; Mrs. L. G. Larsen on Community Spirit; Mrs. Daniel Shaw on "Thrift"; H. O. Chommie on "Our Representative Form of Government"; E. M. Stanton on "Political Parties"; G. Halvorson on "Our Election Laws," and G. L. Sterns on the Near East Relief.

Mr. Garns appeared for the second time during the year, and recited "Monsieur Beaucaire" at the Lyceum April 27th, 1920.

A loving cup costing $25.00 was presented to the residents of LaBree avenue as a reward for their efforts in the clean-up campaign, and H. G. Gunseth of 319 Riverside avenue, was awarded a second prize of $10.00 for the best improvement of his premises.

Forty new members have been added to the club membership during the past year, which now numbers nearly three hundred.

MEETING OF CITIZENS TO ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Mayor John Bratrud requests all citizens interested in the proper observance of Memorial Day to meet at the commercial club rooms at 8 o'clock on Friday evening for the purpose of discussing an appropriate program for the occasion. The local Legion post has appointed a committee to work with a similar body representing the citizens generally and it will be the aim to make this latter appointment on Friday evening in order that there may be no delay in the preparations. Representatives of the schools, churches and civic organizations generally are asked to be present at the meeting in order that it may be made a community affair.

May 30, which is the date for observing the anniversary ordinarily, this year falls on Sunday and it will be up to the citizens present at the meeting to decide whether the exercises shall be held on Saturday or Monday.

POTATO MEET FRIDAY; WOOL GROWERS NEXT

Latter Will Meet at County Agent's Office on Saturday Afternoon.

Considerable interest centers in the outcome of the potato growers meeting in St. Hilaire tomorrow afternoon. Farmers from all sections of the county are expected to be present as the plan is to form a county association and also to take the preliminary steps toward the erection of a potato warehouse. Senator Cummins of East Grand Forks, an authority on the raising and handling of potatoes, will deliver an address.

A meeting of Pennington county wool growers will be held in the Farm Bureau office at 2 o'clock on Saturday, May 22. The purpose of this meeting is to arrange for the marketing of all the wool in the county to a central point where it may be graded by a state grader. Plans have been made for storehouses in Thief River Falls and Goodridge where the wool will be graded by an expert who will place it in three or more classes. All the wool will be disposed of at one sale, each grower being paid in proportion to the quality and quantity of the wool he has in the pool.

Local buyers as well as outsiders will be privileged to bid on this wool. It is believed that better prices can be paid for the wool in larger lots than could be secured under the old hit and miss system that has prevailed in the past.

BOHEMIAN LODGE WILL CELEBRATE FOUNDING

Zare Zeveru to Observe 20th Anniversary of Organization Here.

The members of Zare Severu lodge of the Western Bohemian Fraternal association are making preparations for a big meeting on Thursday, May 27, in Masonic hall. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and there will be an address by Joseph Tyra of Minneapolis.

This event is in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the forming of the lodge in this city. The organization now numbers among its members practically all the persons of Bohemian birth or extraction in the city and is in flourishing condition.

All members of Z. C. B. J. lodges and their families are expected to be present and may invite such guests as they think will be interested.

VALLEY GUERNSEY MEN MEET HERE ON JUNE 8

Annual Picnic and Sale Will Take Place on Albert Johnson Farm.

The Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association will hold their first annual summer meeting, picnic and combination sale of purebred Guernseys on Tuesday, June 8, at the Burr Oak Guernsey farm of Albert Johnson a short distance south of Thief River Falls.

A cordial invitation is extended to all dairymen and their families to attend this gathering. A good program has been arranged for the occasion and Prof. Eckles of the University farm will be the principal speaker.

The animals consigned to this sale, both male and female, are of the highest quality and the event will offer excellent opportunities for securing foundation stock from some of the best herds in the Red River Valley.

Rain Comes Just in Time to Help Northwest Farmer

Farmers throughout this section were made happy on Tuesday by a fall of rain that continued all day. The rain was the first of the planting season and came just as most of the seeding had been completed and consequently could not have been more opportune. City gardens are looking up already because of the application of moisture and everything seems to have taken on a more spring-like appearance. Particularly was this rain needed to give the pastures a start.

Potato growers are getting ready to do their planting and many will have completed the work before the first of next week. It is not likely, even with ideal weather conditions, that much corn will be put in the ground before the first of June.

N-P Talkers Accuse Both Old Parties

Large Crowd Turns out to First Political Rally of Present Campaign.

Dr. Shipstead Unable to be Present and William Mahoney is Substituted.

People Have First Introduction to Thormodson, Candidate For Congress.

An audience which comfortably filled the auditorium and which was composed about equally of farmers and townspeople listened to speakers favoring the Nonpartisan league discuss the issues of the campaign on Monday evening.

Thomas Vollum of Erskine, candidate for secretary of state, who laid no claim to being an orator, told of the success attending attempts at co-operation in his home town of Erskine, stating that the same principle on a larger scale is what the Nonpartisan league is contending for. He has evidently made a study of this matter and is convinced that it is the only method by which the evils of the present system of huge combinations can be overcome. Mr. Vollum seemed satisfied that he would be returned the winner in the primaries and later in the elections.

Is Vigorous Talker.

N. E. Thormodson of Dalton, candidate for congress in the Ninth district with Nonpartisan endorsement, was the next speaker. He is a socialist and proud of it, evidently believing in all the tenets put forth by the organization. Mr. Thormodson is an energetic talker and flayed the profiteers unmercifully, but claimed that the latter were but the natural product of the governmental system under which the country is now operating. He attempted to show where the interests of the laboring man in the city were identical with those of the farmer and urged that the two divisions get together for the purpose of making a general housecleaning. The candidate did not at any time specifically refer to his opponent, Halvor Steenerson, confining his remarks principally to a general attack upon existing conditions.

High Costs the Cause.

William Mahoney, who was defeated for mayor of St. Paul at the recent election, was the next speaker. He regarded as useless any attempt to make wages keep even with the cost of living while the prices of necessities keep advancing by bounds. He laid the blame at the door of the profiteers and arraigned the administration for permitting them to go unchecked.

Mr. Mahoney charged that the grossest corruption was resorted to in order to defeat him for mayor of St. Paul and said that the same would be true of the state campaign this fall. Millions of dollars will be poured into Minnesota, he said, for the purpose of defeating the candidates put forth by the league.

ELKS' BUILDING MATTER DECIDED TOMORROW

Lodge Will Determine Upon Location at Meeting Held In the Evening.

One of the most important meetings of the year will be held by Thief River Falls lodge of Elks tomorrow evening. While there is a considerable amount of regular business to come up, the matter of greatest importance will be the report of the building committee. A short time ago it was decided to investigate the matter of a building site and the committee is understood to have several propositions to offer. Two sites at least will be offered, either of which is acceptable, and the final choice will depend upon whether or not the members prefer a club house devoted to the purposes of the lodge only or if they wish one within the city from which something in the way of rents could be secured. It is understood that they will be given their choice.

There is a great deal of interest in this matter among the members and it is likely that the meeting tomorrow evening will be anything but dull.

Rev. Sweger Accepts Call From Local Congregation

The trustees of Trinity Lutheran church have been notified that Rev. T. E. Sweger of Cooperstown, N. D., will accept the call recently extended to become pastor of the congregation at this point and that he will be installed in his new position on Aug. 15. Rev. Sweger expected to be unable to leave his present position before sometime in September but matters have been so arranged that he will be here about a month ahead of that time.

THIEF RIVER TO HAVE RECRUITING STATION

One of Fifteen Minnesota Cities Designated as Permanent Points.

Thief River Falls has been designated by the War Department as one of fifteen Minnesota cities to have permanent recruiting stations.

Major R. E. Frith, U. S. A. retired, with headquarters in Minneapolis reports that assistant recruiting officers have been selected and that offices will be opened without delay.

Sergeant Vance P. Hunter, general service infantry, is the army representative in Thief River Falls. Sergeant Hunter formerly belonged to the 51st Infantry, Camp Grant, Illinois, and served with the Sixth Division. His headquarters in Thief River Falls will be at the commercial club.

"This station is being opened in accordance with a plan recently adopted by the War Department to have the army represented more widely," said Major Frith. "The recent campaign brought about a much better general understanding of the work being done by the new army. The service now is looked upon as a training school for prospective citizens, with excellent opportunities to learn trades or receive a general education, instead of as merely a military machine.

"Practically every good citizen has contributed his share of service to his country, and the young man of today should be encouraged to follow in their examples, particularly under conditions which now prevail. It is an honor to belong to the United States army."

Stations also are to be opened at Austin, Fergus Falls, Little Falls, Moorhead, Owatonna, Albert, Red Wing, Pipestone, Willmar, Brainerd, Detroit, East Grand Forks, Alexandria and Sleepy Eye.

EAST-SIDERS DECLARE AGAINST NAME CHANGE

Want New School Building Called "Knox" Same as Present Structure.

In order that the matter might be settled to the entire satisfaction of all concerned the school board on Monday called a meeting of the citizens of the East Side for the purpose of deciding upon a name for the new school building to be erected there. A number of those present were outspoken in their demand that the name of "Knox" be retained, that being the designation of the structure now on the site. A vote was taken and was unanimously so decided. The board members stated that the wishes of the people in the neighborhood would most certainly be respected and the structure named according to their wishes.

A demand had been made that a seventh and eighth grade be made part of the plan for the new school. The directors explained that this would not accord with the program now being carried out. Special teachers are secured for these grades and it would be doubling up on the service as well as the expense to meet this suggestion. The school patrons saw the force of this reasoning and withdrew the request.

LEGION ELECTS OLD OFFICERS; BIG DRIVE

Efforts to Increase Membership Being Made Throughout Nation This Week.

At the semi-annual meeting and banquet of Elmer J. Eklund Post, the American Legion, held at the Brumund hotel on Saturday evening the present officers were re-elected for another term, as follows: Fred Scanlan, president; George Werstlein, first vice president; Carl Nelson, second vice president; Edward Brevig, treasurer; G. Howard Smith, secretary. The standing committees will also remain as at present constituted. As a permanent dance committee for the next six months the following were appointed: Harold Provencher, Ray Johnson, Hal Stanton, F. E. Hunt and Hugh McDaniel. The Decoration Day committee was instructed to meet with the city committee having charge of a program for the observance of that day. The legion conferees are L. H. Lawrence, H. O. Chommie and G. Howard Smith.

The members voted to send a contribution of $5 to the committee in charge of collections for the decoration of graves in France.

A campaign for membership in the American legion is this week being carried on throughout the nation. Approximately 9,500 posts of the organization will work simultaneously and it is expected that one million new members will be gained in the campaign. This would give a total of two and one half million members to the organization.

CAMPAIGN FOR STOCK PAVILION NEARS END

Pennington County Required to Raise Balance of Quota Immediately.

A drive to raise the remainder of the amount needed for the Red River Valley livestock pavilion at Crookston started in each of the 11 counties of the district yesterday and is being carried on with vigor today. Pennington county's quota for this purpose was placed at $750, out of which sum $180 has been paid in. It is very necessary that the remainder be secured at once and the committee is making special effort to interest the livestock breeders and business men in the project.

Polk county has undertaken to raise $9,000 on these two days in spite of the fact that the people there have already contributed $18,096. The amounts remaining for Marshall and Norman counties is $2250 and the others are behind in lesser amounts. Clay county has oversubscribed its quota and Red Lake county is only $15 behind its goal. Clearwater and Mahnomen counties have not yet reported anything and will be expected to raise $750 each during these two days.

The committee in charge of the collection in Pennington county is made up of Fred Beerbower, Paul Engelstad and J. J. McCann, Thief River Falls, and N. E. Beebe, St. Hilaire.

Tire Dealer Locates Here.

William A. Clay, formerly of Bemidji, has rented the building at 313 Main avenue north and will engage in the tire repair business. Mr. Clay has taken the agency for the Pennsylvania tire and has an interesting introductory announcement in another part of The Times today. The new establishment will be equipped to do all kinds of tire repair work, including vulcanizing.

Not in Favor of Changing Management

Majority of Council Sees No Advantage in Utilities Commission.

Alderman Ihle Sticks to Idea That Change Would Be Good Thing.

Commission Form For Entire City Again Comes Up For Discussion.

The city council met on Tuesday evening for the purpose of cleaning up a batch of postponed business and incidentally to talk over the proposition advanced the week previous, to-wit: The placing of the city utilities in the hands of a commission.

The discussion on Tuesday evening was only informal but indicated that most of the councilmen are from Missouri and will have to be shown before they are willing to make the suggested change. President H. A. Brumund stated that he was unable to see just where the advantage would come in. It was his opinion that the council would have to take final action in all matters of importance in any event, in which case the members might as well carry a project along from the time of its inception. He was not prepared to say that he would oppose the proposition, however, but wanted more light on the subject before committing himself.

Can Go Right Ahead.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie stated that there was no question of the council's authority to provide for a commission in case such course was decided upon but there were certain matters pertaining to the disposition of funds now held to the credit of the utilities that he would have to look up carefully before being able to lay a complete course of procedure before the board. He also volunteered the statement that he could not see where anything would ultimately be gained by the suggested course.

Alderman Carl Froseth voiced the fear that the naming of a commission would only serve to increase the expense of running the city's plants without in any manner adding to their efficiency or reducing the cost of their operation. He also was willing to be convinced that such was not the case, he stated.

Ihle Still Sticks.

Mr. Ihle said there were a lot of things about a commission he did not know but he was of the opinion that more satisfactory results would be obtained if a board of three interested citizens were put in charge. They would have no other responsibility so far as the city government was concerned and would, he believed, make a sort of hobby out of seeing that the plants were efficiently and economically conducted. He named a number of cities in the neighborhood where this plan is employed and believed that it has been found generally satisfactory.

Commission Form Again.

All the councilmen were agreed that the most sensible solution of the whole affair would be placing the entire city under a commission form of government with a city manager in charge. In this way certain of the commissioners would have the conduct of their own department only to look after with the result that nothing of benefit would be overlooked. The citizens voted down this proposition a few years ago but there is no doubt but that many of them have changed their minds concerning its desirability since that time.

It was not an important meeting so far as results were concerned but was full of interesting incidents.

Goes on Vacation.

L. R. Johnston has resigned his position as traveling salesman for the Thief River Grocery company after serving five years with the concern. He will leave in a short time with his family for a visit at points in Iowa, where the latter will stay while Mr. Johnston is attending the national convention of Elks as the delegate from Thief River Falls lodge. After his return he will go on the road for the Lyle culvert company, working out of this city, taking the place of W. S. Sylvester, who has been assigned to another territory.

Setting Out Trees.

G. M. Gonzot of the State Forestry division, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of instructing those who had contracted for young pine trees in the matter of setting out the seedlings. There were some 20,000 young pines in the shipment and many of our farmers took the opportunity offered to start groves.

Red Lake Falls Masons Will Put on Degree Here

For some time members of the Masonic fraternity at Red Lake Falls have been trying to secure a charter for a lodge in their city. The matter has progressed to a point where it is only necessary that the officers prove themselves sufficiently well versed in the secret work of the order to have their request granted. Quite a number of the members in Red Lake Falls have for years been affiliated with the Thief River Falls lodge, but have been given every assistance by officers and members here in their efforts to realize their ambition.

Lodge quarters have been secured, officers elected and degree teams put to work. In order that the latter may have an opportunity to get in some practice work they have been invited to come to this city on May 24 for the purpose of conferring the second degree on a class of candidates. It is also probable that they will be given a chance to exemplify the other degrees if they so see fit.

T. W. Hugo of Duluth, grand custodian of the order, will be in Red Lake Falls for the purpose of making the examinations and institute the

SENIOR CLASS STAGES ELABORATE PAGEANT

"The Light" to Be Presented on Two Evenings at the Auditorium.

The senior class of the Thief River Falls high school has engaged upon a rather unusual undertaking to mark the closing of the school year. It is the presentation of the pageant, "The Light," designed to show the progress of education through the ages. The presentation will be the second to take place in the United States, the first being at Cleveland during the meeting of the National Educational association this spring. Supt. W. A. Ziegler, who saw the pageant at Cleveland, says it is most beautiful and instructive, and created a vast amount of enthusiasm among the people of the Ohio city as well as the visiting educators.

The presentation will take place at the Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday, May 24 and 25, at 8 o'clock in the evening. A cast of 250 people is required and it will be necessary to build the stage out six feet in order to accommodate the production.

The same pageant will be presented at Minneapolis in the fall but will not be seen at another Minnesota school this spring. The students and faculty have been busy of late in the rehearsing of the different scenes and tableaus and those who have been permitted to get a line on the presentation say that it is without doubt the most remarkable thing ever attempted by a high school class.

Choir Visits St. Hilaire.

The children's choir of the local M. E. church went to St. Hilaire Sunday and sang in the M. E. church to the delight of a large congregation. The young folks were taken in autos and enjoyed the trip very much. Mrs. C. A. Nason, who has had the children in charge, was congratulated upon her success in training the young choir to such a state of efficiency. They will sing in the M. E. church here Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

SUPT. ZIEGLER LOSES TIPS OF THREE FINGERS

Gets Members Into Jointer at High School Mechanical Department.

Supt. W. A. Ziegler of the city schools met with a serious accident while working in the mechanical department of the high school on Monday afternoon. He was running a short piece of board over the power jointer when it was wrenched out of his hand, throwing his fingers into contact with the rapidly revolving knives. The first two fingers on his right hand were cut off just below the first joint and the third finger just below the tip. According to those in the building with him at the time, the superintendent was running the board through against the grain and was holding it firmly onto the jointer. The knives wrenched it from him and threw it against his left hand with sufficient force to lacerate that member quite severely. Before he could regain his balance the knives had caused the damage noted to his right hand.

The injury was immediately dressed and Mr. Ziegler is getting along first rate, although both hands are causing him a great deal of pain.

DELEGATION ATTENDS WATERWAYS HEARING

Thief River Falls Shows Interest in Lake-to-Ocean Movement.

States and Canada jointly maintain a commission of six members, three appointed from each country, having jurisdiction over the boundary waters and the boundary lines between the two countries. There has been a good deal of agitation for the deepening and improvement of the canals from the head of Lake Superior to tide water in order that ocean vessels might make the points on the Great Lakes and sail direct to the markets of the world with unbroken cargoes.

Naturally in such a project much may be said both for and against and the commission above referred to has been requested to hold hearings and gather data in those sections of the country more immediately interested and whose products might advantageously reach the world's markets over the proposed route.

A hearing by the commission was held at Grand Forks on Tuesday, at which there was considerable representation from communities in western Minnesota and North Dakota. Thief River Falls was represented by Olaf Ramstad, Math Barzen, T. P. Hamry, and Daniel Shaw, and the commission was informed that the best evidence they could give of the interest of this community in the matter was the fact that they had driven sixty miles over mud roads to be present.

Facts and figures were presented by Governor Frazier of North Dakota, Professor Ladd and many others representing the two states.

Man Hit by Automobile Recovering at Hospital

Omer Anderson, returned service man and clerk at the Hermanson Hardware company's store, was quite seriously injured Sunday night in a manner that still remains something of a mystery. With a number of companions he had been at Warren and the party was returning when they ran out of gasoline. There were four occupants of the car and each started in a different direction to look for fuel. Anderson took the road straight ahead, it is said, and as one of the others found what was wanted before he returned the rest of the party started ahead with the idea of overtaking him. The lights were working badly and the driver was unable to see far ahead. A short distance from where the stop was made the car overtook Anderson and ran smack into him. He was brought to the hospital where it was found that two ribs were broken and that he had sustained other injuries. He is now on the road to recovery, it is stated.

Anderson was aboard the Tuscania when that vessel was torpedoed during the war but came out of the wreck without injury.

Steenerson Names Three To Take Naval Exams.

Congressman Steenerson has nominated William Breen, Fergus Falls; Arnold Lloyd Odegaard, Roseau, and Fritz Anderson, Crookston, for examination on June 22 for admission to the United States naval academy at Annapolis.

Visitors From Grygla.

A party consisting of E. M. Mussey and daughter, Mrs. L. R. Moran, Mrs. H. Bush and Mrs. Reuben Sandberg motored to this city on Monday from Grygla and spent the day visiting with friends and relatives.

Ladies' Club Very Active During Year

Annual Report of Secretary Discloses a Very Successful Season.

Mrs. Daniel Shaw Elected to Head Organization For Ensuing Term.

Chairmen For Different Divisions of Club Work Also Appointed.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Thief River Falls Woman's club was held at the commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon. The report of the secretary, Mrs. E. M. Stanton showed that the season had been the most active in the history of the organization and that it has exerted a marked influence upon the social and home life of the city. Under the leadership of Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, the retiring president, the club has gained renown for its achievements in every section of the state and is at the present time regarded as the model organization of its kind in this section of the country. There is not a doubt but that this excellent record will be maintained under the guidance of the new officers, all of whom have been active in the councils of the club and instrumental in bringing it up to its present enviable level.

The new officers are as follows: Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president; Mrs. E. E. Zeh, vice president; Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, secretary; Mrs. Robert Vance, treasurer. Besides Mrs. Froehlich the following will retire from office at this time: Mrs. P. W. Mabey, vice president; Mrs. E. M. Stanton, secretary, and Mrs. G. Howard Smith, treasurer.

A Splendid Record.

The secretary's report submitted by Mrs. Stanton enumerated the following as the more outstanding features of last year's activities, particularly in the entertainment line. The record indicates that the committees in charge were at all times desirous of securing the best to be had and that their efforts met with unusual success.

A donation of $20.00 was made at Christmas time to help in making A Merry Christmas for the poor and needy of the city and later on a contribution of $50.00 was made for the Near-East Relief. During the year various donations were made to other charities by the Social Welfare section.

For the several sections, the following chairmen were appointed:

French section——Mrs. A. W. Swedenberg
Gymnasium section——Mrs. A. S. Sapero
Thrift section——Mrs. Daniel Shaw

Sanford, instructor and head of the English department of the University of Minnesota for over 30 years and known as "Minnesota's Grand Old Woman," gave us a very inspiring talk on "Our Duty to Our Boys and Girls and How to Make Thief River Falls the Best Place in Minnesota to Bring Up Our Boys and Girls." On January 19th, 1920, Prof. Payne, head of the industrial department of education of the State University, lectured on the "Fundamental Causes of the Present Industrial Unrest." On February 16th, 1920, Mr. Wyman Horr of Duluth, favored us with a piano recital. March 1st, 1920, Prof. J. A. Young of the Department of Political Science of the Minnesota University, gave us a talk on "Citizenship and Americanization." April 5th, 1920, Miss Dorothy Loyhed of the English department of the University, spoke on our "Coming Sanity Toward Russia." April 19th, 1920, Dr. James Davies of the University Extension Course appeared in lecture recital, "Folk Songs."

Stanton on "Political Parties"; G. Halvorson on "Our Election Laws," and G. L. Sterns on the Near East Relief.

Mr. Garns appeared for the second time during the year, and recited "Monsieur Beaucaire" at the Lyceum April 27th, 1920.

A loving cup costing $25.00 was presented to the residents of LaBree avenue as a reward for their efforts in the clean-up campaign, and H. G. Gunseth of 319 Riverside avenue, was awarded a second prize of $10.00 for the best improvement of his premises.

Forty new members have been added to the club membership during the past year, which now numbers nearly three hundred.

MEETING OF CITIZENS TO ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Mayor John Bratrud requests all citizens interested in the proper observance of Memorial Day to meet at the commercial club rooms at 8 o'clock on Friday evening for the purpose of discussing an appropriate program for the occasion. The local Legion post has appointed a committee to work with a similar body representing the citizens generally and it will be the aim to make this latter appointment on Friday evening in order that there may be no delay in the preparations. Representatives of the schools, churches and civic organizations generally are asked to be present at the meeting in order that it may be made a community affair.

May 30, which is the date for observing the anniversary ordinarily, this year falls on Sunday and it will be up to the citizens present at the meeting to decide whether the exercises shall be held on Saturday or Monday.

POTATO MEET FRIDAY; WOOL GROWERS NEXT

Latter Will Meet at County Agent's Office on Saturday Afternoon.

Considerable interest centers in the outcome of the potato growers meeting in St. Hilaire tomorrow afternoon. Farmers from all sections of the county are expected to be present as the plan is to form a county association and also to take the preliminary steps toward the erection of a potato warehouse. Senator Cummins of East Grand Forks, an authority on the raising and handling of potatoes, will deliver an address.

A meeting of Pennington county wool growers will be held in the Farm Bureau office at 2 o'clock on Saturday, May 22. The purpose of this meeting is to arrange for the marketing of all the wool in the county to a central point where it may be graded by a state grader. Plans have been made for storehouses in Thief River Falls and Goodridge where the wool will be graded by an expert who will place it in three or more classes. All the wool will be disposed of at one sale, each grower being paid in proportion to the quality and quantity of the wool he has in the pool.

Local buyers as well as outsiders will be privileged to bid on this wool. It is believed that better prices can be paid for the wool in larger lots than could be secured under the old hit and miss system that has prevailed in the past.

BOHEMIAN LODGE WILL CELEBRATE FOUNDING

Zare Zeveru to Observe 20th Anniversary of Organization Here.

The members of Zare Severu lodge of the Western Bohemian Fraternal association are making preparations for a big meeting on Thursday, May 27, in Masonic hall. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and there will be an address by Joseph Tyra of Minneapolis.

This event is in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the forming of the lodge in this city. The organization now numbers among its members practically all the persons of Bohemian birth or extraction in the city and is in flourishing condition.

All members of Z. C. B. J. lodges and their families are expected to be present and may invite such guests as they think will be interested.

VALLEY GUERNSEY MEN MEET HERE ON JUNE 8

Annual Picnic and Sale Will Take Place on Albert Johnson Farm.

The Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association will hold their first annual summer meeting, picnic and combination sale of purebred Guernseys on Tuesday, June 8, at the Burr Oak Guernsey farm of Albert Johnson a short distance south of Thief River Falls.

A cordial invitation is extended to all dairymen and their families to attend this gathering. A good program has been arranged for the occasion and Prof. Eckles of the University farm will be the principal speaker.

The animals consigned to this sale, both male and female, are of the highest quality and the event will offer excellent opportunities for securing foundation stock from some of the best herds in the Red River Valley.

Rain Comes Just in Time to Help Northwest Farmer

Farmers throughout this section were made happy on Tuesday by a fall of rain that continued all day. The rain was the first of the planting season and came just as most of the seeding had been completed and consequently could not have been more opportune. City gardens are looking up already because of the application of moisture and everything seems to have taken on a more spring-like appearance. Particularly was this rain needed to give the pastures a start.

Potato growers are getting ready to do their planting and many will have completed the work before the first of next week. It is not likely, even with ideal weather conditions, that much corn will be put in the ground before the first of June.

N-P Talkers Accuse Both Old Parties

Large Crowd Turns out to First Political Rally of Present Campaign.

Dr. Shipstead Unable to be Present and William Mahoney is Substituted.

People Have First Introduction to Thormodson, Candidate For Congress.

An audience which comfortably filled the auditorium and which was composed about equally of farmers and townspeople listened to speakers favoring the Nonpartisan league discuss the issues of the campaign on Monday evening.

Thomas Vollom of Erskine, candidate for secretary of state, who laid no claim to being an orator, told of the success attending attempts at co-operation in his home town of Erskine, stating that the same principle on a larger scale is what the Nonpartisan league is contending for. He has evidently made a study of this matter and is convinced that it is the only method by which the evils of the present system of huge combinations can be overcome. Mr. Vollom seemed satisfied that he would be returned the winner in the primaries and later in the elections.

Is Vigorous Talker.

N. E. Thormodson of Dalton, candidate for congress in the Ninth district with Nonpartisan endorsement, was the next speaker. He is a socialist and proud of it, evidently believing in all the tenets put forth by the organization. Mr. Thormodson is an energetic talker and flayed the profiteers unmercifully, but claimed that the latter were but the natural product of the governmental system under which the country is now operating. He attempted to show where the interests of the laboring man in the city were identical with those of the farmer and urged that the two divisions get together for the purpose of making a general housecleaning. The candidate did not at any time specifically refer to his opponent, Halvor Steenerson, confining his remarks principally to a general attack upon existing conditions.

High Costs the Cause.

William Mahoney, who was defeated for mayor of St. Paul at the recent election, was the next speaker. He regarded as useless any attempt to make wages keep even with the cost of living while the prices of necessities keep advancing by bounds. He laid the blame at the door of the profiteers and arraigned the administration for permitting them to go unchecked.

Mr. Mahoney charged that the grossest corruption was resorted to in order to defeat him for mayor of St. Paul and said that the same would be true of the state campaign this fall. Millions of dollars will be poured into Minnesota, he said, for the purpose of defeating the candidates put forth by the league.

ELKS' BUILDING MATTER DECIDED TOMORROW

Lodge Will Determine Upon Location at Meeting Held In the Evening.

One of the most important meetings of the year will be held by Thief River Falls lodge of Elks tomorrow evening. While there is a considerable amount of regular business to come up, the matter of greatest importance will be the report of the building committee. A short time ago it was decided to investigate the matter of a building site and the committee is understood to have several propositions to offer. Two sites at least will be offered, either of which is acceptable, and the final choice will depend upon whether or not the members prefer a club house devoted to the purposes of the lodge only or if they wish one within the city from which something in the way of rents could be secured. It is understood that they will be given their choice.

There is a great deal of interest in this matter among the members and it is likely that the meeting tomorrow evening will be anything but dull.

Rev. Sweger Accepts Call From Local Congregation

The trustees of Trinity Lutheran church have been notified that Rev. T. E. Sweger of Cooperstown, N. D., will accept the call recently extended to become pastor of the congregation at this point and that he will be installed in his new position on Aug. 15. Rev. Sweger expected to be unable to leave his present position before sometime in September but matters have been so arranged that he will be here about a month ahead of that time.

THIEF RIVER TO HAVE RECRUITING STATION

One of Fifteen Minnesota Cities Designated as Permanent Points.

Thief River Falls has been designated by the War Department as one of fifteen Minnesota cities to have permanent recruiting stations.

Major R. E. Frith, U. S. A. retired, with headquarters in Minneapolis reports that assistant recruiting officers have been selected and that offices will be opened without delay.

Sergeant Vance P. Hunter, general service infantry, is the army representative in Thief River Falls. Sergeant Hunter formerly belonged to the 51st Infantry, Camp Grant, Illinois, and served with the Sixth Division. His headquarters in Thief River Falls will be at the commercial club.

"This station is being opened in accordance with a plan recently adopted by the War Department to have the army represented more widely," said Major Frith. "The recent campaign brought about a much better general understanding of the work being done by the new army. The service now is looked upon as a training school for prospective citizens, with excellent opportunities to learn trades or receive a general education, instead of as merely a military machine.

"Practically every good citizen has contributed his share of service to his country, and the young man of today should be encouraged to follow in their examples, particularly under conditions which now prevail. It is an honor to belong to the United States army."

Stations also are to be opened at Austin, Fergus Falls, Little Falls, Moorhead, Owatonna, Albert, Red Wing, Pipestone, Willmar, Brainerd, Detroit, East Grand Forks, Alexandria and Sleepy Eye.

EAST-SIDERS DECLARE AGAINST NAME CHANGE

Want New School Building Called "Knox" Same as Present Structure.

In order that the matter might be settled to the entire satisfaction of all concerned the school board on Monday called a meeting of the citizens of the East Side for the purpose of deciding upon a name for the new school building to be erected there. A number of those present were outspoken in their demand that the name of "Knox" be retained, that being the designation of the structure now on the site. A vote was taken and was unanimously so decided. The board members stated that the wishes of the people in the neighborhood would most certainly be respected and the structure named according to their wishes.

A demand had been made that a seventh and eighth grade be made part of the plan for the new school. The directors explained that this would not accord with the program now being carried out. Special teachers are secured for these grades and it would be doubling up on the service as well as the expense to meet this suggestion. The school patrons saw the force of this reasoning and withdrew the request.

LEGION ELECTS OLD OFFICERS; BIG DRIVE

Efforts to Increase Membership Being Made Throughout Nation This Week.

At the semi-annual meeting and banquet of Elmer J. Eklund Post, the American Legion, held at the Brumund hotel on Saturday evening the present officers were re-elected for another term, as follows: Fred Scanlan, president; George Werstlein, first vice president; Carl Nelson, second vice president; Edward Brevig, treasurer; G. Howard Smith, secretary. The standing committees will also remain as at present constituted. As a permanent dance committee for the next six months the following were appointed: Harold Provencher, Ray Johnson, Hal Stanton, F. E. Hunt and Hugh McDaniel. The Decoration Day committee was instructed to meet with the city committee having charge of a program for the observance of that day. The legion conferees are L. H. Lawrence, H. O. Chommie and G. Howard Smith.

The members voted to send a contribution of $5 to the committee in charge of collections for the decoration of graves in France.

A campaign for membership in the American legion is this week being carried on throughout the nation. Approximately 9,500 posts of the organization will work simultaneously and it is expected that one million new members will be gained in the campaign. This would give a total of two and one half million members to the organization.

CAMPAIGN FOR STOCK PAVILION NEARS END

Pennington County Required to Raise Balance of Quota Immediately.

A drive to raise the remainder of the amount needed for the Red River Valley livestock pavilion at Crookston started in each of the 11 counties of the district yesterday and is being carried on with vigor today. Pennington county's quota for this purpose was placed at $750, out of which sum $180 has been paid in. It is very necessary that the remainder be secured at once and the committee is making special effort to interest the livestock breeders and business men in the project.

Polk county has undertaken to raise $9,000 on these two days in spite of the fact that the people there have already contributed $18,096. The amounts remaining for Marshall and Norman counties is $2250 and the others are behind in lesser amounts. Clay county has oversubscribed its quota and Red Lake county is only $15 behind its goal. Clearwater and Mahnomen counties have not yet reported anything and will be expected to raise $750 each during these two days.

The committee in charge of the collection in Pennington county is made up of Fred Beerbower, Paul Engelstad and J. J. McCann, Thief River Falls, and N. E. Beebe, St. Hilaire.

Tire Dealer Locates Here.

William A. Clay, formerly of Bemidji, has rented the building at 313 Main avenue north and will engage in the tire repair business. Mr. Clay has taken the agency for the Pennsylvania tire and has an interesting introductory announcement in another part of The Times today. The new establishment will be equipped to do all kinds of tire repair work, including vulcanizing.

Not in Favor of Changing Management

Majority of Council Sees No Advantage in Utilities Commission.

Alderman Ihle Sticks to Idea That Change Would Be Good Thing.

Commission Form For Entire City Again Comes Up For Discussion.

The city council met on Tuesday evening for the purpose of cleaning up a batch of postponed business and incidentally to talk over the proposition advanced the week previous, to-wit: The placing of the city utilities in the hands of a commission.

The discussion on Tuesday evening was only informal but indicated that most of the councilmen are from Missouri and will have to be shown before they are willing to make the suggested change. President H. A. Brumund stated that he was unable to see just where the advantage would come in. It was his opinion that the council would have to take final action in all matters of importance in any event, in which case the members might as well carry a project along from the time of its inception. He was not prepared to say that he would oppose the proposition, however, but wanted more light on the subject before committing himself.

Can Go Right Ahead.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie stated that there was no question of the council's authority to provide for a commission in case such course was decided upon but there were certain matters pertaining to the disposition of funds now held to the credit of the utilities that he would have to look up carefully before being able to lay a complete course of procedure before the board. He also volunteered the statement that he could not see where anything would ultimately be gained by the suggested course.

Alderman Carl Froseth voiced the fear that the naming of a commission would only serve to increase the expense of running the city's plants without in any manner adding to their efficiency or reducing the cost of their operation. He also was willing to be convinced that such was not the case, he stated.

Ihle Still Sticks.

Mr. Ihle said there were a lot of things about a commission he did not know but he was of the opinion that more satisfactory results would be obtained if a board of three interested citizens were put in charge. They would have no other responsibility so far as the city government was concerned and would, he believed, make a sort of hobby out of seeing that the plants were efficiently and economically conducted. He named a number of cities in the neighborhood where this plan is employed and believed that it has been found generally satisfactory.

Commission Form Again.

All the councilmen were agreed that the most sensible solution of the whole affair would be placing the entire city under a commission form of government with a city manager in charge. In this way certain of the commissioners would have the conduct of their own department only to look after with the result that nothing of benefit would be overlooked. The citizens voted down this proposition a few years ago but there is no doubt but that many of them have changed their minds concerning its desirability since that time.

It was not an important meeting so far as results were concerned but was full of interesting incidents.

Goes on Vacation.

L. R. Johnston has resigned his position as traveling salesman for the Thief River Grocery company after serving five years with the concern. He will leave in a short time with his family for a visit at points in Iowa, where the latter will stay while Mr. Johnston is attending the national convention of Elks as the delegate from Thief River Falls lodge. After his return he will go on the road for the Lyle culvert company, working out of this city, taking the place of W. S. Sylvester, who has been assigned to another territory.

Setting Out Trees.

G. M. Gonzet of the State Forestry division, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of instructing those who had contracted for young pine trees in the matter of setting out the seedlings. There were some 20,000 young pines in the shipment and many of our farmers took the opportunity offered to start groves.

Red Lake Falls Masons Will Put on Degree Here

For some time members of the Masonic fraternity at Red Lake Falls have been trying to secure a charter for a lodge in their city. The matter has progressed to a point where it is only necessary that the officers prove themselves sufficiently well versed in the secret work of the order to have their request granted. Quite a number of the members in Red Lake Falls have for years been affiliated with the Thief River Falls lodge, but have been given every assistance by officers and members here in their efforts to realize their ambition.

Lodge quarters have been secured, officers elected and degree teams put to work. In order that the latter may have an opportunity to get in some practice work they have been invited to come to this city on May 21 for the purpose of conferring the second degree on a class of candidates. It is also probable that they will be given a chance to exemplify the other degrees if they so see fit.

T. W. Hugo of Duluth, grand custodian of the order, will be in Red Lake Falls for the purpose of making the examinations and institute the

Mrs. A. H. Fasel Tells Interesting Story of Journey Towards West.

Family Finally Decides to Locate on Farm Near Nampa, Idaho.

Practically No Rain There But Irrigation Insures Wonderful Crops.

(The following letter has been received from Mrs. A. H. Fasel, and will be of much interest to our readers. The Fasel family resided in Thief River Falls for many years, Mr. Fasel being at different times county auditor and city clerk. The letter was written last fall, Mrs. Fasel states, but was mislaid and only recently discovered. The lateness of its appearance detracts nothing from its general interest, however.—Editor)

Editor Times:—It is more than a year since we loaded our Studebaker with camping outfit and started out from Thief River Falls on our 2600 mile motor trip west—and surely a better way could not be devised for seeing our own U.S.A., than to meander thru the country by auto, camping and visiting with tourists, farmers, garage men, etc., enroute with side trips seeing points of interest here and there.

We had practically no car trouble and the weather was so fine that we only found it necessary to stop at hotels twice during the six weeks trip. The homes of relatives living in North Dakota and Montana were so conveniently located that we could stop and rest, clean up and visit just when we felt that we needed it.

The first blow out we had was at Minot, N. D., and we had to stop to change a tire at a place where millions of army worms were crossing the road. This migration extended over an area about a mile in width. We bought one new tire in Butte and still had Pennington county air in one tire when we reached Twin Falls, Idaho.

First Sight of Boise.

We arrived in Boise at dusk one evening about the middle of September just as the sun was setting behind the hazy, purple hued mountains. The road that we had just traveled over was a fifty mile stretch of sage brush desert as far as eyes could see and the only sign of life was the scurrying, half-starved sage rabbit. We were rather tired and dusty and not very keen about making camp where possible rattlesnakes might invite themselves to share our quarters, when suddenly on the edge of the "Bench" we looked down and beheld beautiful Boise spread out before our astonished gaze, an oasis in the desert. Here too we found a huge sign informing the wayfarer, "This way to the free auto tourists' campground." Following the lead we arrived at the tourist camp and felt as tho we had been invited to a party. A fine park, electrically lighted and off to one side a huge bonfire around which tourists were grouped, swapping yarns and telling each other their traveling experiences, while at numerous small tables the women were engaged in supper preparations. In the background tents and traveling equipment of all description were grouped while chattering children scampered round enjoying the swings, chutes, trapeze and other joy-equipment put there for their special benefit.

A caretaker mingled with the crowd, answering questions and lending a helping hand generally. Nearly all the states in the Union were represented here. This camp is equipped with bath house, laundry and a good sized screened-in kitchen with two sinks, running water and six electric stoves.

We were so charmed with this place that we lingered here for three days, going out to see the country every day. This camp idea has been the means of inducing many home seekers to settle here because of the low facilities provided while investigating land values in the surrounding territory.

As we had started out with the intention of seeing Oregon in general and Portland in particular, we dared not linger in this valley and longer, as we had a long and perilous drive to make over the Blue mountains before the early snows set in. We set out and traveled thru miles and miles of uninhabited mountain country and camped one night on top of the world surrounded by mountain peaks as far as eyes could see. The scenery here beggars description, and the air redolent with the pungent, spicy fragrance of pine was so good we could not get enough of it.

We camped in a great open space, smooth as a clipped lawn, surrounded with giant firs and an undergrowth of mountain laurel. There was a full moon and the only sound was the soughing of the pines and the occasional cry of some wild animal.

Next day we reached Pendleton, Oregon in time for the great annual roundup. The city was gorgeously decorated in all the colors of the rainbow while a motley crowd, including Indians in full regalia, cowpunchers in chaps and spurs and people from distant states paraded the streets, chaffing each other and enjoying the gala occasion. Of course, we saw that greatest of all wild west shows, the Roundup, and departed from Pendleton feeling that our fund of knowledge and experience had been greatly augmented. From Pendleton to Portland we traveled over some of the rockiest roads extant, and emerged on the Columbia Highway with tires frayed to a frazzle and just barely reached the city at all.

Back to Idaho.

We rented furnished apartments and lived in Portland for three months. Mr. Fasel worked as guard in the shipyards, guarding against German spies that were not, and Willis went to Astoria to work as timekeeper for a lumber company. First he enjoyed a three weeks' siege of the flu. Every Sunday we would go somewhere to look over the country, but found nothing that looked good to us, not even in the much talked of Willamette Valley, so we decided to go back to Idaho, and here we are!

This is Sunday evening, and we have just returned from a hundred mile trip thru the irrigated section called the Boise Valley and the Deer Flat. Every Sunday we take such a trip in company with some good friends whom we met near Eugene, Oregon on our tour last summer. They were also touring the country, but live here. We always fill our thermos bottles and lunch kits and set out for the day. Every time we come back more enthusiastic than ever. If we should tell you of the many opportunities here you would consider them fairy tales. We have yet to find the first person who is not an enthusiastic booster for this section of Idaho and they have jolly good reason to be. Today we drove thru miles of orchard loaded with apples and the roadside planted to rambler and ever-blooming roses. For people who had lived in a climate where an apple tree was a novelty it was all a revelation. And yet the fruit crops in this state are not considered a success commercially as they cannot be depended on to be safe from frost. The state fair is just over and I saw wonderful exhibits of apples, prunes, peaches, grapes, plums, (apricots and cherries come earlier), almonds, English walnuts, and every conceivable vegetable and melons. Every Sunday we come home with our auto spilling fruits. We have seen places where some philanthropically minded person had planted fruit trees in variety along the roadside like a long lane. We are still eating strawberries and raspberries and huckleberries. We stopped today at a place where a farmer was packing some strawberries. He had less than a quarter of an acre of ever-blooming strawberries near the house, and he told us he had sold $500 worth of berries off from that patch. A little farther on we stopped and talked with a farmer sitting in front of the barn, sorting potatoes. Among other things he showed us the alfalfa hay that he had taken off from a five acre tract. He had 40½ tons by actual measurement. One man rented forty acres and planted it to spuds. His share of the proceeds netted him $10,000. The owner of course did equally well. Mr. Fasel talked with a man from Nampa a week ago. He had just sold some clover seed off a 23 acre tract. He showed a check for $5,400 which he had just received for same. We hear so many tales like these that they become almost monotonous but the best part of it is they are true.

Results of Irrigation.

This is comparatively new country. Of course Boise has been on the map for 50 or 60 years, in fact the Idaho Statesman, the largest newspaper in the state, has been published since '64. Boise was once a typical frontier town during the time of the gold rush and the immense cattle ranches. It is now one of the most orderly as well as beautiful cities I have ever seen. It reminds me of Albert Lea except that it is much larger—population 30,000. Fine old trees, roses, shrubs and hedges. The agricultural section remained undeveloped until 15 years ago when a few private irrigation projects were started. This demonstrated the possibility of producing crops here, and led to the building of the Arrow Rock dam at a cost of seven million dollars. This is one of the great engineering feats of the world, and compares favorably with the Roosevelt dam of Arizona. It was completed about eight years ago, and the crop off from the Twin Falls tract alone for one year, estimated at forty million, was enough to pay 8 per cent interest on the assessed valuation of all the property of the state. Arrow Rock dam supplies water for thousands of acres of the most fertile land in the world. There are still thousands of acres of sagebrush desert that will some day be put under irrigation, (if the politicians ever get thru playing politics, stealing each others plums and milling out propaganda.) But the most desirable land is taken, of couse. Up to three years ago the best land could be bought for $150 per acre, that is, improved land; today it is worth much more, in fact, some has sold as high as $500 per acre, and still going up. There are two great advantages in living here, the climate, and water for irrigation. Electrical storms, cyclones, hail and even mild winds are unknown here in the valley, so sheltered is the section by the surrounding foothills. With irrigation one is practically assured a crop every ear. No section of the U. S. can offer a safer place for farming. The valley is not very extensive in area so naturally the land is valuable.

Many a time we have berated ourselves for not coming here two or three years earlier. However, we have bought one hundred acres of irrigated land on the interurban line which makes it very convenient to the city. There are cars passing, both ways, every hour except at noon. We are so located that any member of the family can work in town if they wish. In this way we get away from the high house rents and have a much better home. We have the everbearing strawberry and raspberry and a small orchard (prunes, cherries, nectarines, etc.), on the place.

This year we had no rain for 156 days, between April and September, but the farmers harvested an enormous crop—thanks to their irrigation system.

Idaho has great mineral wealth and many unexplored mountain regions. In fact Idaho is mostly mountain with small valleys dotted in between.

Florence is a sophomore at the University of Idaho, is a sorority girl and enjoys her life at the U very much.

Willis spent the winter at the University, agricultural course, and is now at home doing the spring work on the farm.

Machinery Experts Leave; Worked on Times Presses

Oscar and Ernest Nyval, who have been in the city for the past three months rebuilding and repairing that portion of the machinery of The Times Printing and Manufacturing company found worth while salvaging after the fire of last winter, completed the job this week. They are experts in their line and have so managed things that the printing establishment is in shape to go ahead with work at its own plant long before it would have been possible to secure new material. The machines not entirely ruined have been put into shape and are ready to run while those ordered shortly after the fire have not yet put in an appearance. The Nyvals are workmen of the highest class and most pleasant gentlemen to deal with. The Times publishers recommend them without hesitation to anyone having printing machinery to be overhauled. Oscar Nyval goes to Virginia, Minn., to erect a new press in the printing department of the public schools, while Ernest will stay in Minneapolis for the present.

Still Seeking Way to Stop City Paving

Alleged That Plans For Injunction Are Now Under Consideration.

Objectors State Entire Cost is Not Covered by Contractor's Bid.

Express Fear Law Permitting Action by Council is Unconstitutional.

It seems that the paving matter is not yet settled. A few of those who are opposed to the project still seek ways by which the will of the majority may be defeated and, if reports are to be relied on, will seek by every means in their power to prevent the work being carried out.

A story is going the rounds to the effect that a meeting was held at one of the business houses in the city last Wednesday at which about 35 citizens were present and where plans for stopping the paving project at this time were discussed. It was decided, according to report, that legal advice as to the probability of an injunction suit winning out was to be secured and further action taken at a later meeting.

Claim Figures are Wrong.

One of the speakers present, so The Times is reliably informed, stated that the figures given the public as regards the cost of paving are wrong, maintaining that instead of its costing $400 per 25-foot lot to pave the streets the figure will be at least $600. It was also claimed that the city would have to do the excavating at its own expense and pay for all steel used.

This statement would mislead many if it were permitted to go unchallenged and The Times has secured the original bid of the Bitulethic Contracting company, the concern to whom the contract was awarded, and copied therefrom the items included in their offer. This bid reads as follows:

Bitulethic pavement, per yd	$3.98
Removing crosswalks, yd	.25
Adjusting manholes and catch basins	3.50
Straight armored curb, lineal foot	1.00
Straight plain curb, lineal foot	.90
Removing present curb, foot	.30
Straight plain curb and gutter, lineal foot	1.48
Straight plain curb and gutter armored, foot	1.65
Removing present gutter, lineal foot	.20
Removing curb and gutter	.35
Plain radius curb, lineal foot	1.21
Armored radius curb, lineal ft.	1.75
Overhaul, per cubic yard per 100 lineal feet	.02½

The Price Per Lot.

Taking these figures men well versed in work of this kind have figured out that the cost should be about $407 for each 25-foot lot abutting on the paved area. The objectors are alleged to have stated that this is too low by at least $200 but have submitted to the general public no figures to show how they arrive at this conclusion.

Court Decision Feared.

Another reason for taking the stand attributed to them is said to be that the supreme court is almost certain to declare the law under which this work is undertaken unconstitutional. Should such prove to be the case it was the opinion of the meeting that the work would have to be paid for by direct taxation and within a very short time. For some reason nothing seems to have been said about the contract having been let with the understanding that in case the court's decision is adverse the entire matter will be dropped and the contract become null and void. It is certain that no concern would undertake a job involving an outlay of some $300,000 without knowing from whence its money was coming and if the proceedings under which it had been acting were found irregular it is not very likely that the enterprise would be continued.

Might Have Been Worse.

Peter Eberhardt of this city, who has been at LaPas, Manitoba, since early spring in the employ of the Wintons, last week sent a copy of The Pas Herald to Daniel Shaw in this city. From the appearance of the paper The Pas must be a lively place as the paper is well filled with advertising and local news notes. One of the items is rather unusual and shows that even in that far-off land editors refuse to take life too seriously. The item reads as follows:

"The report of the wedding of Tom Bear and Lizzie Flint at Piqultona, published in the Herald a few weeks ago, is all wrong, writes Magistrate May, who says it was a fight instead of a wedding. We are glad it is not as bad as at first reported."

Another article reads: Mayor Stitt has gone in for raising hens. He bought six Leghorn pullets and a rooster and received seven eggs every day, five of which he is suspected of buying at the stores.

Sheriff Martinson Pleads Guilty to Liquor Charge

Oscar Martinson, who resigned last Thursday as sheriff of Hennepin county, on Friday pleaded guilty to the liquor conspiracy charge. The plea was accepted by Judge Page Morris in United States district court in Minneapolis, and on motion of Alfred Jaques, United States district attorney, sentence was deferred.

Martinson's plea came after Judge Morris had completed charging the Federal grand jury, which reconvened this morning to consider the evidence upon which the government based its charges against William M. Nash, temporarily relieved at his own request of the office of Hennepin county attorney.

The charge against Martinson was that he conspired to bring a shipment of liquor from Winnipeg to Minneapolis concealed in a car of scrap iron. The plot was discovered and the sheriff, together with a number of other Minneapolis citizens were placed under arrest.

Hotel Brumund Dining Room Closed For Improvements

The dining room of the Hotel Brumund was closed on Monday night and will remain out of commission for perhaps six weeks. Manager H. A. Brumund states that he has decided to repaint and redecorate the place throughout and that this work cannot be done very well while the place is in operation. A number of improvements will also be added to the kitchen at the same time and the entire place gone over with a view to making it strictly modern in every detail. The closing down of this department will also give Mr. and Mrs. Brumund an opportunity for a vacation, something they have not been able to enjoy for eight years.

The Brumund has always been one of the most popular eating places in the city and many will miss its genial atmosphere. The rooming division will be operated as usual but will receive an overhauling at the same time that the work is being done to the rest of the place.

TWO IMPORTANT MEETINGS.

On Friday afternoon there will be a meeting of the potato growers of Pennington county held at St. Hilaire. The purpose of this gathering is to form a growers' association and make plans for planting and handling the present season's crop.

Seldom has a meeting of greater importance been called in this neighborhood. The section is fast becoming recognized as one of the foremost potato centers of the country and it is time that something besides the hit and miss policy that has heretofore prevailed were employed. We can raise the crop, have the markets and can safely anticipate a heavy demand. But in order to secure the best results a certain amount of intelligent co-operation must be called into play.

There are a number of rules to be followed if our potatoes are to receive the attention they merit at the hands of buyers. The latter know exactly what they want and cull unmercifully where anything else is offered. They require uniform grades and single varieties. They like to deal in a section that has managed to get a reputation for raising dependable potatoes in quantities that makes it worth their while to send agents into the field for the purpose of taking the entire output. A potato district where one man grows Burbanks, another Early Ohios and still others Carmens or some nondescript variety does not command much respect from those who deal heavily in the staple. What they want is a clean crop of one kind. A potato association will help to bring about this condition.

On Saturday there will be a meeting held at the office of the county agent at which wool will be the subject discussed. Pretty much the same plan will be followed as with potatoes if the sheep owners present are alive to their best interests. The idea is to arrange for a central point in the county where storage houses will be maintained and at which all wool may be graded and stored until such time as it can be disposed of to the best advantage. An expert will be put in charge of this work and every fleece will be offered strictly on its merits. This will insure a quantity sufficient to make it worth while for buyers to come long distances for the purpose of bidding on the entire lot. Each grower would be paid according to the grade and amount he had in the pool.

Every man in the county who is interested in these products should attend the meetings. He is sure to learn something to his advantage by so doing.

BRINGING THE OCEAN NEARER.

Probably everyone knows that the world's wheat price is fixed at Liverpool. That city is the center of all export trade in this staple and every transaction pertaining in any manner to it is based on the Liverpool market. For this reason transportation charges from the place of production to the docks in the English city play an important part in the amount the American farmer receives for his grain.

For the northwestern farmer the rail charge proves the heaviest burden connected with the marketing of his crop. It costs more to get the wheat transported from his primary market to the seaboard at New York than for the entire ocean trip. For this reason he is interested in the movement now on foot to bring the ocean nearer to him.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association is an organization formed for the purpose of explaining the value of having direct waterway connection between the head of Lake Superior and European ports. The undertaking presents no insurmountable difficulties and the cost would be trifling when compared with that of the Panama canal, while to the people residing in the Mississippi valley it would be of even greater importance.

A hearing at which representatives of the United States and Canadian governments were present, was held on Tuesday at Grand Forks. Thief River Falls sent a delegation over to the Dakota city for the purpose of adding its voice to the demand that has now become general throughout this section and which requests congress to at once take the preliminary steps to set the undertaking on foot. Opposition to the plan is encountered in New York, Philadelphia and other points at which the transfer from rail to vessel is now made as it would mean the loss of a tremendous amount of business for these ports. It would in corresponding degree build up the interior of the country, however, and bring down the cost of transportation, which in turn would raise the price the farmer receives for his crop and lower the cost to the ultimate consumer.

A WORTHY UNDERTAKING

The showing thus far made by Pennington county in the campaign to raise funds for the Red River Valley Livestock association pavilion at Crookston is not particularly creditable. According to the report submitted our people have only come across with $180 out of a quota of $750. The fact that this is a better record than has been made by some of the other counties does not help our case in the least.

This is an important matter and is worth more attention than it is receiving. The amount asked is small and we do not believe that there will be any trouble in securing it when the matter is presented in the right light.

Polk county has already raised $18,995 and has promised to secure $9,000 more in the drive that is being carried on this week. Marshall county has subscribed $2,380 and Red Lake $1,235. Neither of the two last-named counties are in any way more interested in the success of the project than is Pennington. In fact, being admittedly one of the leading livestock counties of this section Pennington should have a greater concern over the outcome than most of its neighbors.

The drive is on this week and the committee will no doubt see to it that every person who is in any way interested will be given a chance to contribute. The fact that the building is located at Crookston makes no difference. The project concerns the district and is intended to advance the livestock industry of the entire section. Pennington county is bound to receive its full share of benefit and its people should gladly contribute the small sum asked as their share.

YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

The United States Government borrowed money from you to finance the War. You hold the Government's promise to pay you back. This promise is called a Liberty Bond or Victory Note. On this Bond is stated the conditions under which the Government borrowed the money from you.

For instance: If you hold a Bond of the Third Liberty Loan, it states that on April 15th and October 15th of each year until maturity, you will receive interest on the amount you paid for the Bond. Other issues bear other rates of interest and other maturity dates, all of which are clearly stated on the Bond.

Now, if you keep your Bond until the date when the Government pays you in full for it, you do not need to worry if, in the meantime, the price is low one day or high the next. You and Uncle Sam are living up to your agreement with each other, and neither will lose by it.

On the other hand, if you sell your Liberty Bond now, you will find that the man you sell it to will not give you a dollar for every dollar you paid for it. The price has been brought down because so many people are offering to sell their Bonds. If the market is flooded with tomatoes, you can buy them cheap, but if everyone is clamoring for tomatoes and there are few to be had, the price goes up. The same is true of Liberty Bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and wise ones are buying them.

The best advice that can be given to the owner of a Liberty Bond is this: Hold the bond you bought during the war; it is as safe and sound as the United States Government itself.

Buy as many more at the present low rate as you can afford. If you hold them to maturity, you are bound to make the difference between what they sell at now and their face value. You will also receive good interest on your investment.

Hold on to your Liberty Bonds and buy more.

Red Lake County Voters Turn Down Memorial Bonds

The voters of Red Lake county last Tuesday turned down the proposition to issue $50,000 in bonds for the purpose of erecting a soldier memorial. The rejection was most decisive, being over three to one. The vote in the affirmative was 300 as compared with 951 against. The city of Red Lake Falls voted favorably on the proposition, although in the first ward the majority was only three votes. Every precinct in the county went strongly against the issue, not a single vote being cast for it in Emardville, Oklee, Garnes, Equality, Brown's Creek and River townships. Poplar River township, the most populous in the county voted no 110 to 1.

Mrs. R. J. Halvorsen.

Mrs. R. J. Halvorsen, 23 years of age, died at the Physicians hospital early last Sunday morning of septicemia after a short illness, under circumstances particularly sad.

Mrs. Halvorsen gave birth to a baby girl about three weeks ago and both seemed to be getting along splendidly when the septicemia set in and the young mother was unable to withstand its ravages although making a brave fight and being at times seemingly in a fair way to throw off the poison.

Deceased, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Parenteau, was born at St. Vincent August 12, 1897, and came to this city with her parents when a baby. She attended the public schools here and up to the time of her marriage was employed at the plant of the Times Printing and Manufacturing company. Besides the husband and infant daughter she is survived by her parents, three brothers and three sisters. The funeral was held from St. Bernard's church on Tuesday morning, Rev. M. J. Noesen officiating. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

The young woman had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who are deeply grieved at her death. Their heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Card of Thanks.

We wish hereby to express our heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and after the death of our wife and daughter. Especially do we thank the members of Northern Light lodge, Brotherhood of Railroad Car Repairers, and those of the Thief River Falls Times force for the beautiful floral tributes at the funeral.—R. J. Halvorsen, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Parenteau.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned, do hereby wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for all help and assistance rendered us by neighbors and friends, under the death of our beloved father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Torkel Anfinson. Corn Pain Stopped Quick

"Gets-It" Loosens Them So They Lift Off in A Jiffy.

The corn pains cease as soon as a few drops of "Gets-It" reach the corn. It goes out of the hurting business forever.

This Space Vacant
Corn Gone
"Gets-It"
Got It

For a day or so the corn remains, getting looser and looser and without a twinge from it. Then, it gets so loose that you just lift it right off, without even feeling it, and cast it away. That's how easily and simply "Gets-It" disposes of the corn nuisance.

"Gets-It," the unfailing, guaranteed, moneyback corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mf'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Thief River Falls and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by J. P. Curtis, Lambert's Drug Store and Andrew Bottelson.

GOES 40 MILES TO GET MORE TANLAC

Would Go Farther if Necessary—Gains 30 Lbs. and Feels 20 Yrs. Younger.

"Yes, sir, I have come forty miles today just specially to get Tanlac, and if it was necessary I would go even farther than that," was the remarkable statement made by Carl Sweno, who lives on route No. 4, White Water, Wis., when he called at the Central Drug Co., in Milwaukee, a few days ago.

"I was so bad off before I commenced taking Tanlac," continued Mr. Sweno, "that I lost fifteen pounds in two weeks' time and was almost a complete nervous and physical wreck, but now my troubles have all left me. I have gained thirty pounds in weight and am feeling fine as a fiddle. It was a year ago that my stomach went back on me and since that time I suffered all the agony that goes with indigestion; rheumatism, nervousness, backache and sleeplessness. My appetite was next to nothing, and when I did force down a little something I had a burning like a fire in my chest and stomach. I was so choked up I had to fight for air and I had severe cramps and pains in my stomach. I had rheumatism through my whole body, all my joints would get stiff, especially from my legs down, and the pains were so awful in my shoulders I could not raise my arm above my head. The muscles in my legs cramped up into knots and I had to sleep on my back, for if I lay on one side my leg would go to sleep. I had awful pains across my back and if I stooped over it was agony to try to straighten up again. Some nights I did not sleep a wink, but would roll and toss and finally get out of bed and walk the floor. Every morning I had a bad taste in my mouth and my tongue was coated all the time. I had such severe headache spells I thought my head would split open, and I would get so dizzy I could hardly stand up. I was so nervous I shook like a leaf, and I lost weight until I was as weak as a rag.

"That was the awful condition I was in when I commenced taking Tanlac, but now it seems like a dream that all my troubles have completely disappeared and I am enjoying perfect health. Eat? Why I eat like a hungry wolf and I am never troubled afterwards with indigestion in any form. All traces of the rheumatism have left me. The pains in my back have gone and I am as active as I ever was before. I don't know what it is to ever have a headache or dizzy spell. My nerves are as steady as a clock and at night I sleep like a log. As I said before I have gained thirty pounds in weight and can do as hard a day's work as any man. I feel twenty years younger and I will praise Tanlac the longest day I live."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

AFTER FIVE YEARS

Thief River Falls Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Thief River Falls story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

E. T. Emerson, retired farmer, 417 LaBree Ave. N., Thief River Falls, says: "I was greatly annoyed with a lame, aching back and pains across my loins kept me in misery. My kidneys were weak and didn't act as they should. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Curtis' Drug Store and two boxes gave me splendid relief. I recommend this fine remedy highly."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mr. Emerson added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me some years ago is permanent. I am glad to again recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Emerson had. Foster-Milburn Co. Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

BREAD FACTS

EVERYBODY should eat plenty of good white bread. It is wholesome, nutritious and very easy to digest.

It is easy to bake bread along with your other cooking. Made in your own clean kitchen, from your own selected materials, you can be sure of its purity, wholesomeness and fine flavor.

Bread is the cheapest food in the world because it supplies the most nutriment for the least money.

Ten cents' worth of flour contains more nourishment than ten cents' worth of any other food you can buy.

The amount of heat and muscular power furnished the body is measured in calories or fuel units. The table below (prepared from U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Bulletin No. 142) shows the amount of energy (in calories) that ten cents will buy in flour and five other staple foods:

		Calories
Wheat flour	@ 3¢ lb.	5140
" "	@ 4¢ lb.	4080
Rice	@ 8¢ lb.	2025
Potatoes	@ 60¢ bu.	1070
Cheese	@ 25¢ lb.	752
Salt Codfish	@ 7¢ lb.	465
Beef; sirloin	@ 25¢ lb.	410

All these foods are wholesome and desirable but, as the figures show, wheat flour gives far more for the money. Cut down the food bill by eating more bread and biscuits and less of the more expensive foods.

MINNEAPOLIS

It costs too much nowadays to experiment with paint. You can't afford to take a chance. Don't use cheap paints.

Remember—about 75% of the cost of a painting job is paid for the work in applying the paint. And it costs just as much to apply poor paint as it does good paint.

The use of poor paints may cost you years of dissatisfaction as they do not leave a surface that is fit to repaint.

The use of good paint pays, not only in wearing qualities, but will leave a surface fit to repaint.

Graduation Gifts

Graduation is a momentous occasion for any boy or girl. It is an event to be looked back to in after years and everything connected with it will at that time stand out more clearly than at the present. For this reason any memento or remembrance presented to the student should have something of individuality—something to indicate that it was secured especially for the recipient and to commemorate a particular occurrence.

Nothing is so appropriate for this use as jewelry. Clothing wears out, flowers wilt and social functions mean but little. With an appropriate gift of jewelry it is different. Such article is treasured and becomes a constant reminder not only of the occasion but also of the well-wishes of the donor.

We have exactly the right article for either boy or girl. The cost need not be great and whatever the price you are assured of getting something worth while. Anything selected from this large stock is sure to please.

Money Wasted

Up to the present time it may have been cheaper for a man to rent a home than build one in Thief River Falls, but this condition is due to change suddenly. There is every indication that with the increased demand rents will go to a figure not deemed possible at this time. When this occurs the renter will look back at the money he has wasted by paying for someone else's property for years. He will probably figure out that had he built his own home he would have paid for it with the sum he has handed to his landlord. He would be secure, no matter how high rents went and would be in no danger of being inconvenienced by changes in conditions.

The home-owner is everywhere considered the desirable and dependable citizen. Banks and business houses are looking for opportunities to favor him. He's a fixture and an asset to a community. The renter on the other hand, is regarded as less stable and consequently does not command the same regard.

If you are in the renter class, get out of it now. We will gladly help you.

Miss Halvorson Scores In Recital at Oberlin

Miss Doris M. Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Halvorson of 516 LaBree avenue north, who is studying this year in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, appeared on the regular program of the weekly students' recital on last Wednesday evening. Her number was the Scherzo by Pachulski, and it was played in a most musicianly manner. Miss Halvorson is studying harmony, ear training, voice and piano. She graduated from Lincoln high school, receiving sufficient credit to enable her to enter the conservatory of music which now demands the same entrance requirement as the college of arts and sciences. lodge sometime late in June.

Community Club Meeting.

The Girls' Community club held its last meeting of the season on Monday evening at the commercial club rooms. The business session was taken up with the reading of the report of the convention at Warren by the president, and the election of officers for the ensuing year. Miss Marie Nelson, who so ably performed her duties as president during the past year, was unanimously re-elected. It is through her enthusiasm and untiring efforts that the club has reached its present stage of success, carrying the reputation of being one of the largest and best in the state. Miss Nelson has in every respect lived up to the responsibilities connected with her office. With the hearty co-operation of its members during the coming year, the club is certain to become the best club of its kind in the state. Miss Zella Zeh was elected vice president, while Miss Effie Hamry was re-elected secretary and Miss Esther Gjertson was chosen treasurer. At the conclusion of the business meeting the girls were taken to the Johnson home south of the city, where the remainder of the evening was devoted to wiener roasting, coffee and doughnuts completing the lunch. The committee on refreshments included Misses Rose and Barbara Votava, Marie Thill, Laura Stopple, Blanche Johnson, LaVida Hilson and Miss Smith.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The last meeting of the Woman's club held on Monday afternoon, May 17 concluded the club year. Election of officers took up the greater portion of the session. The following are the names of the newly elected officers: President, Mrs. Daniel Shaw; vice president, Mrs. E. E. Zeh; secretary, E. O. Mogensen, and treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Vance. It was decided at this meeting that in case the council failed to appropriate funds for the upkeep of the garden plot on the south side of the auditorium the club would furnish the necessary amount. A short program followed the business session. Mrs. Aug. Holmberg rendered two very pleasing violin selections and a chorus taken from the musical section offered a song entitled: "Gypsy Life," under the leadership of Mrs. G. H. Halvorson. A lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

Parcel Shower.

The Misses Theresa Giefer and Una Nelson entertained a number of girls Saturday evening at the home of the latter in compliment to Miss Alfa Wetsrich, whose marriage to Joe Perdzock, formerly of this city, will take place the early part of June. The event was a surprise to the honor guest and was in the nature of a parcel shower. A delightful evening was spent in games and music. The presentation of the many useful and beautiful gifts was done in a very novel and entertaining manner. A delicious lunch was served to the guests at midnight.

Hoag-Montgomery.

Announcements have been received in this city of the marriage of William Hilton Hoag of Minneapolis to also of Minneapolis, on Friday, May Miss Hazel Elizabeth Montgomery, 14. Mr. Hoag is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hoag formerly of this city, and was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1916. The young couple are now honeymooning in Wisconsin and upon their return they will reside in either Superior or Duluth where Mr. Hoag is connected with the highway commission.

Pleased with Play.

Roseau Times-Region: The Thief River Falls high school senior class play, "A Strenuous Life," presented at the Princess theatre last Friday evening was greatly appreciated by the large audience and everyone voiced the same sentiment that it was above the average professional plays usually shown. Every member of the cast carried his or her part perfectly and it was a real pleasure to be in the audience.

In Honor of Mrs. Boreen.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Akre, Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lawrence motored to St. Hilaire on Sunday to attend a baseball game and also enjoy a picnic lunch. Fears For Safety of Son; Deserter From U. S. Army

Mrs. M. Erickson, an aged lady who has been residing with friends near here during the winter, was in the city Saturday in an attempt to get word of her son, Joe Anderson, a returned service man. The lad enlisted in the army when but 16 years of age and served in France. Upon his return to this country he reinlisted and was sent to Camp Mercedes, Texas. He was in poor health and, becoming discontented with army life, deserted. The military authorities have been unable to find any trace of him and his mother does not know his whereabouts. The boy was not mentally strong and it is feared that some accident has befallen him. He faces trial for desertion if caught but Mrs. Erickson believes that when the circumstances of his reinlistment are understood he will escape any serious sentence. She is very anxious to hear of or from him and anyone able to furnish information of any kind will be doing her a great service.

TONNAGE TAX IS A DOUBLE TAX

Many people think that the iron mines do not pay as much taxes as other property.

This is NOT TRUE.

Iron ore pays MORE taxes than ANY OTHER FORM OF PROPERTY in the state.

HOW MUCH MORE?

Iron ore is assessed 25% more than city property.
Iron ore is assessed 50% more than farm lands.
Iron ore is assessed 100% more than household goods.

Not only does iron ore pay on a higher valuation but it pays a HIGHER RATE than Southern Minnesota.

HOW MUCH HIGHER?

The average tax rate of the forty-one counties of Southern Minnesota is 41.65 mills
The average tax rate on all iron ore mines in Minnesota is 55.36 mills
The tax rate on iron ore is 32.9% higher than the tax rate of the counties of Southern Minnesota which are demanding a tonnage tax.
Not a single Southern Minnesota county pays as high a tax rate as does iron ore. NOT ONE.

Many people think that the iron mines do not pay THE STATE anything.

This is what the STATE gets.

For the year 1919 the iron ore properties of the state pay the state

In direct taxes	$2,340,403.00
In gross earnings taxes	1,708,164.00
Total	$4,048,567.00
In state royalties	954,679.00

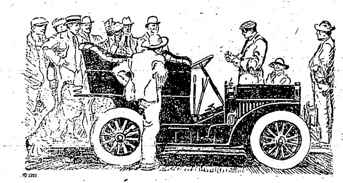
"Bake with Royal and be Sure"



They used to call a man a "sport" when he bought an automobile

THAT was before the days when pretty nearly everybody owned one—or could, if he wanted to.

There was a lot of waste about motoring in those days. A man spent a lot of money on his car and never thought very much about what he was getting in return.

II

When a man buys a tire nowadays he has a pretty definite idea of what he expects to get out of it.

The dealer who sells him one that gives him less than he expects isn't likely to get any more of his business.

That's one of the reasons why we handle U. S. Tires—and recommend them to the motorists of this community.

III

The U. S. reputation for quality is not built on any one tire.

There is not one standard for large U. S. Tires and another standard for small ones.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how to build it. The oldest and largest rubber concern in the world cannot afford to play favorites in seeking its public.

IV

Come in and tell us what you are looking for in tires.

We can probably tell you whether you need a U. S. Nobby, Chain, Usco, Plain, or a Royal Cord.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

The Food Supply of the Future

AUTHORITIES agree that the food supply of the future depends upon the increased use of mechanical power on the farm. The tractor, motor truck, stationary gas engine, and the automobile, all dependent upon cheap, efficient motor fuel, have multiplied the efficiency of human labor, thereby increasing the acreage a man can handle.

In 1919 farmers owned 3,000,465 of the 7,523,664 automotive vehicles registered in the United States. These figures give a fair idea of the use being made of motor vehicles in producing and distributing food products.

There is no more prolific food producing area in the world than the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

To serve the farmers of the Middle West is a major part of the Standard Oil Company's business. For that reason the dark, green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is recognized by the farmer as serving an indispensable need in promoting the increase of food products.

Thousands of these tank wagons travel continuously, on schedule, throughout the 11 states of the Middle West, served by this Company.

During the busy season, when the farmer needs power most, this Company delivers gasoline even to the tractors in the field. Rain or shine, these wagons are on duty to help make certain that the nation's food supply shall be planted, harvested, and delivered on time.

To enable the farmer of modest means to utilize automotive machinery in cultivating an increased acreage at a lower cost per acre, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) strives constantly to keep down the price of gasoline by increasingly efficient refining methods, and to expand and perfect its comprehensive system of distribution.

BACKWARD PASTURES AFFECT CREAM YIELD

Showing Hardly Up to Average For This Time of Year at Creamery.

Things are looming up better now but during the month of April there is no question but that the backward spring adversely affected the receipts at the local creamery. There were 109 patrons receiving more than $50 for their output, which is an increase of only two over the month previous. Under ordinary conditions the showing should have been considerably better, but there is still ample time for herd owners to make up the average.

Waldie Christianson is at the top of the list for the month, with six others in the $200 class. Twenty-three others received above $100. Following is a list of the topnotchers:

COUNTY HAS 36,412 HEAD OF LIVESTOCK

This is Estimate Arrived at by St. Paul Agricultural Publication.

The Farmer, an agricultural paper published at St. Paul, has been gathering data for an estimate of the amount of live stock in each county in the state and the results are very interesting. The figures presented include milch cows, other cattle, horses, swine and sheep and indicate that considerable care has been taken in the compilation.

Among the northwestern counties, in which is included Beltrami, the leader is Polk, with Marshall following, the figures for the group being as follows:

Pennington	36,412
Beltrami	34,708
Clearwater	21,592
Kittson	71,938
Marshall	105,305
Polk	137,098
Red Lake	34,861
Roseau	52,917

There are nearly 19,000 cattle of all kinds in Pennington county. The general impression has always been that dairy breeds have far outnumbered the others, but the estimate shows that they are not far in the lead. Following are the figures for each division of cattle in the eight northwestern counties:

	Milch cows	Other cattle
Pennington	9,747	9,089
Beltrami	6,889	9,251
Clearwater	3,753	6,642
Kittson	12,816	11,269
Marshall	14,286	19,433
Polk	21,828	50,487
Red Lake	8,068	10,035
Roseau	8,700	13,474

The county makes the poorest showing in swine while there is evidently a surprising number of horses. Sheep raising is a comparatively new industry in this section and the showing made is very good. A table comparing the number of these animals in each of the counties follows:

	Horses	Swine	Sheep
Pennington	6,199	3,327	8,050
Beltrami	5,026	3,909	9,633
Clearwater	3,424	2,373	5,400
Kittson	9,933	9,012	28,908
Marshall	17,191	10,503	22,431
Polk	27,743	19,901	17,130
Red Lake	6,534	5,893	4,331
Roseau	7,427	4,854	18,492

Moellers Like Their New Central Wisconsin Home

The William Moeller family, former residents of Rocksbury township, who this spring disposed of their holdings and moved onto a farm in the neighborhood of New London, Wis., seem to like their surroundings very well. In a letter to The Times Mr. Moeller says:

"We are well settled down now but the spring is backward here. We are all done with small grain planting, however, and I have disced my corn ground all over once and some of it twice. It is so cold that we will do no corn planting until next week, although there are a few small patches planted here and there.

"Grass is nice and green and the cows are in clover. For April we received $3.10 per 100 pounds of milk and for March $2.75 per hundred. Our butterfat check for April was $77.50 and for March $68.75.

"We all like it here. At present we are busy hauling gravel on the road at wages of $8 per day for man and team. Horses are high in price—that is, the good ones weighing from 1400 to 1600 pounds. Gravel shovelers receive $4 per day. Potatoes are very high in price and so is everything else.

"New London has a population of 8383, concrete streets and modern in every way. Land has increased in value here since I bought and I could now get about $22,000 for my holdings, but I want $25,000 before letting go again. This is a very good dairy country and we have all the leading breeds. Good grades are sold as scrubs but registered stuff brings a good price."

IF YOU TRADE OUT OF TOWN AND I TRADE OUT OF TOWN, WHAT WILL BECOME OF OUR TOWN?
The Dollar You Spend in Thief River Falls Will "Come Home To Boost."

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads are here. They are your neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

You should be as loyal to your community as to your name

The Thief River Falls concerns listed here, conscious of the fact that thousands of dollars are being sent out of this territory for merchandise that can be bought at home, have launched a campaign in the hope that it will create a feeling of stronger community interest—a sentiment most vital for the prosperity of the entire community. In bold type, you therefore read the slogan that they propose to popularize—"TRADE IN YOUR HOME TOWN."

It is the purpose of the progressive concerns whose names appear on this page, to present arguments of such convincing nature that the people of this community will respond thereto with the result that they will make a solemn pledge to first endeavor to get what they need from home merchants before sending their money out of town.

The time for consideration of this question could not be more opportune than the present. "Preparedness," the watchword of America, should begin at home and can be exemplified in no more far-reaching manner than by real co-operation in this vitally important "TRADE AT HOME" movement. It is a thought that should be taken to heart and given consideration by all persons who earn their living in, or owe their success to, this community.

This campaign is launched in the firm belief that the people of this community will follow the dictates of their good sense, and bring the "TRADE AT HOME CAMPAIGN" to an actuality that will be of vast benefit to the entire territory.

This movement is no selfish propaganda of these progressive concerns, who have combined in co-operative community appeal. They urge that you read the brief message they will give you each week through the columns of The Times. They invite you to give careful consideration of the facts which will be presented, to talk this matter over with your friends and neighbors. Results are sure to follow.

The firm resolve to "TRADE AT HOME" will not only help the retail merchants, but the manufacturer and jobber, the farmers adjacent to town, and it will also help in every line of business. It will either directly or indirectly benefit every individual of this section.

Pay Tribute to Heroes of Three Wars

People of Thief River Falls Will on Monday Honor Soldiers' Memory.

Program of Exercises in Auditorium and Parade to the Cemetery.

Committee of Citizens Headed by Legion Men in Charge of the Plans.

Arrangements for the proper observance of Memorial Day in Thief River Falls are under way and the occasion will be commemorated with all the dignity and solemnity that its importance calls for. Every activity in the line of business in the city will close down for the day and all our people join in showing their respect for the men, living and dead, who in three wars have faced the enemy in defense of the country's honor and in the upholding of principles of liberty and equality.

The exercises will be held at the auditorium, beginning at 10:30. The completed program has not yet been announced but will include songs, addresses and instrumental musical numbers. The school children will take a prominent part in this portion of the day's activities as well as in the parade to follow immediately upon the closing of the meeting.

Will Decorate Graves.

Headed by the band, the veterans and citizens will march to the cemetery where the usual decoration of graves and firing of salutes in honor of soldiers buried there will be attended to. It is the desire of the committee that all ex-service men appear in uniform wherever this is possible as this will help lend impressiveness to the occasion.

Chommie is Speaker.

At the auditorium the address of the day will be delivered by H. O. Chommie, who is well qualified to perform this important duty being himself an ex-soldier of the late war.

Following are the committees in charge: Arrangements, L. H. Lawrence, G. Howard Smith, Paul Midderigh; officer of the day, H. O. Chommie; program committee, Dr. G. A. Penney, T. P. Anderson, Mrs. G. Howard Smith, Miss Marie Nelson; parade, W. B. Fuller, H. D. Keene, W. A. Ziegler; band, A. S. Sapero, W. J. LaBree, D. J. Cordes.

City Helps Pay Cost.

At the meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening a motion by Councilman Brandon, seconded by Councilman Froseth, was carried, appropriating the sum of $300 to help defray the expenses of a proper observance of Memorial Day.

SOLDIER'S REMAINS SENT FROM ENGLAND

Edward Lund, Soldier, Will Rest in Pennington County Cemetery.

The first body of a soldier who died overseas to be returned to Pennington county is that of Edward Lund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lund of Eric. The lad died at Ramsey Heights, England, on Oct. 12, 1918, and was laid to rest in Winchester cemetery. In accordance with the law passed by congress a short time ago all soldiers buried in Europe are to be returned to this country and the work of transfer has already commenced.

The ship carrying the body was expected to dock at Hoboken last Monday and the remains may arrive here at any time. Plans are on foot to hold a military funeral under the auspices of the American Legion. Members of the firing squad particularly, are asked to hold themselves in readiness for a hurry call.

There were two of the Lund boys in the army, Ingvald being the other. He has been home for some time, after having served with distinction. As a member of the 308th infantry he was with the historic lost batallion in the Argonne forest but escaped without injury. Edward was with the 331st regiment and went no farther than England.

WOMEN OF DISTRICT FORM ORGANIZATION

Will Meet at Moorhead For This Purpose on Eighth and Ninth of June.

Women of the Ninth congressional district will have a busy week early in June. The organization conference of the League of Women Voters in Moorhead, June 8 and 9, marks the finish of the campaign to put a league organization in every congressional district in the state.

The fact that the Ninth district is the last in the series is no fault of its own—someone had to be last—but Mrs. Robert Hannah of Fergus Falls, who is the chairman, believes that the conference will benefit by the experiences of all the others and be the most successful meeting of them all.

The plan of the state league, having organized the districts, will be to assist in organizing the counties at once, and it is aimed to have a school of political education in every county. One successful school has been already held at Fergus Falls. The school lasted three days and was under the direction of Mrs. Walter J. Marcley of Minneapolis.

Mrs. William Russell of Moorhead, chairman of the conference for Moorhead with Mrs. Ralph Wheelock of Fergus Falls in charge of the district outside Moorhead. Mrs. F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, is chairman of the conference committee and women of the surrounding towns will assist her.

Women who will act as publicity chairmen in the various parts of the districts are: Mrs. C. M. Graves, Crookston; Miss Marie Nelson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. G. W. Christie, Red Falls; Mrs. A. L. Hanson, Ada.

There will be special conferences on the all-important subject of food supply and demand; upon which the league has a national committee and a committee in every state. Miss Hope McDonald, state chairman of American citizenship for the league, will go to Moorhead and conduct a sub-conference on American citizenship. Miss McDonald was a delegate to the National Americanization conference held in Minneapolis recently. A special session on the unification of laws relating to women and children will also be part of the proceedings.

GOES OVER DAM APRON AND REMAINS UNHURT

Young Boy is First in History of City to Make the Trip in Safety.

Howard, the eight-year-old son of Mrs. Adeline Girard, St. Paul avenue, has the distinction of being the only person who in recent years has gone over the apron of the power dam in this city and come out with nothing worse than a wetting.

There are some old planks laid out into the river just above the dam on the east side and the lad was walking out on these when he missed his footing and went into the stream. The current caught him at once and swept him over the apron in a flash. He somehow escaped getting drowned in the wicked backlash at the bottom and was thrown into the quieter waters near the east side where the eddy caught him and carried him toward the shore.

Even here he would probably have been helpless had not Eddie Nelson and Peter Giefer, who were fishing a short distance down the stream, caught sight of him and managed to grab onto his clothes as he swirled past. He was hauled to shore and after shaking himself a few times made for home, apparently no worse for his record-breaking performance.

Old residents say that a number of years ago a traveling man made the same trip and came out all right, but that is the only time on record that a person has been swept over the apron without being drowned.

Insane Man Released But Brought Back Same Day

Gilbert Vraa, a farmer residing in the Goodridge neighborhood, was brought to the city and lodged in jail last Sunday on an insanity charge. It is reported that he had become affiliated with some religious organization and that his actions were such as to cause the neighbors to seek police protection. He was left in charge of Deputy Paul Midderigh at the jail until Tuesday and seemed steadily to improve. Vraa seemed perfectly rational and the authorities were satisfied that he would be all right if let alone. Sheriff W. J. LaBree accordingly started with him for his farm in an auto, but never reached there. When a short distance out from the city the man suddenly became unmanageable and the sheriff was forced to subdue him by main strength. He brought his passenger back and at a hearing before Judge I. C. Richardson on Tuesday he was adjudged insane and at once sent to Fergus Falls in charge of Frank McGinnity, who was deputized for the purpose.

MINNESOTA'S OLDEST CITIZEN VISITS TOWN

John Smith, 117 Years Old at Least, is Object of Much Interest.

John Smith, which is the English name of the present chief of the Winnebegoshish division of the Chippewa tribe of Indians, was in the city last Sunday and created quite a sensation. The most conservative investigators place John's age at 117 years, while others say there is no doubt of his being 135. At any rate he is a very old man and the concensus of opinion is that the greater figure is more nearly the right one.

Smith has led a most eventful life, most of it before men who are now well along in years were born. He is said to have been eight times married, although he is not quite certain on this score. Numerous trips to Washington and other large centers of population have made him almost a national figure.

The old Indian chief was accompanied to this city by his adopted son, who acts as interpreter. John has gotten past the conversational stage himself, although his faculties seem to be but slightly impaired. His face is seamed with wrinkles of unbelievable depth and his hair, of which he still has a very respectable mop, is white as snow.

A tour of the neighboring cities is at present being made for the purpose of exhibition and selling a short history of John's life. Born to worship the Great Spirit in the old Indian way, the old-timer has for years professed Christianity, no matter what he has practiced. He has never caused trouble to the white people with whom his lot has been thrown and he has on many occasions shown himself to be their friend.

Form Potato Association For County

Plans Formed For Erection of Storehouse Costing $10,000 at St. Hilaire.

Members Vote Unanimously to Join Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange.

Wool Growers Also Decide to Form Pool For Handling of Their Product.

The Pennington County Potato Growers association was formed at a meeting held at St. Hilaire last Friday afternoon, the following being chosen as the first officers of the organization: Alfred Benson, president; R. J. McKercher, vice president; Ben Rosenthal, secretary; Lloyd Crown, Jens Letness, Dan Johnson and O. K. Sevre, directors.

Potato growers from every section of the county were present and the gathering was the most important of its kind ever held in this neighborhood. Senator Cummins of East Grand Forks, spoke of the advantages to be derived from becoming associated with the state organization and explained some of the things necessary in potato growing in order to obtain the best results. Senator Cummins stated that co-operation was no longer an experiment and that wherever the farmers have gone together with the intention of making the most of their opportunities through a community of interests they have been successful.

Plan For Storehouse.

The association already has under consideration plans for a $10,000 storehouse to be erected at St. Hilaire. It has not been definitely decided that the building is to be ready in time for the present season's crop, but the arrangements will all be made and construction begun next spring at the latest.

Sheep Men Organize.

Complete arrangements for handling all the wool grown in the county were made at a meeting in the office of the farm bureau on Saturday. A building for storage purposes will be secured in the city and a state grader will have charge of the grading.

Committees for different sections of the county were appointed to look after the marketing of the product in their particular neighborhood, as follows: For Thief River Falls, Emil Griebstein, Christ Larson, R. L. Muzzy and S. E. Hunt; for St. Hilaire, Ed Aubol, J. V. Patton and Carl Anderson; for Hazel, J. W. Denhart. A separate assembling house will be placed at Goodridge for the accommodation of the people in the eastern section of the county. The product gathered at this point will also finally be sent to Thief River Falls and the entire output disposed of at one time. This will give local buyers the same opportunity to bid on the clip as those from the outside.

ELKS PURCHASE RIVER PROPERTY FOR CLUB

Secure About Two Acres at Nominal Figure—Building Plans Discussed.

The most important step thus far taken in the proposal to erect an Elks' club house in this city was recorded on Friday evening when the lodge voted to buy the tract at the foot of Third street and fronting on the river for the sum of $1800. There are about two acres in the plot, which is the last one available providing access to the river within the city limits. The price in considered very reasonable even though the property in its present condition is of little actual value.

Filling in will be necessary before anything in the way of building operations can be begun. The dirt necessary will be furnished by the present surfacing of the streets of the city, which must be removed before paving can be undertaken. The city council has promised to have this overburden dumped onto the property acquired by the lodge at no expense to the latter. There will be in the neighborhood of 15,000 yards excavated by the city, about 6,000 of which will be required for filling purposes by the Elks.

Mr. Chamberlain, an architect from Minneapolis, was present and addressed the lodge on the subject of a club building. He submitted drawings of a structure which he considered would meet the requirements and which would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. The lodge is not yet prepared to go ahead with the building proposition and may not be for some time, but the subject will be kept alive and there is no question but that ultimately a fine club house will adorn the bank of the river on the site secured.

EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF BABCOCK AMENDMENT

Good Roads Meeting at Club Rooms on Monday Evening Well Attended.

A good sized audience of townspeople gathered at the commercial club rooms on Monday evening to hear R. R. Gibson of the Minnesota Highway Improvement association explain the purposes and workings of the Babcock good roads amendment, which is to be voted on at the next general election. Because of inability to give sufficient notice of the meeting, the attendance of farmers was not as large as desired but these are to be given an opportunity to hear other speakers at a later date.

Mr. Gibson was well posted on the subject in hand. He went into the project in detail and showed how it would be possible for the state to secure 7,000 miles of hard surfaced road without issuing a dollar's worth of bonds and without increasing taxes one cent. Not only will the roads be built by the tax on motor vehicles proposed in the Babcock law, but the maintenance of the thoroughfares will always be taken care of by the same method.

The speaker explained that there is nothing in the amendment itself providing that any particular kind of surfacing or paving is to be used. In fact, details of the work are left entirely up to the legislature. All the Babcock law does is to provide for raising the money necessary and lay out the routes. This latter feature had to be embodied in order to make a law that would hold good before the courts.

Mr. Gibson showed how the big cities would pay vastly more than their share for these roads while they would not be directly benefitted in any degree. The law provides that highways built under its provisions shall go no farther than to the limits of any first or second class city, while in the case of those of the third and fourth classes the state will carry the roads clear through without any cost to the property owners.

The address was instructive and was very well received by those present.

WIND STORM CAUSES SMALL LOSS IN COUNTY

Barn and Outbuildings on Bell Farm Blown Down Monday Night.

A windstorm of unusual violence passed over this section of the state about midnight on Tuesday doing considerable damage to farm structures and outbuildings. The most serious loss reported in Pennington county is that of W. J. Bell of Kratka township where a barn and several other structures were blown down. The loss sustained by Mr. Bell is estimated at $1200. From other sections come reports of slight damage, the money loss in the aggregate being but little.

In the city trees were broken off and small buildings overturned. The awning in front of the J. P. Curtis drug store was ripped to pieces and the front of the old Newbury building on Second street considerably damaged.

MANY VISITORS DUE; MORE ROOMS NEEDED

Cots Will be Placed Buildings to Take Care of Expected Crowd.

There will shortly be a lively skirmish for housing for the 2000 delegates expected here to attend the annual convention of the Lutheran Free church, which will be held June 9 to 15. The city's hotels can only take care of a small portion of this crowd and citizens generally will have to lend a helping hand. This is one of the largest and most important conventions ever held here and the city's reputation as a host is at stake.

The members of the Woman's club have agreed to canvass the city thoroughly in order to discover places where one or more of the delegates may be given quarters during their stay. It is admitted, however, that no matter how willing the people residing here may be to help out in this pinch, the room is simply not to be found. It has therefore been decided to place cots in certain of the school houses as well as the auditorium and offer these to the visitors in lieu of more desirable sleeping quarters. The merchants of the city have offered the free use of automobiles for such of the Woman's club members as may wish to make use of them in their canvass or in any other work undertaken by them in this connection.

MERCHANTS GO AFTER WILFUL SLANDERERS

Tired of Defending Themselves Against False and Baseless Charges.

The members of Thief River Falls Retail Merchants association are going to make an example of someone in order to put a stop to a lot of vexatious reports that have been circulated for the evident purpose of hurting business and bringing the merchants of the city into disrepute. In an advertisement appearing in The Times today they are offering $100 reward for information that will lead to the apprehension of the guilty party.

The latest story started by the slander mongers is that certain business men in this city had been caught in the act of profiteering by an officer of the United States government and had been forced to disgorge some of their ill-gotten gains. There is not a vestige of truth in the report, of course, but its spread may place them in a false light and they are willing to pay for finding out just who is guilty of starting the rumor. If this can be done the law will be permitted to deal with such person.

This is in direct line with a foolish tale circulated last winter to the effect that certain merchants in the city had attempted to have the passes of the railroad men's families revoked so that it would be harder for them to go out of the city. The railroads were in the hands of the government at the time and whoever started the rumor must have regarded the business men of Thief River Falls as decidedly influential in high places.

An attempt will be made to fasten such stories onto the right parties and see if something cannot be done to stop them.

Will Arrive In Airplane For Meeting

A. C. Townley to Attend Nonpartisan Gathering at Urdahl Farm Wednesday.

Dr. Henrik Shipstead Will Speak at Auditorium in the Evening.

George H. Mallom, Candidate For Lieutenant Governor, is Also Coming.

The Nonpartisan league members in Pennington and surrounding counties are planning for a big rally next Wednesday at 11 o'clock. A general meeting will be held in the afternoon at the Urdahl farm, about one and a half miles west of Goodridge, at which A. C. Townley, Dr. Henrik Shipstead, candidate for governor, George H. Mallom, candidate for lieutenant governor, and others are expected to be present.

Mr. Townley will arrive at the meeting in an airplane, he having adopted this means of getting from one place to another during the campaign. He will probably deliver an address to those assembled but will later in the afternoon continue his journey to Roseau, at which point he is to speak in the evening.

Dr. Shipstead to Speak.

In the evening Dr. Shipstead and Lieut. Mallom will deliver addresses at the auditorium in this city. The former was scheduled to appear here a short time ago but through a confusion in dates was unable to make connections. It is not likely, however, that there will be any lack of interest on this account. Because of the convenient railroad connections and the easy access to the city by road it is expected that there will be a large crowd here from the surrounding country.

Educational Campaign on Tonnage Tax Issue

How long will iron mining last in Minnesota?

Most people think about 40 or 50 years.

The Minnesota Fair Tax Association, in an ad. published in this issue, claims that it will last from 1,000 to 2,000 years if the state develops its enormous deposits of low grade iron ores. It is claimed that these deposits of low grade ore cover all that part of the state north and west of a line drawn from Duluth to the county of Rock in the southwestern corner of the state. The Association claims, however, that these ores will never be developed if the taxes of the mines, now higher than any other taxes in the state, are made still higher by a tonnage tax.

The Association, which has headquarters at Room 282, St. Francis Hotel, St. Paul, will send complete information to anyone who desires it.

The city of Duluth is also disappointed in the census returns, altho coming within a very few of making its boast good. The people of the third largest city in the state have been claiming a population of 100,000 and they came within 1083 names of making it. The actual population, according to the census figures, is 98,917. This is an increase in ten years of 20,151 or 26.1 per cent.

The people of the district will be afforded on Thursday, June 3 an opportunity to see the $75,000 Maxwell-Chalmers cut-open chassis exhibit which has featured every auto show of the present season, including New York, Chicago and Minneapolis. The Horton Motor company educational tour will stop here on the above date. The detailed schedule is published elsewhere in this issue in an advertisement. Look it over carefully, as the stops must of necessity be brief in that 156 towns in the Fargo territory are being visited. The undertaking is without question the biggest thing of the kind ever attempted. Don't fail to see it. The show is entirely free. A bugler accompanies the tour and will announce its arrival at each point.

The storm on Tuesday evening blew down what remained of the east wall of the Union block, burned last winter, and caused considerable damage to property belonging to Julien Provencher of the Hotel Evelyn. An ice house in the path of the falling wall was crushed, as was also a small poultry house in which was housed about a score of live hens. Not a bird was left alive and the Evelyn landlord is provoked as he had purchased them only the day before.

FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO RESCUE DROWNING MAN

W. J. Brown of This City Sees Victim Go Down in Union Lake Sunday.

George H. Brown, 40 years old and married, was drowned in Union Lake Sunday while fishing from a rowboat which capsized and tipped him into the water. His fall into the water was witnessed by Miss Ruth Brown, daughter of W. J. Brown, attorney of Thief River Falls, who has a cottage on the edge of the lake in Godfrey township. Mr. Brown went to the rescue of the drowning man in a motor boat but the man had gone down for the last time before he reached the scene.

The drowned man, who was a farmer living north of Erskine, had borrowed a boat from the Martin O'Brien boat house and had gone out in the middle of Union Lake. The boat was not water tight and had evidently half filled with water before it capsized. Brown had stuffed the cracks with paper to keep the water out and had stood up on the seat to keep dry and to cast his fishing line. It is believed that while casting Brown stepped on one side of the boat and the water laden craft tipped over.

Bring Suit Against City For Price of Dead Horse

LaCoe & Fontain, draymen, have filed an action in district court against the city of Thief River Falls claiming damages in the sum of $200 for the loss of a horse. The animals fell into an excavation for water mains on Second street last summer and was so badly injured that it had to be killed.

City Attorney Chommie was instructed to deny responsibility on the part of the city in any event as well as any negligence on the part of the contractors, Holt & George. The action, while brought against the city, is in fact against the last-named concern, as the bonds of the latter protect the city in any such contingency.

The case will undoubtedly come up for hearing at the June term of court.

Paving Held Up For Spell By the Court

Judge Grindeland Grants Temporary Restraining Order Last Tuesday.

Petitioners Are Same as Have Steadily Objected to the Improvement.

Council Prepared to Present Case When Called on June 8.

The expected has happened and those objecting to the paving of the business streets of Thief River Falls have succeeded in securing a temporary injunction stopping the city council from going ahead with the work. The restraining order was signed by Judge Andrew Grindeland at Warren on Tuesday and made returnable June 8 at chambers in the same city.

The petition was presented by Attorney Theo. Quale and signed by M. V. Evenson, Olaf Ramstad, W. W. Prichard, Sr., Rasmus Oen and J. J. Aga. No irregularities in the proceedings are charged and the order is asked for principally on the ground that the streets of the city are at the present time unfit for paving by reason of having recently been torn up by excavations for water mains, etc.

Hinges on Supreme Court.

The petitioners further allege that the city has not at the present time sufficient funds available for paving; that it will be necessary to issue bonds or certificates in order to provide the needed money and that such securities cannot be issued unless authorized by a vote of the people. A case now pending before the supreme court on appeal from a decision of the district court of Washington county covers this point and there was no intention on the part of the council in this city to proceed until such decision had been announced.

Council Is Ready.

Notice of the injunction was sent to Mayor Bratrud and City Clerk Akre and read at the meeting of the council on Tuesday evening. City Attorney H. O. Chommie was instructed to make answer to all allegations made in the petition and to prepare to oppose the injunction being made permanent at the hearing on the 8th.

LIVESTOCK PAVILION DRIVE BIG SUCCESS

Predicted That All Counties Will Have Reached Quota By June 1.

The Red River Valley live stock pavilion drive is meeting with splendid success in the counties where the committees have been at work during the past week. Polk county has nearly reached its quota of $10,000, only nine townships in the eastern part of the county remaining to canvass. Two townships, Lee and Hendrum, in western Norman county raised $3600 in a two day drive under the leadership of Mandren, Rustad and Canning. Vigorous work is being done in all of the other nine counties where the drive has just begun so that by June first it is expected that the $200,000 required will be reached. All realize the great benefits derived from this association which has already made a record even in its infancy that is attracting nation-wide attention.

THEY ARE INCONSISTENT.

While there is general satisfaction expressed over the fact that the business streets of Thief River Falls will be paved as soon as all the necessary preliminaries are out of the way, there are still a few who are attempting to throw a crowbar into the machinery and bring the entire works to a stop. A temporary injunction has been granted restraining the city from taking any further steps at this time, but this is not regarded as a very serious matter, as the courts have in similar cases invariably upheld the right of city councils to enter into such contracts.

The matter has been threshed out and considered for years. Every time that a question of paving has arisen the same people—to a large extent at least—have interposed objections that have brought proceedings to a stop. Things have never before progressed to their present stage, however, and it is not likely that anything that can be brought up now will in any manner affect the outcome.

These objectors are not sincere. They claim that they are taking this stand for the reason that it is to the best interests of the city that no paving be undertaken at this time. Prices are liable to go down, they say, and money can be saved by waiting.

Of course they do not know that prices will be lower. They cannot even guarantee that they will not be much higher. The figure at which the contract was let is admittedly very reasonable and below what was in many quarters expected. It is certain that there will be no chance of getting the work done cheaper for a long time to come.

But what appeals to the ordinary observer most strongly is the glaring inconsistency of the stand taken. These same men at their meetings speak of doing things for Thief River Falls. They urge that steps be taken by our citizens to hurry the railroad extension to International Falls. They want roads built and improved in order that trade may be brought to the city from greater distances. They are boosting all the time for something or other and yet oppose the improvement most necessary for the city itself. Thief River Falls can do very little toward building additional country highways and even less toward extending railroad lines, although efforts to assist in both directions are praiseworthy. The city can, however, so fix its own streets that people will be glad to come here to trade, at the same time cutting down the cost of doing business for the merchant. It is the one essential improvement now easy of attainment and the one most grievously needed.

MAY SWING TOO FAR.

Everyone will be glad to see prices come down and there are strong indications that a movement in that direction has started. New York banks through credit restrictions compelled extensive liquidations and a cut was forced on business men in order to supply cash in the shortest possible time. The New York move was reflected throughout the country and during the past week there has been a regular cyclone of price-cutting. Just how far the pendulum will swing in this direction it is impossible to foretell. There are those who maintain that the high-price era is at an end and that the decline will continue until a normal base is reached. Others are as strongly of the opinion that the slump is only temporary and that high costs will come back with a bang, soaring past even the present figures. The latter class back up their assertions with the statement that essential first costs, such as labor and material, have not been reduced and while these remain at their present level it is impossible for the final price to drop for any length of time. Manufacturers, they say, may find it necessary to lower the bars in order to meet pressing obligations, but that the demand still exceeds the supply and high first costs still prevail. Under these conditions they figure there can be no lasting reduction.

However that may be, this is probably a good time to buy. The effect of the cut is being felt even in the smaller communities and there is an effort to secure the cash early by a general reduction. Particularly is this noted in the wearing apparel lines. Retail merchants in this city are reducing stocks and the buyer can now supply his wants at a figure very much below that of a month ago. It is not likely that things will go much lower than they already are, at least not for some time. Any general break would prove a hardship on the retailer. He purchased his present stock at the top of the market and if forced to unload everything he carries at a heavy reduction it may mean disaster for many. This is realized and every effort is being made to keep things steady, at the same time forcing a gradual reduction.

The right time to buy is now. A person cannot lose much because of further reductions and he may be saving a great deal because of future increases.

IT WILL COME SOMETIME.

The plan proposed for putting the public utilities of Thief River Falls in the hands of a commission is a good one, but that providing for a commission form of government for the entire city is much better. Practically the same purpose would be served and the latter plan is the more modern and satisfactory.

It might be that the people would again vote down a proposal to change the system under which the city is governed, but it can do no harm to discuss it. Such at least is evidently the opinion of the council members. Some day this will be the plan adopted and any discussion as to the best means of bringing it about is of value even though nothing positive is accomplished for the time being.

Many persons who voted against the change three years ago would without question favor it now. They have had time to study the subject more thoroughly and have besides the example of a larger number of communities to go by. They know, if they have cared to look the matter up, that not in a single instance where the commission form has been tried out has a municipality gone back to the old way of doing business. The superiority of the later model is at once so apparent that nothing could induce people who have once experienced its benefits to change back to the old haphazard and cumbersome aldermanic plan.

But these things can not be brought about in a day—particularly in Thief River Falls. Our people are conservative—perhaps too much so at times—and seem adverse to making any changes so long as the old plan works out in any degree satisfactorily. For this reason they may occasionally fall behind their neighbors for a short spell but they are all the better prepared when the time comes for them to alter the order of things.

It is not likely that any real effort will be made to bring about this change at this time. The council members are talking about it, however, and as before stated, this is a good thing. The commission form is bound to come before very long and the more thoroughly our people are posted on its details the better it will work out.

IS ANYBODY'S FIGHT.

The Republican national convention is only eight days away and yet there is not the slighest indication of who will be nominated. Gen. Leonard Wood will probably receive the largest vote on the first ballot, although the supporters of Senator Hiram Johnson deny this. According to the general's backers he will have from 297 to 302 votes at the outset, which will be increased by from 12 to 20 votes on the second and that he will be nominated on the third or fourth ballot. The Johnson men set the same stage in the convention's deliberations for the nomination of their man but claim that he will have a total of 336 to start with.

Gov. Lowden of Illinois has 78 votes pledged and Senator Harding of Ohio has the 39 from his state. There are a number of contests to be decided but it is doubtful if these will result in material changes being made.

It is generally admitted that the chances of Wood will gradually dwindle if he cannot capture the nomination before the fifth ballot. Johnson's situation is not much better and the other two leading candidates are not anywhere considered in the race unless something altogether unforseen happens. And this is just what is very liable to happen. Many well-posted men in all sections of the country maintain that the next candidate for president on the Republican ticket is not to be found among the four high men at this time but that a dark horse will be the winner. There are different views as to who this will be, Ex-President Taft and Charles E. Hughes being those mentioned as the most likely parties. Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania is also regarded as a possibility as is Governor Coolidge of Massachusets.

No candidate is apparently going into that convention with the intention of quitting early. Because of the large number of uninstructed delegates there is likely to be a fight to the last ditch with the chances steadily growing less for the present favorites.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE LIARS

This fair city of ours seems to be afflicted with the presence of a few low-down liars who will stoop to anything in order to injure the reputation for honesty and decency built up by a firm or individual. This class of people start and circulate the most ridiculous and absurd falsehoods with no other intent than that of injuring their fellow-citizens. And the most surprising part of it is that we have people—and lots of them—so narrow minded that they believe these things and even repeat them with the evident intention of having them taken as fact. And as tongues waggle the lies grow.

Some time ago an insane story was started to the effect that we had attempted to have the passes taken away from the railroad men's wives (some power, we are) and many people swallowed the yarn—bait, hook and sinker. These stories were believed, as similar tales so often are. There is no trouble in finding people who will accept a thing as the truth so long as it is bad and rotten enough, and deals with the doings of their neighbors and does not apply to themselves. If it is something GOOD about anybody they hardly take the trouble to notice it. Start a scandal or something reflecting on a person's or concern's honesty or honor and it grows into a cyclone black as mud.

"Oh, yes. Did you hear so-and-so? It's very exciting! Why, all the LIVE merchants in the city and some of the DEAD ones were arrested for profiteering."

That is one of the stories. No one but the liars knew of it. Not a merchant in this city has ever been even approached by an agent of the government on the subject of profiteering. Not one is a profiteer and any government official who cared to make an investigation would be convinced of the fact before having been in the city an hour. But how the tongues did run and how that story spread!

Another example: It was reported that certain merchants in the city had made an attempt to have passes for the families of railroad men cancelled. The object of this presumably was to prevent their going out of the city for their goods.
